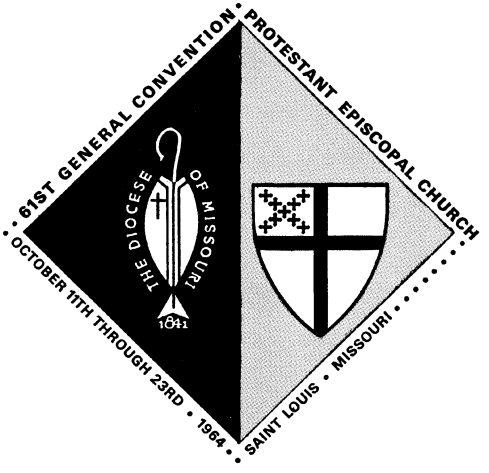
General Convention Digest . . . St. Louis 1964



The 61st General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A., meeting in St. Louis, Mo., October 1964:

PRESIDING BISHOP

• Elected the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, Bishop of Texas, to be the twenty-second Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church. Bishop Hines, fifty-four, will be installed on January 27, 1965, in the Washington Cathedral.

• Accepted with deep regret the resignation of the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, current Presiding Bishop, who is retiring because of ill health. Bishop Lichtenberger announced that he will take a post as professor of pastoral theology at Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

MUTUAL RESPONSIBILITY

• Accepted the Toronto document of the Primates and Metropolitans of the worldwide Anglican Communion entitled, "Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence in the Body of Christ."

• Established a Mutual Responsibility Commission to stimulate, support, and coordinate responsibility for the implementation of MRI at all levels of the Church. The new commission will take over the duties of the Strategic Advisory Committee and will be composed of six bishops, six presbyters, and twelve lay persons.

• Responded to the immediate needs of Churches in the Anglican Communion and the Wider Episcopal Fellowship by committing the Episcopal Church in the U.S.A. to voluntary acceptance of projects of "responsible cooperative partnership" totaling $6,000,000 for the forthcoming triennium. This would be over and above the General Program of the Episcopal Church for 1965, 1966, and 1967.

OVERSEAS MISSION

• Established the nineteenth autonomous Church in the world-wide Anglican Communion by agreeing with the wishes of the three Missionary Districts of the Episcopal Church in Brazil and granting them independence as a national Church, the Igreja Episcopal Brasiliera. The new Church has 45,000 members, 150 congregations, eighty-five clergy, and three bishops.

• Created a Ninth Province of the Church which includes the Missionary Districts of Central America, Colombia, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, Panama Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The Missionary District of Haiti is expected to join this cooperative venture of Episcopal jurisdictions in the Caribbean area.

GENERAL CHURCH PROGRAM

• Adopted a $40,079,043 General Church Program for the next three years: $12,777,017 for 1965, $13,379,351 for 1966, $13,922,675 for 1967. Major emphasis will be placed on overseas work, urban mission, and theological education, which will receive direct scholarship aid for the first time in the Church's history.

• Reaffirmed the principle of tithing for all Episcopalians, and "50-50" giving for all parishes and dioceses.

• Launched a study to determine the problems of transferring the Church from the so-called diocesan and district "quota system" for underwriting the General Church Program to a "partnership plan," a system of voluntary pledging. If such a plan were adopted by the next General Convention, it would go into effect in 1968.

HUMAN AFFAIRS

- Launched a Christian war on poverty through a statement from the House of Bishops which called poverty "a moral issue to be faced not only in the lives of Christians, but in the corporate behavior of the Church."
- Encouraged church people to work locally for family planning through public welfare and health agencies.
- Directed Executive (National) Council to formulate studies and make recommendations to the next General Convention on the Christian understanding of sexual behavior, and to develop training programs for the Church with regard to marriage counseling.

UNITY

- Approved a report from the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity which said that conversations among the representatives of the Episcopal, United Presbyterian, Methodist, United Church of Christ, Evangelical United Brethren, and Disciples of Christ Churches have made substantial progress. Three commissions dealing with ecumenical affairs were then consolidated into one new Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations.
- Sent greetings to Pope Paul VI and the Second Vatican Council of the Roman Catholic Church; Dr. Willem Visser 't Hooft, General Secretary of the World Council of Churches; and Ecumenical Patriarch Athenagoras of the Orthodox Church.
- Reaffirmed interest in a uniform translation of the Bible for use by both Roman Catholics and Protestants.
- Welcomed three official Roman Catholic observers, the first ever to attend General Convention. Another first was the visit of the Rev. Thomas F. Zimmerman, General Superintendent, General Council of the Assemblies of God (Pentecostal). Also in attendance were the heads of the three Churches which entered into Communion with the Episcopal Church last Convention: the Most Rev. Isabelo de los Reyes, Jr., Supreme Bishop of the Philippine Independent Church; the Rt. Rev. Santos M. Molina, the Spanish Reformed Church; and the Rt. Rev. Luis C. R. Pereira, Lusitanian Church (Portugal).
- Participated in an Ecumenical Day during which some 1,800 bishops, clergy, and lay persons from the Convention and the Women's Triennial adjourned their deliberations to visit three different seminaries — one Lutheran, one Roman Catholic, and the third United Church of Christ — in the Greater St. Louis area. There they broke into 105 groups holding ecumenical dialogues with members of the other Churches.
- Passed a resolution asking for the reorganization of the Joint Council of the Philippine Independent Church and the Episcopal Church. This body will be responsible for the development of program and projects to further mutual cooperation and responsibility of the two Churches in areas of Christian education, stewardship, leadership training, and college work.
- Stipulated that the first $15,000 of the Good Friday Offering will go to the Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem and that 15 percent of the balance will go to the Orthodox Theological Institute in Paris and related undertakings.
- Recommended for careful study by church groups the New Delhi Unity statement in which the World Council of Churches says that "the unity which is both God's will and his gift to his Church is being made visible...."
- Offered thanks for the valiant struggle of Christians in the Soviet Union who have maintained their faith despite many hardships and oppressions.

WORSHIP

- Proclaimed through a statement issued by the House of Bishops that all bishops and priests must uphold the Catholic faith of the Episcopal Church. This action was stimulated by the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Bishop of California, who gave a sermon on the first day of the Convention in which he made several controversial comments on the Doctrine of the Trinity. His fellow bishops claimed that they were not chiding Bishop Pike, but simply making it clear that the Church means the truth which "it expresses in its worship."
- Opened the way for trial use of new material in the Prayer Book Studies XVI by passing the second reading of a measure introduced in the 1961 General Convention. Under the guidance of the Standing Liturgical Commission, parishes and missions are now free to experiment with this service material.
- Added the New English Bible to the list of authorized translations of Holy Scripture which may be used for the Lessons in Morning and Evening Prayer. The Standard Bible of the Church remains the King James, or Authorized Version of 1611.
- Adopted the report of the Commission on Healing in the Church, which urges the Church to further the ministry of healing in the Church by every means at its disposal.

EQUALITY

• Affirmed that racial discrimination, segregation, or exclusion of any person in the human family because of race from the "rites or activities of the Church" was "contrary to the mind of Christ." This clarifies the Church's stand on a wide range of controversial issues including racially mixed marriages. In addition, the resolution commends those who are quiet agents for social change and specifically calls upon all Episcopalians for moral and material support for those of their fellow churchmen who are personally involved in the conflict for open housing, freedom and protection before the law, equal education, and new opportunities in employment.

• Deplored racism of governments in southern Africa, and voiced support for the Anglican Bishops of the Church of the Province of South Africa for their forthright stand against apartheid.

• Heard the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., a few days before he received the Nobel Peace Prize, deliver an address in which he said that "an endless reign of meaningless chaos" will result if a philosophy of nonviolence is not followed in the racial movement.

• Rebuffed once again a measure which would have allowed Episcopal laywomen to be elected to the House of Deputies. Similar proposals for women to share in the Church's legislative and policy-making General Convention have been defeated by the Deputies since 1952. The vote, however, was closer this time than ever before, with the clerical order passing the resolution, and the lay order defeating it by six votes. Despite a plea from the Presiding Bishop, the Deputies refused to reconsider their action.

• Urged all Episcopalians to reject once and for all the charge of deicide against the Jews, to work against all forms of anti-Semitism, and to enter into a positive dialogue with members of the Jewish faith.

• Encouraged the Church to pay special attention to the problems of the American Indian, especially those in urban areas.

OTHER SOCIAL CONCERNS

• Voted for increased participation in the working of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. as a means of strengthening Christian influence in America and in world society. This action followed a report from the Episcopal Church's Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations which absolved the NCC of charges brought against it during the Church's last General Convention in Detroit, Michigan. Earlier the House of Deputies had soundly defeated a motion to withdraw from the NCC.

• Issued a statement assuring the Church's strict neutrality toward all candidates for any and all offices at any level of government. The Convention took this action in an attempt to erase the confusion in the public mind between independent comments made by individual churchmen, and official actions of the Convention. It was triggered specifically by William Stringfellow's "Statement of Conscience," which the New York layman issued in St. Louis, Missouri, at the height of the Presidential election campaign.

• Made it clear in another resolution that individuals and unofficial organizations do not speak for the Episcopal Church. Although it affirmed the right of any Episcopalian to freedom of speech, the resolution stated that the Church speaks officially only through various levels of authority: General Convention, the House of Bishops, and the Executive (National) Council.

• Rejected a resolution stating that Christians ought to obey God rather than men by reacting against laws or social customs which are in basic conflict with the concept of human dignity under God. In part an affirmation of civil disobedience in cases of racial injustice, the motion passed the House of Bishops and the clerical order in the House of Deputies, but was defeated by the lay order. Later the House of Bishops issued a statement of conscience on Christian Obedience in which the Episcopate recognized the right of any persons to work for repeal of unjust laws and, failing this, to disobey them and to participate in peaceful demonstrations.

• Petitioned the U.S. Senate to ratify the United Nations' Declaration on Human Rights which denounces genocide, slavery, and forced labor, and proclaims the political rights of women around the world. In addition, the Convention took note that 1965, the twentieth year of UN operations, will be known as International Cooperation Year.

• Reversed in part an earlier stand by approving private, parochial, or sectarian schools accepting government aid in the provision of standard textbooks, equal bus transportation, programs for training teachers in secular subjects, health and lunch programs, grants for conducting research, and provision of scholarships and loans to college students.

• Commended the Chicago Urban Training Center and gave top priority to urban work by calling upon Executive (National) Council to provide materials to all dioceses and to set up new pilot urban projects.

• Strengthened the provincial structure by urging all dioceses to have proposed resolutions to the General Convention considered by their provincial synods; and further urging that General Convention deputies be invited to the synods as guests with a seat and voice, but no vote.

• Limited future General Conventions to nine legislative days; launched a study of proportional representation in the House of Deputies, thus giving the larger dioceses a greater voice; and instructed the Joint Commission on Structure of General Convention and Provinces to report to the next Convention with concrete proposals for streamlining the Church's legislative processes.

• Reelected Dr. Clifford P. Morehouse as president of the House of Deputies, and the Rt. Rev. Nelson Burroughs, Bishop of Ohio, as vice-chairman of the House of Bishops; elected the Very Rev. John C. Leffler, Dean of St. Mark's Cathedral, Seattle, Washington, as the first vice-president of the House of Deputies; reelected the Rev. Alexander M. Rodger as secretary of the House of Bishops, and the Rev. Canon Charles M. Guilbert, secretary of the Church's Executive (National) Council, as secretary of the House of Deputies, and the Rev. Dr. Walter Stowe as Historiographer of the Church.

• Changed the name of National Council, the Church's interim governing body between General Conventions, to Executive Council; increased its membership to forty-one members; and limited the size of its staff to 337 officers and staff workers. Twenty-one new members were elected by General Convention to fill three- and six-year terms on the Executive Council. In another action, the new staff post of General Secretary for Evangelism was created. The Convention also heard a report stating that over $200,000 was still needed in pledges to complete the cost of the new Episcopal Church Center in New York.

• Accepted the invitation of the Diocese of Olympia to convene the Church's Sixty-second General Convention in Seattle, Washington, in the fall of 1967.

• Commended THE EPISCOPALIAN for its "outstanding and increasingly effective" work as the official magazine of the Church, and urged greater support for the magazine's Parish Every Family Plan.

• Observed the 150th anniversary of the American Bible Society by agreeing to full participation in a 1966 project, "The Year of the Bible."
• Heard a statement by the committee on Pentecostal movements within the Church that it had found much of value in them, but that they needed direction to avoid excess.

THE MINISTRY

• Changed the Canon so as to allow deacons to become ministers-in-charge of parishes and missions in the absence of rectors. This does not authorize them to celebrate Holy Communion.
• Approved sabbatical leaves for parish and other priests of the Church for study and renewal.
• Granted permission for deaconesses to enter service at age twenty-four instead of twenty-five, and to be "ordered" by their bishop; and dropped the "unmarried or widowed" clause.
• Redefined the qualifications and duties of professional women church workers, provided for their "certification" by their diocesan bishop, and created a new Joint Commission on Women Church Workers.
• Set the minimum age for optional retirement of clergy at sixty-five years of age, instead of at sixty-eight. In addition, the Convention instituted a medical plan for the clergy which will go into effect as soon as two-thirds of the dioceses and districts approve it. Furthermore, the Church Pension Fund was asked to study a request for setting up a variable pension system.

THE EPISCOPATE

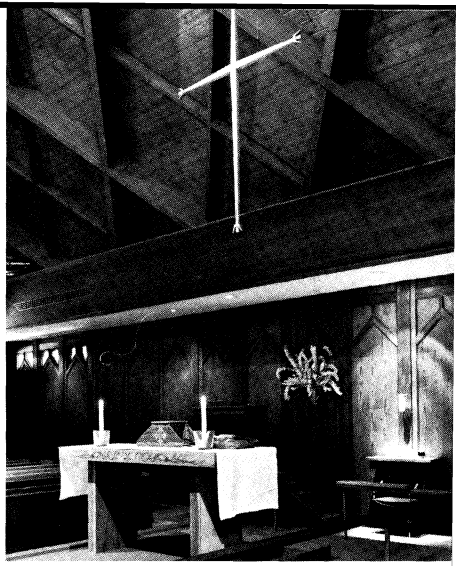
• Created the new post of Suffragan Bishop to the U.S. Armed Forces which will also have jurisdiction over the American Churches in Europe. The Bishops then approved the election of a suffragan bishop for the Diocese of Oregon.
• Elected two new bishops, transferred one from a domestic missionary district, and accepted a second from another part of the Anglican Communion. The Rt. Rev. Arnold M. Lewis, Bishop of Western Kansas, was chosen to fill the new post of Suffragan Bishop to the Armed Forces. The Rt. Rev. James C. Wong, of Jesseiton, North Borneo, will become Bishop of Taiwan. The Rev. George T. Masuda, rector of St. Luke's Church, Billings, Montana, was elected to be Bishop of North Dakota. The Very Rev. F. Reus-Froylán, Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist in Santurce, Puerto Rico, was elected to be Bishop Coadjutor of Puerto Rico.
• Voted in favor of the translation of diocesan and coadjutor bishops from one jurisdiction to another.
• Expressed appreciation and thanks to the Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne, Jr., who left his position as executive officer of the Anglican Communion to become director of the Executive (National) Council's Overseas Department. At another point in the Convention, the Rt. Rev. John B. Bentley, retiring director of the Overseas Department, was honored for his long service.
• Noted that the next meeting of the House of Bishops will take place at East Glacier, Montana, from September 7 through 11, 1965; and in 1966 will convene in West Virginia.

DIOCESES AND DISTRICTS

• Decided to delay until next Convention the decision to change all Missionary Districts into Dioceses. Should this pass in the future, it is expected that Missionary Districts would be allowed to elect their own bishops and would have equal representation with dioceses in the House of Deputies.
• Admitted the Missionary District of Spokane as a Diocese. With its see city being Spokane, Washington, the new diocese includes all of the State of Washington east of the Cascade Mountain range and the part of Idaho known as the "panhandle" — the northern section of the state.
• Voted to change the Constitution to allow a diocese to cede territory to an adjacent diocese, if the bishop and convention of each diocese give their approval. The General Division of Research and Field Study was asked to begin a thorough study of possible realignments.
• Passed a resolution granting permission to translate the Constitution and Canons into Spanish for Latin American jurisdictions of the Church.

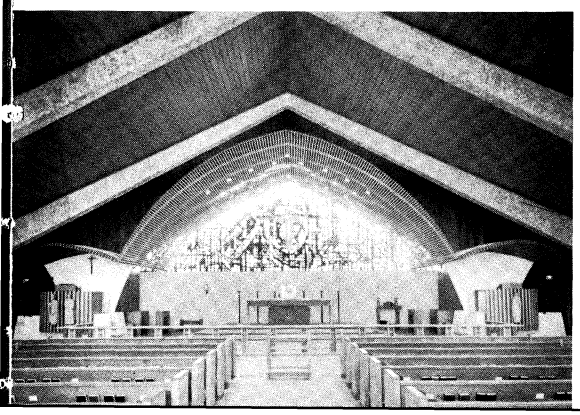
STRUCTURE AND ORGANIZATION

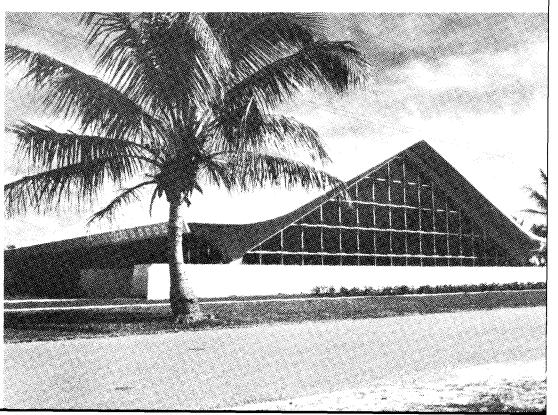
• Found an "Anglican compromise" for the ancient dispute over the name of the Church. This was accomplished by the addition of a Preamble to the Church's Constitution which begins, "The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, otherwise known as the Episcopal Church (which name is hereby recognized as also designating the Church)." Because the issue involves a change in the Constitution, it must also receive favorable action at a second reading at the 1967 General Convention.



St. Bede's Church, Menlo Park, California . . . Designed by John C. Hill, A.I.A., St. Bede's represents a striking example of the central altar plan, surrounded by a handsome building in what has come to be known as "Redwood Contemporary." An entirely parochially sponsored mission, the new mission shows the willingness of the Church to move out from the longitudinal and more traditional floor plan of the parent church. With high, small windows, pulpit, lectern, credence table and ambry behind the altar, the plan works very well, as evidenced by a full congregation every Sunday. The cost of the church, seating 440, including a connecting Church School building, $245,000.

St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Pompano Beach, Florida . . . Costing a total of $175,000 and seating 575 people is, in the words of the Rector, "A building to house the Eucharistic Assembly." The choir is in a loft in the west end, and the pulpit and the lectern with their own canopy connected to the great baldachin over the altar link Word and Sacrament. No one in the congregation is more than 16 pews from the spacious free-standing altar, and the repetition of the pre-cast concrete open trusses helps to relate each to all by means of an unobstructed interior.





The Church's Evolving Architecture
1962 - 1964

The past three years have seen a continuation of the development of the massive note in the Church's use of architecture. The illustrations in this issue of THE CLERICAL DIRECTORY use massiveness to indicate God's majestic and mysterious reaching out in these days that combine affluence and a beginning of hope for the future.

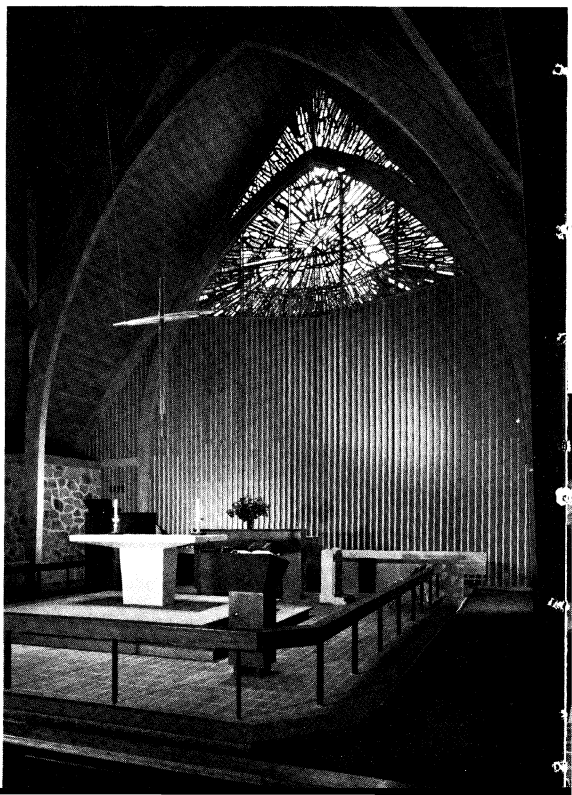
The words of the PRAYER BOOK, "In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble suffer not our trust in thee to fail," should certainly be expressed in architectural form. To Christians the broad directions of history are seen as the power of God. This power is now being welcomed with holy thanksgiving, and is expressed by emphasis on the altar and the gathering of the people around it. Central, longitudinal, and combination floor plans with choirs around and behind the altar and in west galleries abound. More windowless churches are appearing, allowing more control of lighting and the resulting heightening of dramatic effect in the meeting of God and His people at the altar. The freedom provided by prestressed slabs and pre-cast and laminated beams is also being used to heighten the sense of the unity of the fellowship in uninterrupted space.

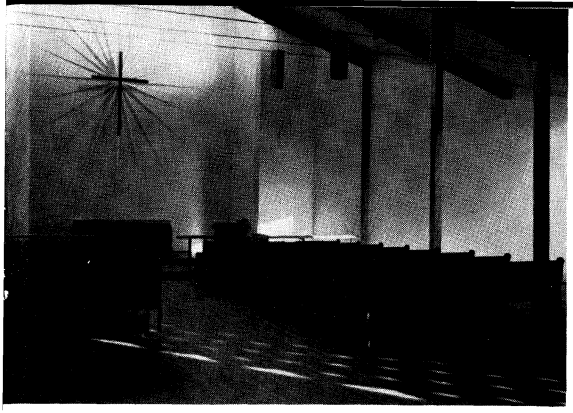
A recovery of the role of the Church as God's instrument pointed at the world as well as at heaven, is indicated by an overwhelming use of contemporary forms which through architecture relate the Church to the world. The use of traditional forms is now almost unknown in new church construction and design. Either consciously or unconsciously the Church realizes that traditional forms in general point to a lack of concern for the things of this day, while Gothic in particular is associated with an otherwordliness quite out of step with the theology, apologetics, and ethics of the sixties. These remarks, of course, have nothing to do with the validity of that traditional architecture which was built at the time it was contemporary, but only refer to blind copying.

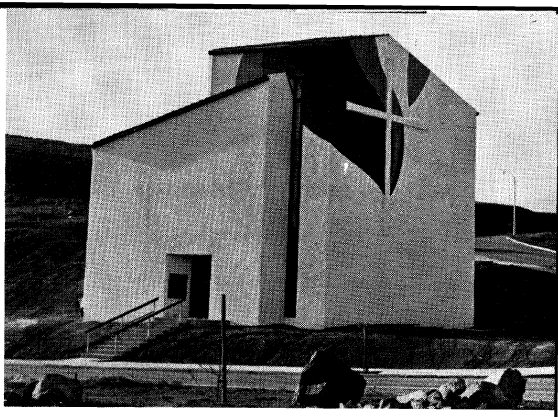
The willingness to spend more effort and money on esthetic detail is all a part of our holy joy in celebrating God's mission rather than our own small sanctity. The increase in the dramatic and the artistic seen in the churches of this triennium properly underline and decorate a purpose that is God's, even though worked through men. The scale of our churches is turning from the human toward the heroic and is evidence of the rediscovery of our primary job.

DARBY WOOD BETTS

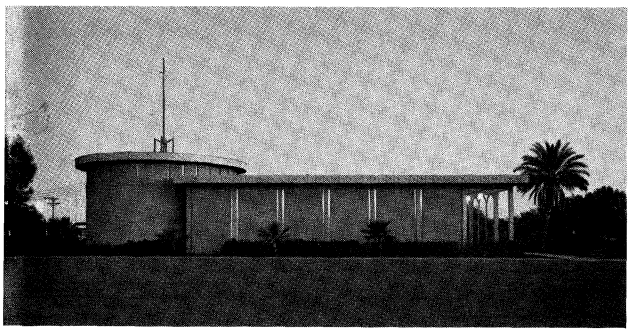
Trinity Church, Concord, Massachusetts . . . Is a masterful example of the combination of the traditional and the contemporary. The product of Pietro Belluschi and Anderson, Beckwith and Haible, Associated Architects, it uses laminated beams, a combination of the central and longitudinal floor plans and a recall of the ancient within the forms of the present, which is remarkable. Cost of the church proper, seating 450, including complete basement classroom and choir practice facilities, $333,000 and worth it.



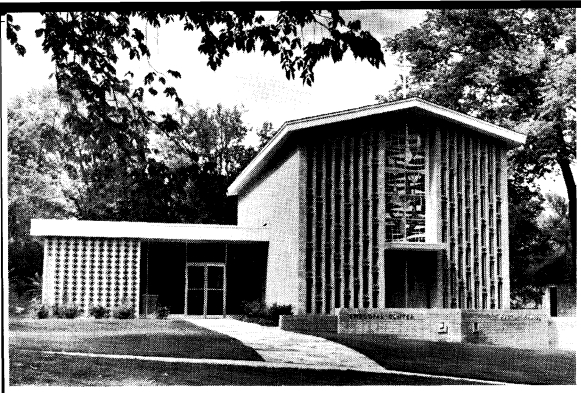


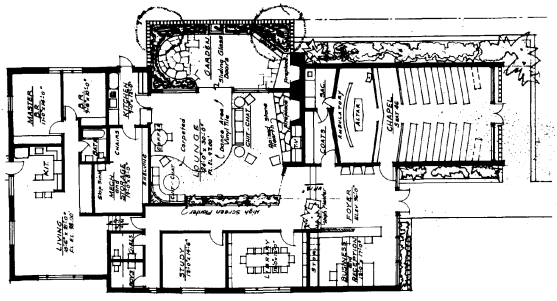


St. Aidan's Church, Diamond Heights, San Francisco, California . . . The redevelopment program of the city of San Francisco called for the leveling of the top of one of its highest hills for an ambitious, privately built residential area of apartments, duplexes and single family houses. The Diocese of California was assigned one of the three church sites and built this striking structure, designed by Skidmore, Owings & Merrill in a handsome, contemporary expression of the simple but massive mission architecture of the Colonial period of California. The shape of the lot and its precipitous slope dictated the outline and elevation of the structure, which was solved with striking effectiveness. The lines around the cross indicate brilliant flame colors. The interior of the building is of stark simplicity in a most dramatic use of space. The building seats 250 people, has a large parish hall below, and cost $90,000.



St. Paul's Church, Phoenix, Arizona . . . In the words of T. S. Montgomery, the architect, "There is a singleness of focus on the altar. The nave is an unassuming, quiet place to sit and kneel in attendance on the altar." As a meeting place of man and God, pointing toward heaven but related to the world, this church is most successful. Total cost, including everything, $130,000, or $355 per seat.





The Episcopal Center, University of Arkansas . . . Shows strong simplicity and skillful artistry with the entire front of the chapel lighted through colored glass at night, while the central mosaic "reads" from the outside during the day. Inside, the reredos with its gold leaf line cross and brilliant ceramic inserts emphasize the simple marble altar. Architects, Black & West, Tulsa, Oklahoma. West front by Frei Studios of St. Louis.

The Church of Christ The King, Orlando, Florida . . . Repeats the dramatic note inside and out, although simplicity is the rule of the inside while elaboration serves the dramatic on the exterior. The interior is quite severe in color as well as design, but the Eucharistic vestments regularly used help concentrate attention on the altar. With capacity seating of 500, the total cost of $127,000 is enviable. Architect, Nils S. Schweizer, Winter Park, Florida.
