REPORT OF THE
NATIONAL COUNCIL OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

THIS report had been expected from the hand of Bishop Philip Cook whose name, though not subscribed, belongs to it. At the moment of closing his three years as President of the National Council there came the period of illness and of silence, mercifully relieved of pain and of realization that his supreme labor of love for the Church had brought his life-long service to an end. So the brief record of the last twelve months is inscribed, for him and to him, by his companion in office with affectionate, grateful and lasting remembrance.

The chief accomplishments of the Bishop for the Council was the working harmony into which he brought together the officers and members of the Departments. This esprit de corps in Church Missions House characterized particularly the work of the year 1937. The financial burden and the task of preparation for General Convention were relieved in large measure by the co-operation into which the official staff had been led by their President. The changes in organization made by General Convention in 1934, removing administrative responsibility from the Presiding Bishop, left the house without a resident head. Necessarily there devolved upon the heads of Departments executive tasks made effective by the President's able leadership. Representatives of the House by his appointment visited all sections of the country for regional conferences in preparation for General Convention. Bishop Cook in person attended many of these meetings near and far, for direction of their plans and for the stimulation of financial support.

The personnel of the Council has undergone important changes. Illness caused the resignation of the Bishop of Ohio, Rt. Rev. W. L. Rogers, D.D., and of Mr. John S. Newbold. The subsequent death of the latter is mourned by all who had been associated with him during his long years of service. The vacancy caused by the resignation in 1936 of the Rev. Dr. Milton was filled by the election of the Rev. Edmund P. Dandridge, D.D., of Tennessee. Rev. Dr. Charles W. Shreiner was elected by the Synod of the Third Province as its representative on the Council.

Departments of the Council continued under the strong leadership of our executive heads. In October, the Rev. Almon R. Pepper, who had served as part-time Executive Secretary for Christian Social Service was appointed to full duty in that position. Mr. Frank A. Zubrod, cashier in the Department of Finance, completed forty-five years of service in Missions House.

An event of major importance to the Church was the completion in 1937 by the Missionary District of Oklahoma of a five-year period of effort toward self-support. At Cincinnati in October, Bishop Casady reported success in the endeavor. The district relinquished appropriations from the National Council and upon its application was erected into a diocese, admitted into union with General Convention.

So may the Church progress in missionary enterprise, in the power of consecrated leadership and in the fulfillment of God's purpose.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

FOR the year 1936 I made a complete and detailed report on conditions in the Domestic Field. For details for the year 1937 I refer you to the several reports of Missionary Districts and Aided Dioceses which follow. A careful reading of these reports will convince any one that substantial progress has been made in the Church's mission to America. In spite of meager appropriations our work does develop and we have reason to believe that the increasing interest in our missionary enterprise, on the part of the members of our Church, will make it possible to take advantage of a few new opportunities in the coming year.

It is interesting to note that thirteen dioceses and one missionary district have voluntarily released appropriations from the National Council during the past five years. No doubt additional savings can be made during the next five years and it is the opinion of the Department that all amounts which may be released should be appropriated to special undertakings in two great fields where the Church must make her peculiar contribution in the future. I refer to the fields of Negro and Rural Work.

For five years the administration of Domestic Missions has been entrusted to a part-time Executive Secretary. The time has come to place a man in this position who can give all his time to the work. He should have the assistance of a Secretary for Rural Work. For five years I have pleaded for such assistance. It has not been available because of our financial difficulties. If we are to go forward in the Domestic field the staff at headquarters should be adequate for the task imposed upon it.

In the Negro field there has been considerable growth but the clergy are poorly paid and the equipment is inadequate. The Church has never given this work the consideration which it deserves. It is encouraging to note the growing interest which was manifested at General Convention. The committee on Negro work which this Convention set up should make a valuable contribution to the Church's knowledge of the task that lies ahead. This department has made frequent studies of the work among the colored people which is aided by the National Council and a policy is being developed for the extension of this work as soon as additional income is available to pay salaries and travel and provide the necessary equipment for the field.

In the Southern Mountains the Church is carrying on a ministry to a neglected people with conspicuous success.

There has been no retreat in the Indian fields except in the District of South Dakota. In that most important work several schools have been closed and the missionaries are overworked. Furthermore the Roman Catholic Church is taking advantage of the present situation to make a concerted drive to win the allegiance of the Dakota people. I consider this the greatest emergency in the Domestic field today. With decreasing income nothing could be done to aid South Dakota. This is one of the outstanding examples of the tragedy of cutting appropriations to fields of specialized work.

Concluding this brief introduction it may be of interest to the Council to have a list of the imperative needs of Domestic Missions:

1. Full-time Executive Secretary.
2. Full-time Secretary of Rural Work.
3. At least $5,000 additional appropriation for Indian work in South Dakota to reopen two schools.
4. $5,000 additional appropriation for travel allowance in missionary districts.
5. Twenty new missionaries for Negro work (men and women) each year for the next Triennium and a restoration of all salary cuts.
6. Thirty new missionaries (men and women) for the Rural field each year for the next Triennium.

The total cost of financing these needs is approximately $60,000. If this amount could be available for work in carefully selected and strategic centers in the Negro, Rural and Indian fields it would bring large returns in the next three years and place the National Council in a position to aid in the building of a Christian America.

Executive Secretary

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF ARIZONA

The Missionary District of Arizona embraces the State of Arizona. It has an area of 113,810 square miles and a population (1930) of 435,573. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1892. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Walter Mitchell, D.D., consecrated January 5, 1926.

The appropriation to Arizona for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $21,398; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $3,934; (3) for support of institutions, $1,000; (4) for United Thank Offering work $4,320; (5) for Indian work, $7,000. Total, $37,652.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

ON the whole the year 1937 was a satisfactory one but there were certain backsets. The first was the large turnover in clergy. We have more vacancies right now than probably ever before in my time, and in addition there has been a moving about within the district which sets back the work almost as much as bringing in newcomers.

Next is the fact that places which had to be left vacant when the cuts came are still unfilled, and some of them are very important. For example, that of chaplain to the sick in and around Phoenix. What this man could do is illustrated by what the Rev. C. E. Huntington, in a like capacity has done at Tucson. We have a suitable house, built for the purpose on the grounds of St. Luke's Home and the salary awaiting the man. Again, with some 18% of the students at our State University at Tucson, giving ours as the Church of their preference, we are still without a Student Pastor. For a State university a surprisingly large number of the students are non-Arizona youngsters, which would seem to make support from without all the more proper.

The Mormon Church has just completed a beautiful and complete student building, which must have cost around $18,000 at least, just off the campus of the University, with well equipped people in residence, (the head man being a Ph.D., and still a Mormon!). Similarly, just off the Campus of the Teachers' College, Flagstaff, they have erected a similar building with proper people in residence. At the other and larger Teachers' College, Tempe, they are fully staffed. We have neither building nor even one person at any of the three.

In the field composed of the mining town of Ray, the smelter town of Hayden, the county seat of Florence, the new town of Coolidge, (in which from the beginning there have never been sufficient houses) and the old, well-established town of Casa Grande, we have neither missionary nor church. In Ray a guild hall but no man. The Presbyterians have men and fine churches in Florence, Coolidge and Casa Grande and cover Ray and Hayden.

There were confirmed 212, compared with 169 the year before. But for the fact that I was sick during July, August and September; away during October at the General Convention and on the road during November for money for the hospital at Salome, which the National Council authorized, this number would probably have been larger.

The work among the Navajo was never in better shape. The cry there is for more workers. I call especial attention to the fact that if the Federal Government were to withdraw their support, our home for orphans, and the only one among 50,000 Indians, Navajo, would have to be closed. They are aiding for the second year but with the distinct understanding, which they remind us of, that it is an emergency measure.

Likewise the work among the Mexicans was never in better shape. I reported the gift of property by a Lutheran business man of Prescott, in the part of Phoenix where juvenile delinquency was the highest in the City. We have been operating a playground and mission there ever since. Last fall, in a public address the Judge of the Juvenile Court made the statement, with figures to prove it, that juvenile delinquency had dropped 37% in the one year. We are now planning to branch out into other places.

I call attention to the fact that, except for the salaries for four of our six full-time workers, $13.50 per month rent and a little for travel, the general Church pays not one cent toward the maintenance of all of this work among Mexicans.

We filled the office of Executive Secretary of the District by the selection of a devoted young business man who has made a considerable sacrifice to accept, again at no cost to the general Church.

Improvements to the extent of over $15,000 were made during the summer to St. Luke's Home for tubercular patients in Phoenix. Again at no expense to the general Church.

St. Luke's-in-the-Desert, Tucson, our other tubercular hospital, for men only, has every bed filled.

We paid our Quota for 1937 in full.

The new men thus far appear to be good ones. They include two from the seminaries, one of whom is to give his life to the Mexican work, speaking the language like a native. With the filling of the vacancies with other good men, we should have a satisfactory year during 1938.

Bishop of Arizona

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF EASTERN OREGON

The Missionary District of Eastern Oregon embraces that section of the State of Oregon east of Cascade Mountains, including the counties of Baker, Crook, Deschutes, Gilliam, Grant, Harney, Hood River, Klamath, Lake Malheur, Morrow, Sherman, Umatilla, Union, Wallowa, Wasco and Wheeler. It has an area of 64,368 square miles and a population (1930) of 180,682. The district was established by the General Convention in 1907. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. William P. Remington, D.D., consecrated January 10, 1918, translated from South Dakota in September, 1922.

The appropriation for Eastern Oregon for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $11,600; (2) for insurance, repairs and miscellaneous items, $974; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $2,160. Total $14,734.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE work of the Church in Eastern Oregon has gone on this past year without interruption, and in some places with renewed vigor. Added population and the sense of growth and development have much to do with the seeming welfare of our congregations. We have discovered long ago, however, that consecrated, energetic leadership, plus a friendly, loyal spirit among the people, is of more importance than members. A small group working on the right lines will accomplish much more than a crowd in which there are many who do not know what it is all about. The Church's power and influence can never be measured by statistics, nor evaluated by contributions. This is not an alibi for the report I must make this year on the decrease in confirmations. It just happens that way sometimes. In 1938 we shall probably have double the number of confirmations. What really counts is the steady missionary work of the priest in charge, and his constant effort to educate people in the ways of the Church. I am sure that it is better to have fewer lapsed members than it is to have larger confirmation classes.

Now that I am a frequent visitor to the Diocese of Oregon, I am more than ever impressed with the value of our missionary effort over a period of years. Everywhere I go I meet people whose first acquaintance with the Episcopal Church was in some rural town or isolated district. Western people are on the march, and when they finally reach a haven they will seek out the Church and the ministry which has helped them along the trail. The most important institution we have in Eastern Oregon is our Ascension Summer School, which gives to young people a view of the Church at work and at play as well as at study, which steadies them all through their later experiences. We had 140 young people at Cove Summer School last year and 70 at another conference for Grade School Children, which will be continued this year, with even greater success we hope. We have at Cove an ideal summer conference place, whose equipment is being increased every year. This past summer we added Paddock Hall, named in honor of our first Bishop, Robert L. Paddock, and used as a refectory to seat 120 hungry campers.

This coming summer we will build two new log cabins to take the places of some of the tents which, since 1924, have housed the boys. It is our hope that the facilities of the school may be used in the future to bring the same inspiration to adults who may be attracted to spend a ten days' vacation on the campus at The Cove. The Church will never solve the problem of lapsed memberships until we penetrate the enlarging experiences of adult life with some fresh interpretations in an environment where worship and study are central and intensive rather than occasional and accidental.

Perhaps the most important work of the year has been the liquidation of approximately $4,000 of the debts we still had on our original building program. The mortgages on the parish house of All Saints', Heppner, and on Nevius Hall in Baker have been burned. We are deeply indebted to the American Church Building Fund Commission for their help both in making the loans and in forgiving us the last payment on Heppner parish house and the accumulated interest on Nevius Hall. We owe now only $3,600 to the American Church Building Fund Commission on loans on St. Andrew's, Burns, and St. Matthews', Ontario. These should be cared for easily in due course. Lifting even the small burden of debt which we have had has released energies for self-support, so that financially we are nearer to our goal than ever. Trinity Church, Bend, has become an incorporated parish this year, thus giving us one more self-supporting church. This and other reductions in subsidies to missions have enabled us to make some advance in reaching out to new opportunities in the field. In Central Oregon there is a vast area, growing, just recently, in population. Its center is Bend. We have put Captain Arthur Bello of the Church Army in this field to visit, make surveys, hold services and do evangelistic work. I have loaned him my own old car, because there were no appropriations for automobiles and now Captain Bello is serving the growing towns of Redmond, Prineville, Madras, and St. Peter's, Cross Keys. Reports of opportunities are enthusiastic. The Rev. Mr. Lewis (a former Church Army Captain), superintends this work and has given Captain Bello a room in Hixon House, the rectory of Trinity Church, Bend.

Our apportionment for general missions was paid in full for 1937 and we have increased our expectancies by $500 for 1938. We have much yet to do in this pioneer country. Bonneville Dam and new irrigation projects around Ontario, Vale and Nyssa, as well as contemplated ones in Central Oregon, are sure to bring new settlers. Mormons are moving into the southeastern section, developing the sugar beet industry. Wherever they go, they build their churches and carry on their missionary propaganda. Sometimes I wish we could have settlements sponsored by our own Church, so that when people move out of the "dust bowl" they can be assured of the shepherding care of our Church. We have so much to give. Have we like other Christian Churches lost our old urge to strengthen, confirm and settle in a country which we seem to feel can take care of itself? It will take care of itself, but its dominant note will be pagan unless we regain our enthusiasm for missionary enterprise.

We have had the usual turn-over in the personnel of our missionaries. In the spring, the Rev. J. M. B. Gill of Petersburg, Virginia, and for fifteen years a missionary in Nanking, China, volunteered for service in Eastern Oregon. I placed him in Lakeview where he is in charge of a territory of nearly 10,000 square miles. The people are responding splendidly to his consecrated efforts, and with Miss Hazel Morrison, U. T. O. worker, he is opening up new fields where there have been no other Christian services. The Rev. William Rush replaced the Rev. Frederick Crane at St. Andrew's, Burns. The Rev. Archie Buchanan resigned St. Stephen's, Baker, in August and until the middle of January, Archdeacon Hinkle and I served St. Stephen's with the help of Captain Bello of the Church Army. The Rev. Thomas M. Baxter of Christ Church, Austin, Minnesota, will become the rector in Baker in January, 1938. Our missionary staff was filled with the appointment of the Rev. Victor Newman, formerly of Pocatello, Idaho, who took charge of St. Barnabas', Langell Valley, when he became rector of St. Paul's, Klamath Falls, in the early fall of 1937.

WILLIAM P. REMINGTON,
Bishop of Eastern Oregon

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF IDAHO

The Missionary District of Idaho embraces that portion of the State of Idaho south of the Salmon River. It has an area of 70,657 square miles and a population (1930) of 335,207. The State was established as a district by the General Convention in 1907 and in 1935 the "Panhandle" was transferred to the District of Spokane. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Frederick B. Bartlett, D.D., consecrated December 16, 1931, translated from North Dakota, October 1, 1935.

The appropriation to Idaho for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $13,445; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $6,370; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $1,260; (4) for Indian work, $3,071. Total, $24,146.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE Church's work in Idaho has been steadily advancing during the year 1937, due to the energetic efforts of our missionaries and the developing sense of responsibility on the part of our people. Several closed missions have been opened for services. New missions have been established. As a result of aggressive efforts we can report an increase of 25% in baptisms and confirmations as compared with 1936. Over three hundred new pupils have been added to our Church school enrollment. The work with the Isolated has been extended.

It is to be noted that in spite of a decreased appropriation from the National Council we are doing more effective work each year. Two of our missions should be self-supporting in 1940, and two other fields should be able to support their own work in 1942. We maintain no static work in Idaho.

In the Indian field where our Church has the responsibility for 1,830 members of the Bannock-Shoshone tribes the work is developing rapidly. From the center at Fort Hall, where we have a beautiful chapel, a well-equipped mission to care for twenty-five Indian girls and a large, irrigated farm, our workers carry the ministrations of the Church over the entire reservation. Weekday religious instruction is provided in three school houses and the same buildings are used for Church services. The Government generously provides the use of school busses to bring the people to these services. Some of our most effective work is done in the homes of the Indian people by our U. T. O. workers. Since our program ties into that of the office of Indian Affairs we have won the enthusiastic commendation of the superintendent of the Fort Hall Agency. There is a very happy spirit of co-operation between Church and State on this reservation which insures the development of our work in the years to come. Although many of the Indians cling to their old pagan customs, we have an excellent opportunity to win the whole reservation to the Christian Way of Life when we are in a position to place a clergyman in residence. At present the direction of the work is entrusted to the vicar in charge of the church in Pocatello. It is remarkable what has been accomplished by so small a group of workers on so small an appropriation.

In Idaho there are two institutions which once received aid from the National Council but are now self-supporting. St. Luke's Hospital maintains its high standard of service. It is first of all a Church Hospital, offering those plus-values which must be added to efficient technique of hospitalization if persons are to be cured in these modern days. St. Luke's has been able to reduce its debt substantially during the year 1937, and at the same time to provide $28,000 in free work for the poor. This great institution, occupying an entire block in the best section of Boise, presents an impressive appearance and adds much to the prestige of the Church. Thousands of people in the intermountain region have reason to bless St. Luke's for its Christian service. In connection with the hospital a Training School for Nurses is preparing, under the highest standards, fifty young women for their profession.

Boise Junior College continues to provide an excellent education for one hundred and fifty young men and women. Graduates find their credits are accepted in all Class A Universities.

Outside Boise our Church in Idaho faces a great rural problem with which we struggle, doing what we can with a small group of eleven missionaries covering an area of 71,000 square miles. Sixty per cent of our population is unchurched. To work with these people, scattered on ranches, in mining camps and small towns, we need additional missionaries; and we cannot expect self-support for many years. If, however, the rural area is to provide a leadership for the nation in the years ahead, as it has for centuries past, it would be a good investment to provide Christian education, at least for the children, in these neglected areas. We minister to a procession in Idaho but we are winning many members for the churches in other parts of the country. We are on the producing end of the movement. It would be wise to provide Idaho, and other western districts, with the manpower sufficient to meet the opportunity.

With two exceptions our buildings are now in first-class condition. Several churches, parish houses and rectories have been repaired or rebuilt. An entirely new equipment has been provided at Weiser, through an advantageous sale of the old site, and with the help of the American Church Building Fund Commission. This same Commission also aided us in the rebuilding of the rectory at Rupert, where the church, after being closed for several years, has been opened and the communicant strength increased over 100% in one year. A great part of the money necessary to do this new work and carry through our program of repairs has been provided by the local congregations. Certainly this is evidence of the people's desire to do all that is possible to meet their financial obligations.

It is the policy in Idaho to employ a few first-class missionaries on a living wage rather than to clutter up the field with ineffectuals simply because they are cheap. There should be some restoration in the appropriation for salaries if this mission field is expected to produce conspicuous results. We cannot hold good men long on merely a living wage. There are children to be educated and wives who should have some of the decent things of life.

Next year I hope to institute a plan for raising an endowment for missionary work in Idaho. We are not aiming at diocesan status but we do hope to take over some of our own important work, or provide for the expenses of advancement which must be made each year if the Church in Idaho is to justify its existence.

We are also working on a ten-year program which should challenge our people to increased effort and command the respect of the general Church.

FREDERICK B. BARTLETT,

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF NEVADA

The Missionary District of Nevada embraces the State of Nevada. It has an area of 109,821 square miles and a population (1930) of 91,058. The district was established within its present bounds by the General Convention in 1907. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Thomas Jenkins, D.D., consecrated January 25, 1929.

The appropriation to Nevada for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $11,410; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $2,260; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $4,860. Total, $18,530.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

"The ruling passion, be it what it will,
The ruling passion conquers reason still."

THE longer I live and work in the western mission field, the more convinced I am that our task is made the more difficult by our haphazard method of training and selecting men for our field. We are not producing western-born clergy nor are we training any especially for western work. Young men who come to work in Nevada have to make up their minds "to forsake all others and keep themselves only unto" an itinerant ministry, or limit the period of service for which they come. All our work is small. A field with one self-supporting parish and thirty-five missions doesn't offer great hope of promotion. And whether we will or no, most young men look forward sometime to a chance and a "larger opportunity." Nevada does not magnetize many candidates by the prospects she has to offer. And this applies, it may be presumed, to most of our intermountain country. However, rapid as it is now, the tenure of service is much longer than in earlier days. The average for the seven priests who left us during the year was four years plus—the longest being nearly eight years and the shortest less than one year. But that is not enough to assure permanent constructive work. And a fifty per cent turnover in one year is disconcerting.

The following in order of length of service left our mission field for other work: The Rev. Messrs. F. C. Taylor, E. W. Kellett, W. A. Stimson (retired), C. M. Truesdale, D. B. Northrop, A. J. T. Ecker and A. L. Schrock. The last named, however, having been elected rector of Reno, does not leave us. To fill these vacancies, there have come to us: The Rev. Messrs. J. F. Hogben, H. B. Thomas, J. T. Knight, J. F. Moore, L. M. Morse, A. H. MacDonnell, and F. W. Weida.

Such a series of translations involves considerable expense to the district treasury in travel, improvements and, in some cases, a new car. The past year, therefore, has brought a strain on our resources.

Can anything be done to remedy this condition? Yes, but not after men reach the field. The cause is basic and goes back to the years of training and the ease with which men enter the ministry, not to speak of the ideas so many of them entertain regarding their place in the Church and the Church's responsibility for their future.

Beside the change in the clergy staff, two of our deaconesses have left us, Deaconess Todd, after seven years at Moapa, accepted a transfer to the District of Idaho and Deaconess Crow, after three years with us, accepted work in St. Louis. Both of these women rendered faithful service. And now, almost as soon as the new year opens, Deaconess Bradley, after a year's service, has been obliged to resign on account of a physical breakdown. Her service in the Indian field as a Church nurse has been far-reaching. To take up what Deaconess Bradley so well carried on, I am transferring Deaconess Sime, from Wells, inasmuch as she is a registered nurse and is available.

To fill the gap made by the departure of Deaconess Crow, Deaconess Smith returned from her year of special study at St. Faith's. To Moapa, where Deaconess Todd had been, Deaconess Isabel Ormerod of Marquette has come. And now to complete our staff, Deaconess Orwig of Virginia is coming to the vacancy in the Moapa Indian field, made necessary by the transfer of Deaconess Ormerod to the Wells field.

Please God, we are settled for awhile; but one cannot tell, for certainly at the beginning of 1937 I did not think so many things could happen before its close. The words of the ancient collect: "The changes and chances of this mortal life" take on significance in such retrospect. But in this obstacle-race there is much to encourage us, if we have the eye to peer beneath the surface. In the first place the fine family spirit that prevails in the staff is a source of daily renewal, the increasing number of people to whom we minister, the expansion of our work to the ranches and remote places, the improvement in the quality of religious instruction, the deepening sense of pastoral opportunity and responsibility, the very marked brightening up and general improvement of our work in the whole Indian field, and the increasing regard manifested by serious-minded people for the definite moral standards and teaching of the Church. These are all inspiring aspects of the work as I review the past year.

Other than to extend our Yerington work into a neighboring agricultural valley, which already shows considerable promise, and to provide a monthly service to a "Union Church" at Fernley, the past year has witnessed no exension of our work. This has seemed prudent in the light of our steady expansion in the past eight years. Indeed we are carrying all the load the staff can stand.

It has been necessary to purchase two new cars during the year. And, sad to relate, this has had to be done on borrowed money. Two more are needed, and needed now. Cars in Nevada are as necessary as trains in Illinois or subways in New York.

Our most important need at the present is money enough to enable us to employ a deaconess who would give her whole time to visiting the many small places and remote ranches for which, religiously, nothing is being done. This would cost, including travel and car, not less than $2,000 a year. There are Church people who could give this, with profit to themselves and to our work; but how can I meet such persons, or who will make the need known to them? Perhaps an annual report is not quite the place to make such opportunity known, but if not, where and how shall I do it?

In pursuing the work of the district during 1937, I traveled 30,000 miles, baptized 19 children and 7 adults, confirmed 110 (31 for others), celebrated the Eucharist 130 times in public and three times for the sick, conducted 45 other services, preached 80 times, gave 5 instructions, made 82 addresses, ordained 2 priests, made 301 pastoral calls, attended 114 meetings and conferences, married 2 couples, buried 1 person, blessed 2 articles, heard several confessions, restored 2 to communion, conducted a quiet day, held the Annual Convocation, attended all the sessions of General Convention, made a month's speaking tour in the East; and, I gratefully add, got a two months' holiday, the first absence from my work since 1930. During this period I was privileged to be in attendance at part of the Edinburgh Conference.

The Lake Tahoe Summer School, and boys' and girls' camps had successful sessions with increased attendance in each instance. It is no small undertaking for a district so extensive and so sparsely settled to carry on these institutions each year with such a substantial attendance. Their worth-whileness, however, justifies the effort and the expense.

Again nearly all our staff undertook Vacation Church Schools. This, I consider a very constructive and fruitful effort. And this, together with the work carried on by Deaconess Ramsay among the isolated, is taking the Church to many children who would not otherwise receive any religious instruction.

We begin the new year and the tenth of my Episcopate, with stronger faith in our task and hope brightened by God's past blessings.

I should add that during the year I was able to write a brief history of the Church in Nevada. The task involved much research in many quarters. The value of the story lies, not in any pretense of its completeness, but in the field opened up and the leads discovered for someone else, who will some day find the time to correct and add to what I have written. And since this is the first attempt yet made to cover the whole period of the Church's activity in Nevada, I have no doubt but that other valuable information will from time to time come to light. And some instances which I have only briefly mentioned should perhaps have fuller treatment.

THOMAS JENKINS,
Bishop of Nevada

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF NEW MEXICO AND SOUTHWEST TEXAS

The Missionary District of New Mexico embraces the State of New Mexico and the counties of El Paso, Culberson, Reeves, Jeff Davis, Brewster, Presidio, Terrell, Hudspeth and Pecos in the State of Texas. It has an area of 153,394 square miles (New Mexico, 122,460; Texas west of the Pecos, 30,934) and a population of 595,327. The missionary jurisdiction of New Mexico and Arizona was created in 1874. The territories were separated and formed into missionary districts in 1892. Texas west of the Pecos was added in 1895. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Frederick Bingham Howden, D.D., consecrated January 14, 1914.

The appropriation to New Mexico for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $12,646; (2) for miscellaneous items, $1,230; (3) support of institutions, $2,300; (4) for United Thank Offering work, $5,400; (5) for Indian work, $3,500. Total, $25,076.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

OUR staff of twenty-six clergy, nineteen of whom are doing active work within the district, together with five United Thank Offering workers, was the same in number, during 1937, as I reported for the previous year.

While we have supplemented our missionary forces by an increased group of devoted and efficient lay readers, of whom there are now thirty-seven, the serious need of additional clergy is making extension into new fields of opportunity at this time particularly difficult.

Growth in the number of communicants and Sunday school enrollment in the district as a whole has come, for the most part, from our parishes and more stabilized missions, and not from the rural sections and small towns which have suffered from our inability to provide adequate ministrations, as well as from urban trends in movements of population. Under such circumstances I am, indeed, grateful for the way in which some of our lay readers have maintained regular services in places so isolated, that only the Bishop has been able to make occasional visits for ministrations of the Sacraments, and thus hold a congregation together, pending a more favorable opportunity for the appointment of an ordained missionary.

It is also gratifying to note that a considerable proportion of these small rural missions under their lay leadership met their quota allotments for the Church program and enabled the district again to send its entire expectancy to the national Treasurer.

While there are several of our missions which have fairly good sized funds in the hands of the district treasurer for building a church or parish house as soon as conditions warrant, and have acquired lots for such purpose, the only definite erection of a new church in 1937 was that of St. Paul's Mission, Hot Springs, where the congregation has bought two lots, and a good sized building combining both church and parish house is nearly completed.

This mission is one of a group under the pastoral charge of the Rev. Hunter Lewis, who has had for several years in Hot Springs the assistance of a lay missionary, Willis Wills, of the teaching Order of St. Stephen. The arrangement of having a resident missionary holding both weekday and Sunday services has resulted in the congregation outgrowing two halls which have been successively rented as improvised chapels. The town of Hot Springs, on account of its recent development as a health resort, has had a considerable influx of people from other sections of the country, and this new church building should provide a house of worship for a goodly number of visitors as well as our local people.

Clergy Changes

During 1937 there were several changes in our staff of clergy. The Rev. Clarence Horner after a highly successful rectorship of eight years at St. Clement's, El Paso, resigned his charge in May to become rector of Grace Church, Providence, Rhode Island. The growth of St. Clement's during Mr. Horner's leadership and following that of Bishop Kemerer has resulted in a parish of sixteen hundred communicants and a center of Church influence both for the people of El Paso and the entire missionary district. It is perhaps of some significance in "frontier" experience that during the four years preceding Mr. Horner's removal, an average of approximately eighty-four persons were presented annually for confirmation at St. Clement's. In his relation to the missionary district, Mr. Horner served as President of the Council of Advice, Chairman of the Department of Missions and on various other Boards and Committees. In September, the Rev. DuBose Murphy of the Diocese of Texas, succeeded to the rectorship at St. Clement's and has effectively carried on the work since that time.

The Rev. Richard Taylor, after a period of two years, resigned from the missions at Las Cruces and La Union, to accept work in his former Diocese of Indiana. While the Rev. Malcolm Twiss of St. Alban's, El Paso, has taken over the charge of St. Luke's, La Union. I have not yet definitely filled the vacancy at Las Cruces.

The Rev. Robert Davis has returned to his former charge of St. John's, Farmington, after two years' absence in the Diocese of Dallas, to succeed the Rev. Edward Lindgren, whose transfer to Oklahoma I noted in my last report.

Just before the close of 1937, the Rev. Edward Smith after seven years as chaplain and missionary at Fort Stanton in connection with our Seamen's Church Institute work, resigned and is now in Pennsylvania pending his renewal of active work. A difficult problem of placement was happily solved in November, when the Rev. George Wood, an experienced missionary in rural work, of the Diocese of West Virginia, accepted my appointment to the "Big Bend" field in Texas, with headquarters at Marfa, and some ten missions scattered over a vast area of thirteen thousand square miles, mostly cattle and sheep country, and extending as far south as Presidio, and as far north as Iraan, with Langtry and Sierra Blanca marking the eastern and western bounds. During the rather long period before Mr. Wood's arrival, St. Paul's Mission, Marfa, was fortunate in having the leadership of a devoted lay reader, Mr. Robert Killmer, whose duties as civil engineer and road builder had brought him to that vicinity, with the result that the mission has experienced a notable development and resuscitation.

I also appointed towards the close of the year, the Rev. Laurence Stueland, of the District of Wyoming, to be missionary-in-charge of St. Michael's, Tucumcari, in succession to the Rev. Vern L. Adams, who is now in charge of St. John's, Farmington.

Economic Problems

In common with other sections of the country, the burden of improvement taxes is causing some of our missions, at this time considerable difficulty in meeting their financial obligations. The Federal Government has made numerous appropriations for highways, and this has stimulated towns and villages to adopt ambitious programs of street paving which are undertaken by bond issues, the payments for which have laid heavy burdens on the mission congregations during the pioneer stage of their development. Thus far we have escaped foreclosure on any of our Church property but there are two or three of these situations which may necessitate some form of liquidation that will, temporarily at least, probably impair our property holdings.

Railroad restrictions on passes for our missionary clergy at the beginning of 1937, presented the necessity for some changes in the means of travel for reaching some of our stations, and a larger use of automobiles within the district. While there is still hope that this policy on the part of the railroads may be modified, and in a few instances there already have been slight modifications, the continuance or the increase of these restrictions in the future, is likely to require some decided changes in our missionary budgets, if our entire field of present operations is to be maintained.

There is need at this time, of at least two additional clergy in places where housing accommodations have not yet been developed beyond the status of "Bachelor Quarters," but where the population of the town or surrounding country warrants our confidence in considerable growth of the Church if we could make the pioneer venture of establishing a resident missionary. This is true of such places as Hobbs, an "oil town" of fourteen thousand people in an isolated section of the State; also of Alamogordo, Ft. Sumner, and Portales, where Church building projects have recently gone forward to a considerable extent. Necessarily, the infrequent ministrations which we are giving to all these points at this time are not adequate either to the plans or the desires of the local Church groups.

Parish Development

Among the encouraging advances during the year in the district, may be noted the extension of missionary work in St. Andrew's Parish, Roswell, which with the rector's chaplaincy and daily ministrations among the 600 boys of the New Mexico Military Institute, includes the mission work among the mountaineers at Glencoe, and another mission at Artesia. The gratifying feature of this particular field is the fact that it has become entirely self-supporting without any allowance even for travel expense being made from either the district or general Church appropriations.

The year 1937 marked considerable growth in the parish at Albuquerque, which now has some 600 communicants. A confirmation class of 55 persons was a record number for any one year in the history of the parish. A reduction of $4,000 on the Cathedral House indebtedness was also achieved during the year, which now leaves a balance of $10,000 yet to be paid on this particular part of our property in Albuquerque.

Mexican Work

St. Anne's Mexican Mission, El Paso, had another year of active and growing work on the part of much the same staff and helpers as I last reported. There has been a still further advance by the Mexicans themselves in the support of the work. The annual report of the superintendent, Miss Conrad, showing the extent of the various services rendered this past year in numerous clinics, surgical operations, kindergarten and social training classes, Church school attendance, etc., readily makes clear the large part which our Mexican people, at St. Anne's, are now taking in the support, financial and otherwise, of this mission.

An extension of the main building to afford additional nurses' quarters, sun porch, etc., was completed during the year without recourse to outside help. We are now hoping that further relief to the present congestion in our building space can be made possible by another extension that will take care of the very much increased attendance in the clinics, and lessen the difficulties which the doctors and nurses have to contend with because of this lack of room.

Indian Work

The most gratifying event in our Indian field was the return in April of the Rev. Robert Y. Davis to his former post of General Missionary to the Navajos. We have reached a point where segregation of the Navajo field from the white work in Farmington should be carried out so that these Indians may have the undivided attention and supervision of the missionary in charge. Consequently I have moved the Rev. Vern L. Adams to St. John's, Farmington, and as soon as the housing problem for the Rev. Mr. Davis and his family can be met, we plan to establish the San Juan Indian Mission and hospital as a residence, and administration center for a group of Navajo organized and unorganized missions, with the purpose of a more intensive development of the evangelical work. Hospitalization where practicable, will be restricted to emergency surgical operations and maternity cases, and more time given for field work and visiting among the "hogans" by our missionary nurses.

Patients requiring general hospital treatment can be cared for by the Government Hospital in Shiprock some thirty-five miles from San Juan. The Navajos are now showing increased interest in their attendance on the Church services and religious instructions. The number of baptisms is growing and this last year, in December, there was a small class of Navajo candidates presented for confirmation in San Juan chapel.

FREDERICK B. HOWDEN,
Southwest Texas*

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF NORTH DAKOTA

The Missionary District of North Dakota embraces the State of North Dakota. It has an area of 70,183 square miles and a population (1930) of 680,845. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1883. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Douglass H. Atwill, D.D., consecrated January 21, 1937.

The appropriation to North Dakota for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of Bishop and clergy, $14,505; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $1,797; (3) for support of institutions, $200; (4) for United Thank Offering work, $1,080; (5) for Indian work, $4,800. Total, $22,382.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

IN reporting on the Church's work in North Dakota for last year, many favorable features are to be noted in the midst of untoward circumstances. There has been a continuance of severe drouth conditions in the greater portion of the State with crop failures the general experience, yet there has been no appreciable reduction in the financial support accorded by the individual congregations to the local and general work of the Church. Indeed, thoroughly prepared and carefully executed canvasses in the fall brought the report of many increases both in the number of contributors and in the amounts pledged. This has been particularly so in the eastern edge of the State where the material conditions have been better than in the west. There are many indications that in individual congregations there is a growing sense of responsibility for the local care of the Church's affairs, and at the same time an increased realization of the unity which binds us all together in the work of the whole Church.

In several places, Jamestown, Oakes, Lakota, Lidgerwood, and Grafton, where the Church property was badly in need of repair, the work has been started by the initiative of the local group who were most directly concerned and has been carried through, in some instances without any outside aid, and in others with very small assistance from the funds of the district.

In Pembina no Church services had been held for many months and only a few of our Church people were left in the community. A mission at St. Vincent in the Diocese of Duluth is maintained with services and is only five miles away; and even nearer is the Canadian church in Emerson where there is a resident priest. In view of these circumstances and of the fact that with a decreasing population in Pembina, any further work of the Church there would be an extremely remote possibility, it seemed wise to take the opportunity to sell the Church property. This was done, and a part of the proceeds was used to reconstruct the diocesan house in Fargo, occupied as a residence by the general missionary, and to effect some other needed repairs in our Church property.

St. George's Parish in Bismarck, during the year purchased three lots, excellently located, where it is hoped that a new church may be built. It is a real need for the development of the church in that community. Bismarck is the capital of the State, has many fine public and private buildings, and draws many visitors who come to the city drawn by their business with the State. The present church is small, unattractive and altogether inadequate. Probably $20,000 can be secured from within the parish, but an additional $10,000 will have to be secured before we can go ahead with the erection of a suitable structure.

Only one change has taken place in our staff of clergy. The Rev. William F. Creighton resigned his work in Oakes to accept the rectorship of St. Clement's Parish in St. Paul. On May 1, the Rev. Galen Onstad came from the Diocese of Minnesota to take up the work in Oakes and in the other three missions attached to that field.

A conference for the women of the district was held in the early summer when the methods and plans of the Woman's Auxiliary were thoroughly discussed under the leadership of counselors who came to us from the Diocese of Minnesota. In December, Bishop Keeler came from Minnesota to conduct a Quiet Day for the Church women of the State. In addition to these, other general meetings have been the Summer Conference, well attended and with a fine spirit, the Camp for the Girls' Friendly Society, the annual convention of the Young People's Fellowship which was held at Grand Forks, the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, and the annual Convocations, the one for the Indians in June, and the other for the white congregations in September.

Our United Thank Offering worker, Miss Agnes Hickson, continues her valuable work in ministering to our scattered communicants. Vacation Bible Schools held at various points during the summer, correspondence courses for children of Church school age, written messages of personal interest and Church literature sent by mail, and occasional visits to our Church people living at vast distances from any Church center, are the means by which Miss Hickson keeps the far-away members of her flock near to the Church's life.

The work of the Church in the Indian field continues under the direction of Archdeacon Simpson who directs its affairs with patience, wisdom and energy. The Indian Convocation held in June at Dunseith, brought representatives from all of our five Indian missions and carried through a fine three-day program of discussion and action relative to our Indian affairs. The work is carried on with the volunteer aid of one Indian priest, retired, and with the assistance of one white lay reader, several native helpers, and a few other interested persons. It is a relatively small work which we do here among the Indians but an extremely important one.

During the year I have visited all of our congregations in the State at least once, and to many of them have gone two, three, four or more times. I have traveled about thirty-five thousand miles by train and automobile, and have confirmed in the eleven months of 1937, 171 persons.

Altogether, it has been a good year. At the present time, plans are being made for the compilation of a program which will outline a series of objectives for the whole work of the district to be used as a guide for the work of the parishes and missions within the State.

DOUGLASS H. ATWILL,
Bishop of North Dakota

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF NORTH TEXAS

The Missionary District of North Texas embraces the counties of Lipscomb, Hemphill, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Childress, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Baylor, Throckmorton, Shackelford, Callahan, Coleman, Tom Green, and Irion, and all that portion of the State lying west thereof to the Pecos River, together with the counties of Upton, Reagan, Crane, and Ward. It has an area of 76,981 square miles and a population (1930) of 822,556. The district within its present bounds was constituted in 1913. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Eugene Cecil Seaman, D.D., consecrated January 18, 1925.

The appropriation to North Texas for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $9,523; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $1,500; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $540. Total, $11,563.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

TWO buildings were added during the year. A long-planned chapel with consecrated sanctuary to be used with an assembly room and supplemented by sacristy, closet, kitchen and wash-rooms. This is in Spur, Dickens County, the heart of a large ranch and farm area. The building was designed and a model of it made by a Grace Church school class of Galveston.

A much-needed rectory was secured for Pampa by the purchase of a sturdy house on an oil lease and its removal some fifteen miles. After being slightly remodeled, given a solid foundation and freshened up it became the happy home of the Rev. Robert J. Snell and his bride from North Carolina. Their work is responding to systematic and consecrated effort.

The rectory at Big Spring has been remodeled and an organ bought.

Clergy changes were two out and two in. The Rev. A. B. Hanson and the Rev. W. H. Martin went to the District of Salina. The Ven. J. W. Heyes and the Rev. Alfred Donaldson Ellis, deacon, came from the Dioceses of Alabama and Tennessee respectively. Perhaps the trend is significant: from one district to another district, and from two dioceses to a district. When missions and the West get into one's system they are likely to remain.

There were 1,971 communicants reported as of December 31, 1937, a year's net gain of 162.

There were 748 communicants reported in May 1911, and 980 in January 1925, and many hundreds have moved in. Hence, it would seem that nearly 2,000 have gone forth in 27 years to strengthen our Church elsewhere. This, of course, is a logical functioning of a missionary district and a reason for its existence and subsidy. Lay readers have helped to do the job.

Twenty-two out of twenty-eight regularly established centers paid or overpaid their combined quotas for the national and district Church program. Unfortunately among the six delinquent congregations were three of our largest, so we failed of our total share due National Council but exceeded our Expectancy. We hope in 1938 to pay our full share. The partnership principle is scrupulously observed, except that the Church School Lenten Offering goes, as it should, entirely to the National Council.

A brave and determined group of clergy and their wives and other devoted women workers have carried on in the face of an unusual amount of illness in their groups and the general financial difficulties.

In rural work the Rev. Messrs. Alves and Henckell have notable achievements to their credit. Also Mrs. Kate G. Burke of Lubbock, known as the Woman's Auxiliary's Long Distance Secretary.

In College Student Work the Rev. Messrs. Alves and Ellis, and Miss Helen Lyles have done exceptionally effective work.

The Rev. Willis P. Gerhart's parish exceeded all district records for baptisms and confirmations, paid all current obligations, parish, district and national, and liquidated a small building debt balance, while the Rev. Philip K. Kemp has, with the co-operation of Miss Lyles, greatly advanced the organization and program of the District Department of Religious Education, both in San Angelo and throughout the district.

We have not escaped the unrest caused by propoganda from without the district, ecclesiastical, economic and political; but thus far have by the grace of God managed to advance where, under our Church's banner and in her own way, we have been able to work.

Mrs. C. S. Blomshild of Big Spring, as President of the District Branch, has planned for 1938 a more effective program for the Woman's Auxiliary; and Mrs. E. C. Seaman has helped the district feel the inspiration of contact with the national work of the Daughters of the King, both senior and junior.

Our chief objectives for this year are, (1) a critically needed chapel for Borger, a very responsive town greatly in need of our Church's enlarged program. One thousand dollars would get us out of the Mortuary Chapel generously loaned, into a more vigorous environment. (2) A church in Midland which our people there are able and willing to finance. (3) Development of our educational program in Church schools, Summer Conference and in State Colleges.

E. CECIL SEAMAN,

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF OKLAHOMA

The Missionary District of Oklahoma embraces the State of Oklahoma. It has an area of 69,414 square miles and a population (1930) of 2,396,040. The Districts of Eastern Oklahoma and Oklahoma which were constituted in 1910 were united by the General Convention in 1919. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Thomas Casady, S.T.D., consecrated October 2, 1927.

The appropriation to Oklahoma for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $9,850; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $5,150. Total, $15,000.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE year 1937 will stand out in the history of the Church in Oklahoma as the closing year of our history as a Missionary District, and the beginning of Diocesan status. This result was accomplished at the General Convention held in Cincinnati. Final action was taken on October 13, 1937.

During the year, 470 persons were confirmed, one new church building was begun, with enough money on hand to complete it without debt.

Two unorganized congregations became organized missions in this year, namely at Blackwell and Edmond.

Progress was made on the Endowment, which by the close of the year had reached the sum of $125,000.

The condition of the new diocese is good. While the relinquishment of all aid from the general Church means an adjustment in one year of $15,000, there is every reason to anticipate the continued steady progress of the past decade.

All plans are complete for the thorough re-organization required by diocesan status. These plans will be put into effect at the Primary Convention on January 16, 17, 1938.

THOMAS CASADY,

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF SALINA

The Missionary District of Salina embraces that portion of the State of Kansas lying west of the west lines of Washington, Clay, Dickinson, Marion, Harvey, Sedgwick and Sumner Counties. The district was set off from the Diocese of Kansas by the General Convention in 1901. It has an area of 50,427 square miles and a population (1930) of 581,943. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Robert H. Mize, D.D., consecrated January 19, 1921.

The appropriation to Salina for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $12,030; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $1,896; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $1,080. Total, $15,006.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE year has brought fresh hopes. Further discoveries of oil in Kansas, most of them within the District of Salina, have given new prosperity to a large section which had been affected adversely in past years by natural causes and economic conditions. The adjacent towns have taken on new life with new opportunities for the Church.

Our interest in this region is centering in McPherson, Lyons, Russell, Great Bend, and Hays. The Church Army has responded to our request for help and has taken full responsibility for McPherson, Lyons and Great Bend. Captain R. W. Lewis is in charge and has already shown that the Church Army methods are helpful in pioneer work. The Associate Mission continues its vigorous work at Hays and neighboring towns including Russell. We now feel assured of a permanent Church life in these communities after years of waiting.

Other encouraging notes are as follows:

The district's pledge to the "Forward Program" was paid in full. Some $500 additional was also given for diocesan missions. The total was not large but the interest was general, and increases have been promised for the coming year.

The Young Peoples' Conferences have been resumed. St. John's School, in Salina, provides the necessary accommodations. Sixty young people came from all parts of the district with ten of the clergy acting as leaders and instructors.

St. John's School has a satisfactory enrollment, with sufficient income to meet its annual budget.

Further payments from the estate of Mrs. Sarah E. Batterson have been made. From one Trust Fund the amount will be $15,000; from another, recently released, about $13,000. Mrs. Batterson also built and furnished the Cathedral, at great cost, as a memorial to her husband.

The two parishes closed the year with reports of increasing attendance, activities and finances. The larger missions have also shown an equal vigor, the one exception being Dodge City which is placed in an agricultural region still affected by drought.

I have received three priests from other dioceses and transferred an equal number. I have ordained one to the priesthood. One candidate for Holy Orders has been accepted.

Were it possible to secure and maintain more clergy, the district could be put upon a sound basis. Whatever development is possible, is dependent on the number of clergy. The district has never been adequately manned. Nor has it been able to develop a native ministry of its own. It is an increasing difficulty in which the whole Church shares. One of my clergy has recently pointed out that the number of communicants in the United States has doubled in the past forty years, but, in 1937 we have the same number of graduates from the seminaries as in 1897. A larger supply of priests is needed by the whole Church and especially by missionary districts. A further need is longer pastorates.

In my last Convocation address, I spoke as follows regarding these points. These paragraphs give, in my opinion, the real causes for the slowness of development in our domestic missionary fields. "I note, with sober feelings, that no one who was on the clergy list when I became Bishop sixteen years ago, is now connected with the district. The eldest in service and years, is the Rev. F. W. Henry, now retired, who came a few months after my consecration. Since that time the clergy have come and gone. I greeted a new dean in Convocation two years ago—I greet another today. Another priest whom I first welcomed a year ago, and whom I brought to the district at great expense, has already left us. I am convinced that this short time residency of the clergy is, in large part, responsible for the slow growth of the Church in Western Kansas. The intermissions have left parishes and missions too long without services and leadership. The people have been bewildered and disappointed. That permanence and reliability which one looks for in one's Church, is absent, and the bonds of allegiance are loosened. Long pastorates (I refer to those of good and earnest men) would help to build the Church into security, permanence and peace. The people would have time to adjust themselves to the teachings and practices of their priest, and the life of the Church would be freed from much of the contention which arises from changing Churchmanship. Longer pastorates would give to the clergy a greater return in the happiness which comes from the love of those who have received their ministrations, and in the satisfaction which comes from seeing the results of their own work."

We need also a larger number of clergy native born. The district has but one candidate for Orders. Again I quote from my Convocation address. "The reason is not financial. Means have always been found to help those who need aid in their education. Nor, as some suppose, is the fear of low salaries a deterring cause. Young men, hearing the call of God, do not think of salaries. I fear it is the fault of us older ones who are not direct enough in our challenge to the younger men to seek the ministry of the Church. Yet we cannot hope for stability until we provide our own clergy. It does not affect a parish or mission if none enters the ministry from the local group, but it does affect the Church in the diocese not to have clergy born and brought up in the life and conditions in which they must live and work. Let us keep this need of our Church very much in mind. We need those who heed our call and come to us, we would indeed be poor without them, but we need some 'native' clergy, with an in-born sense of responsibility for the people among whom they have lived, and for the Church where they have been reared. The Church must be planted deep in the soil of the land where it is to grow."

In the year, 1937, I completed forty years in my priesthood, all of them in Kansas, seventeen of them as Bishop of Salina. I could wish for ten years more in the hope that this district might in that time become a diocese, but I have also reached the age of retirement. The untiring activity and buoyant hope of younger men are necessary for completing this work. I shall soon yield to them.

R. H. MIZE,
Bishop of Salina

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF SAN JOAQUIN

The Missionary District of San Joaquin embraces the counties of Alpine, Calaveras, Fresno, Inyo, Kern, Kings, Madera, Mariposa, Merced, Mono, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Tulare and Tuolumne in the State of California. It has an area of 45,450 square miles and a population (1930) of 569,937. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1910. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Louis Childs Sanford, D.D., consecrated January 25, 1911.

The appropriation to San Joaquin for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $10,640; (2) Miscellaneous items, $1,961. Total, $12,601.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

FOUR changes have occurred in the staff during this year, as follows:

The Very Rev. James M. Malloch was elected Dean of St. James' Cathedral, Fresno, and assumed his active duties on January 15, ending a vacancy of twelve months.

The Rev. Philip Grouchy Snow, retired, died at his home in Long Beach, California, on June 20. Mr. Snow's last charge was St. Paul's, Visalia.

The Rev. Leo. S. Cook, Vicar of Trinity Church, Madera, resigned March 31, to accept a cure in the Diocese of California. He was succeeded, May 1, by the Rev. Ralph H. Cox.

The Rev. Henry Ross Archer O'Malley, Rector of the Church of the Saviour, Hanford, resigned July 1, having reached the age of retirement and was succeeded by the Rev. Robert S. Snyder from the Missionary District of New Mexico.

I was absent for the first nine months of the year, recuperating from an illness contracted in June 1936, and was obliged to carry on the administration of the district as best I could by correspondence. I am now performing all my duties. I wish to record my deep gratitude and that of the district to the neighboring Bishops, the Rt. Rev. Doctors Gooden, Porter, Remington and Stevens, who have been kind enough to take all my confirmations.

The Diocesan Program

In 1936, the district accepted a five-fold, five year, program as follows:

1. The restoration of an active Church school in every place where services are maintained.

2. The increase of the active communicant list to three thousand by 1941.

3. The persuasion of every adherent of the Church within the district to become a subscriber, not only to the parish budget, but to the general Church program, aiming at 100 per cent by 1941.

4. The assumption of the entire support of our present staff of missionaries, other than the Bishop, by 1941; each Deanery (North, Central and Southern) becoming responsible for the expenditures for stipends within its area.

5. The complete elimination of all indebtedness, now existing, both parochial and diocesan, by 1941.

 In April, the Missionary Bishop of South Dakota, the Rt. Rev. W. Blair Roberts, dedicated this building given to the Indians by the United Thank Offering. The Rev. Cyril C. Rouillard is in charge of the mission aged us immeasurably by remitting the delinquent interest on two loans, made from the Legacy Loan Fund, when the principal of these loans was paid October 1. Except in one cure, all parochial debts have been decreased and there is every prospect that this item in the program will be attained.

That the offerings for missionary purposes have not enabled us to meet our 1937 expectancy for the General Church Program has occasioned sorrowful regret. One of our stronger congregations "kept back part of the price." (Since closing this report, the administration of that congregation has been changed and the promise made of restitution, at least for 1937.) Nowhere in the district, either in the fall of 1936 or in the fall of 1937, has a thorough canvass been made and no adequate campaign of education has been carried on. I think the illness of the Bishop has had something to do with our neglect. Without such measures as should have been taken, it is perhaps remarkable that there should have been so many subscribers on the red side of our pledge card. The personnel of our congregations is undergoing a noticeable change. There are and will be fewer subscribers of large amounts, but we expect a constant increase in the number of subscribers of small means.

The number of confirmees in 1937 has been larger than any year since 1930. This may not mean much but is, at least, a hopeful sign.

Several Church schools report a larger enrollment than in 1936 and none show any decrease. St. Matthias', Oakdale, which has been closed for seven years, has been reopened under the leadership of an interested layman who conducts Sunday services and superintends the reorganized Church school. A recent canvass of the community disclosed sixty-five members of the Episcopal Church, many of whom were new arrivals.

One of the most promising missions of the district is All Saints', Mendota.

This work was started in a schoolhouse twelve years ago, when the other religious bodies of the valley agreed to keep out of this rather forlorn village if we would assume the responsibility. When a site was given to us we took down the silent church at Fowler, forty-five miles away, and rebuilt it in Mendota at a cost of $600. The first Church school and the first services were directed by a resident Presbyterian layman, who, soon, was confirmed with his whole family. When he moved away, three high school girls asked the privilege of carrying on the Church school with such assistance as the infrequent visits of the Director of Religious Education (when we had one) and a priest afforded. Beyond the erection of the church, the mission has had no financial aid. This year, new help has arrived from the Dust Bowl. There is but one confirmed person in the village but the congregations of Christians of diverse ecclesiastical backgrounds are struggling loyally, if not intelligently, to conform to the usage of the Episcopal Church. The regular attendance at the Church school is fifty; a young people's society of fifteen members meets every Sunday. The congregation has pledged a missionary stipend of $20 monthly, and, early in the new year I shall organize the mission, borrow money to buy a used car and appoint the Rev. Ralph Cox of Madera to preach two sermons a month (they asked me if they could have "preaching") and give them such pastoral care as they need and as they will appreciate.

The Church's Opportunity

Not far away from Mendota is one of our many camps of migrant workers. These immigrants, who have come from the Ozarks and the Dust Bowl, are poor, ill, ignorant, religious, protestant and morally strict. They have swarmed into California in the last few years to pick cotton. The County Superintendent of Schools tells me there are 5,000 children of school age in the camps in Fresno County alone. There must be as many in Tulare and Kern Counties. I presume that 20,000 is a very moderate estimate of the children of school age in the migrant camps of the San Joaquin Valley. The school, health and welfare authorities are at their wits' end to do their duty by these new-comers.

These campers are wholly unfamiliar with the Episcopal Church. Free lance religionists and representatives of small and narrow sects are the only religious agencies they know and the only ones interested in them. A visit from the Bishop or a priest with a settled cure will do little good. The Church Army could do a work of untold value here. I have no money, and could not raise it locally, to support a detail of the Church Army. I am not sure the Army has any workers it can send. They are needed here as much as in any diocese in the country.

Co-operation With Presbyterians

Three years ago I reported the merging in Lone Pine of the remnants of Trinity Episcopal and the Methodist congregations and the signing by the district superintendent of the Methodist Conference and myself of a document which authorized the organization of a community church with both Methodist and Episcopal affiliations. The experiment was the only alternative to closing Trinity Church, Lone Pine, except for an occasional service, and seems to be working satisfactorily.

Ten years ago a Presbyterian seminary initiated religious work in Oakhurst, a mountain hamlet in Madera County, using, with my permission, Christ Church, a poor little building practically abandoned by the Diocese of California before San Joaquin was erected. Recently, the construction of an all-weather highway from Fresno to Yosemite has made Oakhurst more accessible and the congregation using Christ Church, which does not include any member of the Episcopal Church, but rejoices in adherents with Pentecostal backgrounds, has had a little growth and the work promises to be permanent.

By a formal vote of the Presbytery of San Joaquin, whose area corresponds to that of our missionary district, the Presbyterian Field Secretary has been authorized to sign with me an agreement similar to that negotiated with the Methodists touching Lone Pine. Christ United Church, Oakhurst, has been organized as a community church with both Presbyterian and Episcopal affiliations.

The Missionary District of South Dakota embraces the State of South Dakota and also the tract of land in northwestern Nebraska, once known as the Santee Reservation. It has an area of 76,868 square miles and a population (1930) of 692,849. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1883. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. William Blair Roberts, D.D., consecrated December 6, 1922.

The appropriation to South Dakota for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $13,380; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $2,620; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $5,940; (4) for Indian work, $46,886. Total, $68,826.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

CONSIDERING everything, the past year has been a fairly good one in the District of South Dakota. The number of those confirmed in both the Indian and the white fields has remained up to the general average and our corps of clergy remains substantially the same as last year.

Our work here in South Dakota is very seriously hampered by lack of funds. I realize that this is the cry of every missionary district, and many dioceses, yet I feel that I must report the exact situation in order that you may know clearly the problems we are facing.

During the past year, to my sorrow, we were forced to close Hare School for Indian boys at Mission, on the Rosebud Reservation. I had reported to the Council the year before that unless we had assurance that we would receive an additional $5,000 annually for a period of five years I would not feel justified to continue the school. We did not receive such assurance so I closed the school in June. We have leased the property for this year to the United States Government.

This spring I expect to close the Crow Creek Dormitory at Fort Thompson, on the Crow Creek Reservation. We have been struggling for ten years to keep this worthy institution open, for here we take children of very poor Indian families, give them a home and a Christian education, and an opportunity to attend the public school at Fort Thompson. I find in going over the accounts that, as a result of this venture, we are almost $1,000 in debt, most of which has accumulated this year, as the arrangements which I had hoped we could make with the Government for the maintenance of the dormitory have not materialized. I therefore plan to close it at Easter time, when it will be safe to allow the children to return to their homes.

The fact is, we have too extensive a program in South Dakota for the financial help we are receiving, and it is necessary to face this question fairly and squarely. Let me give you the picture. We have approximately the same work today that we had ten years ago, yet we are doing it, or trying to do it, on $40,000 less than we had then. We are now paying the penalty for our unwillingness to take any backward steps or retrench in the work. Our own district reserves are becoming less each year. If the Indian work is to be kept up the Church must invest more. If the Church is not willing to invest more we must definitely withdraw from certain fields.

In our efforts to economize we have released one of our two office stenographers during the past few years.

Today we have no Suffragan Bishop, no archdeacon in the Indian field, and no archdeacon or general missionary in the white field. A few years ago we had all three. During the past year our executive secretary, Mr. W. D. Swain, who has done such outstanding work not only for the district, but for the entire Church, has been forced to accept a part-time post elsewhere in order to save money for the district and at the same time secure a living wage for himself. Our clergy salaries have been reduced to the very minimum and I am constantly being pressed for assistance to reinforce some salaries in certain worthy cases. Likewise, we have reduced our force of workers to the minimum. This is principally in the white field, for I have endeavored to keep our staff of workers in the Indian field up to par.

Last year, in an effort to economize and come within the appropriations, the principal and faculty of St. Mary's School tried to get along with one less teacher. The result was that the principal, Miss Grace Staple, and one other teacher, Miss Lillian Merner, broke down because of over-work. Miss Staple has since resigned and I am now looking for her successor. This year we are getting along with a makeshift. Were it not for the generous support of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of North Carolina I do not know how we could have carried on St. Mary's during the past few years.

During the past six years we have taken from our own district funds almost $4,800 for the support of St. Elizabeth's School on the Standing Rock Reservation. Over a period of ten years I find a deficit of $3,600 in travel in the Indian field and $9,850 in the white field.

We have cut the number of our district owned cars from twenty down to eleven by inducing clergymen to furnish their own transportation. In doing this we have necessarily increased the cost of travel, for which no extra allowance has been made. Also, there is no provision made for the replacement of the remaining eleven district owned cars, which are used principally by our missionaries in the Indian field and we find it necessary to raise this money from our own resources.

I must secure more clergy for the Indian field. A number of our clergy who have given their entire ministry to this work are now advancing in years, and both health and age will force them to retire in the near future. I am, therefore, looking for young men to take their places, and I must get them, although I have no idea where their salaries are coming from.

I am frank to state that we are losing ground in the Indian field. We cannot close our eyes to the actual facts. I do not know how we are going to stop that loss unless greater assistance is given. By Easter time two of our four institutions in the Indian field will be closed, both within a period of a year. Instead of putting more workers in the field, as other denominations are doing, we are remaining practically stationary in our forces, although with the changed Government policy in the Indian country more workers are absolutely necessary. This is due to the fact that some of the big Government Boarding Schools have been discontinued and the Government is establishing day schools in different parts of the Indian country. It is physically impossible for our clergy and our few women workers to reach all these schools, as hard as they try to do so. This means that we lose many Indian children. Other religious bodies are working in these schools.

We have endeavored to keep our promise to the general Church in the money which we have pledged toward the Church's Program. For the past few years we have done this. This year, however, we failed, not because of an unwillingness to drain ourselves in order to keep a promise, but because of the fact that our parishes and missions failed by $512.25 to meet their pledges and we had only $340 in the bank when our books were closed. This is not as bad, however, as it looks for our congregations actually gave over $400 more in 1937 than they did the previous year.

I am telling you all this not in a spirit of complaint, or as a sign of discouragement, for we have no complaint whatever to make as we realize well the difficult conditions that prevail throughout the entire Church, and discouragement is farthest from our mind and from our spirit. On the contrary, every worker out here is taking these days and these conditions as a challenge to greater effort, greater sacrifice and a greater ingenuity to devise means by which we can overcome our handicap. I am telling this to you rather because it is your right to know these things and it is my duty to tell them. And, it is my duty too, to state clearly that unless the Church is willing to make a larger investment in this important Indian work in South Dakota, which has been marked by such phenomenal success since the very early days of Bishop Hare, we must be ready to see that work decline and confess that we have failed in this great work to which God called us and which He has so abundantly blessed.

W. BLAIR ROBERTS,

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF SPOKANE

The Missionary District of Spokane embraces that portion of the State of Washington lying east of the Cascade Mountains and that portion of the State of Idaho lying north of the Salmon River. It has an area of 63,404 square miles, and a population (1930) of 579,464. The district was established by the General Convention in 1892 and the Idaho "Panhandle" was added in 1935. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Edward M. Cross, S.T.D., consecrated February 20, 1924.

The appropriation to Spokane for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $17,140; (2) for taxes, insurance, repairs and miscellaneous items, $3,100; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $2,160. Total, $22,400.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE year 1937 was in the main a "good year" for the District of Spokane.

It was a good year from the standpoint of physical improvements. It seems that we almost invariably have this sort of report to make. The task of keeping property in sound condition is no simple matter in such a large district and where so many of our men must care for two or more stations and, therefore, have not the same opportunity to stimulate the interest of the members of the little missions in effecting necessary repairs and in laboring for reasonable improvements.

Especially in Northern Idaho is this property improvement noteworthy. In Wallace the local congregation, without any outside help, effected such repairs and improvements in the rectory that it could at last be occupied by the Rev. Mr. Post and his family, thus saving the cost of renting a house for the minister.

In Coeur d'Alene, the old rectory was extensively re-built; and from being an uninhabitable place has become one of the most comfortable dwellings in the district.

In Moscow, we have built a new rectory in place of the very old one recently burned. Both at Coeur d'Alene and Moscow we had assistance from the Church Building Fund Commission for which the district is deeply grateful.

In Cle Elum, led by the energetic missionary in charge, the Rev. Charles E. Cotton, our lay people have built a parish hall.

There are other repairs and improvements too numerous to mention—all indicating a determination of our people to maintain the physical side of their work at a high level.

The battle has been fought no less vigorously on the spiritual front. Here it is difficult to measure accomplishment. Baptisms were 89 more than in 1936. Confirmations were 25 more. Church school enrollment shows an advance of 132. The amount received from all sources for the Church's program was $146 less than in the previous year; namely, $6,737 against $6,883. Despite this we contributed $250 more to the general Church than in 1936; namely, $5,750 against $5,500.

We occasionally hear a suggestion to the effect that the Missionary District of Spokane should be moving on toward diocesan status. No person with first-hand knowledge of this district could seriously contemplate such a possibility. When Northern Idaho was added to Eastern Washington in the fall of 1935, it was the thought that the strength of the Church in Northern Idaho would be such that diocesan status might be accomplished in the next decade. As a matter of fact, this action added no strength, from the standpoint of self-support to the Missionary District of Spokane. What we have done has been to add more of the same kind of problem of which we already had a great deal. In Northern Idaho, there is just one self-supporting parish, that at Lewiston. All other missions are a long way from self-support status.

The fire at Moscow completely destroyed not only the old rectory, but the church and parish house as well. The general Church will be glad to know that as this report is written, the money is in hand for the building of a new church and parish house combined, the "Parish House" to be in the basement of the church. Moscow is a very important educational center. The University of the State of Idaho is situated here.

The money for the building of the new church comes from four sources: first, the fire insurance; second, a gift of $1,200 from a special fund subject to the discretionary use of the National Council; third, a gift from the American Church Building Fund Commission; fourth, contributions from the people of Moscow and a number of good friends of the work outside the district of Spokane.

In conclusion, we must record as our chief asset in the District of Spokane a fine body of clergymen and lay people, who have caught the vision of the spiritual family life ideal and who are laboring for the full realization of that ideal in all the affairs of this extensive jurisdiction.

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF UTAH

The Missionary District of Utah embraces the State of Utah. It has an area of 82,184 square miles and a population (1930) of 507,847. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1907. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Arthur W. Moulton, D.D., consecrated April 29, 1920.

The appropriation to Utah for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $10,405; (2) for miscellaneous items, $2,150; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $1,080; (4) for Indian work, $3,100. Total, $16,735.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE most interesting and significant thing accomplished during 1937 was the building of the new Spalding Memorial Hall, in Salt Lake City. This is an addition to St. Mark's Cathedral. It is a thoroughly equipped, modern parish house. It contains sexton's quarters and rooms for Guilds and Sunday school. It has also a large auditorium capable of accommodating large assemblies. It has cost about $30,000. The only remaining indebtedness is $7,500. This is a loan from Walkers Bank with five years in which to pay it. There will be no difficulty. The parish house has already commended itself and has shown its value in increased interest and support.

Our three parishes are now thoroughly equipped with modern parish necessities and are in a position to carry the district forward to a larger and more effective work.

A significant indication of successful work is the fact that our churches are full on Sundays. I think it is safe to say that our congregations are the largest of any of the churches in Salt Lake City and Ogden. Confirmation prospects for the new year are bright.

In Provo, which is a Mormon educational center, an interesting departure has been made. The Rev. William J. Howes has come to Provo to live in the rectory and to maintain services in St. Mary's Church. Mr. Howes still retains his interest among the Randlett Indians and holds services at regular intervals there. Since the complete destruction by fire of the rectory at Randlett, he has found a home in the rectory at Provo. It is doubtful whether the rectory in Randlett should be rebuilt. A survey of the district in the spring will help us to decide about this.

Since taking up his residence in Provo, where the Brigham Young University is situated, Mr. Howes has organized the only boy choir in the intermountain country. This choir contains 28 boys; of whom 18 are Mormons. The great, great grandson of the first Presiding Bishop of the Mormon Church is a member of this choir and five other boys are grandsons of Mormon Bishops. The choir has attracted much interest. At the Christmas Eve service the Church was too small to accommodate the people who desired to attend.

In the other educational center in Logan, where the Utah Agricultural College is situated, with nearly 3,000 students, we have maintained regular services and have in residence the Rev. Mason M. Hurd. Mr. Hurd is at present on the faculty of the college. This was the only way he could receive a livable stipend.

Outside these stations we have maintained such services as have been possible and it is gratifying to note the interest shown. With more money and more men I am convinced we could do a most successful piece of work.

Our institutions are in good condition. We contemplate the erection of an addition to the present Nurses' Home and also a new wing on St. Mark's Hospital.

We paid our apportionment in full for 1937, and have accepted an additional $800 for 1938. The parishes have willingly accepted that increased apportionment. We shall try our best to add to our increased pledge.

We are very grateful for the assistance received from the National Council during the year. It is the minimum, however, under which we can accomplish any work of permanent importance. The work in this district is so important, the position of the Church is so strategic and the conditions are so opportune that we should receive the sympathetic and generous consideration of the Department of Missions.

ARTHUR W. MOULTON,
Bishop of Utah

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF WESTERN NEBRASKA

The Missionary District of Western Nebraska embraces the western two-thirds of the State of Nebraska, west of the west line of the counties of Knox, Antelope, Boone, Nance, Merrick, Hamilton, Clay and Nuckalls. It has an area of 54,211 square miles and a population (1930) of 470,806. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1889. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. George Allen Beecher, D.D., consecrated November 30, 1910.

The appropriation to Western Nebraska for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $12,805; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $2,415; (3) for United Thank Offering work, $1,080; (4) for Japanese work, $1,200. Total, $17,500.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

I COMPLETED the twenty-seventh year of my Episcopate as Bishop on St. Andrew's Day, November 30, 1937. Thank God, I have a mighty fine group of men in my field now who are active, dependable and consecrated as well as concentrated in their work. The result is things are moving along splendidly.

I was unfortunate in having an accident to one of my eyes a day or two before the last General Convention, but I am getting over it, and have resumed my activities in the field.

None of our men have been sick during the year, and all but two of them are heads of families. With the efficient leadership of these men we have been able to keep all our missions supplied with services—some irregularly, but for the most part the field has been well cultivated. My men are doing splendid pastoral work as their monthly reports indicate, and my personal observation warrants me in believing.

We are sadly in need of three more priests, but my first desire is to increase the salaries of the faithful men I have who have stood manfully under the handicap of small salaries during the past six years. I know of one or two cases where offers of larger salaries to go elsewhere have been received and declined.

One of my men came from New England five years ago last September, and has just notified me that he has accepted a call to go East, January 15, 1938. He is one of my unmarried men and they usually revert to species on or before the end of a five year period, and I don't blame them, especially when their work has been successful in every respect and they are worthy of promotion. I am sorry to lose him from the district.

Self-Support

I stated in my last annual report that a thorough canvass of the Missionary District of Western Nebraska would be made in the hope of increasing the financial support from the various parishes and missions. A meeting of the committee for this purpose was held in June, at which time this whole agricultural section was showing every prospect of a bountiful harvest. Merchants made special preparations for the fall and winter markets on the basis of this hope, and many of them are suffering the consequences resulting from a total burning up of every section of this area. In Western Nebraska during the months of July and August live stock had to be moved out of the country for lack of food, farmers are bewildered and at a loss to know which way to turn. Some of them have packed their household goods in wagons and migrated, leaving in some instances farms which they owned.

It is useless for me to enlarge on this situation for it is known throughout the length and breadth of the country. We have had practically no moisture for the past six or eight months, and the prospects are discouraging to say the least.

We are, nevertheless, prosecuting the Every Member Canvass to the very best of our ability, but with few increases of pledges. One of the most hopeful signs is the increasing number of our people who are taking an interest in the Church as shown in larger congregations.

The parish at Grand Island reports the loss of sixty-five families during the past nine months. Some Church families have moved into the parish and this is the process which now operates in almost every parish and mission in the field. It is a time of serious transition with no visible basis upon which to build our hopes for a material increase in pledges for 1938.

In spite of these conditions, however, I want to state that none of us are utterly discouraged for it is only by boldly facing serious difficulties that we develop our characters as priests of the Church and worthy leaders among our people. Our hope is that we will not be compelled to close up any of our missions.

If it were not for the fact of making my report too lengthy I would like to tell the story of each man's work in his particular field during the past twelve months.

I can summarize this personal element by again reporting the fact as stated above, that each man in his respective locality is doing efficient work.

I am in great need of two automobiles for the use of two priests who have large fields to cover, one of them owns a car but it is practically worn out. The other is hiking on foot to missions twelve and eighteen miles distant from the place of his residence. He occasionally gets a ride, but he hasn't missed a service so far on his regular appointments. A man who does this deserves a gift of a car and he knows how to operate and take care of it. I have had personal letters from several of the families living on ranches far from the railroads, who have volunteered to help all they could toward the purchase of a car for their missionary. I am convinced, however, that the total amount cannot be hoped for from these sources. I hope there will be some effort made to relieve this situation in two of the most important missionary centers in Western Nebraska.

We have paid our annual quotas to the National Council on the basis of 100% for several years, and 1937 is not going to be an exception.

Church Property

In my last annual report I gave in detail the description of our Church property in the parishes and missions,

JAPANESE YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONFERENCE, MITCHELL, NEBRASKA

Over the Washington Birthday week-end ninety-two Japanese young people from all over the Middle West held a conference at Holy Apostles' Church. During the conference one Japanese was confirmed and another baptized

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONDUCTED BY BISHOP PAYNE DIVINITY SCHOOL STUDENTS

This enterprise enrolling over 100 youngsters gives the seminarians an excellent opportunity for pastoral work. Other student activities include a social program in the neighboring community. All the seminarians are seen in this picture and will not report these items in detail for 1937. There is not a property of our Church in any parish or mission which is not in good repair.

The Very Rev. Francis R. Lee, Dean of St. Mark's Pro-Cathedral, Hastings, has recently informed me that he hopes to have the consecration service for the Pro-Cathedral on Palm Sunday in 1938. This means, of course, that the entire cost of our beautiful church building here in Hastings will be free from all indebtedness, the balance necessary to be raised being about $3,000.

The only indebtedness on Church property in the district will then be the balance of approximately $5,000 on the new church at McCook, which is entirely financed by the members of the local congregation who have met their regular payments so far, and the Rev. David A. Jones, the rector, is now Rural Dean of the Southwest Deanery and is doing a very efficient work in this field.

Rev. Francis J. Pryor III, of North Platte, with the help of members of the congregation, and with his own trained manual labor, has repaired and redecorated the Church of Our Saviour, North Platte, so that everybody is delighted with the improvements. The total cost, I believe, of this enterprise was something over $700. It has all been paid for.

The Rev. Frederic A. McNeil is Rural Dean of the Northwest Deanery with headquarters at Chadron. The work in that field is progressing very satisfactorily in every respect.

Many other improvements have been made in property all of which has involved no debt, for which I am truly thankful.

Official Acts

My official acts for the year 1937 are as follows:

Confirmations	240
Baptisms	35
Marriages	1
Burials	9
Dedication of Memorials.....	10
Ordinations	1

On August 6, 1937, I ordained to the priesthood, Rev. Gordon C. Smith, whom I had ordained to the diaconate in July 1936.

There have been no transfers during the year 1937.

Clergy Received: On February 1, 1937, the Rev. Wm. P. Anna, Jr., was transferred as a priest in good standing from the Diocese of Minnesota to the Missionary District of Western Nebraska, and is now rector of St. Andrew's Church, Scottsbluff, Nebraska.

In the early spring I appointed the Rev. James N. MacKenzie, canonically resident priest of the Diocese of Oklahoma, to take charge of the missionary work centered at Mullen, Nebraska. He is doing a splendid work in the sand-hills and seems to be quite contented there, and very popular among the people of the hills.

Postulant: Mr. Charles Coffeen, Hastings, Nebraska.

Candidates: Mr. J. V. Bandy, Valentine, Nebraska. Mr. Bandy has removed to Austin, Texas, but is still canonically registered in Western Nebraska.

Our Work Among the Japanese

Our work among the Japanese has been gradually progressing with but few changes in the personnel of these sturdy families, and very few removals. This work has been under-way now for the past ten years, with the constant and faithful help of Rev. Hiram Kano, who devotes his entire time to this most interesting department of our mission in Western Nebraska.

Services are being held regularly by Mr. Kano in twelve locations, including North Platte, Scottsbluff, Gering and Mitchell. These four are the chief centers of our activities among the Japanese families in Western Nebraska. The eight other stations are neighboring towns where Mr. Kano holds frequent services with smaller groups, but on the whole every Japanese family within the boundary of Western Nebraska is associated in some definite way with our Church life and worship. Summer schools are held in the Japanese-Americanization buildings located at Scottsbluff and Mitchell.

Deaconess LeHew conducts a Church school and summer school at Mitchell each summer with approximately fifty young Japanese boys and girls in attendance. We have registered approximately 200 confirmations among the Japanese and there are at least 400 baptized children and adults.

Mr. Kano is very efficient in his work and deeply consecrated to it. We are trying to concentrate our efforts on the older young people now, in order to form social contacts and stimulate their ideals in the art of Christian living.

I cannot commend Mr. Kano's work too highly, nor that of Deaconess LeHew. They are both faithful and efficient leaders.

GEO. A. BEECHER,
Bishop of Western Nebraska

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF WYOMING

The Missionary District of Wyoming embraces the State of Wyoming. It has an area of 97,548 square miles and a population (1930) of 225,565. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in 1907. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Winfred H. Ziegler, D.D., consecrated December 16, 1936.

The appropriation to Wyoming for 1937 is as follows: (1) For salaries and travel expense of the Bishop and clergy, $17,462; (2) for insurance, taxes, repairs and miscellaneous items, $4,580; (3) for support of institutions, $1,400; (4) for United Thank Offering work, $4,050; (5) for Indian work, $18,000. Total, $45,492.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

IN this, my second annual report, I begin with a brief survey of our field work. With an area of 98,000 square miles and a population of little more than a quarter of a million, one might be in danger of underestimating the importance of our field. In a State that can offer a half-acre of ground to each and every man, woman and child in the whole United States, yet with a total population less than that of Akron, Ohio, wherein lies the Church's opportunity?

Several things point toward the answer. So wise was the planning, so vigorous the prosecution, and so fine the execution of the missionary attack upon Wyoming by my distinguished predecessors, that the Church was planted just everywhere in the State. Greatly needed institutions were established in Wyoming and the Episcopal Church so commended itself through the words, work and lives of the Bishops, priests and lay workers of the past fifty years and more that no other communion is more favorably known or viewed with greater respect. Wyoming stands out with a greater percentage of members and adherents of the Episcopal Church to the total population than does any other State of middle west, south, southwest, deep west and far west.

Dr. John Roberts has so impressed his life and love and faith upon the Shoshone and Arapahoe nations that a withdrawal by the Episcopal Church from the Wind River Reservation would be the denial to them of spiritual food on which they have been long dependent and the tearing away from those Christian peoples the means of their salvation.

Towns and plains, forests, mountains and valleys of Wyoming and the people that dwell and work in them, and those that traverse them see the Church at work and eagerly accept her ministries of encouragement and consolation, teaching and healing, and enter in as our missionaries swing open the gates of the Kingdom of God.

Every city and town in Wyoming has its Episcopal church and in many of them no other communion is represented. Obscure valley settlements enjoy our ministry. As victims of the "dust-bowl" flee out of the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Eastern Colorado and the "pan-handles" of Oklahoma and Texas to the newly opened, newly irrigated sections of Wyoming they become at once our concern.

Twenty priests, with the expectation of two more very shortly, two United Thank Offering field workers, and the Bishop, serve this great State. They are strongly reinforced by two United Thank Offering workers on combined field and special educational and institutional assignment, school principals, teachers, monitors, nurses and farmers, most of them on stipends originating in Wyoming and not supported by appropriation from the National Council. However, all alike are missionaries of the Episcopal Church, serving God and His Wyoming children through the Church.

A new church building has just been completed at Glenrock. This was proposed February 21, 1937, and will be completed and used by the middle of February, 1938.

A new church building is nearing completion at Eden, The Garden Church, an Oregon Trail Memorial, proposed at the first service held in the Eden Valley September 19, 1937. Eden is no town but from scattered ranches 125 children afoot and a-horseback come to school and now may come to Sunday school, baptism, confirmation and the Blessed Sacrament.

Another new church building is being erected at Pinedale, the incorporated town located farther from a railroad than any other town in the United States. This will be completed this spring.

These three new buildings will bring the number of Episcopal churches in Wyoming to fifty-two, strategically distributed over the broad face of this great State.

However energetic our missionaries, however far and fast they travel our roads and trails, in so great a land there will be ranchers, trappers, miners, prospectors and lumbermen, forest rangers, irrigation engineers, ditch tenders, oil field operators, workers, and the families of all these various kinds of people living so far from normal Church privileges as properly to be classified as isolated. Mrs. Emily McNeil, U. T. O. worker, is serving them and their children by mail, sending Forward Movement literature and other educational material. The Bishop himself has in the year 1937 baptized thirty-seven persons, not one of whom was resident close to a church or within easy reach of one of our priests. This is an indication of the importance and effectiveness of our work with the Isolated. But because this sort of ministry has been going on for fifty years, notably under Bishops Talbot and Thomas, it is no wonder that out of less than 1,800 students entering the University of Wyoming, this year 257 Wyoming students registered themselves as Episcopalians. Inasmuch as students frequently refrain from so putting themselves on the spot, it is fair to assume that one out of five at our State University come from homes of our Church people. St. Matthew's Cathedral, Laramie, is well filled with students every Sunday of the college year.

Institutions

Without exception, the Church institutions of Wyoming are in a sound condition. St. John's Hospital, Jackson, suffered a serious blow in the sudden death of Dr. Charles H. Huff, its co-founder and chief surgeon for twenty-five years. A new board with Mrs. Albert Simms as chairman has been appointed and the Rev. Alexander Pawla is now the superintendent. Bishop Randall Hospital plans extensive alterations and enlargement including a new nurses' home. Ivinson and Sherwood Halls have doubled their enrollment over 1936-1937. The children's homes are adding to the staff an activities director.

Indian Work

Electric light and telephone service have greatly added to the security and convenience of life at the Shoshone Indian Mission.

St. Michael's Mission to the Arapahoes at Ethete under the direction of the Rev. Hector Thompson has a greatly improved plant and grounds, and has organized the only Indian co-operative store, thereby capturing the interest of the United States Indian Service. A full four-year high school course has been added under accredited teachers with the Rev. Frank R. Myers, S.T.M., as principal. Arrangements have been completed, with the encouragement and approval of the United States Indian Service, to operate as a day school beginning next September.

Shortly before her death, Mrs. Sherman Coolidge gave the Bishop $7,000 for the erection of a guest house at Ethete, using the stone from the dwelling built and used by the Rev. and Mrs. Sherman Coolidge when on the Reservation.

Property Improvements and Purchases

Rehabilitation of many properties, some of them long disused, have been important at Baggs, Rock River, Moose, Kenmerer, Lusk, Torrington and Evanston. At Morton a school house has been purchased and will serve as a church. Lots have been secured at Crowheart and Hanna where church and rectory will be erected this summer.

Clergy Departed and Received

The Rev. Robert Emmett Abraham, secretary of Convocation and vicar of Trinity Church, Thermopolis, passed away August 23, 1937.

The Rev. E. A. Batchelder was received and appointed to the Hanna Field but Mrs. Batchelder was so unfavorably affected by high altitude he had to be released in December.

The Rev. Herald C. Swezy resigned as rector of the Church of the Holy Communion, Rock Springs, and has gone to a Long Island parish.

The Rev. Dudley B. McNeil, the Rev. Rex C. Simms and the Rev. F. H. Myers have been received from Chicago. The Rev. Harold Shay and the Rev. J. D. Salter have been canonically transferred from New Mexico and Minnesota.

Camps

New and successful projects were the girls' and boys' camps directed by Mrs. Emily McNeil and the Rev. Dudley B. McNeil, each for two weeks, with headquarters at Ethete, but with a four-day trip through Yellowstone Park and the Jackson Hole country. Seventy-eight girls and sixty-one boys from all over the State of Wyoming participated. A fine staff collaborated in providing a splendid program of religious instruction, play, recreation and adventure and this project will be a permanent part of our annual program for youth.

Confirmations

I have confirmed, in Wyoming, at forty-two services, 313 persons and for the Bishop of Chicago, in Geneva, 16, a total of 329.

REPORTS FROM THE DIOCESES

The Council aids 27 dioceses in the prosecution of their diocesan work.

The reports from the Bishops follow.

ARKANSAS—The Rt. Rev. Edwin Warren Saphoré, D.D., Bishop, (Resigned); The Rt. Rev. Edward Thomas Demby, Suffragan Bishop for Negro Work. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $400; for Negro work, $3,046; United Thank Offering work (Negro), $652.50.

OUR work among the nearly 500,000 Negroes in this diocese has not changed materially during the past six or seven years, but in spite of handicaps and the serious shortage of funds the clergy and people have been faithful to their task.

During the past year there has been an increase in baptisms and confirmations, as well as in the membership of Church schools and Young People's Service League. The most encouraging effort is that of Christ Church Parochial and Industrial School at Forrest City which has more than 125 pupils. Notwithstanding the fact that the public school provides books for the first to the eighth grades, many of the parents prefer to send their children to our parochial school because of the Christian training they receive. We need more room and more teachers for this work.

The community and social work at Pine Bluff is growing and reaching many young people.

During the past year a kindergarten has been established at St. Mary's Church, Hot Springs National Park, for about 30 children.

The mission at Fort Smith continues to go forward under the leadership of two laymen, three lay women and the Young People's Service League. Resident missionaries are badly needed at both Pine Bluff and Fort Smith, there being a good church building in each town.

The gift of $2,000 from the Girls' Friendly Society of the U. S. A. was of untold help to our work. I do not see how we could have continued our efforts at Pine Bluff, Forrest City and Fort Smith without this valuable assistance, and I am extremely grateful.

We are greatly in need of increased appropriations for the extension of our work. Our Negro Churchmen believe in self-help and through it we have been able to keep moving slowly forward. We hope to increase this self-help, but in order to continue constructive work we need further financial help from outside of the diocese.

EDWARD THOMAS DEMBY,
Suffragan Bishop for Negro Work

DULUTH—The Rt. Rev. Benjamin T. Kemerer, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Indian work, $5,300; for Swedish work, $448.

THAT part of missionary work supported by the National Council is in the Indian field under the immediate supervision of Archdeacon Boyle and his staff of two white and four Indian clergy.

The Kah-O-Sed School for Indian workers under the Rev. Dr. Carrington has provided two desirable additions to the Indian workers' staff, young men now in charge of missions and doing very acceptable work.

The Kah-O-Sed School is solving the serious problem confronting our Indian work through the loss of native clergy and workers. Its program includes not only the training of new workers, but their continued education after they are in charge of missions. One comes to the school one week each month for recitation, review, and additional instruction.

The purpose of this system is to prepare young men for eventual ordination to the priesthood and, what is of special importance, to keep them spiritually fresh by renewed contacts with the head of the school. The advance of general education among the Indians requires superior leadership. The school, therefore, has a vital and continuing function to perform even though we may be unable through lack of funds to place new workers in the field.

A new Indian chapel has been built at Bena by diocesan funds, and was consecrated, free of debt, in December. This replaces the old church demolished by vandals, and another of the Kah-O-Sed students will soon be ready to take charge of the congregation.

On account of lack of funds we have been obliged to invite delegates only from each mission to attend the Indian Convocation instead, as formerly, of having everybody come who wanted to do so. This has cut down attendance at Convocation, but does not seem to have impaired the usefulness of it. There is lacking the inspiration of numbers—200 instead of 700—made up in part, at least, by added seriousness and attention to business.

BENJAMIN T. KEMERER,

Bishop of Duluth

EAST CAROLINA—The Rt. Rev. Thomas Campbell Darst, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $2,509; for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,080.

DURING the year 1937, we were able to maintain our colored work in East Carolina, but due to totally inadequate funds, and as a consequence an insufficient number of workers, we were not able to take advantage of many real opportunities for growth and development among 200,000 Negroes living within our diocesan boundaries.

Six faithful Negro priests have served fourteen congregations, two of the above being self-supporting parishes. Three additional colored missions have been served by white clergymen without compensation.

One Community Center and Day Nursery has been maintained by the diocese, and two small parochial schools have been kept in operation, but we have not been able to compete with the well-supported and adequately staffed Parochial Schools that the Roman Catholics are operating for Negro children in many of our towns.

Our appropriation from the National Council was used to supplement the salaries of four Negro priests who are working faithfully in ten missions.

The remainder of the somewhat meager salaries of these missionary clergy came from the diocese and from the congregations served by them.

In spite of our shortage of men, money and adequate equipment, we feel that real progress has been made along certain lines. The confirmations have been larger in proportion to the total number of communicants than in our white churches. Some of the Negro congregations have given generously, according to their means, to the cause of missions, and we have had many evidences of genuine loyalty to Christ and His Church.

We are confident that, with more adequate support, we could carry out a program that would double the present number of communicants and enable us to begin work in at least five new places within the next five years.

We are happy to report that the Hospital of the Good Shepherd at New Bern, N. C., is nearing completion and we hope to have this greatly needed institution in operation by the early summer. This Negro hospital, so sadly needed, was made possible through a generous gift of $25,000 from the Diocese of Pennsylvania and a grant of an equal amount from the Duke Foundation. Without these gifts and the tireless and enthusiastic labors of the Rev. Robert I. Johnson, Rector of St. Cyprian's Colored Church in New Bern, the hospital could never have been built.

Our two white United Thank Offering workers, Miss Lona Bell Weatherly of Galilee Mission, Lake Phelps, Creswell, and Miss Anna Louise Robertson of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Wilmington, are continuing with greater success than ever before their blessed and constructive ministry in their respective fields.

We are hopeful as we go forward into another year and are confident that there will be a very definite advance in every department of our diocesan life.

THOMAS C. DARST,

EASTON—The Rt. Rev. George W. Davenport, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $1,800.

THE condition of work in the Diocese of Easton, which is in part supported by the National Council, is much the same as last year.

There has been very little change except that two country churches at Marion and Kingston have been placed in charge of the Rev. Homer F. Buf-ton of Princess Anne. On account of improved road conditions they are more easily administered from this point.

The church at Kingston has been thoroughly renovated both inside and out and is now in very good condition, an accomplishment for which the congregation has worked very hard.

Conditions at Hurlock, which was very seriously hurt by the depression and a bank failure, are gradually improving. This is one of the places in charge of the Rev. William McClelland.

One of the difficulties in rural work is the continued maintenance of a Sunday school. It frequently happens that children of Sunday school age come in batches. A group of children will pass through the Sunday school and then leave for school or college or employment elsewhere, and there may be quite a period before another group of children has reached the age for Sunday school. This has been the case at East New Market where we have once more a thriving school and a well organized junior choir.

GEO. W. DAVENPORT,
Bishop of Easton

FLORIDA—The Rt. Rev. Frank Alexander Juhan, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $1,861.

THERE are approximately 500 Negro communicants in the Diocese of Florida. They are ministered to by four Negro priests and two white priests in eight congregations, each congregation worshipping in a church building. One Negro day school is maintained under the supervision of a Negro woman teacher.

Seven of these eight congregations are largely assisted by appropriations from the National Council. St. Philip's Church, Jacksonville, receives no help from the National Council: it should be a parish.

There have been few gains during the past year and progress is very slow.

Missions in the Diocese of Florida, ministering to Negro communicants are as follows: Fernandina, Good Shepherd, Rev. Harris Mallinckrodt, (white); Gainesville, St. Augustine's, Rev. Wm. T. Wood, Archdeacon of Negro Work; Jacksonville, St. Philip's, Rev. T. A. Schofield, retired, (white); Palatka, St. Mary's, Rev. Wm. T. Wood; Pensacola, St. Cyprian's, Rev. E. S. Shirley; Saint Augustine, St.

Cyprian's, Rev. Wm. T. Wood; St. Nicholas, Emmanuel, Rev. J. Herbert Jones; Tallahassee, St. Michael and All Angels, Rev. Robert L. Gordon.

FRANK A. JUHAN,
Bishop of Florida

FOND DU LAC—The Rt. Rev. Harwood Sturtevant, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Indian work, $1,920; for United Thank Offering work (Indian), $1,620.

THE only work in the diocese receiving financial aid from the National Council is that at Oneida. Our work among the Oneida Indians at the Church and School of the Holy Apostles was greatly stimulated in 1937 by the appointment of a new missionary, the Rev. William F. Christian. A wise and consecrated priest, he is devoted to the welfare of the Oneidas. A regular Saturday School of Religion has been started, and new children appear each week. There is now a vested choir and a Girls' Club. The Woman's Auxiliary has fifty members and has enjoyed a very busy year.

Two Sisters of the Holy Nativity are in constant residence, ministering to the material and spiritual needs of all who come, and serving as a clearing house for boxes of food and clothing sent in by various congregations. They also have charge of the Altar Guild, and assist in the Saturday school.

The day school is in charge of Miss Alice Cornelius, and has about 30 children enrolled. The school is enjoying warmth this winter through the gift of a new coal heater.

In the parish there are now approximately 1,200 baptized members of which 662 are communicants. In 1937, there were 17 baptisms, 37 confirmations, and 25 burials.

HARWOOD STURTEVANT,
Bishop of Fond du Lac

GEORGIA—The Rt. Rev. Middleton Stuart Barnwell, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $1,694; for United Thank Offering work (Negro), $1,080.

FOR 1937, $1,694 was received from the National Council and was paid towards the salaries of four colored priests, three teachers in parochial schools, and one Church Army worker, serving eleven points. In addition to this appropriation, the salary of a colored social service worker was paid from the United Thank Offering. The reports of the work seem most encouraging. The number of baptisms more than double the 1936 figure, 147 to 63; the confirmations were 109 compared to 57 in 1936, about 10% of the total number of communicants; and the total contributions were $7,047.64 against $5,430 in 1936. The number of pupils in the parochial schools has declined about 10 per cent. and the contributions for the Church's Program were about the same.

Considering these results in the light of the very limited resources of money and equipment behind the work, brings the realization that with a larger personnel and with better equipment, the possibilities for constructive and successful work among the Negroes in the South is almost unlimited. The difficulty is that these resources must come from the diocese or general Church, as the prospect for any large proportion of self-support on the part of the poor southern Negroes cannot be foreseen in the near future. With a field apparently so ripe for the harvest, it is indeed a pity that workers with proper tools are not available.

MIDDLETON S. BARNWELL,
Bishop of Georgia

KANSAS—The Rt. Rev. James Wise, D.D., Bishop; the Rt. Rev. Goodrich R. Fenner, S.T.D., Bishop Coadjutor. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $1,130; for Negro work, $1,020.

THE following is a narrative report for the work in the Diocese of Kansas, which is partially supported by grants from the National Council.

Let me concern myself first with the work of the Church in our college and university centers. During the past year, appropriations have been made out of the grant for college work to the work being done by the Rev. Aimison Jonnard at Kansas State College, Manhattan. Mr. Jonnard has been in this work for a number of years and the enthusiasm for the Church goes steadily forward. Mr. Jonnard is a conscientious college pastor, and it is reported to me by vestrymen that the congregation each Sunday consists of a large number of students. He also has the happy faculty of combining the student and town members of the Church in such a way that there is the least self-consciousness amongst them that I know of anywhere.

The other field in college work in which the national appropriation for college work was of assistance was at Kansas State Teachers College in Emporia. The Rev. Orin L. Griesmeyer left the parish last year, and the Rev. Edward M. Mize was called to take his place. I can report conscientiously that the appropriation here is very worthwhile. The Rev. Mr. Mize, in the short time he has had charge of the work, has shown a fine attitude for making himself acceptable to the students. He is highly respected by members of the faculty and has won the confidence of both the college and the townspeople.

The appropriation is being changed in this coming year to help out on the salary of the Rev. Carter H. Harrison, who looks after our work at Kansas University in Lawrence. The Rev. Mr. Harrison is well known throughout the country as a worker amongst college students, and he is most competent to carry forward this work.

The appropriation for Negro work during this past year was given wholly to the Rev. Melbourne R. Hogarth of St. Simon's Church, Topeka, and to the Rev. Edward F. Barrow, of Ascension Church, Kansas City. Both of these missions are carrying forward very nicely. The outlook for these fields is most promising. In addition to the work in these two fields, we also have a splendid opportunity before us in Leavenworth where, under the guidance of the rector of the parish for white people, we are making a good beginning. Lots have recently been purchased, and the Rev. Mr. Hofmann, Rector of St. Paul's Church, is ministering to a growing group who will ultimately build a church for themselves.

We also have the prospect of the establishment of a church for colored people in Atchison. The rector of the white parish has a group of colored people under instruction for confirmation. This newest group is a direct outgrowth of the mission in Topeka. Some of our colored people moved there and began to create an interest for the Church among their friends. Our work at Wichita goes steadily forward. This mission is not very far from self-support, and we hope that within another year or eighteen months we may be able to report that they are an independent group.

The appropriation for rural work includes the ministry of the Rev. James Boyce who was at Wamego. Mr. Boyce left for the Diocese of Pittsburgh, in September, and his place has been taken by the Rev. Virgil E. Ward, lately of Pine Island, Minnesota. St. Luke's, Wamego, is a fine group of farmer people. The church is in a little town, but the largest number of communicants are farmers around about the town. It is one of the liveliest and most promising missions we have in the diocese.

It also includes the appropriation made to the Rev. Edward L. Skinner, who looks after our work at Marysville, Blue Rapids and Irving. The Rev. Howard S. Giere also comes under the appropriation. In addition to his work at Clay Center, he has charge of our missions at Wakefield and Washington. The Rev. Mr. Giere is one of the most intelligent and devoted rural priests we have in the diocese and the fine enthusiasm of his missions reflects his ability. The Rev. Charles R. Davies, who has charge of Chanute, Iola and Yates Center, is Mr. Giere's equal in every way. His work is well done and his missions are alive and growing enterprises. This also can be said for the work of the Rev. Virgil Livingston, who has charge of Coffeyville, Chetopa, Sedan and Cedarvale. Mr. Livingston, in addition to his fine work in all his missions, has succeeded in creating a splendid interest amongst the young people. How he covers so much territory and so effectively is quite beyond me. The Rev. L. W. Smith looks after our missionary work in the southeastern part of the diocese. In addition to the two parishes he has at Pittsburg and Fort Scott, he is in charge of Girard and Galena. His pastoral ministry extends over two large counties and his work with the people of the coal mines is excellent.

May I say that the work goes forward in the missions with a fine spirit amongst our clergy and lay people. I am in desperate need of two additional priests for missionary work, but we do not as yet have the funds in sight to take care of their stipends. We are opening one new mission in the diocese this year at Eureka, under the leadership of the Rev. Charles F. Rehkopf. A fine work is being established there.

GOODRICH R. FENNER,
Bishop Coadjutor of Kansas

LEXINGTON—The Rt. Rev. Henry Pryor Almon Abbott, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: white work, $4,716; for Negro work, $455.

ONCE more the Diocese of Lexington, through its Bishop, would express its heartfelt gratitude to the National Council for the annual grant for work within the diocese. As related to the grant given up to nine years ago, the diocese is now half self-supporting, and we hope before many more years are passed to stand entirely upon our own financial feet. This is the goal towards which we are conscientiously striving.

The work in the aided parishes and missions in 1937, has been maintained at a high level with worthwhile results. Every congregation has been shepherded and the givings from the majority of churches to the Church's Program apportionment have enabled the diocese to meet in full its pledge to the general Church.

The grant from the National Council is expended with discrimination and conscience within the three regions of the diocese: The Blue Grass, The Ohio River Valley and The Mountains. There has been a marked strengthening of our stakes in these several sections and the work among the Highland peoples, especially, has shown an advance all along the lines.

The appropriation has been expended exclusively in the augmentation of clerical salaries, assisting the monies received from the individual congregations, from the diocesan portion of the Church's Program receipts and from the Bishop's Discretionary Fund for this commendable purpose. In several instances the entire salary of the clergyman comes from our national grant. In all, nine clergymen are assisted in part or in full from this source of revenue, and the amounts given to individuals range from $360 to $1,800 a year. The latter sum denotes the entire salary of the highest paid among our aided clerical staff. No aided clergyman receives more than a bare living wage; but they are carrying on cheerfully and courageously in the service of their Master.

H. P. ALMON ABBOTT

LOUISIANA—The Rt. Rev. James Craik Morris, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for United Thank Offering work (white), $918.

MISS Ruth Connelly, U. T. O. worker, Principal of St. Andrew's Mission School at Bayou du Large, Louisiana, reports as follows concerning her work during the year:

The school year at St. Andrew's extends over nine months, the school being closed during December and January when the families are away from their homes during the trapping season. The average attendance during the year was about 35 pupils. In addition to the regular course of study, classes in religious education were held each day. From the middle of June to the middle of July, when the regular school is closed for summer vacation, classes in cooking and sewing were held.

In addition to the weekday work, Church services or Church school sessions were held each Sunday—average attendance about 40.

Other activities for the children were a Christmas tree and celebration at the end of February after the families returned to their homes; an Easter egg hunt, and a pageant presented by the older children in June.

JAMES CRAIK MORRIS,
Bishop of Louisiana

MISSISSIPPI—The Rt. Rev. Theodore DuBose Bratton, D.D., Bishop; The Rt. Rev. William Mercer Green, D.D., Bishop Coadjutor. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $894; for Negro work, $2,100.

White Work

THE appropriation of the National Council received by the Diocese of Mississippi for white work is applied to the salary of the Rev. Val. H. Sessions.

Sixteen other clergy of the diocese are supported by appropriations made by the National Council or by the Diocesan Department of Missions.

The missionary work of the diocese for the year 1937 was carried on with normal results. I think it is fair to say that as an average the Mississippi stations meet well their obligations to the diocese and the general Church.

I am happy to report that the church of All Saints', Tupelo, destroyed by the cyclone of 1936, has been restored and will soon be used for regular services.

We have the normal number of vacancies with increasing difficulty in finding proper men for the small town and rural or semi-rural work. The need of men who have a vocation for this type of work is great. Equally great is our need of funds adequately to equip the work and to sustain the worker and his family.

The work of our white missions aided by appropriations from the National Council continues to maintain its high standard of interest and growth. The Rev. Mr. Sessions serves six organized and three unorganized missions or preaching stations. Of special interest is the work of the Chapel of the Cross in Madison County. This is one of the most beautiful pieces of genuine Gothic chapel architecture in the United States. Mr. Sessions is steadily and systematically restoring it to good repair. During some years when it was not used regularly there was great deterioration in the fabric. Regular services are now held at this distinctly rural point, and it is in a sense a rural cathedral drawing its attendance within a radius of twelve to fifteen miles. Confirmations are relatively high in number. The work suffers by the migrations that take place, holding the communicant strength at about an average. The transfers, however, make their contribution to the strength of the Church.

Negro Work

The three Negro priests are doing good work.

In St. Mark's, Jackson, the Rev. A. B. Keeling, in addition to his evangelistic work, conducts a school for Negro children offering courses in the elementary grades. It has an attendance of about ninety, and proves steadily a good feeder for the Church. The children are baptized and confirmed, and in many instances their parents are brought in with them. There is also conducted in the parish house of St. Mark's a medical clinic now being supported by the State Board of Health and the Federal Department of Health. White and Negro doctors conduct systematic examinations in line with the health program of the State and Nation. Good confirmation classes are presented.

In St. Mary's, Vicksburg, in addition to the evangelistic work, the Rev. S. A. Morgan conducts the Vicksburg Industrial School, a parochial school giving work in the elementary grades. This school has a good attendance and is serving the same purpose as that in St. Mark's, Jackson. In each case the Negro children receive as good or better training than that found in the public schools, and at the same time they are taught the Gospel as this Church has received it.

The Redeemer, Greenville, under the Rev. S. W. Foster, moves steadily forward. Confirmation classes are presented composed of the representative Negroes, male and female, of the town.

In addition to his Greenville work, the Rev. Mr. Foster has organized a Mission of St. Thomas, at Columbus. I have reported the purchase of a house and lot at this point. Money borrowed for the purchase has been paid, and we are looking toward making alterations to the house so that it may be used until a church can be erected; part of it as a chapel, and the other part as the living quarters of the minister. We are hoping to be able to place a young man in charge of that work next summer.

The Rev. Mr. Foster also gives occasional services in Meridian and Mound Bayou.

The Okolona Industrial School

One of the most interesting pieces of colored work being done in the diocese, is that at the Okolona Industrial School. The chaplain of the school is a white priest, the Rev. C. G. Hamilton. The school is filled to capacity, and a new dormitory has just been started which will be ready for use at the opening of the fall session. In connection with the school is an organized mission, and good classes for confirmation are presented each year from the faculty and student body. The chaplain teaches courses in the Bible and religion.

College Work

The work of our student pastors, who receive the major part of their salaries from the Division of College Work of the National Council, commands the approval of the faculties and students of the institutions served. These institutions are located in small towns, and the missions at each place could not be served by resident ministers without the aid of the National Council. The diocese would not be able to take care of the work without this help, and the missions cannot look for self-support.

All Saints' College, Vicksburg, the diocesan school for girls, is now under the executive management of the Rev. William G. Christian, who, on June 1, 1937, with the title of Rector, succeeded Miss Mary Leslie Newton, who carried the title of Dean. The 1937-'38 session opened with a gratifying increase of students and the work goes forward well.

In the other towns where colleges are located, the local clergy do, in each case, volunteer service of efficient character. The Rev. Mr. Gray has an effective influence in the Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus. The Rev. Robert W. Emerson does good work at the Gulf Coast Military Academy and the Gulf Park College at Gulfport. The Rev. Cecil B. Jones and the Rev. Jones S. Hamilton seize what opportunities they have for service at the Delta State Teachers College at Cleveland and the State Teachers College at Hattiesburg.

The two Student Pastors, supported in part by the Department of Religious Education of the National Council, located respectively at Oxford and Starkville, are the Rev. Edward McCrady, D.D., and the Rev. William Mercer Green, Jr.

The contacts made in the colleges of the State constitute one of the most constructive pieces of genuine missionary work for the Church in the diocese and State. The results of these contacts are noted all over the diocese.

W. MERCER GREEN,
Bishop Coadjutor of Mississippi

MONTANA— The Rt. Rev. Herbert Henry Heywood Fox, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $4,488; for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,080.

FOR the year 1937, I am glad to report to the Council that the diocese has sent in not only the amount of our Expectation but the full amount of our Objective, namely $4,200. We are devoutly thankful that we have been able to help the national Church to this extent, and we hope that what has been done in Montana will have been done by the whole Church.

We wish that we could also report that the salaries of our missionaries had been restored. But it is not yet within our power to restore the 10% reduction, nor have some of our mission fields that were combined been restored to their original status with independent missionaries in charge. Until this is done our missionary work is bound to languish. For, no matter how vigorous a missionary may be, it is difficult for him to cover satisfactorily five mission stations that range from 90 to 135 miles apart. Once we had three missionaries in this field, today we have only one. If some of the cuts that the National Council have been compelled to make were restored to Montana I am sure we would be able to place men in the field again and thereby do more intensive work.

To be specific, we need a man in the Virginia City field. The high mountain ranges make this field almost inaccessible in winter from Jeffers where the missionary lives. Another missionary should be put in the Roundup, Red Lodge, Big Timber field. Two other missions are attached to this field making five in all.

The field where our general missionary is now working needs another man urgently. He has nine missions under his care.

The Malta and Glasgow fields had until recently two missionaries. Now there is one, the Rev. Stanley Welsh, who is doing a fine piece of work, but it is two hundred miles between the two extremes of his field.

We have one field vacant at present. The Rev. R. R. Price, who for the past ten years has been missionary in the Whitefish field, and who endeared himself to everyone in that large area, has been called to and has accepted the rectorship of the parish at Miles City, succeeding the Rev. J. L. Craig, retired. I hope I may find a consecrated missionary for this field in the near future.

We have two preaching stations that are clamoring for church buildings. They already own lots. One is Polson and the other is Hardin. But where the funds for such buildings will come from I do not know.

The outlook in Montana is brighter than it has been for many years. We hope the Church in the United States will find the same condition and that it will be reflected in a large response to the needs of our world-wide work.

Miss Monica Howell is still doing a great work for our isolated families and our Correspondence Church School. A car presented to her by friends in Pennsylvania has enabled her to call on her scattered flock.

We are grateful to the national Church for the aid given to us in Montana. Just what we would do if that aid were not available, I do not know.

HERBERT H. H. FOX,
Bishop of Montana

NEBRASKA—The Rt. Rev. Ernest V. Shayler, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Indian work, $460; for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,620.

[No report has been received for the year 1937]

NORTH CAROLINA—The Rt. Rev. Edwin A. Penick, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $1,557; for United Thank Offering work (Negro), $540.

THE Negro work in the Diocese of North Carolina in 1937, showed a fair degree of progress. Of the total number of persons confirmed during the year 10% were Negroes, although the communicant strength of the Negroes is only 8% of the white congregations. The year marked an increase of 7% in the number of Negro communicants, while the number of white communicants during the same period was increased by 5%. Proportionately this is a creditable record.

The only United Thank Offering worker is Miss Marion Boley, Superintendent of the Good Samaritan Hospital, Charlotte. With the aid of a few white friends and a generous donation from the Duke Endowment, a new maternity pavilion, modern and complete in every feature, was constructed and dedicated.

The Woman's Auxiliary is organized into a Racial District. Meetings were held semi-annually with a representative attendance of capable young women. Their written reports covering the different phases of Auxiliary work were, in my opinion, the best I have ever had from them. This Racial District is a constituent part of the diocesan branch of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The Laymen's League is organized in a similar manner. Practically every parish and mission has an active local branch composed of interested laymen. They adopted and completed one worthy diocesan objective. Through this League more lay leadership is being discovered and developed than in any other Church organization.

The parochial schools at Louisburg and Henderson enrolled approximately four hundred children for a term of eight and one-half months. Concerning these students the principal of these two schools, George C. Pollard, says: "Our boys and girls are known for their good Church training, conduct, honesty and industry."

A new church building was completed and furnished by the congregation of Trinity Mission, Monroe. This church is now paid for and will be dedicated on the next visitation of the Bishop.

The priest in charge of St. Titus' Church, Durham, is showing an effective interest in social service. By reason of his interest two girls from this congregation are being educated at private schools by diocesan funds.

The Negro leaders, with few exceptions, took advantage of the diocesan plans for the development of Church schools under the auspices of the department of religious education. As a result the Church school enrollment has increased to an unprecedented degree and the personnel of teachers has been distinctly improved.

The work continues to have some discouragements, especially in rural sections where the people are exceedingly poor and migrate from place to place seeking work.

In behalf of the Diocese of North Carolina, I wish to express my appreciation to the National Council for their appropriation, which under an agreement of two years ago, is now being reduced to be discontinued in 1940.

EDWIN A. PENICK,
Bishop of North Carolina

NORTHERN INDIANA—The Rt. Rev. Campbell Gray, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $1,734.

THE Diocese of Northern Indiana has gone forward in 1937. Parishes burdened with mortgages were threatened with foreclosure; the larger and stronger ones and some of the smaller and weaker ones. But all of them have managed to refinance their indebtedness in various ways and none of the property is now in immediate jeopardy. The number of parishes delinquent on their diocesan assessments has been greatly reduced, the diocese having settled on a percentage basis with those who were several years in arrears and who would promise to assume current payments. A larger number are now paying monthly to the treasurer of the diocese. In missionary giving there have been overpayments of expectancies, which has enabled the diocese to overpay its expectancy to the National Council. The returns from the December canvass show an increase of approximately $1,000 over 1937 for the 1938 expectancy, which we have divided between diocesan and national missionary work on a fifty-fifty basis.

However, when we come down to details these increases are in very small figures, but it is encouraging that we have gone forward at all in 1937. We are still inadequately manned. We need two more priests for missionary work.

The missions in the Calumet Deanery, the industrial center, are vacant and are being temporarily administered by a priest doing supply work. This means that they have Sunday services but little or no pastoral work. The missions in the Fort Wayne Deanery are being cared for by the rector of Fort Wayne, who is Dean of that Deanery, with the help of other rectors nearby. Five hundred dollars will not take care of two priests, but will pay a little travel expense and an occasional honorarium for a supply.

The missions aided by national funds are holding their own. The Hungarian mission in South Bend, which receives $1,000 out of the $1,734 which the National Council grants to this diocese, has shown progress. They have reduced their mortgage indebtedness and the work is growing. The remaining $734, of course, does not enable us to do much more than keep the work at the other missions alive.

Due to our having been able to revive the diocesan paper; to re-establish our Summer Conference, which is now held at Howe School; and also to the much wider use of the Forward Movement booklets, there has come about a greater measure of co-operation and mutual understanding between the parishes and missions and the diocese, as well as a greater appreciation of the general work of the whole Church. If the diocese has gone forward but little in material things, there has been a great spiritual advance.

CAMPBELL GRAY,
Bishop of Northern Indiana

NORTHERN MICHIGAN—The Rt. Rev. Hayward Seller Ablewhite, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $3,248.

WE have done many things in the diocese during the past year. First, we changed our name from Marquette to the Diocese of Northern Michigan. There were many reasons for this, the most important of which was geographical distinction. There are now three dioceses in the State all with the name Michigan in their title.

The year 1937 saw a feverish activity in the steel industry, with the result that all our mines were operating on a full-week basis, and this means prosperity for us. We hope it will keep up, but as I write the future begins to look black again.

We believe we have taken a great forward step this year. I can explain this best by giving an example. In the fall of 1935, St. James', Sault Ste. Marie, was looking for a new rector, and in a vestry conference I told them that whoever became the rector would also have the title of Archdeacon, and that I wanted St. James' to be the Mother Parish of the eastern end of the diocese. The Rev. Dr. Blackburn became the rector six weeks later. Since that time St. James' has become the center of a great work. Three new Sunday schools have been started with men and women of the parish conducting them. A correspondence course for isolated families now numbers thirty, and the whole parish is aroused. A Missionary Council has been formed with members from each of the missions, together with members of St. James'. Twenty-five hundred square miles of territory are now closely integrated in a missionary program, and the work begun by Bishop Rowe in 1882 is marching on into a new day.

Plans are now forming to create parish areas like the Sault over the entire diocese, and we believe that a plan is being evolved that will solve the rural problem in this diocese. Again we thank the whole Church for the help we are receiving.

HAYWARD S. ABLEWHITE,
Bishop of Northern Michigan

OLYMPIA—The Rt. Rev. S. Arthur Huston, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Japanese work, $1,944; for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,080.

ONE cannot but wonder whether Christianity in India could possibly make the rapid progress it is making if India's converts were constantly surrounded by the type of Christianity which prevails in our so-called Christian civilization.

It is no exaggeration of the truth to say that the greatest hindrance to the growth of Christianity among our Japanese population on the Pacific Coast is the unChristlike conduct of professed Christians. And this is not by way of making any invidious distinction between the Pacific Coast and the rest of the country.

In all of our municipalities we tolerate much that we condemn and much that we condemn is usually located in that section of the city in which the Japanese, through force of circumstances, live.

The wonder is, therefore, not that growth is slow, but rather that there is any growth at all. Next year, our St. Peter's Japanese Mission in Seattle will be celebrating the thirtieth anniversary of its founding. We doubt if any American parish or mission has any more creditable record of constructive growth and progress. It functions perfectly as a working unit of our diocesan life and is always among the first in showing its appreciation of the help given, not by words only but by its works.

The same is true of St. Paul's Mission in the White River Valley. Here we are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Mr. Joseph Kitagawa, a recent graduate of St. Paul's University, Tokyo, who has also three years of preparation for the ministry. Mr. Kitagawa speaks English fluently and will be able to minister acceptably in both languages. Deaconess Peppers and the Rev. Dr. Arney of St. James' Church, Kent, are now supervising the work at this point. It is the only Christian work carried on in this large valley and has the respect and admiration of the entire Japanese population, both Buddhist and Christian.

S. ARTHUR HUSTON,
Bishop of Olympia

OREGON—The Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,620.

THE diocesan worker with college groups in the Diocese of Oregon, has thus far been primarily concerned in building up some kind of an organization with students of the University of Oregon at Eugene. Furthermore, it has seemed advisable not only to be interested in college groups, but also in some parochial work with young people.

The church and parish house in Eugene are some distance from the campus, and since no other suitable place was available, the worker's apartment has been used for all meetings. The groups have necessarily been of a very informal nature and for the most part on the social level, however, many fine discussions have developed from the college group.

There are 270 students in the University who designated the Episcopal Church as their preference. Of that number 20 are from the local parish, 150 from the diocese, and 100 from outside the diocese.

On October 8, 1937, the annual Church Night party was given. Invitations were sent to Bishop Dagwell and the clergy in the diocese, but since many of them were attending General Convention, Mr. Kempton of Trinity Church, Portland, was the only clergyman outside of the parish who was able to come. Invitations were issued to all students on our Church preference list, and 80 students attended.

We have regular student meetings with supper every Sunday evening at six o'clock. The number of students attending has varied from 10 to 25. During the week efforts are made to contact as many students as possible through telephone calls, personal calls and through inviting various groups for tea. We are at present planning regular mid-week services of the Holy Communion on the campus, and committees have been set up to make arrangements.

In addition to the regular Sunday evening meetings, many students have formed the habit of stopping in during the week. A group of 17 went to Corvallis, Oregon State College, on November 14, for a joint meeting with the group there and to meet Bishop Remington. Out of the entire student group here about 150 have been contacted.

The parochial work has consisted of organizing a Y. P. F. group who have Corporate Communion on the second and fourth Sundays of each month and bi-monthly pot-luck suppers. A group of young women are organizing into a Junior Guild which meets twice a month. A junior high school group of girls who are interested in the Church have been brought together and are developing a program on the basis of hobbies. These girls and the Y. P. F. joined forces to help present a candle-light manger service the Sunday evening before Christmas which was the first thing of that kind ever undertaken here. The teaching of the small children in the Church school has also been part of the parish work.

MARY LOUISE HOHN,
U. T. O. worker

THE status of the U. T. O. worker in St. Peter's was somewhat changed by the installation of a vicar, who was to give a goodly part of his time to this mission. However, my regular routine of calling upon the sick, the aged, and all kinds of people was kept up, averaging fifty calls a month.

I was retained as Church school superintendent. Average attendance 25; teachers 4; Easter Offering over $50; Duplex envelopes used and all offerings divided two-thirds Black, one-third Red with endeavor to teach children what was done with the offering; Birthday Offerings were presented with fitting ceremony.

The Auxiliary-Guild was under my direction. Bible classes were held on a weekday, led by the vicar, with good attendance; a number of needy families were helped; the worker's Plymouth was an ever ready jitney; pledges to diocesan W. A. were paid; money was raised by Kalendar plan; social parties were given.

Church attendance was not large, but payments to mission quota, diocesan assessments and local expenses were fully met.

DORCAS E. HALLAM,
U. T. O. worker

SACRAMENTO—The Rt. Rev. A. W. Noel Porter, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $1,722; for Indian work, $2,240; for Americanization work, $864.

THE large rural diocese of Sacramento comprising the twenty-six thinly populated northern counties of California, gratefully receives aid from the general Church for the following specific work:

Indian Work

This is along the Klamath River, in one of the most picturesque, isolated, and primitive sections of California. The Rev. John Barrett is the priest-in-charge and ministers to the Karok Indians in an area of one hundred square miles. Under his leadership conditions have been greatly improved. A real spirit of evangelism is being manifested, congregations have increased in numbers, a fine Sunday school is being conducted, the boys of the C.C.C. Camp across the river are being contacted, and the Church is being recognized as the vital center of community life. The little public school at Orleans, the headquarters of our work, has an enrollment of 47 children—43 of these regularly attend our Sunday school. Improvements have also been made in the material fabric, by the renovation of the vicarage, the erection of a new water tower, and the installation of a Delco lighting plant. The community hall, with emergency hospital unit, is still waiting funds for the final completion of the interior.

The Work of Americanization in Sacramento

This is known as St. Barnabas' Community Center, and is under the care of a trained woman worker, Miss Isabelle Harris, whose consecration and devotion have made the institution a very commendable one. She ministers to the children of eight nationalities, conducting day and night classes and a Sunday school. On a recent visit the Bishop baptized eleven of the children.

Miss Harris, while a full-time worker, receives a salary of only $75 per month. She is assisted by a corps of voluntary workers. The work, because of its meritorious nature in character building, receives a little aid from the Sacramento Community Chest.

White Work

Most of the clergy of the diocese receive stipends averaging about $100 per month, out of which they pay their own automobile expenses. Each ministers to two or more stations, sometimes long distances apart. They are tackling the charm of a tough job with courage and consecration, and form a body of men of whom any Bishop might well be proud. The small grant from the National Council enables us to augment the small stipends of six of these missionaries who are working in poor rural and mining regions.

We are handicapped in Northern California by lack of population, and lack of adequate funds for the work that needs to be done. But we are building a real fellowship and trying to impart a greater perspective of the Church's whole task.

NOEL PORTER,
Bishop of Sacramento

SOUTH CAROLINA—The Rt. Rev. Albert S. Thomas, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $2,144; for United Thank Offering work (Negro), $1,260.

THE appropriation by the National Council to this diocese is exclusively for work among Negroes. This work is organized into an Archdeaconry. For the past twenty-three years the Rev. Erasmus L. Baskervill held the office of Archdeacon. He died June 12, 1937. During all these years, he proved himself a good and able servant of Jesus Christ, winning many friends for this work and conducting it with ability. After his death I appointed the Rev. C. A. Harrison as Acting Archdeacon and the Rev. Lewis A. Baskervill as Executive Secretary of the Archdeaconry. The last official act of the late Archdeacon was to present his son for ordination to the priesthood. With the assistance of these two workers we have been enabled to carry on the work without impairment. The death of the Archdeacon on whom many had learned to lean was taken as an occasion for a fresh appeal for self-help among the people. This has resulted in a gratifying response, and the past few months have given indications of some advance in the work. Many repairs to buildings have been effected and others are contemplated. We now have six active priests and one deacon (also another retired priest who assists), the largest number of Negro clergymen we have ever had in active service. These clergymen hold regular meetings in the interest of the work. Our mission in Georgetown which has been inactive for sometime is being reopened for regular services.

We have three U. T. O. workers, Mrs. Alberta V. Singleton continues her work as nurse and community worker at Holy Cross and Faith Memorial, Waverly Mills. Mrs. Maude E. Callen at Redeemer, Pineville, has recently greatly enlarged the sphere of her activities through co-operation with the county physician. Regular clinics are held at the Health Center at Pineville and the nurse makes tuberculosis and venereal disease tests throughout the county. Our new U. T. O. kindergarten and community worker, Mrs. Edith C. Jones, makes possible a very efficient kindergarten at Calvary Church, Charleston. She has one co-worker.

The entire appropriation apart from U. T. O. salaries is divided among the clergymen to help make out their stipends.

ALBERT S. THOMAS,
Bishop of South Carolina

SOUTH FLORIDA—The Rt. Rev. John Durham Wing, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $4,769.

DURING the year 1937, the appropriation from the National Council to this diocese was used in partial support of the work in our seventeen Negro missions, totaling nearly 4,300 souls; shepherded by one white and five colored priests. There are 1,339 Negro children enrolled in Church schools. For the past five years there has been an average of 125 baptisms and 216 confirmations per annum.

We are grateful for the appropriation which has made possible the continued operation of St. Peter's parochial school in Key West by providing the salaries of the three teachers employed there. It is to be deplored that due to insufficient funds the work in several of our other parochial schools for Negro children has had to be abandoned.

The opportunity for spreading the Church's influence and teaching among the Negroes of South Florida continues most promising. The only thing that hinders our growth is lack of funds. Had we the money to place additional clergy and lay workers in the field it is beyond question that we would show a quite amazing increase in membership.

JOHN D. WING,
Bishop

SOUTHERN VIRGINIA—The Rt. Rev. Arthur Conover Thomson, D.D., Bishop, (Resigned). Appropriation for 1937: for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,620.

AT Dabney House all the activities have continued in full force during the past year under the direction of Miss Mildred Edmunds, our United Thank Offering Worker, ably assisted during her illness by Miss Aline Cronshy whose faithful and efficient work deserves mention. This work involved oversight of the hospital and community house, visiting and case work in Pittsylvania County and co-operation with county social welfare agencies. The reports show a busy year and the influence of the community house and workers is constructive throughout that entire section.

At the Phoebe Anne Community House in Halifax County our United Thank Offering worker, Miss L. Annie Hankins, ministers to the needs of the community, conducts Sunday school and arranges for regular services in Emmanuel Chapel, Mountain Road. Her quiet work is extraordinarily helpful and her monthly reports show daily service and faithful work throughout the entire year.

N. E. TAYLOR,
Diocese of Southern Virginia

SOUTHWESTERN VIRGINIA—The Rt. Rev. Robert Carter Jett, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for United Thank Offering work (white), $5,670; (Indian), $810.

THE Diocese of Southwestern Virginia has experienced an abnormal number of changes on the part of our United Thank Offering workers during the year 1937. Deaconess Margaret D. Binns, for twenty-three years at Nora, Dickenson County; Miss Ora

Harrison, for twenty-four years at St. John's in the Mountains, Endicott; and Miss Mabel R. Mansfield at Dante, for twelve years our Diocesan Director of Handicraft Work, have alone remained at the posts to which they were originally assigned. It would be difficult to estimate the appreciation in which these three really superior women are held. We are grateful to God for their consecrated lives and for their efficient service.

Miss Caryetta L. Davis, with the distinguished record of thirty-one years at St. Peter's in the Mountains, Callaway, retired to rest. Deaconess Williams, who began her work at Dante, October 1911, and continued her noble mission for twenty-six years, felt that she too must be freed from her arduous labors. Miss Brightsie Savage, for a period of eight years has carried the responsibilities of one of our most difficult fields, namely St. Paul's, Bear Mountain, Amherst County. She has done her work with patience and diligence. It was right that her resignation should give her relief from her heavy burdens. The whole Church will, I am sure, wish to join me in commending these devoted women to God's loving and gracious care.

It is very gratifying to be able to report that missions of such manifest importance have been rather promptly manned. In the good providence of God the vacancies caused by the retirement of Miss Davis, Deaconess Williams and Miss Savage have been filled, and their successors are in splendid action. Miss Mary Louise Wood, Miss Davis' assistant, has succeeded her. Miss Alberta Booth of Ludlow, Massachusetts, has become assistant to Miss Wood. Deaconess Edith A. Booth of Splashdam has been transferred to succeed Deaconess Williams. Miss Alice E. Sweet of Hartford, Conn., has succeeded Deaconess Booth at Splashdam, and Miss Isabel Wagner, formerly at St. Pauls Mission, Bear Mountain, has returned to her old post, to take up the work laid down by Miss Savage. Miss Wagner is coming to Southwestern Virginia from the Diocese of Delaware, where she was connected with the diocesan department of social service.

The United Thank Offering workers, together with our regular diocesan women workers, are maintaining a high standard of Christian service in the underprivileged communities to which they have been assigned. Well may all who have helped to make possible the placement of this noble band of missionaries rejoice in their privilege of co-operation with Him who came to redeem the world, and to cheer and comfort the hearts of His people.

ROBERT C. JETT,

Bishop of Southwestern Virginia

SPRINGFIELD—The Rt. Rev. John Chanler White, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $1,600; for Negro work, $520; for United Thank Offering work (white), $1,080.

IT is again with a deep sense of gratitude to Almighty God for the many blessings which He has sent to the diocese during the past year (1937), and also with a profound feeling of thankfulness to the Church through the National Council for the aid which it gave towards the support of the missionary work in my field that I submit this, my annual report:

The appropriation from the general Church amounting to $2,120 was used by the Bishop and his associates in carrying on the usual missionary program of the diocese in places where without the grant the work would have suffered greatly, but with the use of the grant or the money thus provided we have been able to maintain our work and to make progress even though severely handicapped.

By far the largest appropriation from the grant has been given to Archdeacon Ralph Markey in his work covering Marion, West Frankfort, Zeigler, and Harrisburg, in which towns there are settled congregations and Church buildings, also in DuQuoin, Benton, Christopher and other places to which he has extended the hospitalities of the Church and given spiritual ministrations. During the past year in these places I have confirmed more than in any year of my episcopate and there are other evidences of advancement, such as the building of the new church in West Frankfort by the hands of the men of the mission, led by the devoted priest in charge. This building, which will be finished shortly without a cent of debt, is a credit to the Rev. Mr. Markey and the devotion of his faithful band in that town. In Zeigler, also, the members of the mission purchased a building and converted it into a social club room by their own work. This room has greatly increased the opportunities for social service among the people. At Marion the congregation has grown both in numbers and influence and has shown evidences of increased life and interest. The Rev. Mr. Markey has traveled thousands of miles in his auto supplying regular services to all his missions. He holds the proud record of never having missed a single appointment. Beside attending to his own parishes and missions he has aided me in several places as Archdeacon.

Another portion of the grant has assisted the Rev. Samuel E. Arthur in caring for his large field consisting of Albion, Mt. Carmel, on the extreme east side of the diocese, Carbondale, Anna, Murphysboro, in the central southern portion, and Chester on the extreme west line. In all of his places there are evidences of growth and advancement and increased interest in the membership of the missions. He, also, has traveled thousands of miles in giving faithful services to his widely scattered field.

Carlinville, Greenville, Gillespie, Chesterfield, Thayer, and Virden make up another group of missions, aided by the grant, which are doing good work under the administration of the Rev. Thomas Dixon.

Owing to the latest depression the work at Granite City and Glen Carbon has become somewhat static. Growth with the mills closed, work scarce, and most of the people on relief, is not possible but under the Rev. Frederick C. Price they are holding their own.

Our work among the colored people has suffered somewhat by the loss of one of our clergy who retired, the Rev. John R. Brooks, which leaves only the Rev. Daniel E. Johnson, Jr., to take care of the colored work in three places—St. Luke's, Springfield, East St. Louis, and St. Michael's, Cairo. The places are widely separated and it is with difficulty that the Rev. Mr. Johnson tries to divide himself among the three but he is working hard and has hope of success in building up the work. The financial depression, the flood in Cairo, and the lack of work in all three places act like a wet blanket upon our efforts to do any substantial work among our colored people, most of whom are on relief.

JOHN C. WHITE,
Bishop of Springfield

UPPER SOUTH CAROLINA—The Rt. Rev. Kirkman G. Finlay, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for Negro work, $432; for United Thank Offering work (white), $3,240.

NARRATIVE report covering work done by the Rev. J. B. Elliott, D.D., Columbia, S. C., in 1937. He is Archdeacon for colored work in the diocese and serves three points.

The Rev. J. B. Elliott, D.D., is in charge of three of our colored missions—St. Thomas', Eastover; St. Anna's, Columbia, and St. Anne's, West

Columbia, (formerly called New Brookland).

St. Thomas' is one of our oldest missions. It has done a very fine piece of work amongst the colored people of a rural community situated about three miles from the little town of Eastover. We have there a congregation of 44 communicants and 143 baptized persons; a Church school and a day school. This church and school have made a very worthwhile contribution to the intellectual, spiritual and social life of the community. The Negroes who make up this congregation are tenant farmers, small landowners and day laborers. They are for the most part desperately poor. They are, however, loyal and devoted to the Church. The main growth of the Church has come from the students in the school. We have a white and a colored teacher here. The people are able to do very little financially, but do make a real effort to give out of their penury. We have excellent congregations at the services.

At St. Anna's, Columbia, we have only a handful of communicants. The day school there, however, has done excellent work. It is in part supported by a small endowment. The Archdeacon keeps in close touch with the school. His personal influence in the community has meant a great deal.

At St. Anne's, West Columbia (formerly called New Brookland), we have a congregation of 47 communicants and 95 baptized persons, a church school and a small day school. The children from a nearby non-denominational orphanage attend our Church school and services. A number of them have been presented for confirmation by the Archdeacon. This little congregation is for the most part quite loyal to the Church. It unquestionably has rendered a fine service in developing a higher type of character amongst the Negroes of the community. We have quite a satisfactory number of confirmations each year in this congregation.

Of course, the greater part of our colored work has to be carried on from diocesan resources. I am glad to say that our colored work as a whole is in excellent condition. One church has been thoroughly remodeled. One of our colored congregations is expecting to build a substantial church in the near future. The work at Jenkinsville, where we have a good congregation, Church school, day school, and diocesan conference center, is most encouraging.

Our three United Thank Offering workers, Miss Mary Ramsaur, Miss Margaret Marshall and Miss Esther B. Matz, continue to carry on their activities with splendid results.

K. G. FINLAY,

Bishop of Upper South Carolina

WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA—The Rt. Rev. Robert Emmet Gribbin, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $7,493; for Negro work, $133; for United Thank Offering work (white), $4,117.50.

EIGHT white clergymen, one white layman, three Negro clergymen, and seven white United Thank Offering workers represent the staff who received their salary or assistance in their work from the General Church Program.

Two of the white clergymen, Mr. Granger at Murphy and Mr. Lockaby of Marion, resigned to accept work elsewhere, and their places were not filled at the end of the year. Miss Blanche Harris, a nurse under United Thank Offering appointment at Bat Cave, resigned on December 31, to enter the Community of the Transfiguration.

Three institutions—Valle Crucis School, Patterson School at Legerwood, and Appalachian School at Penland—were also assisted in 1937 with aid from the general Church. Effective December 31, in keeping with an understanding arrived at several years ago, the Valle Crucis School will be cut off from this assistance. It remains to be seen whether this old school, founded to minister to girls of the nearby mountain community and still rendering that service, but extending its scope and clientele, can maintain itself under the new conditions. The life of the Church has been enriched by the offering of heart, hand, and mind at Valle Crucis. This offering has been made by faculty, students, and others who have supported the school. At this very time there are two nurses serving China who received their initial training at Valle Crucis.

The congregation at Saluda is again trying to purchase a rectory on the installment plan. The church building at Bat Cave has been very much improved by the installation of electric lights, the lowering of the ceiling and the lining of the walls thus making it more comfortable in winter. The church at Waynesville was painted and extensive repairs made to the building at Murphy. A number of Church families moving into Shelby, a large county seat, with the help of an appropriation from the general Church which enables the Rev. John C. Grainger, who lives at Lincolnton twenty-two miles away, to keep in close pastoral touch, have given new life to this mission.

The Appalachian School, caring for young children through the grammar grades, is getting out of debt and has a waiting list of prospective students.

The Patterson School is now adequately equipped with wood-working machinery, and the science laboratory has come up to the state educational requirements. This improvement was made possible partly through an appropriation by the National Council supplemented by funds realized from salable timber. A debt was incurred to buy some of the equipment. The "recession" marked by low prices for farm products and little demand for lumber has made the handling of the debt a problem, but we hope to wipe it out quite soon.

Miss Caroline Gillespie was appointed a United Thank Offering worker at Rosborough House on August 1. Miss Gillespie for three years had worked in this remote mountain community, teaching in the one-room public school, visiting the sick, and in every way being a good neighbor. The diocese assists the work with a contribution almost as large as Miss Gillespie's salary which permits her to have an assistant who specializes in handcrafts. The Supply Department of the Woman's Auxiliary assists the staff and work as a whole in a very material way. Our gratitude should also be expressed for the ever-ready help of the Department of Domestic Missions.

The work among the Negroes could go forward if we had an adequate staff.

We trust the members of the Council and others will visit us, give us their counsel, and the means to help carry on what those who have gone before have so well started.

ROBERT E. GRIBBIN,

Bishop of Western North Carolina

WEST TEXAS—The Rt. Rev. William Theodotus Capers, D.D., Bishop. Appropriation for 1937: for white work, $2,148; for United Thank Offering work (white), $720; (Negro), $540.

YOU have asked for a report upon the work of Miss Artemisia Bowden, a U. T. O. worker, during the year 1937. Miss Bowden is President of St. Philip's Junior College, San Antonio, an institution of which the State of Texas is very proud by reason of the fact that it has won the continuous commendation and support of the State Department of Education. Miss Bowden is an indefatigable worker and is applying all of her time to the management of the college and to securing a sufficient income for its maintenance. In my judgment this institution should receive the enthusiastic and generous support of the National Council, for its work is entirely missionary and it is contributing tremendously to the higher education of the Negro youth, both young men and young women, in the State of Texas.

WM. THEODOTUS CAPERS,

Bishop of West Texas

THE AMERICAN CHURCH INSTITUTE FOR NEGROES

The American Church Institute for Negroes has its office at 281 Fourth Avenue, New York, N. Y. The Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, D.D., is President; William C. Rives, M.D., Honorary Vice-President; Rev. Robert W. Patton, D.D., Director; Rev. Cyril E. Bentley, B.D., Associate Director; Mr. Louis J. Hunter, Treasurer; Rev. G. Warfield Hobbs, D.D., Director of Publicity; Mrs. Ethel L. Scott, Secretary; Wallace A. Battle, Litt.D., Field Secretary.

DURING the year the downward trend in income which has steadily continued since 1929 seems to have stopped its discouraging descent, and even to begin to recover some of the lost ground. The Institute and two of our largest schools received from individual contributors for budget expenses about $50,000 more than they received from similar sources during the two preceding years. Fortunately for the two schools and unfortunately for the other seven, much the greater part of this money could be used only for the two for whom it was given. We hope, however, that their good fortune, enabling these two schools to balance their budgets and renew some of their worn out equipment and repair some of their buildings, is evidence that the worst is over and that in the near future all of our schools will be the beneficiaries of larger income. Unfortunately, the $25,000 gift, of which one of the schools was the beneficiary, was not the kind likely to be continued in subsequent years. It was an undesignated legacy, available for current expenses, and is being used for that purpose. We wish that the whole of it might have been added to the endowment.

The enrollment of regular students, including those with summer curricula, has been larger than in any previous period, the last report being 4,300. The number of young people and adults not counted as regular students, but who attend for brief periods, including conferences for religious education, social service, lectures for farmers, clinics for better health, sanitation and other beneficent services, have averaged around ten thousand, in addition to many others who receive special help for better and happier living, through the extension services into the small towns and country districts environing the schools. It should be a source of deep satisfaction to the whole Church, and especially to those who, through their contributions and their prayers, make this great service possible, that our Institute schools are ministering in Christ's name, not only to the minds of these many thousand Negroes, young and old, but to their bodies and souls as well.

The Bishop Payne Divinity School

This was one of the first, if not the first, institution for higher learning for Negroes established in the United States after the "War between the States." Its founder was Major Giles B. Cook, a member of the military staff of General Robert E. Lee. He was afterwards ordained as a priest of the Church. It began as a Sunday School and Mission in 1868, in a few years developed into a normal school, and finally, in 1878, the divinity school was established. Its name was given in memory of the Church's first Bishop to Africa. The school was adopted as the foster child of the Virginia Theological Seminary, near Alexandria, Va., and for many years has received $1,000 annually for its support from the income of that Seminary. The curriculum is the course prescribed by the canons of the Church. For many years there were so few Negroes who were well educated that the faculty was compelled to give the students their college training before they could begin their theological course. In recent years, however, the majority have received college or university degrees before entering the divinity school.

At a meeting of the southern Bishops in Atlanta, Ga., on February 3, 1938, the Bishops expressed their conviction that the time had come when the Bishop Payne Divinity School should be moved "as soon as possible" to the vicinity of St. Augustine's College at Raleigh, N. C., in order that the divinity students might in the future have the cultural advantages of a college environment.

It was believed that this unanimous expression by the Bishops present, including the Presiding Bishop, and constituting about eighty per cent of all of the Bishops of the South, would be decisive of a question in regard to which there has been a difference of opinion among the members of the divinity school board. Although the board decided by a considerable majority on February 27, 1931, to move the school to Raleigh, a minority was opposed to removal. Meantime the depression caused delay in securing all of the funds required to rebuild in the vicinity of or on the spacious grounds of St. Augustine's College. The Institute holds about $50,000 for the purpose. As the funds are invested, this amount is being increased annually at the rate of about $2,000 per year by reinvesting the interest. While the new divinity school at Raleigh could be built on a modified scale with the funds in hand, it is most desirable to secure as much more and to endow it adequately, if possible.

To the surprise of many of the friends of the school, including the officers and trustees of the Institute, the board of the school, at a meeting on April 21, 1938, passed a resolution to reconsider the former decision to move to the vicinity of St. Augustine's College. After much discussion a committee was appointed with instructions to address a letter to all of the Bishops in the United States and to the Negro clergy asking them to express their opinion as to whether the institution should be moved or not. After receiving replies from the Bishops and Negro clergy the board will be assembled during the fall of 1938 to make a final decision.

Should the board decide again to move to Raleigh it is hoped that additional funds will be in hand to open the school by the fall of 1939. Checks should be made payable to Louis J. Hunter, Treasurer, and mailed to 281 Fourth Avenue, New York, either for buildings and equipment or for endowment. We hope that an endowment of $100,000 will be provided and that $50,000 more will be given for buildings, equipment, and to beautify the grounds.

Saint Augustine's College

Saint Augustine's College and the Bishop Payne Divinity School are our two institutions of collegiate grade. They are the "keystones," as the Presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker, D.D., calls them, of the Church's educational policy for Negroes. The future of any race is dependent upon an educated leadership, both in secular and in spiritual callings. Saint Augustine's College has graduated a considerable number of young men and women who have made their mark in professional life and in business. At the present time, two young men who graduated from the college are preparing for the priesthood at the Bishop Payne Divinity School. But, the figure used by the Presiding Bishop does not imply that the seven normal and industrial schools are less important, for a keystone implies an arch. They are the apex of the arch, and neither is strong without the other. A well-trained, intellectual and spiritual leadership requires for its most fruitful service an intelligent and numerous middle class. Our seven normal and industrial schools, with their more than 4,000 students, are performing the latter essential function.

The President of Saint Augustine's College, the Rev. Edgar H. Goold, M.A., bears the palm among all of our larger institutions for keeping the college out of debt since the depression began. Despite the loss of $20,000 in the original appropriation from the Institute, and reduction in income from other sources, he has closed every one of the school years since 1929 without a deficit. It has meant paying professors and teachers, including himself, one-third or more less than adequate salaries, and neglecting equipment and repairs, but he has done it. He deserves great credit. We hope that the friends of the Institute and of the college will soon restore the $20,000 loss in the income of Saint Augustine's College.

Including ten young women in the Tuttle Memorial School and forty in St. Agnes' Training School for Nurses, the last report indicated a total enrollment of 302 students. In addition, 350 attended the summer school of religious education and other educational services not included in the regular curriculum. It is anticipated that the reports for the current college year will show a somewhat larger enrollment. The endowment of the college held by the Board of Trustees and by the Institute is about $150,000. We hope it will grow to a million. The efficiency of the college will be seriously impaired unless it can secure more assured income. This would be doubly unfortunate from the viewpoint of the Church's growth among Negroes, for it is one of the two or three colleges in the United States where about half the entire faculty and student body are members of the Episcopal Church. Saint Augustine's is one of our best "parishes" in the entire country for the making of good Churchmen. It will be much more important in this respect if and when the Bishop Payne Divinity School is established there.

St. Paul Normal and Industrial School

On May 1, 2 and 3, 1938, St. Paul will celebrate the 50th anniversary since it was founded by the Rev. James S. Russell, the first graduate of the Bishop Payne Divinity School. Few men, perhaps no one in the Church of his generation, in proportion to opportunities, accomplished a greater service to his fellow men, especially to his own race. Beginning with a little school of a half dozen very poor and ignorant boys, it had grown at the time of his death, at 73 years of age, to the largest school in enrollment of students, under the authority of the Episcopal Church, anywhere in the domestic or foreign field. During that period the influence of the school changed a human wilderness of ignorance, poverty and crime, in a large section of Virginia containing many more Negroes than white people, into a section where law and order, industry, thrift, and self-respect prevail. Nearly one hundred of St. Paul's students have entered the ministry of all religious bodies, and thirty-two, about one-tenth of the entire body of Negro clergy, within the past fifty years have been ordained to the priesthood of the Episcopal Church. They have established and maintained thirty-five missions and parishes, some of them self-supporting, and have been successful rectors of many more in other dioceses. At one time the Diocese of Southern Virginia had the largest enrollment of Negro communicants of any diocese in the Church, chiefly the fruit of Dr. Russell's ministry and that of his graduates.

In 1934 to 1935, St. Paul was in such financial difficulties that it was in danger of closing its doors. The breakdown of equipment, including its heating system, and other necessary repairs compelled it to incur a heavy debt. Large reductions in teachers' salaries and other economies were made.

The Diocese of Virginia and the National Council made, in St. Paul's emergency, special appropriations of $6,000 each. The Institute contributed $4,000. Despite this $16,000 in special contributions, the deficit amounted to $32,000. The management of the school and a committee of the board, with financial help from the Institute, began a steady campaign of solicitation, with the result that gifts from individuals have increased from the low point of $4,500 in 1935 to $9,500 in 1936, $17,900 in 1937, and to an estimated $25,000 in 1938. Income from other sources has also increased. Thus for two years past, St. Paul has balanced its regular budget, and reduced the debt of $32,000 to around $18,000. The school needs much more, but this brief story is told to reinforce the fact that "God helps those who help themselves," and that even under unfavorable economic conditions, the people of God will support the work of God if those responsible will take trouble enough and spend enough to tell the story of the need and to ask for help.

Voorhees Normal and Industrial School

The Voorhees School is our third largest school with an average enrollment of 750 students. Like nearly all of our own and other educational institutions, its chief difficulty in recent years has been to keep out of debt. It has not been as fortunate as Fort Valley in securing a large legacy, or as St. Paul in greatly increasing the number of individual contributors. Indeed, the chief source of Voorhees financial troubles is that, in proportion to its importance and its budget of over $40,000 per year, including expenditures for the boarding department, receipts from individual contributors are relatively small. Its chief sources of income are the annual appropriation from the Institute of $16,000, the appropriations of the two dioceses of South Carolina, especially the Diocese of Upper South Carolina, charges to students for board and tuition, $14,- 000, with only about $3,000 in contributions from individuals.

The principal, Mr. J. E. Blanton, has done such good work under great difficulties that he deserves the support of all.

Voorhees is in the country and the center of a population of about 200,000 Negroes. Its community service through its hospital, its trained nurse, its aid to teachers in the public schools, farmers' conferences, together with Mr. Blanton's capable and lovable personality, and his better than average faculty, the good training in the trades, in agriculture, and the preparation of teachers for the public schools, are some of the things that make Voorhees and Mr. Blanton worthy of generous support.

Fort Valley Normal and Industrial School

Fort Valley is second only to St. Paul in the average number of students enrolled during the last ten years. Indeed, in two or three recent years the number of students at Fort Valley exceeded that at St. Paul. The latest report for the school, 1936 to 1937, showed 1,091. It is situated twenty-seven miles from Macon in the center of a Negro population in central Georgia of more than 400,000.

Fort Valley's service is so diversified and so good, reflecting the personality of its principal, who has been its able manager and sponsor for thirty-four years, that one cannot in a brief space do justice to what Fort Valley has accomplished. Mr. Hunt has given unsparingly of himself for a longer period than any of our principals who are still living. Mrs. Hunt has made almost as great a contribution as her husband, for without her loyalty, her trained intelligence, and her sustaining grit and sympathy during the many occasions when the burden was too heavy, he could not have carried on. There were times in the past when there was little or no food, but their faith in God sustained them until relief came.

During the past two years Fort Valley's annual income from all sources has been insufficient by from $7,000 to $8,000 to meet its budget of approximately $80,000, a small per capita cost for a student body of 1,100 young men and women. Serious debt was threatened, a reversion to the old status before its connection with the Institute, but just before the meeting of the board in May, 1937, a check for $25,000 was received, a legacy from an old friend, and available for budget expenses. Thus, the school closed the year without a deficit, and will do likewise for the school year ending May 31, 1938. But, unless regular income increases in the near future by from $7,000 to $10,000, that much of the good work will have to be abandoned when the remainder of the legacy is spent. We earnestly trust that this splendid school will not have to make this sacrifice.

St. Mark's School

The deaths in March, 1938, of the Bishop of Alabama, the Rt. Rev. William G. McDowell, D.D., and in December, 1937, of the Rev. C. W. Brooks, who had been principal of St. Mark's for forty years, were a severe blow to the institution. St. Mark's has played an important part in Negro education in Birmingham and in Jefferson County, which contains a larger Negro population than any other county in the state. For many years St. Mark's supplied a large percentage of the teachers for the public schools, probably more than any other school in that section of the state. Many Negro parents preferred it to any other school on account of its good work in the class room and its character training.

As much better public schools for Negroes are now provided in Birmingham than existed then and for many years after St. Mark's was founded, the board of trustees and the Institute became convinced that St. Mark's should be removed from its old site in the center of Birmingham to some place in the suburbs or the county, or be merged with some school in another section of the state, such as the Calhoun School, with a good record and a property, including an endowment of $125,000, valued at around $300,000. The depression which arrested so many good plans compelled postponing the removal to some other place, but as it cannot for many reasons continue successfully much longer on its present site, it is hoped that in the comparatively near future St. Mark's may be renewed and strengthened elsewhere by merger with some school in one of the many needy sections of Alabama.

Gailor Industrial School

It is reliably stated that before and shortly after "the War between the States" there was a parish of the Episcopal Church having more than 1,200 baptized and confirmed Negroes at Mason and in the rural sections around it. During the period of reconstruction the congregation was broken up and dispersed. Today there are only about 200 Negro members of the Episcopal Church in that vicinity. But, owing to the large congregations there many years ago and the influence of the Gailor School, there are no serious prejudices against the Episcopal Church. It is a fertile field not only for the extension of the Church but for a fine service in education, for the Gailor School is the only school in the county affording a high school course.

Only about 200 students, chiefly day school pupils in the primary grades, are annually enrolled. The number of students can easily be doubled by providing accommodations for them. A dormitory for boys, a well-appointed workshop for practical training in the trades, a new school building for pupils in the grammar grades, farm equipment, and a chapel are the most important needs. The Bishop of Tennessee intends as soon as practicable to begin an effort in the Diocese of Tennessee and among friends elsewhere, including the American Church Institute for Negroes, to secure $75,000, the estimated amount required to provide the facilities mentioned. With the return of better economic conditions that sum will be a modest objective in view of the great service Gailor is capable of rendering, if well equipped. The school has a good modern high school building, and a fairly good frame dormitory for girls, but has no dormitory for boys. It also lacks an adequate workshop and a chapel. The Rev. George A. Stams, D.D., who for more than ten years has been the devoted principal of Gailor, has recently decided to give his whole time in the future to parish work. The officers of the Institute entertain a sincere respect and affection for Dr. Stams, as do many others who know him.

Okolona Normal and Industrial School

Our Okolona School has been steadily developing under Mr. Strange's able leadership into one of the most important Negro schools in northern Mississippi. With a Negro population in that section of the state estimated at 150,000 and with limited public educational facilities Okolona has a fertile field. There were 242 students, including 114 enrolled in the summer school for the training of teachers, in the school year 1936 to 1937. The curriculum at Okolona includes high school and junior college classes, music, vocational trades and teacher-training designed to prepare these young men and women either to teach in the public schools or to earn a living in the trades of their choice. Okolona works in close relation with the county superintendent of public schools and its program is co-ordinated with the policies of the public school authorities in the county and state.

Despite the need of a large income and funds for better material equipment, Okolona has been more fortunate since the depression began than most schools in securing money for better buildings and equipment. A class-room building, three cottages for homes for teachers, a three-unit barn, a blacksmith shop, and a shed for housing hay and implements have all been built in recent years through contributions from friends and some special help from the Institute. A new dining-hall with a dormitory on the second floor is now under construction and is expected to be ready for use for the summer school by July, 1938. This building has been made possible by a contribution of $2,000 from the Rev. George L. Paine of Boston, gifts from other friends in Mississippi and elsewhere, and by a special appropriation of $2,000 from the Institute. The cost of the new dining-hall and dormitory will be about $7,500. Owing to the fact that Mr. Strange and several of the faculty are skilled workmen, and that student labor is being employed, the school will secure for $7,500 a building which under ordinary conditions would cost perhaps $10,000 or more. Okolona's two greatest needs are a new dormitory for girls to cost with equipment $25,000, and an increase in its income for budget expenses of $3,000 per year.

The religious life at Okolona, as is the case in all of our schools, is one of its most impressive and valuable factors in character building, without which our work in the schools would be in vain.

Gaudet Normal and Industrial School

Gaudet, in the suburbs of New Orleans, is the farthest south of any of our nine Institute schools. It is also the smallest in the number of students enrolled. Its average enrollment is less than 100. This school has also in recent years been fortunate in being able to secure, despite the depression, approximately $10,000 for new buildings and equipment. Friends in New Orleans raised about $5,000 and the Institute secured the remainder. With these funds a beautiful chapel was built, a barracks for boys, and a new barn and other facilities provided for the little farm, in addition to a general improvement in the premises.

The Board of Trustees of Gaudet school is composed of the Bishop of Louisiana and other prominent Churchmen, both men and women, chiefly from the city of New Orleans. It is encouraging, also, to report that about two-thirds of the entire budget of about $10,000 a year is secured by an appropriation from the diocese and by funds raised in the city of New Orleans. It is creditable to our Church people in New Orleans that so large a percentage of the budget is secured locally.

The Gaudet School is in need of much in the way of new buildings and equipment in order to fulfill the purpose of its Board of Trustees to make it a first-class high school for the preparation of young men and women to enter Dillard University, which is located a little more than one mile from Gaudet. The greatest need is a modern class-room building to cost, with equipment, about $25,000. It is the intention of the board to keep Gaudet a small school but to make it A grade in every particular as a High School. The spiritual life at Gaudet and the influence of the Church on all of its activities is a marked feature of its work. A relatively large percentage of the students are confirmed every year. It is hoped that in the not distant future Gaudet may be fortunate enough to secure the funds required to fulfill completely the purpose to which it is dedicated.

In Memoriam

During the past two years the Institute has lost through death six of its valued friends, who have been associated with the Institute from two to thirty years:

The Rt. Rev. Arthur Selden Lloyd, D.D., Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese of New York, and for many years a member and Vice-President of the Board of Trustees of the Institute, was also one of its founders in 1906. Although Bishop Lloyd was not one of the twelve legal charter members, he and the Rt. Rev. David H. Greer, D.D., Bishop of New York, and George Foster Peabody, LL.D., were the leading spirits among a distinguished group of southern and northern Churchmen who conceived the idea of the Institute and advocated its creation.

As president of the Board of Missions, Bishop Lloyd's veto would have nullified the much debated proposal. But instead he gave it his enthusiastic support. Up to the day of his death, no member was more faithful in attending the meetings, and he gladly gave both of his time and of his limited means in support of the work. He entered into eternal life, July 22, 1936.

The Rt. Rev. William G. McDowell, D.D., Bishop of Alabama, and during his entire episcopate the devoted friend, and supporter of St. Mark's School, Birmingham, Alabama, died on March 20, 1938, in Mobile, after a brief attack of pneumonia. He was considered by many as among the most brilliant in the House of Bishops. Though not possessed of great physical strength, he never spared himself in the service of the Master, and none of His sheep were more precious in his sight than the Negroes of his diocese. He was a devoted partner and co-worker with the Institute. Through his efforts more money was received from the diocese and people of Alabama for the support of St. Mark's than was appropriated by the Institute for the school's budget. He was beloved by all who knew him.

The Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, D.D., Bishop of Delaware and for the Triennium 1934 to 1937 President of the National Council, died in Baltimore, March 25, 1938. Although Bishop Cook had been a member of the Board of Trustees of the Institute for only about two years, he was one of the most regular and zealous attendants at the meetings of the board. A few days before he entered the hospital for an operation which cost him his life, he wrote a letter, expressing his great admiration for the work of the Institute and said that he looked forward to rendering it even greater service in the future. His well-known loyalty to his friends and to the Church, and his courage and loving heart are treasured memories.

The Rev. Frederick Goodwin Ribble, D.D., professor of the Bishop Payne Divinity School for thirty-five years, and dean for sixteen years of that period, was suddenly taken to his reward on Ash Wednesday, March 2, 1938. He was a scholar, and proud of the privilege of training Negro young men for the Church's ministry. He was beloved by all who knew him, especially by every member of the faculty and of the students enrolled in the school during more than a third of a century of his devoted service there.

The Rev. C. W. Brooks, for forty years principal of St. Mark's School, Birmingham, Ala., has received the reward of those who have been faithful in this life. For about a year his health had been precarious. His physician and other friends, including the Bishop of Alabama, had urged him to rest completely, but his sense of duty, his love for the school, and for the children of his race, to whom he had given of his best for so many years, led him, as always, to forget himself for their sakes. He was respected and loved by many of both races in Birmingham. At one period, before public schools assumed some of the responsibility, a large percentage of the Negro teachers in that section were graduates of St. Mark's School. All honor to this faithful servant of his people and of the Cross of Christ, who joined the fellowship of the Church Triumphant on December 1, 1937.

George Foster Peabody, LL.D., was an active member of the Board of Trustees of the Institute from the time of its incorporation in 1906 until enfeebled health compelled him, under the orders of his physician, to curtail all activities. He made the first large gift to the endowment and continued his generosity until his large wealth was practically exhausted through his beneficences to many good causes. He was, with President Franklin D.

Roosevelt, one of the founders of Warm Springs Georgia Foundation as a retreat for the victims of infantile paralysis, and he died there March 4, 1938.

The Institute believes that it has faithfully and efficiently for nearly a third of a century discharged the trust committed to it by the Church. More than 50,000 Negro youth have entered our schools. The great majority have taken advantage of their opportunities. Many of them are filling positions of useful service, not infrequently distinguished service, in nearly every field of endeavor. Of perhaps ten thousand full graduates not one of them, so far as we have been able to secure the record of their lives, has ever been convicted of crime. Thousands of these young people have been confirmed into the communion of this Church and the characters of many thousands more in the communion of other religious bodies have been renewed and strengthened while attending our schools. We commend this noble service for our Negro brothers and sisters to the prayers and to the generosity of all people of good will, and especially to the members of the Episcopal Church.

The Institute and the boards of trustees of our schools hold endowments totaling about $600,000. We again ask all friends of this great service to send gifts for the endowment and to remember it in their wills, in order that the work of our schools may be insured against disaster, especially in times of economic distress. We cannot take our wealth with us into the other world, but by gifts and bequests to the American Church Institute for Negroes, we can serve the children of a needy and deserving people for many generations to come. Our endowment should be much larger. Will you bear it in mind?

OF THE EXTRA-CONTINENTAL,
LATIN AMERICAN AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY BISHOPS

CHRISTIAN LEADERS AT ZANGZOK IN THE DIOCESE OF SHANGHAI

The group includes the Rev. and Mrs. Hollis S. Smith, Dr. Margaret C. Richey, one of twenty-four medical missionaries supported by the U.T.O., two Chinese clergymen, three catechists, five Biblewomen, eight parochial school teachers, and one trained nurse

JAPANESE CONGREGATION, ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, REGISTRO, BRAZIL

The Rev. P. K. Isso is the resident missionary in charge of this congregation which numbers seventy-eight communicants. Outstation work is promising among these immigrant people in this great South American republic

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

THE year 1937 opened auspiciously. True, reduced appropriations, high living costs, retirements from the field, failure to secure replacements, seriously hampered development. On the other hand, the mission staff carried on courageously, hoping for reinforcements and adequate support expressed in an intelligent understanding of their task, prayer for their success and giving on a scale sufficient, at least, for the most urgent needs. They have not allowed disappointed hopes to lessen their efforts or weaken their devotion. Moreover there was on the part of large populations, especially in the Orient, an open-mindedness towards, and sometimes an eagerness for Christian teaching.

Significant occasions such as the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui in China and the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Nippon Sei Ko Kwai in Japan, brought vividly before the people of the Church in this country, as well as native peoples overseas, the contrast between the modest beginnings, undertaken in faith and the present attainment, as an augury of still better things to come.

Unfortunately, the last five months of 1937 have been shadowed by the clouds of an "undeclared war" hanging over the two great nations in the Orient, China and Japan.

Meetings of the Department of Foreign Missions were held February 16, June 15 and October 4. A useful conference with overseas Bishops attending the General Convention was held in Cincinnati, October 2.

Because of the continuance of appropriations on an emergency basis, the post of Secretary for Latin America has remained unfilled.

No visits were made by secretaries of the Department to the overseas missionary fields during 1937. They did fulfill many engagements in this country in parishes and dioceses, with Woman's Auxiliaries, men's clubs and other gatherings.

During the year, the members of the clerical staff of the Department carried on with characteristic efficiency and devotion.

THE MISSIONARY EPISCOPATE RETIREMENTS

On October 9, 1937, the House of Bishops accepted the resignation of the Rt. Rev. Frederick Rogers Graves, D.D., as Bishop of Shanghai.

On October 9, 1937, the House of Bishops accepted the resignation of the Rt. Rev. Logan Herbert Roots, D.D., as Bishop of Hankow.

Bishop Graves arrived in Shanghai for the first time in October, 1881. In New York City on June 14, 1893, he was consecrated Bishop of Shanghai. Thus he had served for fifty-six years in China during forty-four of which he was Bishop. They were years of great and far-reaching progress. The huge Missionary District of Shanghai and the lower Yangtze Valley, as it was then called, was divided in 1901 by the cutting off of the District of Hankow; and this in turn was divided in 1910 by the cutting off of the District of Anking.

The foundations laid by Bishop Graves and his staff, as well as by their predecessors, have stood the test of years of revolution and warfare. Bishop Graves' sound judgment, broad vision and high purpose amply justified the phrase used by Archbishop Davidson of Canterbury, in referring to him as "The statesman-bishop of the Orient."

Like Bishop Graves, Bishop Roots has given a lifetime of service to China. He went to the field in 1896. On November 14, 1904, in Trinity Church, Boston, he was consecrated second Bishop of Hankow. His See City, known because of its strategic position as the "City of the Nine Provinces," is the key to a population of approximately one hundred million Chinese people, although fortunately they are distributed among several dioceses of the Anglican communion.

Bishop Roots' broad sympathies won him the confidence not only of members of his own staff but of many people of other communions. He is one of the best known and best loved of the noble company of men and women who have given their lives for the winning of China to allegiance to the Christ. Unfortunately, failing health, the result in part of arduous journeys and labors, necessitated the relinquishment of the many duties and relationships which had grown up during the thirty-three years of his episcopate.

THE MISSIONARY EPISCOPATE CONSECRATIONS

On January 21, 1937, in St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, of which he had been Dean since 1926, the Very Rev. Harry Beal was consecrated Bishop of the Panama Canal Zone.

On November 30, 1937, in St. John's pro-Cathedral, Jessfield, Shanghai, the Rev. William Payne Roberts was consecrated Bishop of Shanghai.

On October 18, 1937, by concurrent action of the two Houses of the General Convention, the Rt. Rev. Alfred A. Gilman, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of Hankow, was elected Bishop of Hankow.

On October 16, 1937, by concurrent action of the two Houses of the General Convention, the Rev. Robert F. Wilner was elected Suffragan Bishop of the Philippine Islands. He is awaiting consecration in January, 1938.

THE MISSIONARY STAFF

The Rev. Ernest Reed Harrison, Tohoku, died January 19, 1937.

Mrs. Cameron F. MacRae, Shanghai, died January 6, 1937.

Miss Sarah W. Ashhurst, Cuba, died October 26, 1937.

Prior to his transfer to the missionary District of the Tohoku, the Rev. Ernest R. Harrison had served for some sixteen years in Japan as a representative of the Church in Australia. He was connected with the Diocese of South Tokyo. He brought to the Tohoku a good command of the Japanese language and a sound knowledge of missionary methods. His age and experience made him of special aid to Bishop Binsted, all of whose present American clerical staff are young men. His death, immediately following a serious accident, has deprived the Church in the Tohoku of a priest who had won the affections of the Japanese people and all of his fellow missionaries.

Immediately after his ordination to the priesthood, the Rev. Jules L. Prevost went to Alaska in the days when there was no resident Bishop. He served faithfully and well at various points on the Yukon River until 1906, when to the great regret of Bishop Rowe, of his colleagues on the mission staff and of his Indian friends, he felt obliged to return to this country. Before going to Alaska, he had taken an M.D. degree at Temple University and was therefore able to minister effectively to bodily as well as spiritual needs of the wilderness people.

Among the first to respond to Bishop Knight's call for volunteers immediately after his consecration as the first Bishop of Cuba in 1904, was the Rev. Charles M. Sturges. Although he had already served for more than thirty years in the ministry in the United States, Mr. Sturges disproved all theories with regard to the age at which missionaries should go to a new field. Until 1917, he was Archdeacon of Central Cuba and did much to help establish new missions in the important centers of the great Province of Camaguey. His broad experience, his sound judgment and his zeal as a missionary made him an invaluable member of the Cuban staff. Following his retirement on account of age in 1917, he lived in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Cameron F. MacRae went to China in 1905, as Sarah Nichols Woodward. In February, 1908, she became the wife of the Rev. Cameron F. MacRae, D.D., who had preceded her to the field by six years. Responsibilities of home and children did not swerve her from the evangelistic purpose which originally took her to China. She was ever a devoted missionary, a friend and helper to Chinese girls and women. Year after year she had the joy of leading Chinese women to discipleship of Christ. Her Christian family is indeed a large one.

For twenty-two years, Miss Ashhurst lived in the City of Guantanamo on Cuba's south coast. Her qualities of heart and mind, her devotion to her work as superintendent of All Saints' parochial school, her complete sympathy with the Cuban people, made her in a very real sense a part of the community and indeed entitled her to be called the "first lady of Guantanamo." In the years of her service, the school developed from a rather doubtful venture to an assured success. It was entrenched in the confidence of the people and was an inspiration to its pupils. Miss Ashhurst's death was felt as a community loss. The people of the city asked, and readily received Bishop Hulse's permission, to change the name of the school to the Sarah W. Ashhurst School. So it stands today, a memorial of her life and as a channel through which the grace of God may come into the lives of succeeding generations of young people.

Anking	2	Liberia	2
Cuba	1	Panama	1
Hankow	1	Philippines	3
Honolulu	1	Shanghai	4
Kyoto	1	North Tokyo	1

Much to the regret of the Department, the number of recruits for 1937 was one less than for the preceding year. These new missionaries simply filled vacancies, and did not make possible the undertaking of any new work. There are still many vacant posts to be filled.

The number of missionaries in the Extra-Continental, Foreign and Latin American fields, as reported by the Bishops for the year 1937 was:

Native staff abroad	2,257

Included in both the American and native groups are a number of people doing volunteer service as assistants of various kinds. In the native staff, also, are included many nurses and teachers whose salaries are provided by the institutions in which they work rather than by appropriations made by the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society.

EXPENDITURES IN THE FIELD AND CENTRAL EXPENSES

The amount spent in 1937 for maintenance of work in various fields was as follows:

For work in Extra-Continental Domestic Fields	$271,220.43
For work in Asia and Africa	562,588.82
For work in Latin America	162,123.72
	$995,932.97

The field expenditures in 1937 were $46,764.25 less than in 1936.

The central expenses of the Department in 1937 were $19,859.36. Of this amount $9,135.36 is properly chargeable to administration; $4,766.20 to promotion; $5,957.80 to operating expenses. Full details will be found on page 96.

UNDESIGNATED LEGACIES

The General Convention of 1937 continued the policy inaugurated in 1934 under which undesignated legacies are to be equally divided, up to a fixed total, with the Forward Movement Commission. The remainder of such legacies was assigned by the Convention to the payment of accrued indebtedness of approximately $763,000, arising from the failure of the Church to provide for the necessary expenditures in the years 1933 and 1934. Meanwhile, the missionary districts both at home and abroad are eagerly awaiting the time when undesignated legacies may be restored to their former purpose of providing land and buildings for the equipment of missionary stations. Every Bishop reports urgent needs along this line. This situation is especially acute because economic conditions have led to an almost complete neglect of any advance work program.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LENTEN OFFERING

It is gratifying to be able to record an upward trend in the Sunday School Lenten Offerings. The amount for 1937 was $303,646, an increase of nearly $19,000 over the 1936 figure. Unfortunately, this total does not come to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society. More than half of it has to be shared with the dioceses under the plan of the "division of funds." Therefore, the larger part of the Lenten Offering today goes into diocesan and other local work instead of reinforcing the work in the Church's world field in accordance with the original purpose of its founder, Mr. John Marston, and its great promoter and advocate, Mr. George C. Thomas, sometime Treasurer of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society.

AUXILIARIES

For another year, the Woman's Auxiliary has proved how invaluable its assistance is in the overseas work of the Church in many ways. Foremost among these is its spirit of devotion expressed in prayer for and study about the great Mission of the Church. Its steady help to institutions such as schools and hospitals in sending much needed and otherwise unobtainable equipment, means that such institutions are prevented by the Auxiliary from closing. The gift of life is shown in the fact that some eighty-seven women, whose support is appropriated by the National Council from the United Thank Offering of the Woman's Auxiliary, are to be found in the overseas missions.

The Church Building Fund has helped consistently, as in the past, with gifts to make possible the erection of churches and other mission buildings in strategic points. Without that help, practically every foreign field would be seriously hampered.

The Church Periodical Club has become simply indispensable to the proper conduct of our missionary work. In order to keep professional standards high in medical and educational institutions, it is essential that modern technical literature should be provided. The Department turns, when the calls come in from far-off places, to the Church Periodical Club. "C.P.C. never says no!" That is the conviction of the Department based upon experience.

Nineteen hundred thirty-seven is the third consecutive year in which the Girls' Friendly Society has made possible the service of one of its members in China. With a steadiness and regularity that many a diocese might emulate, the remittances come from the Girls' Friendly for that teacher at St. Faith's School, Yangchow, in the Diocese of Shanghai. Through her, many young Chinese girls have found their way into Christian living.

The Department owes much to other agencies that are not described as Auxiliaries or even co-operating agencies. Nevertheless, they do co-operate and most effectively. The New York Bible and Common Prayer Book Society, the Bishop White Prayer Book Society of Pennsylvania, the Margaret Coffin Prayer Book Society of Massachusetts, all help the Department in meeting requests that come for that essential missionary publication, the Book of Common Prayer.

The American Mission to Lepers has helped in Japan, Liberia and elsewhere in this merciful ministry to sadly afflicted people.

The Department also acknowledges its indebtedness to the American Bible Society in making available translations of the Scriptures in many tongues. Such aid is a reminder of the part played by the Society in the publication of Bishop Schereschewsky's translation of the entire Bible into easy Wenli years ago. Anyone who wants to know something of the significance of that achievement should, without fail, read the intensely interesting life of the great Bishop written by the Rev. Dr. Muller of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and published just as the year 1937 closed by the Morehouse Publishing Company under the title of "An Apostle of China." A Chinese reviewer says:

The book reads like a romance. It tells of a Russian Jew who became a Christian in America; of a scholar who in spite of his thrice repeated "Nolo Episcopari" had the episcopacy thrust upon him, and rose to the occasion by proving himself a great missionary Bishop with vision far ahead; of a paralyzed man, who in spite of utter physical helplessness, by the use of one finger pounding on a typewriter, translated the whole Bible into easy Wenli—that is, the simple written language of China. Such heroism inspires, uplifts and redounds to the glory of God. The whole Anglican Communion ought to thank God for this life of consecrated service and victory over overwhelming odds.

COMMITTEE ON LITERATURE FOR THE BLIND

The Rev. W. J. Loaring-Clark, D.D., is still carrying the responsibilities of editorship of the Church Herald and other publications as a labor of love which he gives as a memorial to his wife, who was instrumental in the establishment of the committee and served as its secretary and editor for a number of years. The Church Herald, the monthly magazine in Braille, has been going for another year to more than 600 blind people in the United States and a number of foreign countries. It is sent free and is most gratefully received by its blind readers. The number steadily increases as recipients tell others of the blessing the Herald has brought to them. Among books published are Bishop Gailor's "The Episcopal Church," a selection of one hundred hymns, daily Bible studies, the Litany and now the Service of Holy Communion which has been put into Braille as a memorial to Mrs. Loaring-Clark. Christmas and Easter cards are sent in large numbers through the generous co-operation of women friends of the blind. Although the National Council includes in its budget a reduced appropriation for the Committee on Literature for the Blind, its work depends largely upon gifts and offerings from individual parishes and Woman's Auxiliaries, sent to the Committee at the Church Missions House.

ALASKA

Bishop Rowe's epic journeys on foot over winter trails, driving a dog team ahead of him, are a thing of the past. But Bishop Rowe's journeys in Alaska have not come to an end. In his eighty-first year, he is covering more miles a day by airplane than he could cover in a whole winter on foot, fighting his way through blizzards and triumphing over hardships and dangers on the way. The account of his journeys in 1937 would make any report notable. By frequent air journeys, Bishop Rowe is trying to make up in part, at least, for the reduced number of his missionary priests. A visit from him is an unforgettable event in the life of an Indian village. Yet even his redoubled efforts cannot fully make up for the fact that his visits, at best, have to be infrequent and can never take the place of the steady day-after-day work of the resident pastor.

That the Bishop has lost none of the ardor of his earlier years is indicated by the new venture for which he has made himself responsible on the Bering Sea and Arctic coasts. In the autumn of 1937, he announced his intention of authorizing Archdeacon Goodman to secure two Church Army laymen to be stationed on the coast at points where the Eskimo population is largest and where the Church's name and ways are already known and loved by some of the people. Two simple buildings are to be erected to serve as "Houses of God" and community centers.

There are no funds in Alaska's reduced missionary budget for this new venture, but the Bishop, confident that the people of the Church will recognize his high purpose and want to share in it, has made himself responsible for securing the necessary $4,800 to provide for the workers for four years. Alaska's statistics may not suggest to the mind of the average reader the real scope and size of the work the Church is doing. That can only be measured in lives won for God and godly living, in lives given a new purpose, in lives blessed by the Church's ministrations, in schools where character is trained, in hospitals where the battle against disease and suffering is fought and won. Nevertheless, statistics have their significance, especially when one remembers that one person in ten in Alaska's population is a baptized member of this Church.

HONOLULU

The Church in the Hawaiian Islands continues its unique mission to people of many races. Within the limited land area of these Pacific Islands, there are probably more racial groups represented than in any other area of similar size in the world. With the Orient, the Hawaiian Islands are allied through Chinese, Japanese, Koreans, Filipinos and others. With the West, the Islands have strong ties with the United States, Great Britain and some of the Scandinavian countries, Spain and Portugal. How to fuse the varied racial strains and cultures into one Christian family is the difficult yet inspiring task that confronts the Church. Progress is made in part through schools, such as the Priory for girls, and Iolani for boys, and in part through ministry to varying groups in their own tongues, with occasional united services in Honolulu's beautiful cathedral church.

Undaunted by many difficulties, Bishop Littell, his mission staff and his lay people are planning a new site and new buildings for Iolani School. When Bishop Littell was consecrated in Honolulu less than eight years ago, the future of Iolani seemed dubious. Knowing, as he did from more than thirty years of service in central China, what an important part Christian education plays in building Christian character and a Christian Church, the new Bishop set his hand to the strengthening and development of Iolani. Its achievements in the past have been great. In recent years the school has worthily lived up to its past record.

While the school was being strengthened at the center, work out on the circumference has also been developing in communities on the other Islands and in some of the enormous plantations worked by immigrants from the Orient.

Cut off they may be from much that stimulates and strengthens American life, the Islands are nevertheless playing an important part in the development of our national economy and national defense. It would be unworthy of the Church on the main land to forget the contribution the Church in the Islands is making to the security and welfare of the Nation.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

For another year, our Church in the Philippine Islands has continued with success its varied ministry to the life of the many different peoples who make up the Philippine population. This is especially true in the area in the north and south, occupied by primitive peoples such as the Igorots, the Moros and the Tirurai.

For another year it is able to report substantial gains in the number of people won for Christian living and in the extent and quality of service rendered to youth in our schools, to the sick in our hospitals and to the hundreds of thousands of unshepherded people, who know nothing of the Good Shepherd. In results achieved, as revealed in statistics concerning baptisms and confirmations, the Philippine mission continues in the front rank of the Church's missionary forces.

The election of Bishop Wilner as Suffragan Bishop, partly because of Bishop Mosher's impaired health and partly because of the extent of territory and variety of work to be done, is an indication of the Church's willingness to recognize important opportunities and to try to take advantage of them. With his training as a business man, with his background of experience in China and with his eight years of service among the Igorot people, the new Bishop will reinforce his chief's work and extend the Church's lines in many directions. During the time he has worked in the Philippines, he has proved to be an excellent teacher and headmaster at Easter School in Baguio and an earnest evangelistic missionary in ministry to the mining camps surrounding Baguio, and in his readiness to penetrate into distant places where travel is almost impossible. Bishop Wilner awaits consecration early in the new year as soon as the three Bishops necessary for the service can be secured from neighboring Oriental dioceses. The relative remoteness from the Philippines and conditions in both China and Japan make this no easy task.

Although the work of the Church in Brazil was originally confined to the single state of Rio Grande do Sul, it has been carried, partly through its own momentum and partly through the Apostolic leadership of Bishop Kinsolving and Bishop Thomas, into other states and their important cities. To reach some of the outposts from his home in Porto Alegre will take Bishop Thomas twice as many days as would the journey from Boston to Los Angeles.

Only eighteen of our American dioceses have as many stations as the 112 of the Church in Southern Brazil. In caring for this vast field, Bishop Thomas has suffered a grievous loss through the death of Archdeacon Cabral. As a young man, he allied himself with the pioneers, Kinsolving and Morris, dedicated his life to the ministry and throughout was a tower of strength. His ringing eloquence, ready wit, undaunted purpose made him an ideal missionary, respected and honored wherever known.

The chain of day schools in the diocese is proving a feeder to the two boarding schools; Southern Cross for boys in Porto Alegre and St. Margaret's for girls in Pelotas.

Retirement of American members of the staff and the limitations of age among the Brazilian members, have reduced the effective force by nine clergy. Yet the work grows. The need for Christian shepherds increases. The Seminary at Porto Alegre therefore becomes increasingly important. But the Bishop is hampered and made anxious by insufficient funds to enable him to train young Brazilians to take vacant places.

CUBA

As a mission field, Cuba offers an almost unlimited opportunity to this Church. Established as it is in a number of the more important cities, it is finding, in some respects, its greatest fields of usefulness in the smaller towns and rural regions where Christian influences are not actively operating.

Three important schools in Havana, Camaguey and Guantanamo, with many smaller schools, for almost every Cuban clergyman finds himself inevitably the principal of a parochial school, are training hundreds of young people for life.

That these schools and mission services are getting results is indicated by the fact that enrolled in the Church in Cuba there is a larger number of baptized persons than in any other overseas mission field save two, and a larger number than in the majority of our home dioceses. Present economic conditions, with sugar as the great industry, produce deepening unrest. Rising prices and decreasing wages bear hardly upon the people.

HAITI AND THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Relieved by the consecration of Bishop Beal of the responsibility he carried so well in the administration of the Panama Canal Zone, Bishop Carson has been able to devote himself entirely to the two Republics occupying the Island familiarly known in earlier days as Hispaniola.

In the Dominican Republic with only two clergy on the staff it has not been possible to plan for much in the way of development. Work at Trujillo City and San Pedro de Macoris is well established and well administered. There are other communities in the southern part of the Republic where work should be undertaken. The important city of Santiago de Caballeros, far to north, beckons invitingly. Any attempt to plant the Church there must wait for the days when staffs have been reinforced and budgets are not constantly being pared.

Haiti still has the distinction of having a larger number of baptized people enrolled than any other overseas missionary district of the Church. From Haiti's attractive capital, Port au Prince, the Church has reached out in all directions. Its work may now be found at the tip of the southwestern peninsula, at Aux Cayes and far up on the northeast coast at Port de Paix. On the Island of Gonave and in back country villages the cross is being lifted up as the hope of the world, and many of Haiti's people are coming to find in it the inspiration for a new and worthy life. So the Church makes its contribution to the nation and undergirds its institutions with sound principles.

MEXICO

Bishop Salinas y Velasco is keeping up to the standard he set for himself of building and consecrating at least one new church for each year of his episcopate. How can it be done? That is one way in which the spiritual life and purpose of his people of the Church in Mexico find expression. Here, for instance, are 300 Indian Church people in the mountains of central Mexico; with little money, and that little hardly earned, yet they are determined to erect a new church because their old and out-worn building is too small for the numbers of people who would come to hear the Word of Life. They have collected some money. In less than a year they have built the walls of the church. The money has been used up and now they are raising more to put on a roof. It is no cheap or unworthy building, but expressive of the devotion that erected some of the old churches in Mexico centuries ago. To whatever extent the dominant Church may have lost the confidence of many present-day Mexicans, there can be no doubt it succeeded wonderfully in ingraining a spirit of devotion and in raising "Houses of God" in practically every Mexican community. What these Churchmen are doing today is being done in three other places. Their fine spirit is further manifested by the fact that they do not allow their giving for the building of a church to prevent them in taking part in the Church's work, as a whole. As a matter of course, they are giving their full share to the work of the Church throughout the world. Governmental regulations make difficult the extension of the Church to new places because of the legal requirements for the registration of all clergy and the expense connected with the process. Under such circumstances Bishop Salinas is endeavoring to use the services of unordained men, as lay-readers.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE

The Church in the Panama Canal Zone has responded quickly to Bishop Beal's sympathetic leadership. On the other hand, the new Bishop has been deeply impressed with the loyalty and devotion of the small band of workers who have stood together faithfully at their posts. Few people realize that each of the American or West Indian clergymen in the Canal Zone is responsible on a average for 2,700 baptized persons. This is almost seven times the number per clergyman for the Church in the United States. Readjustments in Canal administration have required some changes in church arrangements. Those have been met and mastered even if they involved moving a church from Paradise to Red Tank. When Bishop Beal discovers that the single parish at St. Paul's, Panama, is responsible for the spiritual care of 8,000 baptized people and that St. Paul's has only one clergyman, he looks up comparative statistics and notes that the baptized people of St. Paul's, Panama, alone, number more than can be found in twenty-eight of our diocesan and missionary jurisdictions in the United States. He naturally raises the question: Are we keeping faith with the Church of England in the West Indies from whose spiritual care those canal laborers came?

PUERTO RICO AND THE VIRGIN ISLANDS

Knowing the solid work that is being done in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the Department shares Bishop Colmore's hope that 1938 may see the beginning of an endowment fund for St. Luke's Hospital, Ponce, and the opening of three new chapels, one in an outlying section of the suburbs of Ponce, and another out in the needy country districts. A mission hospital that uses all its appropriation for ministering, generally without charge, to needy people, and then earns through its service to more prosperous people four times as much as its appropriation, is an institution to be encouraged and developed. In Puerto Rico, as in Cuba, there is abundant opportunity for work in country regions which have as a rule been sadly neglected by the dominant Church. Puerto Rican youth has responded to the Church's ideal of service, as set forth in her worship in such institutions as St. Catherine's School and the Theological Seminary aimed to be, even though neither is now operating. Both are casualties of reduced appropriations. With seven young men ready to offer for the Christian ministry, Bishop Colmore finds his hands tied because of the reduced appropriation for theological education. Nevertheless, the work goes on through the ministry of the Word and Sacraments. Parochial work has been transferred almost entirely to the care of Puerto Rican clergy. In our own mission and in insular agencies, the influence of the young women trained at St. Catherine's School and St. Luke's Hospital for Nurses, is felt wherever a graduate has gone. They have been found in many places and in many homes.

In the Virgin Islands of St. Thomas and St. Croix, the Church's ministry to white planters and West Indian laborers goes on effectively.

LIBERIA

Probably no other missionary district has been quite so hard hit by reduced appropriations as is the case with Liberia. Reductions of 1934, and subsequent years came upon Liberia, in addition to heavy reductions made in 1933, in an effort to readjust certain missionary conditions. The expenditure for 1932 was $72,984. The expenditure for 1937 was $35,342. This reduction of more than fifty percent has been spread in many directions but has especially affected the evangelistic work. Nevertheless, Bishop Kroll and his handful of helpers have carried on with resourcefulness and hope. The American staff, always too small, is smaller than ever. For years it has had no reserves so that illness or furlough meant work abandoned or held back. Overworked missionaries break down with illness. Tired missionaries must take furloughs even against their will. Bishop Kroll's return to his field after the General Convention is delayed for some months by serious illness in his family.

General conditions in Liberia seem to be steady somewhat, although economic conditions continue to be unsatisfactory with the exception of the region within fifty miles of the capital, where an American corporation is developing a huge rubber plantation. Church progress is slow, but our workers carry on in the hope that the triumphs of the Cross may some day be won in Liberia on a scale similar to those triumphs in regions where the Church of England has had such outstanding success as in Sierra Leone, the Gold Coast, Nigeria, Uganda, and East Africa.

CHINA

For the Church's work in China, 1937 marked the close of an era. It brought the retirement of Bishop Graves at his own urgent request. His resignation was accepted by the House of Bishops on October 9, 1937. A few days later, on nomination of the House of Bishops in China, the Rev. William Payne Roberts of St. Paul's Church, Nanking, was elected by the American House of Bishops as Bishop Graves' successor. Bishop Graves arrived in China in October, 1881, and had served for fifty-one years as a member of the China Mission staff during forty-four of which he was Bishop.

So far as the general work in China is concerned, in 1937, antagonisms to things western, so marked in 1927, had almost disappeared. There was a fine readiness to hear the Christian message. Baptisms and confirmations were numerous. Schools were filled. Hospitals were busy interpreting Christ as Healer and Comforter of men. The General Synod held in Foochow in April, marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui. The gathering was characterized by a fine spirit of faith and progressiveness. All signs pointed to a year of solid achievement and advance.

With startling suddenness, the change came—an "undeclared war" in the north, as the result of an "incident" growing out of conditions, reports of which differ radically. A month later followed another "incident" and an "undeclared war" in the Shanghai region. Death and suffering fell upon thousands of Chinese people. Inevitably such conditions brought anxiety to many homes of the Church in the United States. The first thought of the Bishops in the field and the Department, in the United States, was for the safety of our missionaries. Appropriate steps were taken and the Department gratefully reports that the lives of all American missionaries have so far been preserved. The mission staff has always acted with calmness and devotion characteristic of the best traditions of the American Church Mission, as established by the pioneers in the past.

So long as any service could be rendered to Chinese people, whether members of the Christian Church or not, our missionaries have everywhere stayed at their posts. They left only upon orders, and when the Chinese people of a community sought safety outside of their towns and cities. In many instances, missionaries went with their people and were instrumental in saving thousands of lives. Anxious families and friends at home have borne up courageously and, in faith, have entrusted their loved ones to the care of the Master they serve.

The speedy action of the General Convention in asking the people of the Church to give at least $300,000 for a China Emergency Fund, indicates the spirit in which the Church at home desires to meet this situation. There is general recognition of the fact that this is no time for retreat or for lessening effort or for sorrowful contemplation of plans frustrated for a time, at least. The presence of missionaries from China in this country has helped greatly in securing a fine response to the General Convention's appeal. As the year closes, about half of the asked-for Emergency Fund has been given. The effort will be continued through 1938 and so long as the distressing situations in China continue.

There has been loss of property. How great that will be cannot be stated at present, partly because of the confusion still existing in the Shanghai area and partly because no one can foretell what destruction may be wrought in other parts of China before peace is restored. It is known that some of the smaller church buildings have been destroyed and that missionary schools and homes have been looted. Our missionary friends, however, count these matters as slight compared with the sufferings of many thousands of wounded people, homeless and hungry, driven from their farms and shops and cared for in our refugee camps and hospitals. When 1937 closed, work was impossible in numerous stations around Shanghai because buildings had been wrecked, sometimes whole towns destroyed and military occupation was the order of the day.

The action of the Central Government of China in moving from Nanking towards the west, indicates the probability that aggressive warfare will be carried into the heart of China along the Yangtze River as a highway. That river traverses the region in which this Church works for 1,200 miles from Shanghai in the east to Shihnan in the west.

JAPAN

The outstanding event of 1937, was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Sei Ko Kwai. So important did the National Council feel this occasion to be, that it commissioned the Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker of Virginia, who from 1899 to 1923 was a missionary in Japan, to represent the Church in the United States on this occasion. Bishop Tucker's coming was hailed with joy by the thousands of old friends who had known him as missionary priest, head of St. Paul's College and Bishop of Kyoto, and many new friends who had become disciples of Christ in the fifteen years since his return to the United States.

There is no church in Japan that could begin to accommodate the many people who flocked to Tokyo to join with their fellow Churchmen there in commemorating an event, the first of its kind in the Orient, by which a young native Church became a constituent member of the Anglican Communion. A huge tent accommodating about 3,000 people was erected and suitably fitted up with altar, chancel platform and other necessary furnishings. At every service this tent church was crowded. This was especially true of the Communion Service when Japanese Bishops and priests, assisted by American and English Bishops and priests, administered the Holy Communion to a great company of reverent followers of Christ.

The contrast between this occasion and the gathering in Osaka in March of 1887, was marked and significant. Then the Church in Japan had barely 1,500 baptized members. There was not a single Japanese priest. Two Japanese deacons represented the coming ministry. There was a handful of American and English missionaries and a few Japanese lay people. Insignificant as their numbers must have seemed, the Spirit of God dwelt among them and to Him is to be attributed, as was true in the days of the Apostolic Church, whatever progress has been made for the glory of God.

In 1937, there are three Japanese Bishops in addition to the seven American and English Bishops. There are 217 Japanese clergy compared with 37 foreign clergy. Communicants number 29,000 organized in 258 congregations. Their offerings for 1937 were 234,000 yen, an average of about eight yen per communicant. When the earning power of the average Japanese Christian is compared with the earning power of the average American Churchman, it is evident that our Japanese fellow-Churchmen are giving fully as much relatively as are members of this Church in the United States.

The conferences of various kinds, held during this commemoration, made plans for aggressive evangelism throughout the Empire and for the strengthening of the life of the Sei Ko Kwai from within. Many of these plans doubtless will have to be postponed in view of the events of the last six months. While this may be true, it is doubly true that because of these same events, this is the time to share the Christian view of life more generously and adequately than ever before. This is no time to relax efforts or to think of retreat. It is a time to press forward with the message of the Gospel, reinforcing the fine work of our well-attended schools and the remarkable service rendered by our two hospitals; St. Luke's in Tokyo and St. Barnabas' in Osaka. This is a time for increasing our staff and giving better support to our great institutions.

Repeated reduction in appropriations inevitably undermines missionary morale. People who have given their lives wonder whether they have been given them for something that Christian people at home consider not worth while. Even worse than that is the effect upon non-Christian observers in Japan, many of whom have been saying for some time that it is evident that the Christian Gospel has lost its power and the Christian crusade its appeal, in the western lands. Some Japanese newspapers even go so far as to point out that indications such as these show that the Christian way of life is losing its hold in western lands.

INDIA

In 1931, the General Convention authorized the National Council through its Committee on India, to secure special funds and comply as soon as possible with the request of the Church in India, Burma and Ceylon, for the sending of one or more missionaries to the Diocese of Dornakal. In 1933, the pioneer missionaries of the American Church, the Rev. George V. B. and Mrs. Shriver, arrived in Dornakal. They have made a good beginning. They have faced the difficulties of an exacting climate, unfamiliar modes of living and the intricacies of two of India's most baffling languages. They have made a real place for themselves in the diocese and have won the affection and regard of the people in the Singareni area in which their work is done.

The visit of Bishop Azariah to this country in the autumn of 1937, gave a new impetus to this venture. Before and after the General Convention, he graciously accepted many invitations to speak to people from New York to Chicago and from Boston to Washington. His two months in the United States were crowded with engagements.

Bishop Azariah's presence at the General Convention brought home vividly the unity of the Anglican Communion. This was especially true at the Foreign Missions meeting when he spoke to a great audience in the Taft Auditorium, with Bishop Tucker, as representing Japan, and Bishop Tsen, as representing China. Bishop Azariah's appeal, "Come over and help us," brought an immediate response in new knowledge of India, in a deepened purpose to help in making our Lord known among India's many people and in money gifts of approximately $13,000 of which $10,000 is to be used for the completion of the modest cathedral church in Dornakal, preparatory to the gathering of the International Missionary Council in Madras at the end of 1938.

The General Convention, for the first time, voted an appropriation of $2,500 for the work in India, with the understanding that all gifts from parishes and people in the United States were to be given as specials in addition to the modest appropriation. Most significant of all, however, was the action of the Convention in requesting the Presiding Bishop to initiate a study of the possibility and desirability of establishing such a missionary district in India, as suggested by Bishop Azariah, and report the result of such study to the House of Bishops at his discretion.

In no previous period in this twentieth century, has the work of our Church in the mission field been subjected to such intense strains as has been the case the past five years. Well conceived plans for advance have been held up or set aside altogether. Worth while work has been closed. Newly won Christian people have been frankly wondering whether the Church is failing in the lands where it has been strong. Bishops and their helpers have fought off discouragement. They have made all sorts of sacrifices, and they have refused to be beaten. Their example should make the Church at home proud of them and be an inspiration to it to rally its forces for further advance.

The Department of Foreign Missions endeavors to discharge its duties with economy and sound planning. It has been obliged to refuse reasonable requests for reinforcements. It has seen the staff of American missionaries grow smaller in a period when all sound strategy called for enlargement. For the missionary, all this means hopes deferred. For the native peoples it means the withholding of the knowledge of the abundant life the Son of God came to give.

Missionaries and the Department, alike, call upon the Church's people for faith in the Church's Mission, for prayer that God's blessing may rest upon the Church's work and for offerings of life and money in order that that work may go forward.

EXTRA-CONTINENTAL DOMESTIC MISSIONARY DISTRICTS

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF ALASKA

The work of this Church in Alaska began in 1886

The Missionary District of Alaska embraces the Territory of Alaska, an area of 586,400 square miles, purchased from Russia in 1867. Of the estimated population of 60,000, half are white people and the remainder are about equally divided between Eskimos and Indians. Alaska was created a missionary district by the General Convention in the year 1895, while the first mission was established in 1887. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Peter Trimble Rowe, D.D., consecrated November 30, 1895. The Suffragan Bishop is the Rt. Rev. John Boyd Bentley, consecrated September 29, 1931.

The expenditure in 1937 was $53,743. The appropriation makes possible work for white people, for Indians and Eskimos. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 39 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

AS I survey the past year, 1937, I give thanks to God for His manifold blessings and mercies. I am thankful to each and all my co-workers, men and women, for their fidelity and loyalty—loyalty to our Blessed Lord and His cause. The Christian faith began in allegiance to a Person and Jesus is that Person. The ideal of the early Christian was "serving the Lord." That allegiance and that ideal our faithful band of workers has manifested. The peril of Christians is a sense of defeatism. But, though difficulties may confront us, yet we can meet them having faith in our undefeated Leader, our Lord Jesus Christ.

Ketchikan

Leaving Seattle in May for a visitation throughout Alaska, my first stop was at Ketchikan, the gateway to Alaska, where I visited our two missions, St. John's, and the Indian mission, St. Elizabeth's. There is nothing special to report except to say that the work under the Rev. M. L. Wanner, St. John's Church, has gone on smoothly and with some evidence of progress. Mr. Wanner is an indefatigable worker, devoted, and is beloved by the members of the congregation. The Guild of St. John's is active and supports Mr. Wanner to the best of its ability.

The Indian congregation of St. Elizabeth's keeps on growing, has a fine membership, has various organizations, among them being a brass band, Young People's Fellowship, junior and senior choirs, and the Woman's Guild. This past year a lady interested in St. Elizabeth's, left in her will $2,000 with which the rector, the Rev. Paul J. Mather, was much pleased to purchase a Hammond Organ for the church—the first one of its kind to be introduced into Alaska. From all reports it is very satisfactory.

Ketchikan has a population of approximately 6,000 people and is one of the largest salmon cannery sections in the whole country.

Wrangell

From Ketchikan I went on to Wrangell and visited St. Philip's Church. The church is in charge of a candidate for Holy Orders, Arnold Krone, and it seems to have entered upon a new life. The congregations are larger and the Sunday school has increased. In addition to the church, we have our hospital, and though to some people it may not be regarded as doing missionary work, yet I am quite of the contrary opinion. It is an asset to the Church, it has done invaluable work. Already many lives have been saved through its services. In a word, it may be regarded as a community hospital because all the people of Wrangell feel a great interest in it and are most grateful to have it in their midst. I certainly rejoice that the Church is able to minister to people not only through the church but through such an institution as a Church hospital.

Close by Wrangell is a Government institute for young Indian boys and girls who have passed high school. Mr. Krone visits this institute regularly, holding services for them, and the young people are very much interested. Of course, we have among the pupils members of the Church, and those pupils who are not members are becoming very much interested in the Church. I am glad to report that our work here is going on and we are holding the front as well as we can.

Sitka

From Wrangell I passed on through Juneau to Sitka. In Sitka, we have the beautiful Church of St. Peters-by-the-Sea and the Bishop's See House—beautiful property close by the sea, and the music of the waves mingles with the music of the services that are held in the church.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Molineux is in sole charge of the work but now she has living with her Miss Etta Barlow, a former Alaskan worker but who in recent years worked in Africa. I am glad to have these two workers associated together. Mrs. Molineux is simply a wonder because she does everything. She holds the services. She looks after the poor families of the place, the growing girls and boys, has a large Sunday school, has many classes for women and girls, helps the needy, and I never go to Sitka but what she has rounded up for baptism anywhere from ten to fifteen, also candidates prepared for confirmation. I can't speak too highly of the value that Mrs. Molineux is to the Church in Sitka. It would be well, of course, if we could have a priest there but owing to the state of finances, that seems impossible. However, I could not wish for the condition of things to be better than they are under Mrs. Molineux and Miss Barlow.

Juneau

From Sitka, I returned to Juneau and there had a visit with the congregations of Trinity Church, Juneau, and St. Luke's at Douglas Island. Juneau is the capital of the territory, has a population of about 7,000 and is the center of officialdom. As a rule, the presence of many Government officials in a town does not guarantee much support or help for the Church. The Rev. Mr. Rice is in charge of not only Trinity Church but also St. Luke's, Douglas Island. Fortunately, in the terrible fire that almost destroyed the town of Douglas, our church escaped. I had just repaired the church and put it in perfect condition, adding to it a parish hall underneath, much to the joy of the good people of Douglas Island. Owing to the loss of the school buildings, the church and parish hall were used for school purposes, which was a boon to the people with families in the place. The property here is in perfect condition and, like all the other properties of the Church in Alaska, is a credit to the Church. As a bridge has been built connecting Juneau with Douglas Island, the prospects are that the population of Douglas Island is likely to increase. At the present time there is but one Sunday school and that is held in St. Luke's Church for all the children of the place.

Valdez

From Juneau I traveled by steamer to the westward and visited Epiphany Church, our mission at Valdez. I found it in splendid condition. The members of the Woman's Guild had had it freshly painted and it is quite an attraction to the tourists, not only in itself, but because of a certain beautiful painting done in Italy, that answers as a reredos in the church. It is the fashion now for tourists visiting Alaska, having been told of this painting, to visit the church. We have no minister in charge. The people are waiting for one. The Guild is quite prepared, with the help of the Guild at Cordova, to raise half the support for a clergyman who will minister to congregations of Valdez and Cordova. I have the greatest respect for the loyalty and patience of these good Church people because they have waited and waited for me to send somebody to minister to them. It is not an easy matter to find men suitable for such missionary work. Unfortunately, our young men graduating from the seminaries, instead of offering themselves in the mission field for three years at least and gaining some valuable experience, remain in the cities and large towns of the United States, and so long as this goes on we will be unable to do very much. What can you do in a missionary field like Alaska when you fail to have recruits of the clergy?

I was very much encouraged with the zeal and loyalty and devotion of the women members of the Guild. In spite of not having proper encouragement, they go on faithfully and loyally doing the best they can in the interest of the Church and the cause of Christianity.

Anchorage

I was obliged to pass over a visit at this time at St. George's Church, Cordova, because I was under promise to visit Anvik on a certain date to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the mission here. So from Valdez I went on, passing through Seward, but spending a week with the Rev. W. R. Fenn at All Saints' Church, Anchorage.

Anchorage is growing slowly, but it is growing. It is an interesting part of Alaska. From Anchorage, planes fly to Bristol Bay, Kuskokwim and other distant points. Mines are being developed within a hundred miles of Anchorage. The Matanuska Colony is situated about forty-five miles from Anchorage and is connected now by good roads so that you can drive from Anchorage to Matanuska in two and a half hours. Mr. Fenn is in charge of the work at Anchorage and it gives me great joy to report of the hold which he has on the people at Anchorage. He is interested very much in the young people and they have gathered around him so that they have their own organizations and meet with him in the parish house every week. Walking with Mr. Fenn along the street, it is interesting to see him saluted by children and young people, as well as the old.

The church property is in first class condition. A man, whose wife was a member of the All Saints' Woman's Guild, presented to the church the most beautiful pews that I have seen anywhere, as a memorial to his deceased wife. The pews are made of mahogany, are substantial, and have a beautiful effect within the church. So that the condition of things at Anchorage is exceedingly satisfactory in every way, and I am grateful to the rector for his devotion, loyalty and fine service.

With Mr. Fenn, I visited the Matanuska Colony and have only this to say in regard to it. After having gone through innumerable mistakes, and through the elimination of some worthless colonists, it has settled down to be a very fine and conservative community. The people largely belong to the Lutheran Church. The Presbyterians, Roman Catholics, and Lutherans have each built a church close together in the central part of the community, or at least where the community buildings are, and the school house. In my opinion, the colony is working out to be a success. The homes of the colonists are as good as you could wish for. The roads run and intersect the whole colony to the extent of about 250 miles. Here, I may say that later on I was able to make a second visit to Matanuska and had a marriage there, assisted by the Rev. Fenn.

Anvik

From Anchorage I went on to Nenana, where I was able to have services on Sunday, and then taking with me Mrs. Bentley, took the Steamer Nenana for Anvik. After a pleasant trip down the Tanana River and the Yukon, we arrived at Anvik the night before we were to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the mission. Here, I found, amidst the mosquitoes and gnats, on the bank of the river waiting for us, Bishop Bentley, the missionary Mr. Chapman and his wife, Miss Wagner, the nurse; Miss Bartberger from Nenana, and in addition all the Indian inhabitants of the mission. The people seemed to understand what the anniversary meant and so they came from many parts of that section to the celebration. The services were held on Sunday morning and Sunday afternoon in the church. This church is the same that part of the first of the Woman's United Thank Offering helped to build nearly fifty years ago. It is a monument, it seems to me, to the Woman's Auxiliary United Thank Offering. It has been under water at times and logs are decayed, but I insisted that the church should be retained, which we did by moving it a little higher up the bank and restoring it perfectly so that today it is in better condition than when it was first built.

Here, the Rev. John W. Chapman, father of the present missionary, came as a missionary fifty years ago and with the devotion and faithfulness which is almost indescribable, he labored among these people for forty years. Hence the anniversary was a token of the affection and regard held by all—all missionaries and all the people—for Dr. and Mrs. Chapman.

The boarding school for Indian children that was carried on here by Dr. and Mrs. Chapman for many, many years had to be closed on account of the lack of funds, and this happened just as we completed a fine dormitory for the children. The dormitory is there, is pretty well equipped, but it is empty. It is used at times for certain purposes but it is not used as a school as it ought to be. The children who had parents were sent home. Children who were orphans, and they were chiefly orphans, were taken care of by sending them to our St. Mark's School at Nenana.

Under Rev. Mr. H. H. Chapman and his wife, the work goes on here with the assistance of Miss Wagner as nurse and general helper. It is hoped that the work may be continued and further, that we may be able, some day, to restore the school. I hope that we may be able to do this.

So after an interesting celebration, participated in by Bishop Bentley with myself, meeting the people socially, having a very nice time, Bishop and Mrs. Bentley and myself and Miss Bartberger took the steamer back to Nenana, and on the way, at Tanana, picked up Mr. and Mrs. Files and brought them to Nenana. On the steamer, the purser, Mr. Lynch, assisted by the officers, prepared a special banquet for the missionary group, consisting of two Bishops, Mrs. Bentley, Miss Bartberger, Mr. and Mrs. Files. The purser was most attentive—he happens to be the husband of the former Miss Cotchett, who for some years worked as a missionary nurse in Alaska.

Nenana

We returned to Nenana in good time for Sunday and had the usual services in St. Mark's Chapel. Present at the services was also the Rev. Mr. Fenn, who had come to Nenana to be one of the examiners of Mr. Files, who was presented for deacon's orders. Mr. Shelton came from Fairbanks on Monday, and under Bishop Bentley, Mr. Fenn and Mr. Shelton examined Mr. Files. Mr. Files, according to the examiners, passed a very satisfactory examination and arrangements for his ordination were made at once. The ordination was held on Tuesday morning in St. Mark's Church, Bishop Bentley being the Ordinand. The people of Nenana were quite thrilled at such an unusual service. The Indians gathered from many parts and sections. It was a great occasion so far as Nenana was concerned. In a few days, Mr. and Mrs. Files left to go to Anvik and relieve Mr. Chapman who was coming out on furlough.

Speaking of Nenana, I must call attention to the great work that is going on under Miss Blacknall, Deaconess Thompson and Miss Bartberger through the school that we have there for the Indian children, who come from different parts of the country. I am unable to describe the wonderful influences that have gone out among the Indian people through these children who return to their homes after completing their school work at Nenana.

The school building is excellent in every way. In that remote place visitors are surprised upon seeing such an institution of the Church at work, and seeing the happy children surrounding the building at play.

Bishop Bentley makes his headquarters here at Nenana, and lives in a beautiful log house that he built himself. The grounds have been so improved that they are a delight to the eye. The garden work is carried on to such an extent that the vegetables grown are sufficient for the needs of the school. Upwards of 10,000 pounds of potatoes were grown here, in addition to other vegetables. Miss Blacknall has wonderful success in growing luscious tomatoes, cucumbers and peppers in her greenhouse.

The faithfulness and loyalty of the workers it would be impossible for me to emphasize too strongly. Miss Blacknall has been the head of the school for many years and it is natural that she should feel the strain and desire a sufficient furlough or rest to recuperate. It is my hope that she will be able to return to the United States this coming summer and have a real rest. Deaconess Thompson, who is loyalty itself, and unsparing in her service, will probably take charge during the absence of Miss Blacknall.

Nenana is a beautiful mission and I am proud of it, and the Church should be, too.

The Arctic

From Nenana I went on to Fairbanks and arranged immediately for an airplane trip to the Arctic. The morning I was leaving was the occasion of the worst earthquake that Fairbanks has ever experienced. I don't know that my leaving Fairbanks had anything to do with it. However, I was there and felt it.

From Fairbanks, I flew by plane to Nome, stopping on the way at Ruby. As Nome is rather a small community, though an important mining section, from the lack of sufficient nucleus of Church people some years ago I had to withdraw or withhold doing church work there except on such visits as I was able myself to make. I had baptisms and services, but had to make haste to continue my flight from Nome across the Sawtooth Mountains to Kotzebue.

Kotzebue is at the mouth of the Kobuk River, and is a trading point inhabited by Eskimo and traders. There is a Government hospital and missionary work is being done by the Friends here, also recently the Roman Catholic Church has entered upon work here. Father Menenje, Roman Catholic priest, was very kind and hospitable and we enjoyed each other for a few hours. Then the plane being refueled, we flew on north.

Along the shore of the Arctic Ocean, dodging bad capes by going inside of them, we arrived at the Eskimo village named Kivalina. Here we landed for the purpose of informing the Eskimo people that in a few days I would return from the North, and I wanted them all to be ready so that we could have services and administer Holy Baptism to those prepared, also Confirmation with the Holy Communion. It was interesting to land on the beach. There is no prepared landing place but fortunately the sand is sufficiently hard so that the landing was not very difficult. People watched us with a great deal of interest.

From Kivalina we flew still north until we came to the mission of St. Thomas at Point Hope where the missionary, the Venerable Frederic W. Goodman, D.D., seemed to anticipate the time of our arrival and was ready for us. Here again we told the Eskimo people to be ready against our return in a few days. Taking Archdeacon Goodman in the plane, we flew still north, passing Cape Lisburne, Icy Cape, and landing on a low sand spit at Point Lay. Here is quite a large Eskimo village. Again we told them that we would stop on our way back and hold services, and flew on, expecting to reach Point Barrow before it got too dark, but on this part of the flight dense fog blew in from the Arctic Ocean and we were simply flying through a mist of fog, unable to see shore, the water, or anything. I confess that I was a little bit worried as to the result of this part of the flight, but with admirable courage, the pilot kept flying north and, happily, as we reached the village of Cape Wainwright, the mist opened and we were able to see where we could land.

Cape Wainwright, is a village of 450 Eskimo. Many of them are members of our Church. We were held up here three days and three nights on account of fog. The Government has a school at this point. We received hospitality from old friends, trader Dick Hall and A. G. Allen, were very kind. It gave us an opportunity of visiting the Eskimo people and learning of their desires and wants. They pleaded very much for a church and a missionary. I was so touched with the appeal at Cape Wainwright, Point Lay, and Kivalina that I took the matter up with Archdeacon Goodman and we came to a decision to make some attempt to minister to these scattered members of the Church whom in the years past we had baptized and confirmed and then had to neglect more or less because—what can one lone missionary along that long, bleak Arctic Coast do to reach members of the Church in either direction 200 or 300 miles away?

At last we were able to get away from Cape Wainwright and fly north, and within fifteen miles of Point Barrow we passed the place where three years before Will Rogers and Wiley Post lost their lives in an airplane tragedy. There is nothing much to mark the place. It seems to me that it would be fitting that some monument should be placed there.

Without further trouble we arrived at Point Barrow, and wasn't it cold! The wind was blowing from the North across that great field of ice and until a parka was loaned me, my teeth chattered with the cold. Even though it was then the last of July, the temperature was zero. You can understand that the advent of anybody arriving at an isolated place like Point Barrow was an event—so our arrival was an event. People came from their igloos from all directions and soon we were surrounded by a multitude of about four hundred Eskimo. The only white people of the place were Charlie Brower, an old friend of many years, the Government doctor and his wife, and the radio station man. We could not give much time to Point Barrow because we could see the fog rising on the ocean and it was likely to cut us off from our return trip south. We flew again to Cape Wainwright, where we landed and held services, and then flew to Point Lay, where we found the people already awaiting us, but instead of getting back, as we had hoped, inside of thirty-six hours, it was more than ninety hours since we had left them. At once we repaired to the school house. It is a Government school building and the teacher is one of our boys trained at Point Hope, sent out by me to Mt. Hermon School in Massachusetts, and now a teacher under the Government service, with his wife. The services consisted first in a number of baptisms taken by Archdeacon Goodman, and then twenty-seven Eskimo were presented for confirmation who had been, partly by Archdeacon Goodman and through Tony Joule, prepared through three years teaching. We had some refreshments after the services, visited the few sick people in the place, and it was a real joy to realize that everybody in that community was a Christian and was deeply anxious for the Church to minister to them more effectively than it has been able to do in the past. So here again is another point at which we hope to build a church for these people. It will be of a modest character, suitable to the environment and conditions of the country. It is proposed that it will not cost more than $2,000. I am afraid this is a low estimate. However, it is the estimate that Archdeacon Goodman suggested.

Bidding good-bye to these good people, we flew on south, hoping to land at Point Hope and hold services, but we were cut off by the fog and had to continue flying south for safety, dodging the fog as well as we could, unable to find a landing place until we got back to Kotzebue. While in Kotzebue we were the guests of an old friend, Paul Dubitovich, and his family. Unfortunately the weather was so foggy and windy that we were compelled to stay in Kotzebue for over three days. On the third day the pilot of the airplane had a call to get back to Fairbanks, and as the fog did not extend south, he decided to go back to Fairbanks, after getting my consent, which consent would not have been given had there not been another airplane at Kotzebue which we could use for further flights. So when the fog cleared, we flew north again to Kivalina and there found the people all ready and waiting for us, and they had been waiting for days. They had come from far-off places just to have the privilege of participating in the services. It touches one very deeply to see what sacrifices these people will make, what trouble they will take, what labor they go through, in order that they may have the privilege of having the services of the Church. So here we visited them, held services, had baptisms, and I confirmed a class of nineteen. This class had been prepared by a teacher of the school, whom I had three years before confirmed with his wife and boy, though they had belonged to the Friends. However, through Archdeacon Goodman's help, Mr. Wagner had done his best to teach and instruct the Eskimo in the teachings of the Church.

Traveling by plane makes it impossible for one to spend much time in a place. So we had to leave as soon as possible and flew north again to Point Hope, thus doubling more or less the trip. At Point Hope, as in the other places, the people were all waiting and ready to receive us. As soon as we landed the bell rang calling the people to church. They don't need a bell to call them to church. They go to church without any bell, they are so devoted to it. As Archdeacon Goodman was on the point of leaving for a furlough, it made the occasion especially touching. The people were in grief that their leader should be away from them for a year or more. However, we have developed so much leadership among some of the people, that Archdeacon Goodman felt, and I think he is right about it, that it would be good for them to be left on their own resources for a year. In other words, they are to carry on by themselves the services as far as possible, and I believe that they will do this with the utmost loyalty and devotion. The service held that day was impressive. There was a large class presented for confirmation by Archdeacon Goodman, and having done as much as we could and time being important, Archdeacon Goodman closed the mission building—that is, his residence, and we took the plane and flew from Point Hope to Kotzebue, again barely escaping the fog that was blowing in from the Arctic Ocean. However, we made a safe landing.

Having visited Kotzebue thoroughly during the compelled stay we had there, as soon as we could get away the next day, after refueling, we flew across the Kotzebue Sound to a mining camp, Candle, on the Inmachuck River. Here I was surprised to find a growing mining camp so far north in the Arctic Region. Two dredges were here at work and two more were being built. It is astonishing how widespread gold mining is going on in Alaska. This camp at Candle is an illustration. Then three hundred miles to the eastward and north, on the Shungnak, there is an outfit of dredging machinery recently put in here, capitalized by men from Detroit, Michigan, and they are finding gold.

The next part of our flight was across the tremendous, volcanic tundra wilderness eastward to the Koyokuk River, and then across the Tosikakat River to Fairbanks. It was a great comfort to get back safely to Fairbanks after such a long plane flight, and I was deeply thankful.

In Fairbanks, for the Sunday that I was there, we had quite a number of clergy—that is, for us. Bishop Bentley was there, Archdeacon Goodman, Rev. E. A. McIntosh, and the rector of the church, the Rev. C. P. Shelton, and myself. The weather was beautiful, with some occasional showers, and the earthquake tremors still continued. After a very happy visit in Fairbanks, and a visit on the mining creeks, meeting and greeting friends of the past, old timers, sourdoughs, I took a train back to Anchorage.

Here in Anchorage, I spent another week, at the same time visited Matanuska and performed the marriage of Dr. J. H. Romig and Mrs. Craig.

Seward

My next visit was to Seward, where we have nice Church property, but no minister, and have not had for many years, to minister to the people. The communicants depend upon such visits as I may be able to make during the year. The town is beautiful so far as site is concerned. It is at the head of the great Resurrection Bay, surrounded by snow-capped mountains on every side. The population remains rather stationary. All I could do was to visit the people of Seward, hold services and baptize the children who were brought to me.

On the Sunday I was there, I held services in the church, and the Methodist minister and his congregation courteously gave up their service and as a body came over to worship in our church. In the evening, I went to the Jessie Lee Home, which is a Methodist institution, and preached at the service held there.

Cordova

From Seward I took the steamer for Cordova. As I had had to pass up Cordova on my journey north, I was glad to be able to give a little over a week's visit among the people here. Here is our St. George's Church, and it is a beautiful one, also the Red Dragon Library and a rectory. The town sometimes is busy but very often it is not. It doesn't grow. We have a wonderful Woman's Guild here, the president being Mrs. Chadwick, while the wife of the superintendent of the Copper River Railroad, Mrs. Hansen, has charge of the Red Dragon Library—makes that her specialty, and attends to it with the utmost interest and faithfulness. She is also treasurer of the Guild. Here again the members of the Guild are begging and begging me to give them someone who may minister to them, but I seem to be helpless. I suppose I ought not to be. There are clergy enough in the United States so that it ought not to be difficult to find one for such a place as Cordova and Valdez, but it is not everyone who is suited for the work in these places. I would rather let them suffer than make a misfit, but I hope that it may not be long until I am able to satisfy them by sending a clergyman to them.

Cordova is the beginning of the Copper River Railroad. It depends upon the canned salmon business, and the canned crabs. It is an interesting town. The leading people are alert and fine and interesting, and the situation of the town is beautiful. It is also the headquarters of the Coast Guard Cutter, and I had the pleasure of visiting the Cutter and meeting the officers while I was in Cordova.

Having made this visit, I took the steamer for Seattle. I had started out rather incapacitated, not a bit well, but by the time I was on my way from Cordova to Seattle, I had recovered very much. The trip from Cordova took a long time as it was the last trip of the steamer and she went into all sorts of places to pick up canned salmon, but eventually I reached Seattle and had a few weeks' rest before starting for the General Convention in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Outside of Alaska, I officiated in different churches and had some baptisms, and one or two confirmations.

Returning from the General Convention, after a visit again in Seattle, I made a trip to Southern California—to Coronado, San Diego, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, largely to keep in contact with many of my old friends whom I had met in the Northland. I had a very happy visit everywhere, with some very unusual experiences, too.

Visitations and Official Acts of the Suffragan Bishop

During the year official visitations have been made to our missions at Alakaket, Anchorage, Anvik, Fairbanks, Ft. Yukon, Nenana and Tanana. Other visits have been made at many camps and communities where we have no resident worker.

The Suffragan Bishop left his home at Nenana in mid-September to attend the General Convention in Cincinnati. Following the Convention he was sent on a speaking tour in the Dioceses of Chicago, Massachusetts and South Florida. At the conclusion of this tour he spent the month of December in Virginia, filling engagements in the Dioceses of Virginia and Southern Virginia.

The following official acts are reported:

	Bap- tisms	Confir- mations	Mar- riages	Ordi- nations	Burials
In Alaska....	20	38	2	1	3
In Chicago....	..	3
In Southern Virginia ...	5	41	1

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF HONOLULU

The work of this Church in the Hawaiian Islands began in 1902

The Missionary District of Honolulu includes the Hawaiian Islands, consisting of Oahu, Maui, Kauai, Hawaii, Molokai, and the smaller islands. The seven main islands composing it have a land area of 6,651 square miles and are scattered over about 100,000 square miles of the Pacific Ocean. The district also includes Midway; and, in addition, the American Islands of the Samoan group, Tutuila, Olusinga, Manua, Ofu, and Rose. Population (the Hawaiian group only), 380,000. The district was established by the General Convention in the year 1901. On April 1, 1902, the Bishop of California, acting for the Presiding Bishop, took over from the Church of England its entire work and property. The Samoan Islands were added in 1904. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. S. Harrington Littell, S.T.D., consecrated February 27, 1930.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

IN the past year of 1937 significant changes have taken place in the aspect and outlook of the Christian Church. Oxford and Edinburgh have contributed an understanding of world problems, particularly those connected with conflict between races and nations, while at the same time setting in motion forces which in God's time will help lead to that peace and unity within the Christian Church which are the yearning of our one Lord and Master, who prayed as He neared the time of His sacrifice on the Cross "that they all may be one . . . that the world may believe." The spread of the Kingdom of God, with the recognition of His Sovereignty in all aspects of life, seems dependent upon the corporate and visible unity of Christendom.

Cincinnati, for our part of the Anglican communion, registered not only its conviction that unity is essential, but continued its approach to other Christian communions with a view to ultimate reunion, in definite and tangible manner. That eager desire for unity was part of the splendid missionary spirit which made the Convention truly great. The unity of the Kingdom, the application of the principles of the Kingdom for human justice in social, racial, and international relations, and the spread of the Kingdom of Truth were the three marks of the Convention, inextricably interwoven, a trinity in life, love, and work which truly symbolizes the nature of the Triune God. I hope we may appropriate to ourselves in this missionary field the new vision of ultimate unity and of the ultimate world-wide spread of the Church which Oxford, Edinburgh, and Cincinnati stand for.

It will be our aim to carry, not only within our own borders, but toward all other branches of the Christian Church and toward all religions which seek to find and worship God, that spirit of unity, expressed in generous tolerance and sympathy based on firm and unchanging Christian convictions, seeking "not compromise for the sake of unity, but comprehension for the sake of truth," and working toward this divinely-revealed ideal by increased earnestness and zeal in our efforts to spread the knowledge of the Gospel of the Faith and Love of God.

The past year in the Church life of this missionary field has contained its lights and shadows. There is much for which we can be truly thankful, and there is much that should cause the kind of dissatisfaction which leads to deeper faith and greater effort. The connection between the material and the spiritual must be constantly re-emphasized. The things which are seen are temporal and easier to recognize and catalogue, while the unseen and eternal and spiritual forces underlying the material, and the more important of the two, easily elude observation and evaluation. There has been real material growth during the past year in several directions. Our financial condition is comparatively good. The sum total given for all purposes, including several special funds such as have been received by St. Clement's and the Shingle Memorial Hospital, carry the amount above that of recent years, being $105,935.34.

There have been changes in the staff of workers, the largest number being among teachers of Iolani and the Priory Schools. Christ Church, Kona, after a period of patient waiting, has welcomed the Rev. Kenneth O. Miller and his family. Miss Helen Seu has completed her years of preparation in college here and training school on the mainland, and has been appointed as a missionary, in accordance with her conviction of many years. We welcome two Army chaplains and a Navy chaplain, the first of such service chaplains to be appointed to posts in Hawaii for half a dozen years. We have profited by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roberts, loaned to Iolani School by the Bishop of Shanghai and the president of St. John's University, during this time of upheaval in China.

Diocesan finances seem to be in fairly good shape. We have paid our quota to the National Council in full, and ended the year with local current expenses also practically met in full. I cannot speak too highly of the services rendered to the diocese by the Board of Directors. The cheerfulness with which time and effort have been given to their duties, which grow more rather than less exacting year by year, is equalled only by their ability. To the Corporation, as to the other voluntary committees and commissions which have been faithful and unsparing, I want to express the thanks which are due and fitting. New buildings may be mentioned at St. Clement's, the Shingle Memorial Hospital, St. Elizabeth's, and at Good Samaritan Mission, and large repairs carried on at the cathedral and in rectories on Maui and Hawaii.

After eighteen months of serious difficulties through shipping labor problems, the Seamen's Church Institute is once more filled to overflowing, with a waiting list of men who seek accommodations.

Certain matters which I felt were both timely and important were brought before our Annual Convocation in February for action or consideration. I quote them as I presented them at that time.

1. The General Convention after considerable discussion reached the conclusion that medical examination of persons preparing for marriage could well be urged upon various state and territorial legislatures. I asked that Convocation give this matter its attention with a view to urging our territorial legislature to require physical examinations of all persons before issuing marriage licenses.

2. The rector and vestry of St. Andrew's Cathedral Parish have taken financial responsibility for replacing the entire roof of the cathedral, and for repairing the roof of the cloisters. Inasmuch as this is the cathedral of the diocese, the charge for these unavoidable repairs might well have been laid upon the entire diocese.

3. Our whole missionary diocese feels deeply and sympathetically in the problem facing the Chinese Church and the suffering of the Christians, particularly those of our own communion in that land.

4. The Church Army in Hawaii is ready to receive possible candidates or cadets for training in lay evangelistic work. I trust that matter may be brought so directly to all parts of the Church here that the minds of clergy and others will be directed toward the search for worthy and qualified men for preparation in service as laymen in the Church Army.

5. I hope that greater use may be made of the large number of graduates and other former pupils of Iolani School and St. Andrew's Priory School, not only in maintaining their interest in and support for these diocesan schools, but also, and chiefly, for interest and participation in local Church work in their communities.

6. I would like to emphasize the increasing urgency of our rural work. With the increasing and commendable efforts on the part of organizations, plantations, and ranches in welfare work within their borders, and the large increase of men and women in this work in these industries, for the mental, physical, and social betterment of their employees, the Church is faced with the opportunity to contribute the spiritual emphasis, and this emphasis is increasingly needed as the other features of rural work are cared for.

7. The weakest spot in our work, so far as it touches the various racial groups which make up our population, is that among the large element of Japanese ancestry.

The fundamental aim of our work in this missionary field is evangelistic. This aim must be kept clear and made increasingly dominant. It must not be subordinated to any secondary objective however urgent it may seem, nor should it be regarded as fulfilled in humanitarian service, however important. I end with the Declaration of a recent meeting of Mission Boards:

"The supreme and controlling aim of foreign missions is to make the Lord Jesus Christ known to all men as their Divine Saviour and to persuade them to become His disciples; to gather these disciples into Christian churches which shall be self-propagating, self-supporting, and self-governing; to co-operate, so long as necessary, with these churches in the evangelizing of their countrymen, and in bringing to bear on all human life the spirit and principles of Christ."

THE PANAMA CANAL ZONE

The work of this Church on the Isthmus of Panama began in 1855. The work was resumed in 1907

The Missionary District of the Panama Canal Zone comprises (1) the Canal Zone, a perpetual right of way purchased by the United States from the Republic of Panama in 1904, ten miles wide and forty-eight miles in length from the Atlantic to the Pacific; (2) that portion of the Republic of Panama lying to the east of the Canal Zone and including the cities of Panama and Colon; (3) that part of the Republic of Colombia included within the jurisdiction of the Bishop of British Honduras prior to March, 1906, being the eastern half of the Republic of Colombia. The present Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Harry Beal, D.D., consecrated January 13, 1937.

The expenditure in 1937 was $14,325. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 14 churches, chapels, and preaching stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE service of my consecration took place in St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, on January 13 but because of the shipping strike on the Pacific Coast I was not able to reach the district until February 15.

A cordial welcome awaited Mrs. Beal and myself. Clergy and people were evidently keenly desirous of resident leadership, although I found the work had been carried on most faithfully by our little band of clergy and lay helpers under the oversight of Bishop Carson.

Children's Home

The first important matter to engage my attention was the maintenance of our Children's Home in Bella Vista, Panama City. Shortly before my arrival the closing of the Home, because of lack of local support, was being seriously considered. I am happy to report that the tide turned in 1937, and the Home is now receiving widespread support from many individuals and organizations in Panama City and the Canal Zone.

Besides contributions of money and donations in kind, gifts to the Home this past year have included an auto bus to transport the children to and from school and the cathedral, a new electric refrigerator, and other articles of equipment.

Miss Claire E. Ogden has continued her devoted work as housemother. Miss Eleanor Snyder resigned in June after five years of excellent service as Miss Ogden's assistant, and in July Miss Leah M. Waldman, who had just completed her course at the Church Training and Deaconess House of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, came from that diocese to be the assistant housemother.

At the end of the year the Home was caring for thirty-four children, representing nine different nationalities.

Clerical Changes

The Dean of the Cathedral of St. Luke, Ancon, the Very Rev. S. Alston Wragg, was granted a leave of absence from April 24 as he wished to return to the States. He gave five years of faithful service here. I have taken over the responsibility of caring for the cathedral and have had the assistance of some of the clergy of the district and during my absence to attend General Convention the work was cared for by the generous interest of two retired clergymen of the Diocese of Western Massachusetts, the Rev. Dr. J. Franklin Carter and the Rev. Canon Arthur Chase, who came down to the Canal Zone for this purpose.

The Rev. David A. Osborne was advanced to the priesthood July 24. He had been a Deacon for six years, assisting in the care of St. Alban's Church, Paraiso, in which community he has been principal of the Canal Zone public school for colored children for nineteen years. Mr. Osborne has now taken full charge of St. Alban's Church and continues to give his services, receiving only a lay reader's stipend.

The five priests of the district in active service at the end of the year have given an average of nearly nineteen years apiece of ministry in this district. This splendid record of long continued pastoral work has, of course, meant solidly built, constructive endeavor.

Archdeacon Cooper arrived on the Isthmus in September, 1907, and, we are thankful, goes on in his ministry with unabated effort and consecration. The Rev. John Talbot Mulcare began his ministry here in 1908, the Rev. Arthur Francis Nightengale in 1915, and the Rev. Robert Wayne Jackson came to the district in 1933. The whole Church should know of the steadfast and loyal service of this little group in this difficult field in the tropics.

Care of Property

The Bishop's House in Ancon, built in 1921, required considerable repairing and repainting, and nearly all the expense came from the repair fund of the district budget. The house has been furnished from the missionary allowance, and the furniture will remain in the house.

The rectory at New Cristobal had also had repairs made and the roof painted, this expense coming from the district budget.

The crypt, or undercroft, of the Cathedral of St. Luke was redecorated by the Woman's Guild and with the gracious permission of Bishop Morris has been named "Bishop Morris Hall." Thus we record in one way our affectionate tribute to the first Bishop of the district.

As the year closed we were about ready to remove St. Alban's Church from Paraiso some two miles away to Red Tank, where the Canal authorities have assigned us a lot. This move is to be made because the Canal authorities are evacuating Paraiso.

The Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Mt. Hope, was put in fine condition just as the year opened. The congregation is still valiantly trying to pay off this indebtedness.

Urgent needs are the building of a parish house in New Cristobal which can also be used for worship, the building of a new church in the new town of Gamboa (our present church at Gamboa is in the old settlement, across the Chagres River), and the provision of a parish house for St. Paul's, Panama. Sometime we should have a building in Las Sabanas, a growing suburb of Panama.

Both People and Square Miles

This district can boast of both people and square miles, though we have the people in one place and the square miles in another.

In the Canal Zone and the contiguous cities of Panama and Colon we have some 18,000 baptized persons in our care. In the United States one clergyman ministers to about 400 baptized persons on the average. Here the ratio is one clergyman to about 2,700 people!

St. Paul's parish, Panama, contains about 8,000 baptized persons, more than are under the Church's care in any one of twenty-eight jurisdictions in the United States. Yet St. Paul's, Panama, has only one clergyman and no parish house.

It is difficult to see how the Church in the United States can say that it has in any adequate way taken over its responsibility when the agreement was made with the Church of England and some 40,000 British West Indian Negroes came over to build the Panama Canal. These children of the Church have not been adequately shepherded, though a few faithful clergy down here have been doing their best. It should be a point of honor with our Church and a veritable call of Christ to provide more men and equipment for this field.

The table of statistics shows the ministrations of the Church in this district. The Rev. Arthur Francis Nightengale has continued his weekly visits to the Palo Seco Leper Colony to celebrate the Holy Communion in the Chapel of the Holy Comforter, and also his weekly services at Corozal Hospital for the Insane. The Rev. John T. Mulcare has continued his services once a month at Gamboa Penitentiary.

Eastern Colombia

We have the square miles of the district over in Eastern Colombia, an area about half as large as Texas. In September I visited Cartagena and Barranquilla, holding services in both places, and spent a few hours at Santa Marta. There are little groups of American and British people in the seaport cities and up the Magdalena River valley in the oil fields and gold-mining camps. Eastern Colombia is developing rapidly. People of our own faith are almost altogether without pastoral care. We ought to send someone among them.

Meeting Our Expectation

This district took as its expectation for the General Church Program the sum of $1,200 for the year 1937. $1,222.11 was contributed, and every congregation in the district paid, or overpaid, its share.

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

The work of this Church in the Philippine Islands began in 1898

The Missionary District of the Philippine Islands includes the archipelago bearing that name, together with Guam and Wake Islands. It has an area of 115,026 square miles and a population of 13,460,000. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in the year 1901. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Gouverneur F. Mosher, D.D., consecrated February 25, 1920.

The expenditure in the Philippines for 1937 was $104,414. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 57 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

IT is my privilege to submit herewith my Annual Report for the Eighteenth year of my Episcopate ending December 31, 1937.

The main event of the year has been the election of a Suffragan Bishop and in the choice of the Rev. Robert Franklin Wilner I feel that the House of Bishops has given to the diocese one who will unfailingly carry on the work of the mission both wisely and well. As the year closes we are still uncertain as to the possibility of the Bishops from China coming to Manila for his consecration but we have every hope that the Service will take place on St. Paul's Day, January 25, 1938.

This year has been one of an unusually long absence from the field on my part which was necessitated by continued illness. I left Manila on May 10, and arrived back on December 18. This is a much longer time than usually has been necessary for me to be absent in attendance upon General Convention and was made necessary by persistent ill health. For three months in the summer I was not well enough to carry on any work and it was with some effort that I managed to attend General Convention, and for one month after that to travel and fulfill appointments for speaking. It seemed to me that my condition made it desirable to secure an opinion from Dr. I. W. Kingsbury of Hartford who has examined me triennially ever since I have been Bishop. After a very thorough examination in June he gave his written opinion that it would be possible for me to return to the diocese provided I had help in my work, but he felt that, in justice to the diocese, I should retire within two or three years. In view of this it is my purpose when we hold Convocation, at the end of January, to state that in 1940 I shall present my resignation to the Presiding Bishop and ask that it be acted upon at the time of General Convention. It is not easy after more than forty years to contemplate giving up a life work and leaving the mission field, but I have been convinced that I cannot hope for a sufficient recovery of physical energy to make it possible for me to do the work that this diocese absolutely requires. I feel, therefore, that I have no alternative.

Before leaving for America at the beginning of the year, it was possible for me to make a very thorough visitation in the mountains of the north. From Besao I visited three or four stations that have never had episcopal visitation before and felt encouraged to see a developing work at a time when there is so much restraint and discouragement. Together with a few services in Manila I confirmed a total of 672 during the year. Mr. McAfee and I agreed that it would not be wise to visit Upi and its outstations and to confirm there a few hundred who are awaiting confirmation; Mr. McAfee's furlough was overdue fifteen months and since it was necessary that he should go on furlough at a time when there was no priest to take his place, it seemed unwise to confirm large numbers of people who could have no sacramental ministrations for a year to follow.

The missionary depression that continues, no matter what may be the financial situation in the world at large, still bears heavily and sorely upon our work. On my visitation I found a surprising situation in the way in which the clergy and other members of the staff have managed to keep the work going forward in almost all of its branches. I am mindful of the fact that for several years past I have been predicting a crisis in our work, and I am frank to say that the only thing I know that has prevented such a crisis is, what I am sure is the very remarkable work on the part of the clergy and the other members of the mission. I trust the Church at home appreciates and values, as I do myself, the splendid efforts of the staff of this mission and the results of their work. Nevertheless, there can be no question that there are more weak spots in the work today than there were five years ago or even two years ago. In the few weeks since my return from America the urgent demands that have been made upon me, nearly all of which I have been unable to meet; have served me with a warning that the situation is still critical and more so than at any time in the past. It has been possible to overcome difficulties and to carry on with something from the old time impetus, but now the vigor has departed and the work unquestionably is slowing down. No mission can function vigorously when its appropriation has been reduced for several years in succession by more than one-third.

If the home Church would send us immediately ten new clergymen, this mission could absorb them without any trouble and they would suffice to keep going the work that we have at the present time. They would not suffice for any perceptible expansion. And the greatest need that we have for more clergy is that we should have a staff adequate to train native young men for the Church's ministry, something that at the present time we are doing most ineffectively and unsatisfactorily. This, of course, is the most crucial work in our mission life, and my heart is heavy as I realize that after nearly twenty years of my episcopate I still have been unable to place one native clergyman in the field.

This year has seen a most wonderful opportunity open to us in educational work, for the Government suddenly, and with almost no warning, cut out the three upper classes of intermediate work in perhaps nine-tenths of the schools throughout the Islands. This has practically forced us to increase the number of pupils in a way that would have been very advantageous to us if we had been in any position whatsoever to increase our school facilities and to carry on a more aggressive work. It is most unfortunate that the opening came at a time when in every school the number of missionaries engaged in the work is below anything the mission has known before for many years. We are sorely in need of both men and women teachers who could come immediately and help us to redeem something of the opportunity lost during this past year. It lies with the Church to say how much of the opportunity we shall accept, for the opening is practically unlimited.

A rather curious situation has developed in our medical work. The demands upon both Government and private hospitals in the Islands are so immensely greater than the existing hospitals can accommodate, that the Government took a rather unique step. Feeling unable to extend their own hospital service, they contrived to increase the number of private hospitals by throwing into them all of the pay patients. Government hospitals are not receiving patients who pay for their treatment and therefore the private hospitals have a much larger proportion of pay patients than they have ever had before and are not required to do such a disproportionate amount of charity work: this enables them to increase their plant and to extend their work. For two or three years the Zamboanga Hospital has received no money from the mission at all, even Dr. Trota's and Mrs. MacLaren's salaries being paid by the hospital. St. Luke's Hospital has had to increase its field of service very materially, and as its expenses have increased so has its income, and Mr. Stewart, the superintendent, has a vision towards which he is working of reaching the point where he may say that there is no longer call for funds from the home Church with which to pay for administration. If St. Luke's were in better physical condition and more truly and adequately prepared to render a balanced service, Mr. Stewart's dream might possibly be realized before long. Under present circumstances, however, one questions the possibility of its becoming a reality. And in connection with all of our hospital work may I suggest how anomalous it appears to me as a missionary Bishop that I have to carry on missionary work in three hospitals without any missionary doctor in any one of them. I think I never shall be able to understand how our great Church in America fails to develop devotion to our Lord in some of its many thousands of doctors sufficiently to induce one or two of them to give their lives to Christ's work in a field such as this.

Last summer the Japanese atrocities in China drove thousands of Americans out of the country and among them were some of our missionaries. I am very proud of the fact that members of our mission staff, here in the Philippines, sensed immediately the distress of mind in which our colleagues in China would find themselves and wrote to Shanghai letters offering hospitality and assuring them of a cordial welcome. Some of those who came from there have told me of the immense relief in their minds when they had this message from Manila. Information of the situation was cabled to me in America and I immediately cabled back appointing a committee consisting of the Rev. Messrs. Gowen, Wilner and Linsley to have authority and to act in conjunction with the mission treasurer, Miss Griffin, in receiving the missionaries and appointing them to places of residence and, where desirable, also of work. Several of them were called back to their fields by the Bishop of Shanghai when the situation there cleared and now all have gone with one single exception. I wish to record gratefully the spirit in which these refugees came to us and accepted such hospitality as we were able to give, and, while they were here, gave on their part devoted labor to our mission work. They helped us very greatly. I speak for the members of our staff here when I say that we value the friendship that has been built up between the two missions by this opportunity for the missionaries to become acquainted.

On August 27, Manila experienced the most serious earthquake that it has known since 1882, and severe damage was done in many places in the city. The Church was particularly fortunate in that practically no damage was done to mission property. Such little damage as did result we were able to make good ourselves.

We continue to be the plaything of politics, and although every effort is made to keep the Church free from all connection with politics, of any sort, yet we cannot but be affected by the situation in which we live. Particularly is it to be noticed that there is a constant stream of interrogation from Churchmen in America who seem quite determined that when the Philippines cease to be an American possession the opportunity for mission work will be forcibly removed. All over the world our Church has missions in countries which are not possessions of the United States and it would be much to our advantage if the National Council would emphasize most strongly that the only difference to us will be in nomenclature: we shall be no longer Extra-Continental but we shall become a Foreign Mission. The grand heritage of the work of the past forty years is a foundation upon which the Church in America can build a daughter Church of which it will be immensely proud, provided the work is carried on aggressively and we here in the field are enabled to accept opportunities when they open up before us. At the present moment nothing could be more indistinct than the relations between the United States on the one hand and the Commonwealth of the Philippines on the other, for no honest and clear statement is ever made and no one has any information other than that which is suitable for publication in the daily Press. But one fails to see how a final solution, if one ever comes, can affect the Church in any way other than is found in other lands. Apart from the general situation as it affects all of our work, I have been most woefully hampered as regards two of our institutions:

(1). In the first place there is the urgent necessity for rebuilding in a permanent way Brent School in Baguio, and for scholarships there for mission children, and, further, for scholarships for other children such as one finds in all schools in the world. I think I have never known myself so hampered in any work and so prevented from normal and prideful development as I have been in this Institution that, throughout my episcopate, has never had a penny of support from mission funds and has been carried on entirely as a private venture in the same way that it was carried on by Bishop Brent, my predecessor. The stand is taken that if the Philippines become independent the need for a school for American children will no longer exist. Yet there are American schools, more than one of them, in Japan, in China, even in Europe. There will always be Americans in the Philippines who will want their children educated in an American school. On the other hand suppose, for the sake of argument, all Americans did leave the Islands. With our great need for diocesan educational work among our natives there still would be abundant usefulness for such a school plant. One thinks immediately of a similar situation in America where Dartmouth College, in Hanover, was founded for the purpose of educating Indians, but today is one of our outstanding colleges for the education of those Anglo-Saxons who have now become the natives of the United States. I can find no argument that cannot be answered at least to my satisfaction when I think of the urgency of my need for Brent School. And when I read in the papers of million after million of dollars given by Americans to educational institutions in their own neighborhood, I cannot help yearning for someone with the spirit of Eli Yale or of John Harvard who will look beyond the seas and give just a little sum to lay the foundations of an institution that someday may stand foremost in the educational work of this Island Archipelago.

(2). We here live in a Roman Catholic country, we see a Church that has not yet turned over to secular support all control of charitable work such as schools, hospitals, orphanages, homes for the old men and old women, and similar institutions. This perhaps is the contributory cause for a major discontent that develops in my mind when I am told, as I was told in America, that our Church intends to give up hospitals and medical work as one of its missionary agencies. There was, and there is, the amelioration in the assurance that our own St. Luke's in Manila will not be taken away, for its really wonderful service and excellent position in the Islands has won for it an enduring place. Nevertheless, the pitifully small sum of $350,000 was felt by the National Council too large for the great Episcopal Church in the United States to give for the rebuilding in concrete of this hospital which has done such wonderful work in the wooden structure that has already endured the many destructive elements of the tropics. Once again, in addition to our desire to get away from the expense of this magnificent form of service to the people, there is raised the objection that Americans may leave the Philippines.

This halting, this hesitation, this lack of altruism that would limit our interests to those of our own people in this far-away land has, of course, resulted in our failure to show an interest in the natives of the land to whom we have come to teach by both word and example the life of our Saviour Christ. The Bishop, even though he be a missionary Bishop and therefore the principal server of tables, cannot but be horrified at such a defection and at such a departure from the first principles of Christian life and love of giving.

There is only one other matter to which I would refer. By action taken in Cincinnati a very much wider freedom is to be given to the missionary Bishops in the use of appropriated funds and one feels that at last the shackles of hopeless inefficiency are removed and what the Church can give can hereafter be used at least in the most efficient way. But there is one important thing still lacking and that is that, although we have already entered upon the new year, neither the Bishop nor the treasurer have as yet had any information as to what the Appropriation for this current year is to be. A year ago it was April before information came, and I simply submit in all candor to anyone who has the slightest business instinct, that it is utterly impossible to carry on any work worth while for weeks and even months, at the beginning of a year, without knowing what provision is to be made during that year for the carrying on of that work. I beg, therefore, that this may be given the consideration it merits and that members of the National Council in their experience and wisdom will evolve some way by which at least a minimum amount may be given as a starting basis even though the final and the exact amount may have to be determined at a later date.

TINGUIAN MEMBERS, ST. PAUL'S MISSION, BALBALASANG, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

A DAILY VACATION CHURCH SCHOOL IN PUERTO RICO

One of the many activities of St. Andrew's Mission in Mayaguez is this summer enterprise for neighborhood children. The Rev. F. A. Saylor, the priest-in-charge, is in a white cassock at the rear. Also in the rear are Deaconess Margaret Bechtol and the Rev. L. G. Meyer

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF PUERTO RICO

The work of this Church in Puerto Rico began in 1898

The Missionary District of Puerto Rico includes Puerto Rico and adjacent islands, and the Virgin Islands of the United States. It has an area of 3,600 square miles and a population of 1,543,913 in Puerto Rico and 22,012 in the Virgin Islands. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention in the year 1901. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Charles Blayney Colmore, D.D., consecrated December 17, 1913.

The expenditure in 1937 was $55,144. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 29 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

AGAIN our vital statistics show an active spiritual life in this part of the Church, and our record in a material way upholds the spiritual. We have maintained our high standard for our part in the expense of the national Church and have overpaid our quota. We make this part of our work an expression of our appreciation of what is done for this district. Our quota must seem small, but I wish it were possible to explain how difficult it is for many of our congregations of extremely poor people to pay their part. However, they take pride in paying and in addition have contributed generously to both flood relief in the United States and relief to our stricken brethren in China.

Last year I mentioned that the Rev. John E. Levo had accepted his election as rector of St. Paul's Parish, Fredericksted, in the Virgin Islands. Now, after one year, I want to express my deep appreciation of his personal devotion as a pastor and to the revival of interest under his leadership and to the remarkable rehabilitation of the parish. He will be instituted as rector of the parish in January, 1938.

Also, I should like to call attention to a work being done at All Saints' Parish, St. Thomas. Deaconesses English and Smith, in addition to their other duties, have undertaken for the past three years the care of certain orphan girls in their own home. There are seven at the present time in All Saints' Home. There is no diocesan or national assistance given to this work, and these good women have taken the financial responsibility upon themselves, and as if this were not sufficient, they have undertaken also a day nursery with twenty children for whom the working mothers pay a nominal sum for their care during the day. The necessary funds for these charities are earned by the deaconesses, by taking boarders during the winter season, by selling native handicraft and by solicitation from friends. The earnestness and zeal of these women cannot be praised too highly.

In Puerto Rico, St. Luke's Hospital continues its good work of ministering to the physical necessities of many poor people who otherwise would find difficulty in obtaining hospital care. The hospital is not doing all we would like, due to the reduced income, but the equivalent of practically all funds received from the National Council is expended in charity work, while the hospital earnings are sufficient to meet the other expenditures. In other words the earnings of the hospital are equivalent to four times the amount contributed by the National Council. We are extremely grateful that by strict economies, we still can close the accounts with a small balance each year.

St. Andrew's Craft Shop at Mayaguez continues its good work of providing labor for many working women. Three missions in addition to St. Andrew's, are greatly benefited by our institution and this is the only institution of the Church in Puerto Rico which furnishes a source of income to the district.

Our material equipment has been augmented during the year by the erection of a mortuary chapel at the cemetery in Quebrada Limon which is the only cemetery owned and administered by the Church in Puerto Rico. This chapel is a memorial to Bishop and Mrs. Ferrando and has been erected with funds solicited locally.

A new building for our dispensary at the Ascension, Barahona, was given by Churchwomen in the Diocese of Central New York. It consists of a waiting room, examining room and bath. On Sundays and at other times when not in use as a dispensary it serves for Church school classes and for various other functions in place of a parish house.

The twenty-fifth year of my episcopate in Puerto Rico being in 1938, I have a great personal desire to mark it by adding two country chapels and a church in Ponce to our equipment and by raising a substantial endowment for St. Luke's Hospital.

One young Churchwoman of Puerto Rico is studying medicine in the United States with the intention of serving as a medical missionary among her own people.

Several more young men have signified their desire to offer themselves for the ministry and should soon be accepted as postulants.

The outlook for all native work in this district is bright, and notwithstanding the difficulties attendant upon the reduction in appropriations, we in this field are encouraged that the Lord is apparently using us for the advancement of His Kingdom. God grant us greater strength and will to do our part in accomplishing His purpose.

CHAS. B. COLMORE,
Bishop of Puerto Rico

FOREIGN MISSIONARY DISTRICTS

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF SOUTHERN BRAZIL

The work of this Church in Brazil began in 1889

The Missionary District of Southern Brazil includes the Federal Capital, the coffee and industrial State of São Paulo and the great cattle raising State of Rio Grande do Sul, as well as the States of Santa Catharina and Parana. In this section are found most of the immigrant races, Italians, Germans, Japanese, Syrians and Poles. It has an area of approximately 488,000 square miles. The population is approximately 12,000,000. The district was established by the General Convention of 1907. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. William M. M. Thomas, D.D., formerly Suffragan Bishop, consecrated December 28, 1925, and elected Missionary Bishop on October 19, 1928.

The expenditure in 1937 was $41,327. The appropriation assists in maintaining work in 112 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE year has been a rather hectic one due to the necessity of my assuming for five months the rectorship of Ascension Church, teaching for four months in the Theological School, attending the General Convention and taking part in the work of two of the missionary teams, those that visited the Dioceses of Pennsylvania and Bethlehem. Even so I was able to visit most of our parishes and mission stations, confirming 193 candidates, ordaining 1 priest, performing 4 marriages, taking part in 250 services or meetings and making 196 addresses. I celebrated the Holy Communion 41 times and consecrated one chapel.

Clergy and Other Workers

There have been many changes among the clergy, enough in fact to make us wonder how to fill their places.

The Rev. Messrs. Martin S. Firth and Raymond E. Fuessle resigned and left in February; two of our older clergy died during the year, the Rev. Joseph Orton who had charge of the mission stations between Santos and São Paulo and the Rev. Americo V. Cabral, archdeacon of the missions in the northeastern part of the State of Rio Grande do Sul. The Rev. Gastão de Oliveira asked for his deposition and entered the Roman Church. So that the total number of clergy was reduced from a total of 34 to 29; the year before there were 39. Even so the work has progressed with redoubled zeal on the part of those who have taken over extra work.

The Rev. Timotheo de Silva voluntarily assumed the direction of Mr. Orton's missions. The Rev. Albert N. Roberts with the aid of others of the clergy and theological students has taken up the work of Archdeacon Cabral. Nativity Church, at Dom Pedrito, is the only church that has been left without proper oversight. The Rev. José B. Leão has been assigned to the care of the work there, but he has the church at São Gabriel and has to take off three days to give one to Dom Pedrito. The Rev. Gaudencio V. dos Santos was called from Dom Pedrito to Santa Maria left vacant by the transfer of the Rev. Egmont M. Krischke to Ascension Church, Porto Alegre.

For the first time since the Church was established in Brazil a Brazilian represented us in General Convention. The Rev. Dr. Athalicio T. Pithan left his parish and Independence School at Bagé in charge of his assistant who seems to have carried on with rare ability, and went to the United States as a member of the House of Deputies. This more intimate touch with the Church at home and at work will bear abundant fruit in creating or cementing closer ties of friendship between our national clergy and the Mother Church. Dr. Pithan took part in the work of the missionary teams in Connecticut and West Missouri, and was given the degree of D.D., by the Virginia Theological Seminary.

In December, two men finished their course of theology and will be ordained shortly. Four new men were received into the Seminary and have completed their first year. Four or five more are looking forward to the ministry.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew

In order to conserve the work of the Forward Movement the Brotherhood has been founded in about fifteen parishes and bids fair to fill a great need in the Church. The Rev. Egmont M. Krischke has been appointed Executive Secretary pending the first convention to be held in connection with the annual council in April 1938. The Brotherhood is developing a more devoted and efficient lay leadership.

The Forward Movement

Our Forward Movement is really under way. A Commission appointed by council resolution has met constantly and prepared a plan of progress. Full-page articles in the diocesan paper call constant attention to the Movement and the necessity of a spiritual uplift. It has injected new life into the congregational activities. The small booklets "Avante, de dia a dia" (Forward—day by day), are being published regularly in an edition of 2,000 copies. These and other pamphlets are translated and edited under the direction of the Rev. Egmont M. Krischke, Executive Secretary of the Commission.

Schools

St. Margaret's School enrolled during the year 170 pupils (a 30% increase over the previous year), and balanced its budget. This was made possible by the fact that all the teachers willingly gave their services for exceedingly small salaries. The school is making a very excellent impression. The people of Pelotas are proud to have such a school in their midst.

The Southern Cross School had a smaller increase—from 223 to 243, but unfortunately ended the year with a rather disturbing financial deficit. Under Government inspection a number of improvements became quite necessary; new furniture had to be put in all dormitories; most salaries had to be increased, though it is not so easy to increase the school fees.

Independence School, at Bagé, increased its enrollment from 275 to 317. It is self-supporting and many children are given free instruction. This is made possible only through the self-sacrifice of the teaching staff, which like that at St. Margaret's, gets poor remuneration for their services.

The 18 parochial day schools give primary instruction to 754 children. They are largely for the purpose of holding together the missionary work that centers around them, or providing instruction where there are no other schools available. The cost of maintaining them is insignificant.

The Orphanage

This institution is situated a few miles out in the country from Pelotas. It is only just beginning to function with five happy orphan children. The Rev. Severo da Silva has devoted much time and energy to the planning of orchards, gardens and pasture. With its forty acres of land it is coming to be a small model farm, producing far more than others in the neighborhood. There is plenty of milk and vegetables for the children and enough is sold to buy what cannot be produced on the spot.

Theological Seminary

The clergy in and near Porto Alegre are teaching such subjects as their time permits. Under "personnel" mention has been made of the number of students. A pre-theological course is to be added in lieu of the usual college course all students take in the States. Such courses have been organized throughout Brazil during the past few years as a bridge between the secondary and professional schools. Four or five students will take this course the coming session.

Property

From parochial reports I note the expenditure of quite considerable amounts for upkeep of Church property and improvements.

At Jaguarão the Vestry of Christ Church has acquired the lot adjoining the church. On it they hope to build a parish house and reconstruct the present church building.

The congregation of Agnus Dei, in Santa Catharina, has rebuilt their chapel enlarging it to accommodate an increasing attendance.

A small chapel and school has been built in Colonia Alliança, our western outpost in the Japanese mission.

The Rev. Takeo Shimanuki has with local funds erected a dormitory for his parochial school to accommodate children who live too far off to attend regularly as day scholars.

Work has continued on unfinished buildings at Uezuka, São Paulo, Registro and Santo André.

Archdeacon Cabral

This report would not be complete without special mention of the Rev. Americo V. Cabral, who died on October 18. One of the first who joined forces with the pioneers in the early 90's, he gave his whole life to the building up of the Church among his own people. He was ordained to the diaconate by Bishop Peterkin and advanced to the priesthood by Bishop Stirling, of the Falkland Islands, thus giving forty-four years of uninterrupted service to the ministry. He also served on committees of every description, being for many years President of the Standing Committee. He was of inestimable help to Dr. Brown in the translation of the Prayer Book and afterwards in the last revision. At his death he was a member of the Forward Movement Commission and Custodian of the Prayer Book in Portuguese. For many years he was rector of Trinity Church, Porto Alegre, and when he finally felt unable by reason of age to continue at that post, he withdrew to the village of Viamão, from which as a vantage point he superintended the Northeast Mission, a chain of stations that takes two weeks or more to visit on horseback. It was, however, not the positions he occupied nor so much the manner in which he discharged his duties in them, but rather his genial nature, his unchanging Christian convictions, his exceeding love for and loyalty to the Church, his flowing oratory and his ready wit that won for him an enviable place as priest and preacher.

The Outlook

As the pioneers pass others must and do take up their work. It is encouraging to note that our reduced force, foreign and national, has not only carried on but has actually during the year held more services, increased general offerings by 1%, the number of communicants by 4%, and the number of day-school pupils 15%; they celebrated more marriages and maintained the work in all the mission stations.

This should not be interpreted to mean that our force was too large or our appropriation too liberal. The reduction in salary and general items has had a most enervating effect. A missionary Bishop is expected to give moral support to the legitimate ideals and plans of his clergy. Too often this moral support has to be interpreted in terms of finance. On an emergency budget, which someone has rightly called a submergency budget, the Bishop becomes a damper on the aspirations of the workers. Truly he tries to inspire them to make bricks without straw.

Our theological school should be the secret of all future progress; from it and it alone must our depleted ranks be filled. There are men who want to be trained for the ministry. We have only a third of what is needed for their support. Shall we discourage them and endanger the future of the Church? The answer must be: by no means should or can we! Therefore, with no visible means of support, a group of half a dozen young men of promise will shortly begin their studies in the seminary. They will be The Challenge to the Church in Brazil and to all those who, in the home dioceses, would see the Church in this land of beauty and sunshine go forward in the name of the Lord.

Bishop of Southern Brazil

OUR MISSION IN CHINA

I. MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF ANKING

The work of this Church in China began in 1835

The Missionary District of Anking includes that part of China lying within the Provinces of Anhui, and Kiangsi. It has an area of 123,000 square miles and a population of about 46,000,000. The district was established in 1910. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Daniel Trumbull Huntington, D.D., consecrated March 25, 1912.

The expenditure in 1937 was $46,839. The appropriation assists in maintaining the work in 35 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

I HAVE the honor to present herewith the annual report for the Missionary District of Anking for the year 1937.

The mission has been cheered by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Pickens. Mr. Pickens is, I think, the first clergyman to be sent to the diocese for over twenty years. I regret to announce the resignation of Miss Lucy May Burgin from the mission. Miss Margaret K. Monteiro left China on furlough on June 25. Sister Ruth Magdalene was spending the summer in Japan and found it very difficult to get back to Wuhu and, therefore, returned to America. Sister Louise Magdalene was advised by doctors to take a thorough rest in America and left in June. The Bishop and family left on furlough on June 25.

The Rev. Newton Y. T. Tsiang was offered a position on the staff of the Nanking Union Theological Seminary, which he accepted but never did any actual teaching as the seminary was obliged to evacuate. He therefore returned to the diocese. The Rev. Y. C. Chin, who had been studying agriculture in the University of Nanking, has returned to the diocese and has been put in charge of the work at Tatung.

We have purchased no property during the year, but two buildings have been erected, one a parish house in Kiukiang which is serving a very useful purpose as a home for refugees passing through. It is also, of course, used for meetings in accordance with its original purpose. The other is a similar building at Kingtehchen where we were forced to move back fifteen feet when the street was widened, and tore down some old buildings, putting up a new parish house on land which was formerly rented to a shop. Both of these have been paid for out of Specials with the assistance of the Church Building Fund Commission.

The year divides itself into two very different sections. During the first half the country seemed to be going on normally and as peacefully as could be expected. During the second half, war with Japan overtopped all other considerations. I left for America on June 25 and up to that time there seemed to be no reason to expect a marked change in conditions in the immediate future but soon after came the fighting in the North and then in Shanghai.

During the first half of the year everything proceeded smoothly. I was able to visit a considerable part of the diocese and hold services in a good many of the stations as usual. When the fighting in Shanghai began I cabled asking if they wished my return. As the reply was in the negative I went back to my original plan of staying until after Christmas.

The earlier part of the fighting did not directly affect the Diocese of Anking, but in November and still more in December, as the Japanese moved westward, the conditions in the diocese became more and more tense and when Wuhu and Nanking fell all school work in the larger centers was suspended, and the Church work almost suspended because of the fact that most of the people had refugeeed. This was so in Anking and some of the stations between Wuhu and Anking, but the smaller places which were off the river were able to keep on to a greater extent.

Wuhu was the only station which was actually taken by the Japanese. We were fortunate in having the assistance of other persons who were not of that station. Sister Constance and Mr. Lanphear were there, also Mr. Craighill. Father Morse, of the Japan Community of the S.S.J.E. was there and rendered most valuable assistance, as did Dr. Janet Anderson. The refugees in great numbers came to our compound as also to the other mission compounds, and we were able to take care of about two thousand and save them from the terrible conditions which prevailed outside.

In Anking the city was terrified and a vast majority moved to places which were considered safer. The schools closed and the work in the churches was transferred to the hospital so that only one building was kept in use. The number of patients in the hospital was reduced so that at one time it was almost empty, but soon the people began to return and the work of the hospital was gradually resumed. During this time, however, most of the Chinese staff left for places of safety after consultation with other members of the staff. The foreign members remained.

The treasurer's office was obliged to move to Hankow as it was impossible to get into communication with Shanghai. Miss Clark, therefore, transferred the office and the accounts from Wuhu to Hankow where the Diocese of Hankow kindly gave us room in the mission office building.

During December it was impossible to get into communication with the people of Wuhu and we felt a good deal of anxiety about them, but none of them were hurt and our property there was not seriously damaged. Some minor looting took place but the buildings were neither burned nor bombed. The only place outside of Wuhu taken by the Japanese was Sanshan where I understand the property has been considerably damaged. Fanchang and Nanling were within a few miles of the front lines but were not taken.

Other stations in the diocese have been bombed. Many places have done a great deal in taking care of refugees and wounded soldiers. This is especially so of Nanchang, Kiukiang and Kingtehchen, but other places also have shared in the burden.

DANIEL TRUMBULL HUNTINGTON,
Missionary Bishop of the District of Anking

II. MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF HANKOW

The work of this Church in China began in 1835

The Missionary District of Hankow includes that part of China lying within the Province of Hupeh, and that part of the Province of Hunan lying north of lat. 28 N. By special arrangement with the Bishop of Kuangsi-Hunan, the Bishop of Hankow has accepted jurisdiction over the work of the Chung Hua Shen Kung Hui in Siangtan, which is south of lat. 28 N and, by arrangement with the Bishop of Anking, in Pinghsiang Hsien in Kiangsi. It has an area of about 100,000 square miles, and a population officially estimated at about 45,000,000. The original district was set off from Shanghai in 1901 and included the Missionary District of Anking, which was set off in 1910. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention of 1910. The Bishop was the Rt. Rev. L. H. Roots, D.D., until the acceptance of his resignation by the House of Bishops on October 9, 1937. On October 18, 1937, the Suffragan Bishop, the Rt. Rev. A. A. Gilman, S.T.D., was elected Bishop of Hankow by the House of Bishops in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The expenditure in 1937 was $104,580. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 42 stations and outstations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

ONCE more it falls to my lot to present the annual report of this Missionary District of Hankow, since Bishop Gilman has asked me to act for him until his return.

At the beginning, I wish to state the condition of the Diocesan Episcopate Fund. Receipts in 1937 were $83.86. These were added to a small balance on our books amounting to $27.06 thus making a balance of $110.92 on our current account. In addition there is a savings account of $270.94. The total amount of the Episcopate Fund is $381.86.

R. A. Kemp, J. L. Coe, F. C. Brown, J. V. W. Bergamini.

The following were the members of the Standing Committee as elected by the Diocesan Synod: Rev. James J. Tsang, Rev. Mark H. T. Li, Rev. S. C. Huang, Rev. Stephen H. S. Tsang, Mrs. H. J. Shu, Mr. Johnson C. F. Leo, Mr. Newton Ts'ui, Mr. Peter B. A. Ts'en.

The vigorous life of the Church and the mission in this diocese of the Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui, constantly changing to meet new conditions, is recorded more fully in the Newsletter and the reports from individuals and institutions which accompany this report and on which it is based. I wish to mention here the services of Miss C. A. Couch, not only as my secretary for many years, but also as editor of the Newsletter. Her work has not only helped in the multifarious relationships of the Bishop's office, where much of the diocesan life centers, but has added a touch of personal thoughtfulness and concern which have blessed every member of the diocese.

Staff

The General Convention which met in October at Cincinnati accepted my resignation and elected Bishop Gilman to succeed me as Bishop of Hankow; both the actions of the General Convention being in accord with the recommendations of the General Synod which met at Foochow in April.

Our staff of Chinese clergy suffered in January the death of Deacon Tsang Mien-tsz, and in February the death of the Rev. Tsang Tung-huei, priest. On June 29, the Rev. Chin Wen-yuen and the Rev. Hung Yuen-kai, were ordained to the diaconate. On August 25 the Rev. Leighton Y. T. Yang left Hankow for a year's study in the United States, and on September 28 the Rev. Nelson E. P. Liu returned after a year's study, mainly at the Seabury Western Theological Seminary in Chicago, and took up again his work at Ichang.

Our foreign staff has lost by resignation during the year two of its most experienced members, Dr. Mary Latimer James of the Church General Hospital and Miss Anne J. Lowe of St. Lois' School.

I record with great regret the temporary retirement from active service in China of the Rev. E. L. Souder. He left Hankow in September, and we look forward hopefully to his return. Likewise I have to record our loss in the departure of the Rev. C. F. Whiston due to the conditions resulting from the war and then the development of serious illness in his family. The Rev. T. P. Maslin and his wife left Hankow at the end of the year owing to war conditions, much against their own will, though they had determined to retire this coming summer in any case, after their long service in China.

A bright spot in the year was the arrival of the Rev. Charles A. Higgins, deacon, a new recruit.

Meetings

The Hankow Diocesan Synod met at Wuchang April 2-6, and was followed by the General Synod at Foochow April 17-25. The Yangtze Valley Conference for Church Workers was held at Kuling as planned in July. All these occasions marked growth in both the strength and the spirit of the Church in the diocese and in China as a whole.

General Conditions

The 7th of July, 1937, marked the beginning of a new era in the life of both China and Japan. For the present the closer relations between the two countries are fraught with destruction and suffering which beggar description, and which need not be enlarged upon in this report.

One of the most surprising things in the situation is the way in which the work of our churches and schools, hospital and dispensaries in this diocese have continued under the momentum of the past, much as before the war. During the latter part of the year many of our schools in the Wuhan area, Huachung College in particular, enrolled larger numbers of students than ever before, many of them being refugee students from Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai, and Nanking. After the fall of Nanking, on the 13th of December, there was no little uneasiness in all our schools, but they carried on in good order for the most part, and closed for the term at the end of December only a short time before the usual dates. At Christmas the festive celebrations went on, with slightly less good cheer than usual, and sometimes without refreshment; but the Christmas spirit was abroad, the one great Light in the dark.

In the churches attendance increased rather than diminished, and was often much stimulated by the courage and love of refugees who had lost heavily and found their faith even more of a treasure in their distress than it had been before. Work in the country districts, especially the short-term schools conducted by Deaconess Clark, went forward under more peaceful conditions than usual—the bandits who used to make the roads unsafe had gone to the war.

Medical work came into its own, with the avalanches of wounded soldiers, air raid casualties, and refugees. The work was co-ordinated and our hospitals were helped along with other hospitals all over Central China—Roman Catholic, private and to some extent Government institutions also—all co-ordinated by the International Red Cross Committee for Central China. This is just a further development for war time of the work regularly done by the mission in the Church General Hospital, by the Medical Social Service in primary schools, and by the dispensaries carried on by the hospital and by the Sisters of St. Anne and on the Boone compound by Miss Johnson. All this work is bringing the Church into most helpful relations with both Government and private relief agencies, and especially with benevolent and public-spirited individuals. The making of dug-outs, preparation of flags, and digging of wells for emergency use, as well as arrangements to care for women workers who like hospital nurses, stand by their work to the last minute but might ultimately require refuge, have been part of the whole situation, though we hope these emergencies will not eventuate.

Equipment

Even during this year of tension our thoughts and plans have included improved equipment for our work. Property at Huachung and Shasi has been rounded out. St. Lois Chapel has been completed, a very serviceable and attractive building, while new construction has also gone on at Shayang and Kingchow. Building at Huachung was stopped by the war, but residences and extension of Yen Hall dormitory for girls were completed during the summer. Mr. Bergamini completed sketch plans for Huachung College biology, chemistry and physics laboratories, the library, the Procter Memorial Building, the auditorium, chapel, and school of music and recreation center, together with a development plan for the entire college property.

Prospects

Air raids and alarms and the terrific casualties of war are with us to a degree which is often a damper on hope and a menace to faith. Nevertheless it is heartening to find, in the very midst of all this confusion, the rising hope of Christians in Government and educational and business circles that God is preparing a new China and a more disciplined Church to take their part in making a new world. The opportunity for our work in the Church and the mission is more challenging and inspiring than ever, to do our part so that it may contribute what in God's plan it was meant to contribute, to the great future of both China and Japan, and of the world to which we all belong.

Missionary Diary

Deaconess Stewart, to her home in Vermont, January 21.

Rev. R. E. Wood, after nine years in China, for United States, March 30.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Pickens and family, via Europe and England to United States, April 18.

Mrs. A. J. Allen, with Arnold and Edward, to her home in La Jolla, California, May 17.

Mr. A. J. Allen, with the two older sons, via Europe to United States, June 18.

III. MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF SHANGHAI

The work of this Church in China began in 1835

The Missionary District of Shanghai includes that part of China lying within the Province of Kiangsu. It has an area of 44,500 square miles and a population of 38,000,000. The original district included the Missionary Districts of Hankow and Anking, which were set off in 1901 and 1910, and was established within its present bounds by the General Convention of 1901. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. William Payne Roberts, consecrated November 30, 1937. The Suffragan Bishop is the Rt. Rev. John W. Nichols, D.D., consecrated November 1, 1934.

The expenditure in 1937 was $148,211. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 55 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE year 1937 was an upset year for this district. In April, Suffragan Bishop John W. Nichols, D.D., returned to the United States on sick leave, and in the fall the Rt. Rev. Frederick R. Graves, D.D., for forty-four years Bishop in China, tendered his resignation to General Convention. The new Bishop, William P. Roberts, was consecrated in Shanghai on November 30. The most disturbing factor of the year, however, has been the Sino-Japanese war, which swept over the whole of the district, from Shanghai to Nanking and Paoying. Only four out of more than forty churches or chapels were unaffected by the hostilities. Only one of the four mission hospitals escaped trouble and all schools suffered, including St. Mary's and St. John's.

For seven months the work of the mission went on most happily. The war broke in August in that section of Shanghai in which St. Paul's Church, the Church of Our Saviour, St. Luke's Hospital and the mission offices were located. St. Luke's moved quickly into St. John's University, and later had to move twice more before it got settled in a boys' school building belonging to the English Church. The mission office was evacuated hastily into the home of Mr. Gilmore, the acting treasurer. Church workers and Christians took refuge in the International Settlement and the French Concession, and were cared for at two centers, the workers at St. John's University and the Church members at St. Peter's Church.

Both in the stations about Shanghai and in other more remote upstations it was not always possible to save the record books, and in this annual report some figures have necessarily been omitted, while in others the figures for six months only, or even for the previous year (1936) have been given in the statistical reports.

The fighting passed inland from Shanghai in November, affecting all outstations. The Rev. H. A. McNulty, who was active in refugee work in Soochow, went with many refugees and hospital sick to a small town fifteen miles from the city, where he stayed with them more than a month, ministering to their needs. He returned to Shanghai just before Christmas and was not permitted by the Japanese Army to return. At Wusih our staff remained at their posts until the heavy bombing from the air drove most of the populace from the city and made it necessary to seek refuge elsewhere. The same experience befell many other stations, such as Changshu, Chinkiang, Yangchow and Paoying. Many Christians wandered hundreds of miles seeking places of safety, and not a few reached Hankow and returned to Shanghai by taking the train to Canton and Hongkong, and thus by steamer up the coast.

At Nanking, the Rev. John G. Magee and the Rev. E. H. Forster remained in the city with about twenty other Westerners, in an effort to create a safety zone to which the people could flee, with a promise from both sides that warfare would be kept away from the zone. Their heroic efforts undoubtedly saved the lives and honor of countless Chinese civilians. The opportunity for evangelistic work among the 200,000 or more in the zone was extraordinary.

By the end of the year the Japanese Army was in control of the whole missionary district, excepting only the International areas of Shanghai. The loss of Christian life has been amazingly small. A teacher at Changshu was shot to death and a group of Church members at Nanking was led off with suspected ex-soldiers, not to return. One of these was the son of the Rev. J. L. Chen. An evangelist from Tangshan committed suicide in Nanking.

The loss of property, though great, has not been as great as was at first anticipated. Buildings destroyed by fire include the following: the church at Kiangwan, St. Paul's Church and rectory and school, and the school belonging to the Church of Our Saviour in northern Shanghai, the Chinese clergyman's residence at Ku-san, and the old parish house in Nanking. The property at Sungkiang was demolished by an air raid on November 2. Many buildings have been partly damaged by shell and bomb. All buildings outside of Shanghai were entered by the Japanese soldiers, who looted at will, taking everything valuable and in some cases completely looting the contents of buildings. Some churches escaped severe looting. Soldiers are living in our buildings at Soochow and Changshu at the time of writing this report.

Educational Work

Our schools continued normally through July, in the fall some of them could not open. St. Faith's and Mahan at Yangchow opened on a small scale in September, as did St. Mark's at Wusih and several day schools at outstations, but all had to close after a month or two. St. John's University was able to open in rented quarters in Shanghai and a similar arrangement was made for St. Mary's. Attendance has been remarkably good and the University was able to assist several other institutions by taking in some of their students. In the absence of Dr. Pott on furlough, St. John's was very ably guided by its acting president, Mr. William Z. L. Sung. The closing of most schools caused a serious problem in regard to the payment of teachers. In most cases there were legal obligations to pay two months salary, and in the case of teachers who have been working for the mission for many years, there certainly was a moral obligation extending far beyond two months. This is one of the relief problems confronting the mission.

Medical Work

St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Shanghai has been the only hospital whose plant was unaffected by the war. Owing to the huge influx of refugees to Shanghai, the maternity cases greatly increased in number and the staff was kept busy day and night, the number of beds coming to over 300. Women and children wounded by air-bombs or by anti-aircraft shells were brought to St. Elizabeth's for treatment. Some of the nursing staff were loaned to a Military Base Hospital to care for wounded soldiers. Others have maintained a clinic in connection with one of the Christian Refugee Camps on Hart Road.

St. Luke's has ministered chiefly to the sick and wounded civilians of Shanghai. Its staff helped to organize and maintain Military Base Hospital No. 2 during the hostilities around Shanghai, and after the fighting had passed inland, organized and operated a second hospital popularly known as "St. Luke's No. 2" for the sick among the thousands of refugees in the city. Within two months this hospital had over 200 beds and ministered to hundreds of others in the daily clinic. The American Red Cross made a donation of CC $15,000 to help St. Luke's in its extremity and has promised all necessary expenses for St. Luke's No. 2 for the time being.

St. Andrew's Hospital at Wusih ran until November when the air raid brought two bombs to the hospital grounds before the land fighting reached the city. The civilians of the city then fled and the hospital was closed.

The dispensary at Changshu, under Dr. Richey, was closed in August at the opening of hostilities.

Between October and December the American Mission members who were refugeeing in Shanghai made themselves useful in ministering to the refugees in camps and hospitals.

Relief

An Emergency Committee was formed in Shanghai to deal with the influx of Christians at the opening of hostilities, and later a Relief Committee was organized to frame policies and help administer available funds. Most Chinese in this area will be totally impoverished when the war is over, and nearly all up-station Church workers, American and Chinese, have been looted of their household goods. Those who have seen the destruction of houses and shops and factories and farms, together with the looting of what has escaped destruction and the robbing from the people of all their cash, whether by native or by foreign soldiers, know how urgent the need for help will be to make a new start in life. The China Emergency Fund, being raised at home, ought to help out a great deal.

Episcopal Acts

The Rev. William Payne Roberts, B.D., was consecrated Bishop of this missionary district on November 30 at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Shanghai. The Consecrators were: the Rt. Rev. Frank L. Norris, D.D., Bishop in North China, the Rt. Rev. Frederick R. Graves, D.D., the retiring Bishop of this district, and the Rt. Rev. T. S. Sing, D.D., retired Assistant Bishop of Chekiang.

There was only one ordination in 1937, that of the Rev. Chu Yuin-chang to the Diaconate on December 19, at All Saints' Church, Shanghai. Two others are ready for ordination to the diaconate but have been unable to reach Shanghai.

Confirmations for the year have numbered 428.

Meetings

In April, at Foochow, the ninth General Synod of the Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui was held.

The Twenty-seventh Diocesan Synod met at Shanghai on May 19-20, and was preceded as usual by a day of meditation and discussion.

A most successful Conference on Church Work, attended by nearly all the clergy and workers of the district, was held at Wusih in July. Those present little realized that before two months had passed, they would all be scattered abroad by warfare.

Owing to the hostilities the Women's Missionary Service League was unable to hold its annual meeting in October.

Staff Changes

During the year we have lost by death Mrs. Cameron F. MacRae on January 6. Mrs. MacRae came to China in 1905.

The following new workers have been appointed by the National Council: Mrs. E. H. Forster, Mrs. D. G. Poston, Mr. B. D. Causey, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Ann Slusser and Mrs. Robert J. Ames.

Those who left on furlough are as follows: Prof. Donald Roberts and family, Miss M. S. Mitchell, Miss J. E. Budd, Bishop and Mrs. J. W. Nichols, Miss E. M. A. Cartwright, Dr. Ellen C. Fullerton and Miss Caroline A. Fullerton, Miss L. P. Wells, Miss A. M. Groff, Mr. M. P. Walker and family, the Rev. C. F. MacRae, D.D., the Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. E. Harrison King, Dr. A. W. Tucker and family, the Misses Edith and Helen Roberts to college, Miss L. A. Schleicher, Elizabeth W. Throop to college, Mrs. Magee and family, Miss Hazel F. MacNair on special leave, Prof. Ellis Tucker.

Those returning from furlough have been: Miss Sarah Reid, Miss Hazel F. MacNair, Prof. M. E. Votaw, Mrs. A. R. Standing, the Rev. W. P. Roberts and family, Miss E. H. Falck, Dr. Lula M. Disosway, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ely.

Resignations have been: Miss J. E. Budd, Miss Elizabeth Chambers, Miss L. A. Schleicher, Miss E. W. Graves.

There have been the following marriages during the year: June 18, Charlotte Gridley Throop to Dr. R. W. Shaw; June 18, Evelyn Flower Morris to William Richardson Blair; July 2, Mary Eleanor Walker to Telford Taylor; July 3, Violet Carey d'Urban Coles to Charles E. Perry; August 10, Elizabeth Anne Tittle to David G. Poston; August 14, Josephine Earley Budd to William Vaughan.

Special workers who have given their services during the year include the following: Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Salmon, of the Church Missionary Society, who for many years have helped in the teaching at St. John's University and its Medical School; Miss Mary Lamberton has taught at St. John's for the past seven years in the Department of English at that University; Miss Marion Bromiley taught at St. Mary's for two years; Mrs. Y. S. Han has been teaching in the English Department of St. John's.

The Shanghai Newsletter

The District of Shanghai Newsletter has been issued regularly throughout the year and again comprised 147 pages of historical matter. This little paper gives a monthly summary of reports from the different stations. Copies are sent to the National Council and those who wish to become subscribers may send their names to the Bishop's office in Shanghai.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE year 1937 has seen no great increase in our work, but has been marked by quiet growth in missions already established.

While there is still considerable smouldering unrest, political conditions have been quiet, there have been no revolutionary outbreaks, and it has been possible for the missionaries to make their journeys without undue annoyance.

The most important consequence of this political truce has been the re-opening of the higher schools of the Republic. The National University was reopened in September and has been functioning normally ever since. The old Provincial Institutes were also reopened, and in addition local Institutes, or high schools, were started in many of the larger cities. More young people are receiving secondary education than ever before.

Economic conditions were worse in 1937 than in the previous year, which is reflected in a slight decrease in the reported offerings. This is the real reason for such unrest as is found.

The Cuban people began the year with high hopes. They had been promised that all the foreigners would be driven out and that they would have their jobs. Many British West Indians and Haitians were sent home and their places given to Cubans. A good many Spaniards were also thrown out and some English and Americans, but the total number of places vacated in this way was not sufficient to furnish employment to the many Cubans out of work. And much of the employment which was offered was at very low wages and the work was distasteful to the Cubans. The end of the sugar crop found many poorer than the year before.

Two rather contradictory results have come from this. First: People from the neighborhood of sugar mills have flocked into the cities seeking employment. All our larger cities are overcrowded, there is not enough work for the people. Wages go down and rents go up.

Second: The more enterprising and industrious people in the country are losing their faith in the sugar business and are turning their attention to other things. Many of them are going into subsistence farming and while they have little money, they are well fed. In the Province of Oriente they are exporting coffee and honey and there has been a great increase in the exportation of bananas to the United States.

This diversification of industry is of great hope for Cuba, and as a large part of our work is in the country it will be helpful to the Church as the countryside gradually gets to be self-supporting.

A large part of the enterprise and initiative which is bringing this about is due to the influence of the Evangelical Churches. The people who are leading in the movement are among those who are naturally attracted to us.

Faith in the Government as a kind of fairy godmother to provide for all our needs dies slowly among us, but the members of the Church are coming to rely more upon their own efforts and so they are learning that they can take care of themselves. This development of Christian character is one of the most hopeful signs of the times.

We now have three centers in the Province of Oriente, Santiago, Guantánamo and Chaparra.

From Santiago, Mr. Mancebo visits Miranda and Palma Soriano regularly once a month, other preaching stations from time to time. In Miranda we have a congregation of British West Indians, with a lay reader who has services every Sunday for them. In Palma Soriano the work is in Spanish. We have no lay reader, but a faithful woman conducts a Sunday school every Sunday.

Our English-speaking constituency in Santiago is growing smaller, as the British West Indians are being sent back home. About ten thousand gathered from different parts of the Province have been sent out from that port in the past two years. The Government has recently announced that it expects to send out as many more during the present year. Under such conditions little growth is possible. Santiago reports 304 communicants this year, the same as last year. But that means a considerable increase on the Spanish-speaking side of the work.

Mr. Mancebo and Mr. Jauregui have done splendidly to hold their own when large numbers of their old communicants have been leaving every month.

The five Sunday schools and the four parish schools in Santiago have been functioning regularly during the year. The streets swarm with children and if we had twice as many schools they could be filled.

In Guantánamo the management of St. Cyprians School has been changed. It is now filled to overflowing and gives the British West Indians an opportunity to have their children receive their training in English.

From Guantánamo, as a center, Mr. Gonzalez goes out to numerous smaller places in the vicinity. Once a month, regularly he visits Boqueron and the Naval Station, and other places as he has opportunity.

Our work in Chaparra and vicinity is among British West Indians. Mr. Piggott, our faithful catechist, is the Church's representative there, and has regular services in Chaparra, San Manuel and Delicias, and occasional services in other places. There is little chance of growth here, but we still have 406 baptized persons left who need our ministry.

In Camaguey Province the situation remains unchanged, growth in membership has not been large but it has been constant. Services are held regularly in fifteen places in the province and from time to time special services are held elsewhere.

Both school and church in the city of Camaguey show evidences of growth. During the year the old church, two blocks from the present church, has been fitted up for use as a parish house. It was nearly wrecked by the cyclone three years ago, but its present usefulness justifies the amount of money we had to spend on it.

To have in the capital of the province two strong organizations such as the church and school with their fine buildings is of great help to the work all over the province.

In the Province of Santa Clara we only have three stations in charge of one missionary, the Rev. Pablo Munoz. He lives in Cienfuegos, and goes one Sunday a month to Sagua and one Sunday a month to Rodas. He also makes preaching trips into the country where we have a considerable shifting constituency but nothing solid enough to report.

In the Province of Matanzas we have to report one new mission established during the year, Recreo. In my visit there we had a baptism, eleven were confirmed and I celebrated the Holy Communion for the first time in the chapel.

The beginning of this mission illustrates the way in which our work develops. A faithful member of Mr. Planas' parish in Limonar married a rural guard and they were moved to Recreo, a town about thirty miles away but without any direct means of communication. Recreo is a town of 2,500 population with a large Roman Catholic Church building, which at that time was abandoned.

When Mrs. Carmona reached Recreo she found that there were no religious services of any kind there. She at once started a Sunday school in her home and consulted her old rector about what to do. He advised her to go to the missionary in Cardenas, Mr. Piloto. He sent Sr. J. A. Gonzalez, a postulant, to Recreo and they rented a small building for a chapel and started services every Sunday.

They soon gathered together a considerable congregation. And it began to be reported that the Episcopal Church had a mission in Recreo. As soon as the Roman Bishop heard about it he sent the priest down from Cardenas to investigate. Presently the Roman church was reopened and they now have services there every Sunday.

The new church building in Itabo was consecrated during the year. It is the only church in the community and its building was an occasion of great rejoicing to all the citizens.

There is nothing new to report about the work in Havana. In spite of constant removals the cathedral shows considerable increase in communicant membership, and the Every Member Canvass last December was the most successful in several years.

Changes in the laws relating to property ownership have caused us much trouble during the year. It has been necessary to re-register all our property and the articles of incorporation of the "Church in Cuba Society" had to receive fresh validation. Dr. M. R. Leeder, our faithful Chancellor, has been very helpful in attending to these legal matters and we owe him a debt of gratitude.

Changes Among the Clergy

Archdeacon Sturges died at his home in Oklahoma in March, 1937. Although he had been retired for twenty years he kept up a lively interest in Cuba until the end.

The Rev. Emilio Planas, the dean of our clergy, the only one left who was here to welcome Bishop Knight on his arrival in 1905, retired on pension the first of July and died August 13. His work in Limonar and Coliseo was placed in charge of the Rev. J. H. Piloto, who has been carrying it on with the assistance of two lay readers.

The Rev. M. Rodriguez Ponce asked permission to drop the active work of the ministry temporarily that he might accept a position as teacher in the Institute. His resignation took effect in July.

Sr. Segundo Luya was made a deacon June 20, 1937, and in September was sent to Los Arabos to succeed Sr. Ponce. He has charge of the work in Los Arabos and Colon under the supervision of Sr. Piloto.

Schools

Two new schools were reported during the year, but these were two schools in Santiago de Cuba which had been closed owing to lack of funds. We now have 1,072 children in our fourteen schools. Of the 52 teachers reported 44 were Cubans.

Several proposed laws have been introduced into Congress some looking toward ending all private schools, others looking toward the "Nationalization" of all private schools. None of these have passed, but they have made the school situation very uncertain. At the same time the authorities have put out regulations which make it difficult for us to carry on so that the future of our schools has been a matter of constant anxiety.

On the other hand we have had no trouble with the school inspectors; they have treated us with the greatest courtesy, and have invariably approved our methods.

Our schools are giving a great service to the Cuban people. Not only are they giving an education to the children but they are giving them discipline and training in Christian citizenship which they greatly need.

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF HAITI AND THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

The work of this Church in Haiti began in 1861 and in the Dominican Republic, in 1918

The Missionary District of Haiti is coterminous with the Republic of Haiti, approximately 10,000 square miles and 2,300,200 population. Under concordat, dated November 3, 1874, between the American Episcopal Church and the Episcopal Church of Haiti, organization as a National Church was effected. Subsequently surrendering its autonomy as the Eglise Orthodox Apostolique Haitienne, it was created a Missionary District of the American Church at the General Convention in 1913. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Harry Roberts Carson, D.D., consecrated January 10, 1923.

The Dominican Republic by resolution of the House of Bishops in 1913 was placed under the care of the Bishop of Puerto Rico "to take jurisdiction over such Christian people in Santo Domingo as may have asked or may hereafter ask for his pastoral oversight." Ecclesiastical jurisdiction was transferred from the Bishop of Puerto Rico to the Bishop of Haiti, January 1, 1928. In October, 1934, by action of the General Convention, the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of the Bishop of Haiti was extended to include the Dominican Republic.

The expenditure in Haiti for 1937 was $22,308 and aids in maintaining work in 58 missions.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

IN accordance with canonical requirement and with great pleasure I have the honor to submit herewith my annual report for this district for the year, 1937. It is written in the early days of 1938 and my first duty is to give expression to the feeling of loyalty and devotion towards him who is now the Presiding Bishop of the Church. We are all eager to work in closest sympathy with him in his plans for the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ through His Church. These are days full of anxiety and heavy burdens and all who are in position of authority in the Church but the apostolic precept comes to us to give us cheer: Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong.

Anniversary of Episcopate

On the 10th of January, I shall complete fifteen years as Bishop. Naturally one is retrospective, as one is also sobered by the consciousness of the passing of the years. I am not disposed to mistake physical values for that which is spiritual, so I shall present no tab-leau of comparisons between the Church in Haiti, which welcomed me in 1923, and the Church in Haiti and the Dominican Republic as it is today. There is some ground for thankfulness to God for the increase that He has given us. Although much remains to be done, much has been poorly done, not a little has failed, yet there is a marked difference, and for the better, between January 10, 1923, and January 10, 1938.

Personally, I am grateful that the two depressing periods that have halted and crippled so many fine enterprises all over the mission field did not set in until some years after my episcopate began.

Had it been otherwise, mine would be a sad story today. Happily we were able to complete certain important, absolutely essential projects in the early days, before the Depression and Recession. Our cathedral, never intended to gratify feelings of episcopal grandeur, was completed in the late 20's. We have a sort of power house for the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God. We were able to build a school for girls, one of the best in the Republic, giving us at the same time, a parish house where necessary parochial work could be done, especially in the notably fine Church school; an object lesson to all our workers throughout the district. We were able to build a house for the devoted Sisters of St. Margaret, women whose faithful, uncomplaining, cheerful work day after day, is an encouragement and help to all, most of all, to the Bishop and clergy. Without their presence and faithful ministries this would be a poor, impoverished district. With them, we are blessed indeed. We were able to build a home for upwards thirty little waifs—a model Children's Home that has made a deep impression upon the community. In the Bishop's House, we have a worthy and constant memorial of one whose memory is cherished by us, John Gardiner Murray.

All these buildings, symbolizing certain aspects of the Church's life and work, were absolutely necessary if we were seriously giving ourselves to building up the Church in Haiti, the seed of which was planted over three-quarters of a century ago; in 1861, to be exact.

Much remains to be done: poor houses of worship replaced by others more worthy our dear Church; schools to be opened in every mission; clergy to be given ampler tools with which to work; modest rectories to be built throughout the district, where the priest can have not only shelter but also live a life that shall be a model to the many primitive communities throughout the Republic. At present, there is no rectory attached to any mission. In some places, the clergy have built their own modest houses, but not many.

However, as our traditional greeting to one another is Bon courage, so we go forward confidently and gladly into the future.

Of the Clergy

Recently it was brought to my attention that of the present staff, with the exception of five, everyone was ordained by the present Bishop. This, too, suggests the passing of the years.

Our Theological Seminary, with its formal opening on the festival of St. Michael and All Angels every year has been doing faithful and conscientious work. With the willing co-operation of certain of the clergy who have their homes in Port au Prince we have been able to maintain without interruption our seminary work, following courses of study in conformity with the Canons of the Church. My own confident conviction is that the clergy should be trained in Haiti, here at home, notwithstanding all the undeniable advantages attaching to similar study elsewhere. Our financial support is practically nil and I am obliged to rely upon personal friends for the maintenance of this work.

There was one deposition during the year: the Rev. Joseph Philoclès Cas-sion, deacon.

On Trinity Sunday last, I ordained to the priesthood the following young men, each of whom had served more than three years in the diaconate:

Emanuel Edon Dumont Morisseau
Catulle Benedict
Louis Abel Oscar Macombe

and also the following named to the diaconate:

Charles Alexandre Ritchie

The Rev. Mr. Morisseau was assigned to work with Archdeacon Najac, at Port de Paix, in the Archdeaconry of the North.

The Rev. Mr. Benedict, a son of Dean Benedict and a grandson of the late Rev. Charles Benedict, one of the pioneers of the Haitian Church, was assigned to work at Aux Cayes, where the grandfather began the work in the early 70's.

The Rev. Mr. Macombe was assigned first, to work with his father, the Rev. David B. Macombe, and then, later, he is to be transferred to the Rev. Canon A. H. Beer, at San Pedro de Macoris, in the Dominican Republic. There are many thousands of Haitians working as field laborers in the extensive sugar estates of the Dominican Republic, most of them being in Canon Beer's extensive field. There was need for Mr. Macombe in his own country but it was felt that the work in the Dominican Republic was of such importance that he should be transferred.

I bear willing testimony to the faithful work of all our present staff of clergy. I am blessed with their confidence and, I believe, their affection.

The Prayer Book in French

The only large work of the Anglican Communion in the French tongue is this work in Haiti, and we are without Prayer Books in that tongue. It seems incredible but it is true. Last year, I was informed by the publishers of an edition of the old Prayer Book, "There is not a sheet of the French Prayer Book in the establishment."

That means, a new translation, new plates, new printings and at such cost that I have not been able to secure the necessary funds. Certain portions of the American Prayer Book were printed locally, some years ago, but this supply has been exhausted. The need is very grievous and I earnestly hope that it may be satisfied shortly. I believe that, failing private gifts, the National Council should include this item in its budget.

There is not a more effective missionary anywhere than the Prayer Book itself.

I have some funds for the work but far from sufficient. And I have the promise of some more but again, far from sufficient for the whole cost of the undertaking.

A Memorial of Archdeacon Llwyd

The Rev. Albert Rupert Llwyd came to Haiti, in 1918, under appointment of Commissary to the then Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Charles B. Colmore. He died in 1926 of a tropical disease that undoubtedly was contracted in the line of duty. His services were marked with a complete consecration of himself to the field to which he was appointed and he quickly won not only the confidence but the affection of those whom he had come to serve. His death was deeply lamented. To preserve the memory of his life in the future years, to witness to their own appreciation of his ministry and personal character, the Haitian clergy united in placing upon the walls of the cathedral a very beautiful bronze tablet bearing his name.

Two Women Workers

During the year the Church has suffered the loss of two women workers whose names have been associated with the Church for many years, one as a worker in our schools and the other more particularly in the organization and spread of the Woman's Auxiliary in its early days. I refer to Miss Marianne Jones, a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Pierre E. Jones and to Madame Alice Battiste, the widow of one of the pioneers of the Haitian clergy, the Rev. Alexandre Battiste. Both loved the Church devotedly and each rendered unique service in its extension.

Some Advance Work

During the last few months, thanks to certain gifts received from personal friends, a school house has been built on the Island of La Tortue, adjoining the chapel that was erected two years ago. In a few weeks, the cornerstone of a new church will be laid at Le Borgne.

Our work in both of these places is extremely interesting and full of encouragement. Both owe their inception to the zeal of Archdeacon Najac and in both places the physical work has been and will be done by his own hands. Welcomed by the poor people, to whom the Church has been brought, he has met with stupid and bigoted opposition of a hostile foreign clergy. As in earlier days, the blood of martyrs added to the extension of the Church, so in these latter days the result has been similar. We have a devoted lay reader at La Tortue who is also the director of the school and at Le Borgne the Rev. René Gilles has been faithfully ministering to his people. We all rejoice that the new church will be finished by early summer.

On another historic island, La Gonave, there has been also such marked increase of our work that a new church edifice will be under way next summer. Already the people are gathering the necessary materials; stones, sand, lime. Here we have a resident deacon, the Rev. Bathelémy E. Genese, working under the direction of the Rev. Edouard C. Jones.

Need of a Motor Boat

In the days of the American Occupation—happily they came to an end in 1934—it was possible for me to reach many parts of this field with little difficulty. Now it is otherwise. To get to La Tortue last summer, it was necessary to go out on the high sea in an open row boat. On my last visit to La Gonave, what formerly took barely half an hour by airplane, took eighteen hours in a native sail boat. My visitations, however, are once a year but the clergy have to make regular visits for their ministrations, not only to the islands, but, also, around the shore of the islands. If in my specials there could be included two small motor boats, the help would be inestimable.

In the Dominican Republic

In the Dominican Republic our work is of much smaller extent than in Haiti. There are reasons for this. It is barely twenty years old, whereas the Church in Haiti has passed its seventy-fifth year. Spanish is the language of the Republic and we have never had a priest to whom the language was native born. This is now being corrected because all the clergy, although not native born, use Spanish with fluency.

In the Dominican Republic there are just 3 clergy, one of whom is in Deacon's orders. There are 9 missions, one of which may have to be closed if there should be another 'cut' in 1938 for this field.

The Rev. Canon Beer has been a devoted missionary since 1920 in this field. Despite the constantly growing and expanding work, in the city of San Pedro de Macoris and in the large sugar estates that surround San Pedro, he is without a church building. There is a dwelling house, the first story of which is used for divine services; there are crowded congregations that overflow into the streets, there is a large work going on in the school, that has been spoken of to me by the Minister of Public Instruction as one of the best in the Dominican Republic, there is land that we own upon which the necessary building can be erected but as yet no church.

A soul less courageous and hopeful would have pulled up stakes long ago. But he has labored on devotedly, faithfully, confident that the Church will take note and come to his help.

At the Capital of the Republic, Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, the Rev. Charles Raymond Barnes is the faithful missionary, to a smaller field but with a larger number of American and other foreign colonists to whom to minister. Mr. Barnes has, also, taken over the charge of Puerto Plata, upwards of 175 miles distant, the mission to which I have just referred as facing possible closing orders.

This part of my jurisdiction has, as well as Haiti, met in full its promise to pay. Increasingly hard by reason of the increasing economic distress but I am proud to say that both promises have been realized 100%.

OUR MISSION IN JAPAN

I. MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF KYOTO

The work of this Church in Japan began in 1859

The Missionary District of Kyoto includes the prefectures of Fukui, Ishikawa, Kyoto, Mie, Nara, Osaka (that very small part centering around Kishiwada), Shiga, Toyama and Wakayama, having a population of about 8,000,000. The district was established by General Convention in 1898. Its area was slightly decreased in 1923 through the establishment of the independent Diocese of Osaka. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Shirley H. Nichols, consecrated April 13, 1926.

The expenditure in 1937 was $74,257. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 72 stations and sub-stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE following members of the foreign staff returned to the United States on furlough during the year:

The Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Lloyd and family
Miss Helen J. Disbrow
Miss Thora Johnson
Miss H. R. Williams

The Rt. Rev. S. H. Nichols returned to the United States to attend General Convention.

The following members of the foreign staff returned to their posts after furlough:

Miss Elizabeth Dickson
The Rev. J. K. Morris and his family

It should be noted here that Miss Disbrow has felt that due to her brother's serious illness, she cannot return for the present. Miss Johnson, because of serious ear trouble, has also felt obliged to resign from the staff and seek work at home. We sincerely regret the loss of these two faithful members of the staff.

Japanese Staff

There were no men added to the staff by graduation from Central Theological Seminary. The following transfers were made as of April 1:

Mr. Isao Owada, from Obama to Fukui
Mr. Tsuyoshi Goryo, from Miadzu to Obama
Mr. Tokio Sato, from Otsu to Miadzu

Mr. Y. Arichika, who had been in barracks for the routine military training was released in January and took up work at Tsuruga, early in February.

Mr. Daisuke Kitagawa, in accordance with a plan of long standing, went to America and is enrolled for two years of study at the General Theological Seminary.

It will be of interest to note that of the Kyoto Diocesan workers, Mr. Hirokuni Tsuboi is the only one now in Army service. At the moment of writing he has not yet been sent to the front.

The Rev. Kazuo Nishikawa and Mr. Arichika, having had their military training, are on the reserve list and are subject to call. At the moment, however, there seems no imminent probability of their being called to the colors.

Evangelistic Work

The Fifty Year Jubilee celebration plan called for a year of active extensive evangelistic work beginning with February 11, 1937. Early in this period there was held in Tokyo the great Jubilee Services of which The Spirit of Missions has carried full accounts. That was a very joyous occasion, and the plans for aggressive evangelism proceeded until July. Since the outbreak of the North China Incident, that plan has suffered rather serious metamorphosis. The resources upon which we counted for the carrying on of the campaign, the undisturbed attention and the undiverted efforts of the people which were also necessary for the prosecution of the plan, these were drastically reduced. Unfortunately I had already left the country at that time and so have only secondhand information upon the latter months of the year. It seemed to be necessary to return to the policy of strengthening the Church from within, rather than holding large evangelistic meetings throughout the dioceses. Along that line of policy real efforts have been made.

The Standing Committee, in its report to me on my return expressed their joy that in spite of the war conditions obtaining, and the increased difficulties in the way of Christian work, no ground had been lost. A study of the statistics accompanying this report will reveal certain decreases in numbers, but on the whole they sustain the claim of the Committee.

There are six less baptisms than a year ago. There is a larger decrease in the number of confirmations, but the Bishop's absence one-half of the year must be taken into account in connection with that decrease. There are nineteen less catechumens than in the previous year. It is not unnatural that among these people who are just entering into fellowship with the Church a considerable falling off should occur. The same falling off in our regular members would be a more serious matter than in the case of catechumens. There is rather a large decrease, also, in the total amount of contributions from Japanese sources. This must be due to a large extent to the extra demands made upon the resources of the people for the carrying on of the China effort. It seems worth while to note, however, that at Momoyama and at the Church of the Resurrection the year 1936 was a year of building in which very large special contributions were received. The falling off of regular giving during 1937 in those churches does not mean a decrease of regular contributions.

Altogether I feel that the people of the diocese have done well to turn in such figures as these statistics show under the very trying conditions which obtained during the latter part of 1937. I have been back at my post too short a time to have full information as yet on the condition of the several churches. Concerning some, however, I have had the most promising kind of reports. In one small church, which I visited recently, I was delighted to find lapsed members coming back into the fellowship of the Church, and the old members full of a new spirit of hopefulness and devotion. So far I have heard of no serious retreat in any church of the diocese. The people are giving in smaller amounts, perhaps, but in a spirit of greater sacrifice than under normal conditions. As I read the figures and recall that in spite of decreased income they are carrying on the same enterprises, I realize that the Church members must themselves, in other than money ways, be supplying the necessary effort to carry on the task.

With a new year opening full of prospects of increased demands upon our income, our sympathy, and our effort of all kinds, we are driven to put our trust in God, and are bound, also, to hope for undiminished, rather increased support from our Christian brethren in America and England. A short-sighted view of recent conditions and events in Japan, prompts many, I know, to cut down their support of the Church's work in this land. True faith and understanding will make it abundantly clear that exactly the opposite attitude is called for. The things which the American people lament in the national policies and actions of Japan at this time have come to pass, insofar as they have come to pass, because these people have not as yet sufficient knowledge of God as revealed in Christ to lift them to the ideal heights which we expect of them. That being the case, an increase of Christian effort is the only logical reaction to our disapproval of the tragic occurrences which so grieve Christian peoples. We count upon the American Church being Christian enough to redouble its efforts at this crucial moment.

Educational Work

The work at St. Agnes' School has gone on with no noticeable change. In spite of a certain prejudice always present, but considerably aggravated at this time, against Christian institutions, the enrollment is larger than we reported a year ago, and we are now enrolling a thoroughly satisfactory number for the new school year. As noted before, this school has lost the services of two of its foreign teachers, Miss Disbrow and Miss Johnson. It is our hope that at the earliest possible moment suitable successors for these posts may be found.

One notable addition to the Japanese staff of the school is that of Miss Emiko Ito. Miss Ito graduated from the Junior College course of St. Agnes', entered the Central Theological Seminary, Ikebukuro, Tokyo, where she took the full seminary course. She has now returned to St. Agnes' where in classroom and in the various Christian activities in school and dormitory, her fine Christian character and excellent technical equipment are counting heavily in the spreading of the Christian influence throughout the whole student body. Particularly in the choir work, Miss Ito is proving helpful.

The kindergartens show a noticeable increase over 1936. One new kindergarten was opened at Kaya, in Kyoto Prefecture. The people of Kaya have long desired to have a mission kindergarten, but the mission has been unable to give any aid in maintaining a kindergarten there. The desire of the townspeople finally resulted in a financial drive which secured the necessary funds for initial expenses, and a group of representative substantial people in the town, including several of our own Church members, have guaranteed to cover any deficit in the maintenance of the kindergarten. The total number of children in our kindergartens shows an increase of 138.

Buildings

Building operations during the year have not been extensive, but have brought great joy to three churches.

First, the church which has been at Fushimi, in the outskirts of Kyoto city, was able to move into simple but satisfactory buildings at Momoyama. Although the name of the church has been changed, the new buildings are less than fifteen minutes walk from the former location of the church. The site lies on the main approach to the tomb of the Emperor Meiji. Hundreds of thousands of visitors to the tomb pass the church gate each year. On the back portion of the land, we have erected a two-story building. In the second story is a small but well-appointed place of worship. The downstairs space is for Sunday school and general parish use. Immediately adjoining this parish house is a rectory. It is our plan that later, when the number of Christians calls for extension, we will build a proper church at the front of the lot. The second-story portion of the parish house was consecrated May 15, at which time Bishop Tucker was present, and Bishop Naide of Osaka was the preacher.

Like the Fushimi church, the church in Ueno, although possessed of a long history, had never had land or buildings. Land for a church was secured during 1936, and during 1937 we moved and reconstructed the old residence which was bought with the property, and constructed, also, a two-story combination building almost identical with the one erected some years ago in Toyama. These buildings I have not yet seen, but I am told by the workers connected with Igauenō that they are most satisfactory. The cost of buildings both at Momoyama and Igauenō was covered by advances from our Kyoto District Loan Fund.

The only other buildings erected during the year were at Fukui. For a long time we have had more property there than has been necessary for the carrying on of the work. After patient waiting we were able to sell a portion of the land (about 400 tsubo) early in 1937. Standing on that property was a large but old missionary residence. It had been in use for several years as a students dormitory, but was entirely unsuitable for such use. With the proceeds of the sale of that land, we erected a beautifully planned rectory in the immediate neighborhood of the new church building, and a suitable building for a students dormitory. This building will accommodate ten students, and we have had more applicants than we can accept, and the students are rejoicing in the comfortable quarters available for them. The catechist now in residence there, Mr. Isao Owada, is working quietly but effectively with these students, and the students are continuing their attendance at services.

Medical Work

Regarding St. Barnabas' Hospital, the statistics accompanying this report speak for themselves as regards the embarrassingly rapid development of patronage at St. Barnabas'. The addition to the building, begun at the end of 1936, was completed in June 1937. The chapel was consecrated by Bishop Naide, of Osaka, on June 26.

This marks one significant step in the handling of St. Barnabas' Hospital. The institution stands within the geographical boundaries of Osaka diocese. Like St. Paul's, St. Margaret's School, and St. Luke's Hospital, all in Tokyo, the administration of this hospital has been entrusted to the neighboring Missionary Bishop ever since the establishment of the self-supporting Diocese of Tokyo and Osaka. The spiritual work in the hospital has been carried by the Bishop of Kyoto up to the present, with the understanding that in so doing, he was acting for the Bishop of Osaka. As the institution has extended its services, it has become more and more urgent that the Bishop of Osaka should have direct contact with the staff and the in-patients, in order that the persons serving in the hospital and those ministered to there, should have the closest possible affiliation with the neighboring parishes. The completion of this chapel seemed to furnish a suitable point of transition. After careful conference, Bishop Naide agreed to take over the responsibility for the spiritual work of the hospital, and his consecration of the chapel marked the initiation of the new arrangement. The Rev. P. A. Smith, official chaplain of the hospital, has been for a year past canonically resident in the Diocese of Osaka.

Another very significant event of the year is the arrival of Miss May M. Houle to assist Miss Van Kirk on the nursing side of the work. Miss Houle is an English woman, with English training, but she had been in Japan for three years previous to her appointment to St. Barnabas'. Her work since arriving in September has meant both relief and personal companionship to Miss Van Kirk. As Miss Van Kirk goes on furlough, Miss Houle is ready to take up the burden alone until Miss Van Kirk returns.

Social Service

At the True Love Day Nursery, Mrs. Sonobe and her assistants have continued the excellent work which has been going on there for many years. The buildings of the Day Nursery are full to capacity daily. In past years I have written of a new special need which Mrs. Sonobe has been trying to meet, namely the need of mothers who are left to support small children without the help of husband and father. Three years ago Mrs. Sonobe rented one house in the neighborhood of the Day Nursery and filled it with such mothers and children. In the year 1937, she was renting three full houses for this purpose, and needing yet more accommodations. We continue to hope that from the United Thank Offering, or some other source, a gift may be received which will provide land and buildings adequate for this work, so that the fees paid by the mothers, and the gifts of generous Japanese in Kyoto, may be used entirely for the care of such individuals, instead of being used in large part for the renting of houses.

At the Church of the Resurrection, the varied and extensive Social Service work has gone on slowly but steadily increasing in scope. In the spring of 1937, the plan for a Nursery School was put into operation. The number of children enrolled at the beginning was small, but has increased during the year, proving that this service also meets a real need in that industrial section of the city.

II. MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF NORTH TOKYO

The work of this Church in Japan began in 1859

The Missionary District of North Tokyo extends from the City of Tokyo to the southern boundary of the prefectures of Fukushima and Iwaki a distance of 200 miles, and 200 miles in breadth, having a population of about 7,000,000. This district was established by the General Convention of 1898 as the Missionary District of Tokyo. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Charles S. Reifsmider, D.D., consecrated February 12, 1924.

The expenditure in 1937 was $115,310. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 48 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE most outstanding event in the Nippon Sei Ko Kwai in 1937, was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Church in Japan. This was held at the Central Theological College, Tokyo, a large tent church being erected temporarily for the services and meetings which occupied three days. It was very well attended, and the feeling of unity and fellowship aroused, as well as the encouragement afforded to the Japanese workers, which was the purpose of the gathering, was felt by all to have been most successfully accomplished.

Looking backward over this first fifty years of the Nippon Sei Ko Kwai and studying the statistics for this period which were drawn up for the anniversary, a feeling of great thankfulness was engendered among the clergy and laity for God's grace and guidance during the early days of this Church, and a resolve was definitely undertaken that, in gratitude for, and in the confidence inspired by the events of the first fifty years, the Japanese Church shall make the second fifty-year period one of wide-spread evangelistic effort in the, as yet, great untouched areas of Japan.

The Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker attended this Fiftieth Anniversary celebration as the representative of the Church in America. He was warmly welcomed in Japan after an absence of fifteen years, and his visit to the District of North Tokyo was both a pleasure and a benefit. The Rt. Rev. P. L. Tsen, Bishop of Honan, brought fraternal greetings from the Church in China, as its representative.

Evangelistic Work

During the year two catechists were ordained deacon; Mr. Matsumura, who will continue to work at Matsuyama where he has been resident worker since his graduation from theological seminary in 1932; and Mr. Harada, of Kiryu, graduated the same year. Shortly after his ordination Mr. Harada was called for military service, probably of two years duration. Two of our catechists have also been conscripted.

In 1937, North Tokyo District had two graduates from the theological seminary in Tokyo, both honor students, who were licensed as catechists and appointed to work, one in the town of Fuchu, and the other to assist at St. Paul's University, Tokyo. There was one new student admitted to the preparatory course of the seminary. Also, there was one graduate from the Virginia Theological Seminary, who, having taken the full course there, was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. He returned to Japan in July, and was appointed catechist to assist Mr. Ban, at Utsunomiya.

From the staff of evangelistic workers we lost, in June 1937, the Rev. James Chappell, who had been in Japan since 1895. During this long period of service he has worked in all parts of this district and is greatly loved by all the Japanese clergy. His retirement leaves no American missionary clergy in country work, and his loss is felt the more deeply as there is no one to take his place. The stations which were under his charge have been put under the direction of Japanese clergy, in addition to the work for which they were already responsible. The work in the 43 stations of North Tokyo District outside of Tokyo City is now carried on by 20 Japanese priests, assisted by 5 deacons and 9 catechists. Since the Fiftieth Anniversary celebration there has been a strong spirit among the younger clergy (who compose the large majority) to carry the Church into their neighboring towns and rural districts, where as yet there is no Christian work, and make the message of the Gospel known to the thousands of their countrymen who are still in total ignorance and darkness. There is a splendid field of missionary effort for young American clergy, to work with these young Japanese clergy along such lines, giving them encouragement and co-operation, and bringing them new ideas and methods. There is no doubt as to the field or the opportunity. We have had a concrete example in what has been accomplished by an American woman going to live in a small agricultural town and opening a kindergarten and, on request, instruction classes. This village, Moro, appears for the first time on the statistical report for 1937, and after only three years' work reports 38 baptized Christians, including 16 communicants (4 are members of the missionary household). Many are receiving instruction there, and the religious services are well attended.

St. Barnabas' Mission to Lepers, Kusatsu

During the year financial assistance was received from friends in America which made possible the support of those lepers at Kusatsu for whom we are responsible. For some time negotiations have been going on with Government representatives in regard to the removal of these lepers from the Homes established in the village by Miss Cornwall-Legh to the sanatorium which the Government has built about two miles out from Kusatsu. It is their desire that all lepers be moved from the town, with which, of course, we must co-operate. The matter moves slowly, but it seems from the present outlook that all the leper patients for whom we are caring will eventually be admitted to the sanatorium and their support undertaken by the Government, and at the same time that our missionary workers will be allowed free access to the sanatorium to con-work among the other patients there. If we can maintain the present spirit tinue the spiritual care of these leper Christians, and also to do evangelistic of friendly co-operation until these negotiations are carried through to the end, these lepers will become the wards of their Government, which is as it should be, and, as this sanitorium is to be one of the largest leper centers in Japan, our opportunities for religious work among lepers may be greatly increased. That the Japanese Government is undertaking to collect all lepers into certain Government controlled centers, in order to check the spread of the disease, is a great forward step, and one to which we must give our sympathy and assistance.

Foreign Staff

As mentioned above, the Rev. James Chappell retired in 1937. Two of the women evangelistic workers resigned, Miss Marian Humphreys, who had been stationed at Nikko, and Miss Mary McGill who was working at St. Barnabas' Mission for Lepers, Kusatsu. Miss Kathleen M. Shepherd, who has been a S. P. G. worker in Japan for a number of years, is going to Kusatsu to assist in Miss McGill's place, the present arrangement being for a period of two years, which may be extended at the end of that time. Miss Caroline Schereschewsky, who has been stationed in Tokyo, retired at the end of 1937. In view of these additional vacancies on our staff, the request to the Department of Missions for new appointees for evangelistic workers, both clergy and women workers, has been reiterated, and it is earnestly hoped that during the coming year some may be sent out, to begin Japanese language study in preparation for their work. The Rev. Mr. Chappell's retirement from Japan leaves us no clergymen in direct evangelistic work.

In May, Miss Eleanor Heckleman was appointed to the staff of St. Luke's Hospital, as assistant dietitian; and in September, Miss Elizabeth Rogers came out to St. Margaret's School. She has been attending Japanese Language School, and early next year, in addition to her language study, she will take up her duties as director of physical education and health work in the school. The appointment of such a well-prepared teacher in this department, at this time, is a most fortunate thing for St. Margaret's School for Girls. The Imperial Department of Education is beginning to stress health work in primary and secondary schools and as St. Margaret's is rated as one of the first-class schools in Tokyo, what it is able to do in this line will be an example and an assistance to other schools in the Empire.

Equipment

The new Junior College classroom building, St. Paul's University, was completed in March, 1937, and was used from the opening of the new school year, April 15th. The money for this building, about Y265,000, was raised entirely by parents of the students, alumni and friends of the school in Japan, through the intensive efforts of a committee of the faculty over a period of three years. It is a well-equipped building, with sufficient classroom and administration space for the seven hundred and fifty students of the Junior College, and is an attractive addition to the college campus. For a number of years we have had classrooms for these students in barrack buildings which were most unsuitable and unsanitary.

A rectory (Japanese construction) for the Church at Shimodate was given by Miss Nellie McKim, in memory of her father, Bishop McKim, and is a most welcomed addition to the mission property in that town.

Also during 1937 through the efforts of Dr. Wood and the Rev. Dr. R. W. Andrews, funds were raised in America for the purchase of land and the erection of a small church building, rectory, and probably a parish room as well, in Oyama, which is one of our newest country stations and which until now has had no equipment. Work was started in Oyama several years ago by Dr. Andrews, who retired from Japan in 1936. The land has been bought, and the buildings will be erected during the coming year.

We are most urgently in need of three more Japanese rectories (at present exchange $1,000 each) to replace houses which are in such bad repair as to be unhealthy and unsuitable as residences. Also funds are needed for repairs to many mission buildings.

From the outbreak of the conflict with China, in July, the attention of the nation has been largely on national affairs, and the nationalistic spirit has been greatly intensified. This has not, however, been a detriment to Christian work to any great extent. One of the leading Japanese clergy has said that there is much "confusion of thought" among Japanese Christians at this time, and requested the sympathy and assistance of foreign mission workers in their behalf. In a time when many Japanese are in grief at the loss of loved ones, and all are suffering from the anxiety and financial strain incident to a foreign war, we can but strive the more to make known the Gospel of the Prince of Peace in this land, where already the Church has laid strong foundations.

The District of North Tokyo was able to act as host to a number of China missionaries during the fighting in Shanghai. Some who were on their way back to China at the end of the summer, after furlough in America, stopped off at Yokohama and stayed with missionaries in Tokyo until they were able, in the late fall, to go on to Shanghai. Others had come to Japan resorts for summer vacation and were compelled to stay on in Japan until it was safe to return.

III. MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF TOHOKU

The work of this Church in Japan began in 1859

The Missionary District of Tohoku was formed in 1920 by setting apart, from the North Tokyo District, the following northern prefectures: Fukushima, Miyagi, Iwate, Aomori, Akita and Yamagata. These six northern prefectures, known throughout Japan as Tohoku, were called the District of Tohoku. It comprises about 26,000 square miles and has a population of 7,500,000. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Norman S. Binsted, D.D., consecrated December 3, 1928.

The expenditure in 1937 was $32,854. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 27 stations.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

THE present period in the life of the Nippon Sei Ko Kwai is one of utmost importance and calls for the deepest sympathy and understanding on the part of Christian people, who for years have supported this work by their prayers and with their generous contributions. The invasion of China by Japan has given rise to many questions among Church people in the United States, as to the effect of Christian Missions upon the national policy of this country, with the result, if reports be true, that many Church people at home have apparently lost their enthusiasm, not only for missions in this country, but for other fields as well.

We should remember that national policy during the last several decades even in western nations, where Christianity has been at work for hundreds of years, reveals but slightly the influence of Christian principles upon it. Is it not, therefore, unreasonable to expect that the Christian community in Japan, which is less than 1% of the actual population, should be a major factor in moulding the national policy of this country? It is nevertheless true that the Christian Church in Japan has an influence out of all proportion to its numbers and that influence would be far greater today if the Christian workers in this country could point with pride to the examples and policies of the so-called Christian nations of the West, confident that they were fashioned according to the will of God. That this is impossible, is evident to all with a primary school knowledge of history.

Aside from the fact that Japan can quote a precedent from the history of Christian nations for everything she is doing in China, much might be said in a positive way of defence of her policy in the Far East. This report, however, is no place for a defence of Japan's Far Eastern policy, but I do think, if injury to our work is to be avoided, our people at home should refrain from snap judgment, based on inadequate information, guard against a war psychology aroused by an over indulgence in sentimentality, remember the friendly co-operation the Government and people of Japan have given to the Christian movement, and attempt to realize the economic problems due to trade barriers and, political difficulties occasioned by the proximity of a great hostile, communistic state with the largest standing army in the world.

That interest in foreign missions, due to the present hostilities in the Far East, should diminish, is out of harmony with the life and teaching of Jesus and His apostles, who courageously met all opposition to their teaching and seized upon the current political conflicts of their day to emphasize the importance of a new way of life, centered in God and mediated through the personality of Jesus. The chaos of the world in apostolic times, only served to make the Christian Gospel of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man stand out in bold relief against the background of discredited political systems and spurred the early disciples on to superb efforts of self-sacrifice which ended in death for them but life for us.

Those who have gladly left home, with all the comforts and opportunities it offers, in obedience to a divine call and as the representatives of the Church in the homeland, as well as our Christian brethren in this non-Christian land, who at this time are sacrificing much for their faith, have a right to demand and expect a revival of the spirit of the Master and the apostles among our co-workers in the home Church, as well as adequate support and co-operation in these difficult but challenging times.

It is no time to stand still and certainly not a time to retreat, but that is what the Church has been asking of us during the past few years. Early in each year come fatal orders from the National Council to cut the budget, which act as a death knell to enthusiasm and initiative, creating the impression not only among our own people, but among the great non-Christian world around us, that we are an army in retreat. That, due to decreased appropriations, churches have not actually been closed and missionaries sent home, is no credit to the Church in America, but due solely to the courage and fortitude of the Japanese Christians who have given to the support of the work to the utmost of their ability, and to the willingness of the Japanese and foreign staff to live meagerly, on totally inadequate salaries.

The Bishops in foreign fields are asked to state definitely what effects these cuts have had upon the work. The answer to this question is that they are rapidly undermining the morale of our people who, under pressure, have been reluctantly forced to retreat, or who, at the expense of their health, through overwork and financial anxiety, have attempted to hold the line and this in the face of unparalleled opportunities, taking advantage of which would kindle enthusiasm and send the Christian army in Japan forward to new conquests for Christ and His Kingdom.

Each year we wait for the Church at home to awaken to its responsibility and adequately support our work. The limit of endurance has been reached and if further cuts are to be made, the Church at home will have to face the question of acknowledging defeat and withdrawal from the field, which to my mind would be more courageous than the present policy of insufficient support.

Personnel

The Tohoku District sustained a great loss in the death last January, following a skiing accident, of the Rev. Ernest Harrison, priest-in-charge of the Church work in Akita and Noshiro, where he and Mrs. Harrison rendered valuable and devoted service. Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Harrison returned to Vancouver to be with her children. Their influence and assistance will be greatly missed in the years to come.

In September, the Rev. William Draper was appointed to succeed Mr.

Harrison in Akita and Noshiro. Mr. and Mrs. Draper are evincing great enthusiasm in their work which should continue to make good progress under their inspiring leadership.

The Rev. Hunter M. Lewis, priest-in-charge of Koriyama and Nihonmatsu, accompanied by his wife and child, left on furlough in July. Deep sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, whose furlough was saddened by the serious condition of their infant son, who was injured at birth.

Miss Gladys Spencer, following a major operation from which she fully recovered, left for America on furlough in June. Her return to the field has been postponed because of her mother's serious illness.

The Rev. Frank Moss was granted a special leave of absence from the field at his own expense, due to poor health and for family reasons.

Miss Gladys Gray returned to Japan in June after furlough, and resumed her work as kindergarten supervisor and mission woman in Sendai.

Deaconess Ranson, in her rural evangelistic work at Isoyama; Miss Dorothy Hittle, educational secretary; Miss Helen Boyle, principal of the Sendai Training School and mission treasurer, and Miss Bernice Jansen, head of the kindergarten department of the Sendai Training School, and district kindergarten supervisor, have all done excellent work during the past year.

Among the Japanese staff, a priest, the Rev. Saburo Takiguchi, and a catechist, K. Uematsu, have been called for service in the army. The work of these men is being cared for during their absence by the other Japanese clergy who, in the present emergency, willingly accepted the added responsibility. No other changes have been made in the placement of Japanese clergy during the past year.

Buildings

With funds realized from the sale of a piece of land owned by the mission in Akita, which was no longer necessary to the welfare of the work in that city, a simple parish hall was erected adjoining St. Andrew's Church, Aomori, to replace the old building which had been condemned. This was done on authorization from the Shadan. With the balance of the above funds, together with special gifts received for that purpose, a small chapel and rectory were erected at Shinjo, where for many years the work has been carried on unsatisfactorily in rented buildings.

A fund of approximately $3,500 is urgently needed for a chapel and rectory at Taira. In this city land was purchased several years ago, with contributions received from the Diocese of North Carolina, but as yet funds have not been available for building. We cannot expect much progress in the work in this city until we have proper quarters in which to carry it on.

A great opportunity awaits us if we can secure funds to erect a building for Church services and community purposes at Kamaishi, where for a number of years two faithful Christian lay people, Mr. and Mrs. Fujimura, have done so much to lay the foundations for Christian work. Not only have they conducted services, Bible classes and women's meetings weekly in their own home, but with their own personal funds, without any financial assistance from the mission, they have opened and supported a Christian kindergarten in a building which they themselves contributed. This work is in the midst of a mining community of over 20,000 workmen, where with the leadership given by Mr. and Mrs. Fujimura, a successful piece of evangelistic work could be done, with the proper buildings. Through funds secured in Japan, one-third of which were given by Mr. and Mrs. Fujimura, land has already been purchased for such a building. We now need about $3,000 to complete the building fund. It is my hope that some interested person at home may appreciate the opportunity which is open to us in this field and contribute the necessary funds for the building.

General

There has been no notable advance in the work in this district during the past year, due in part to the undermining of morale by annual cuts in the budget which are demoralizing to enthusiasm and initiative; to the divided interests of the Bishop, because of his dual responsibility for the diocese and St. Luke's International Medical Center, and in part to the general unsettled conditions in the country. The advance in some places about balances the loss in others, so that the general condition of the work remains about as it was last year.

In spite of the economic situation which has been felt more keenly in the Tohoku than elsewhere in Japan, the total contributions from native sources show a slight increase over last year. Even such a slight increase in times like the present, when every contribution means real sacrifice, is most encouraging.

After March 31, 1938, when I am relieved of my responsibility as Director of St. Luke's International Medical Center, I shall be able to devote my entire time to the work of the diocese and hope by the end of the coming year to be able to submit a more satisfactory report.

NORMAN S. BINSTED,
Bishop of Tohoku

A VILLAGE SCHOOL IN THE LIBERIAN HINTERLAND

The Church's Mission on the West Coast of Africa has been strengthened by the establishment of tiny village day schools, taught by native boys trained at Cape Mount and supervised by the head of St. John's School

BISHOP SALINAS Y VELASCO CONSECRATES CHURCH AT AYAPANGO, MEXICO

This building was turned over to the Bishop of Mexico by the Government at the suggestion of the Methodists who formerly possessed it. Almost a hopeless ruin, the people restored it to its present condition

THE MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF LIBERIA

The Missionary District of Liberia includes that part of West Africa known as the Republic of Liberia, having an area of 42,000 square miles, and a population of approximately 2,000,000 people. The district, within its present bounds, was established by the General Convention in 1850. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Leopold Kroll, S.T.D., consecrated February 20, 1936. The Suffragan Bishop is the Rt. Rev. T. Momolu Gardiner, D.D., consecrated June 23, 1921.

The expenditure in 1937 was $35,342. This appropriation aids in maintaining work in the Cape Mount District, which includes St. John's Schools for Boys, Bethany School for Girls, St. Timothy's Hospital and a number of country stations, St. Thomas' Church, Kru-town, St. John's, Lower Buchanan, and St. James', Hoffman Station.

REPORT OF THE BISHOP FOR THE YEAR 1937

IT is with deep regret that the Bishop cannot speak more hopefully of the work in Liberia than he did in his report of a year ago.

His one visitation to most of the stations did not give much encouragement for the future. Schools and church buildings are fast falling to pieces, many are already in ruins. Only four of the twenty native priests are receiving stipends. There is very little money in circulation, so the clergy have had to turn to secular occupations for their maintenance.

Unless funds and workers are soon forthcoming this only mission of the Church in Africa will pass from its position of leadership in Liberia.

I cannot say any more than I have said. If the Church at home cannot give any more support in funds and workers than it has in the last few years, then the first venture of our forefathers in the foreign field will have failed in its objective.

The work in the Cape Mount Section is showing a healthy growth. Miss McKenzie has now associated with her Sister Jolly of the Church Army. With this assistance she can carry on the Teachers Training School and also supervise the work in the country schools.

During the past year the Liberian Government has opened a Leper station on one of the Islands in Fisherman's Lake and placed it under the supervision of our Dr. Junge. The Government supplies all of the medications and a grant from the American Mission to Lepers helps towards feeding the patients. Sister Jolly has been visiting the station twice a month and carried on evangelistic work.

The new St. Timothy's Hospital is nearing completion. By October 1938, Dr. Junge will move from the "make-shift" hospital, riddled with termites, into a concrete building with modern equipment.

Archdeacon Simmonds is hindered in developing the country work through lack of funds to pay his native workers a sufficient salary. With the Bishop, he realizes that unless something is done very soon that field of work will have to be abandoned with the rest.

With the opening of the Julia C. Emery School for Girls this coming year the Bishop plans to make a start in establishing a school for boys at Bromley. This is to take the place of the many schools for boys that have been closed within the past few years. The Church has no boarding school for Americo-Liberian boys at present.

The Bishop hopes that during this coming year he will be able to have his office work sufficiently organized so that he can make up statistics. With no secretarial assistance to help take care of a large correspondence and the district finances, there is very little time left to handle the details of statistics.

MISSIONARY DISTRICT OF MEXICO

The work of this Church in Mexico began in 1869

The Missionary District of Mexico includes the Republic of Mexico. It has an area of 767,274 square miles and a population of 16,404,030. The district within its present bounds was established by the General Convention of 1904. The Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Efrain Salinas y Velasco, D.D., consecrated September 29, 1931.

The expenditure in 1937 was $35,843. The appropriation aids in maintaining work in 38 stations.

IT is a satisfaction to state that the work of the Church in Mexico is steadily going forward despite the many handicaps we have to face in the development of our Church. Our progress is signally spiritual as well as material. The faith, loyalty and love of our people to our Lord and the Church is being tested in sundry ways and their standing has been magnificent. A spirit of co-operation and responsibility as Christians is growing and being manifested in a greater willingness to support some parts of the work, in a wider vision of Christian responsibilities in relation with social conditions and a firm determination to go forward. Think of a group of three hundred people, Indians all of them, barefooted, earning very low salaries but nevertheless determined to build a new church building at a cost of $15,000 (Mex.), the old church building they have, being of not enough capacity to accommodate all of them. And they are succeeding. They started early in 1937 and by this time they have finished the walls and are busy securing pledges for the building of the roof. The building in itself shows the marks of a lasting religious purpose and a determination to exist as a church. Massive stone foundations, thick brick walls and the use of cement indicate such a purpose and determination.

Something of a hard problem rises when some of the missions start building new churches and are asking help from the other missions in the district. These readily and enthusiastically give help to the needy missions, which is fine and shows also a splendid spirit of co-operation; but their capacity for giving towards other purposes, for instance, the quota for missions, diminishes, and it requires a greater sacrifice on their part to cover the amount assigned to them for that purpose. That is what is happening in Mexico.

At four places our Church people have started the construction of church buildings. They have been asking help from their fellow Church people and as a consequence, the district was $240 short of the amount it expected to give for missions. Despite these conditions they will pay the total expectancy for 1937, making a greater sacrifice.

An epidemic of scarlet fever and measles that swept over our children in Mexico City just during Lent, caused a decrease in the attendance to our Sunday school at the Cathedral of San Jose de Gracia and in the amount of our Lenten Offering in relation with 1936, when their offering amounted to $199. Our 1937 Lenten Offering at the cathedral amounted to only $144.

The Woman's Auxiliary in Mexico is rendering magnificent help in the work of the Church, not only taking care of the altars, and in some missions of all the cleaning of the church buildings, but increasing year by year their gifts for the United Thank Offering. In 1931 at Denver, they sent $300 (Mex.), at Atlantic City $346.20, at Cincinnati $712.12. It represents sacrifices of our native women for the missionary work of the Church.

The work at our Casa Hooker and Escuela Progreso was successfully carried out during the year. The enrollment at Escuela Progreso was 210 girls during the year and Casa Hooker had 50 boarding girls.

Our St. Andrew's Industrial School under the name of "Granja Mexico" continues its work for the education of our young people in the State of Jalisco. Our young men who expect to enter the ministry are following their preparatory course previous to the theological training which they will pursue in the United States. The Candidate Alfonse Gomez Camberos who went in November 1934 to the Church Divinity School of the Pacific for his theological training, after finishing with success his course, was graduated receiving a B.D. degree and is back in Mexico engaged in the work of the Church at San Martin, San Sebastianito and El Polanco.

Our House of Hope Hospital at Nopala is the center from which irradiates care and healing and the love of God toward the destitute people of that mountainous country. Accidents cause a good percentage of the cases treated during the year. Rocks rushing down the hill and smashing the shacks where these poor mountaineers make their abode; men falling down into deep ravines; little shepherds bitten by rattle snakes or deadly spiders, big tarantulas, besides contagious diseases that epidemically sweep the region, make of our hospital a necessary and important asset of our missionary work at Nopala.

Our evangelistic work is moving forward. New places have been visited by our missionaries in the States of Michoacan, Jalisco and Morelos where several people have affiliated with our communion becoming the little seed, that with the grace and help of God, will grow in the near future to be substantial missions of our Church. There are many opportunities open for our work, but special circumstances in relation with religious regulations enforced by the civil authorities make it prohibitory for our priests to extend their activities beyond the places they have been registered for.

This difficulty could be solved by using some of our young men to meet these opportunities, as lay readers under the direction of the priests.

No priest is allowed to register for two or more places or counties; priests are allowed to officiate only in the churches they are registered for. But occasionally, not as a regular practice other priests may officiate in a Church where they are not registered.

In order to start religious services in a new mission it is necessary for some one not in charge of another place, to register and be responsible to the civil authorities. Hence the impossibility of the native staff, already registered for the existing missions, of starting new work at any place when the opportunity comes, and the need of laymen who may volunteer for such work and responsibility.

After General Convention I formed part of Team Number Seven sent to the dioceses on the Pacific Coast to speak on the missionary work of the Church. I also visited for the same purpose the Dioceses of Colorado and Kansas, returning to Mexico City on the 15th of December, after an absence of almost three months.

I made the official visits to all the missions in the district during the year. I celebrated 12 infant baptisms, confirmed 60 people, received into the communion of our Church 28 persons, and celebrated one marriage. I made 205 addresses in the year.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF

RECITING THE RECORD OF THE YEAR
PARTICULARLY IN THE FIELDS OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION OF CHILDREN, IN YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK AND IN COLLEGE WORK

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

GENERAL Convention has committed to the National Council the responsibility for the unification, development, and prosecution of the educational work of the Church. The National Council, of course, is not responsible for the religious education of the people of the Church. This is the work of all the clergy, and it is their primary task. But there is a recognized need for the unification, development, and prosecution of this work, and the National Council is instructed in the Canons of the Church to organize a Department of Religious Education for this purpose.

This Department has been organized and is functioning as part of the program of the National Council. Five fields of service are recognized as belonging to this Department: Educational Work among Children, Young People, College Students, Adults, and also the work of the Missionary Education of the Church. The work is carried on by a staff of six officers with the needed stenographic and clerical assistance. These officers perform their work through correspondence, the issuance of printed and mimeographed materials, and by conferences with workers in the field. The work is advisory, rather than directive. They have no power to dictate what educational methods shall be used in any parish, diocese, or province; but they have the responsibility of giving advice, suggestions, and assistance to all of these.

The field of work is very large and is not well occupied. However, if the best work is to be done in any parish or diocese, it is necessary that these units should have information as to what is happening in the educational world in general and in other dioceses and parishes in particular. The ideal situation would exist if in each diocese there were a well-manned Department of Religious Education which could give the needed advice and assistance to the parishes or missions. Then the ideal type of organization would also include strong provincial departments of religious education which could give unification and direction to the various dioceses in each province. In such a situation the work of the Department of Religious Education of the National Council would be that of working through the various provincial and diocesan departments, and thus we would have the unification of our efforts, the best guidance in the development of education, and we would be able to bring national forces to bear in the further prosecution of the work where that would be needed.

However, such a situation does not exist. With one or two exceptions, the provincial departments of religious education are exceedingly weak and most of the diocesan departments are unable to give to their parishes the assistance which the latter need and desire. In this situation the national Department of Religious Education is called on to provide immediate guidance for many parishes and dioceses in their work.

The national Department of Religious Education is exceedingly anxious to encourage better organization of diocesan and provincial departments for this educational supervision. In the meantime, we are called on to provide, as far as possible, the supervision that is needed.

There are other tasks which must always be the province of the Department of Religious Education of the National Council. Such tasks are: The promotion and administration of the national offerings (The Lenten Offering, Birthday Thank Offering, Little Helpers Offering), the provision of curriculum material for the educational program of parishes and dioceses, the provision of program literature, the direction of Missionary Education, the unification of Young People's Work, and the giving of guidance in College Work.

The officers of the national Department maintain a very wide correspondence with all parts of the country. Most of the work of the diocesan departments is in the hands of volunteer workers, and they turn constantly to our officers for suggestions as to methods and programs.

The Department publishes a large amount of material. Perhaps the most important of this material is in mimeographed form, which is none too satisfactory but is quite inexpensive. Three regular publications are issued in this form.

1. The Bulletin. This is a monthly publication which goes to the members of diocesan departments of religious education and to other educational leaders in the Church. It forms an exchange of methods about the educational work of the Church, and seeks to publicize various methods that have been successful. It always includes advice about books and periodical literature on the subject of Religious Education. A great many of its articles find wide circulation through being taken up by diocesan and parish papers and being reprinted. Last month we noted that articles were being taken from our Bulletin and being circulated through the Church in China. Since this publication is circulated without charge we do our utmost to keep the number of copies down, and are sure that there is no waste circulation. Even under these conditions we issue 1,300 copies per month.

2. The Broadcast. This is a bi-monthly publication, also mimeographed. It seeks to provide suggestions and guidance for the very large number of Young People's Societies throughout the Church. Each issue contains suggestions for programs, not only for separate meetings, but for all the activities of a young people's organization. This also gives information about the best literature that is being published for use among young people. Although we restrict the issue of this publication to those who can use it wisely and valuably, its circulation has reached about 800 copies per issue.

3. The Family in the Church. This is a quarterly publication which seeks to help in the field of Parent Education. The object of this paper is to show methods whereby the family as a social unit can be more closely integrated into the life of the Church. Two hundred and fifty copies per quarter are sent to our educational leaders.

CHILDREN'S EDUCATION

The Department acts as consultant with provincial and diocesan departments of religious education and also with parishes and individuals. It handles correspondence on such topics as:

- (a) Advice on problems of curriculum sought by teachers, leaders, parishes, and diocesan departments.
- (b) Advice on reading materials for children, young people, and adults.
- (c) Help in preparing addresses and courses on all kinds of topics relating to Religious Education.
- (d) Advice regarding leadership education, including the issuance of credits in the N. A. L. A.
- (e) Advice on and evaluation of plans and materials prepared in the field.

FIELD WORK

There is an incessant demand throughout the Church for help from the national Department of Religious Education by visits of officers to diocesan and regional groups. For some years, Miss Mabel Lee Cooper has served as Field Secretary, and the deepest sorrow was occasioned to all her friends when she was forced, through ill health, to give up her work. Her resignation became effective on December 31, 1937. The Department could use very valuably a large staff of field workers. But in the present situation, when such are not available, the officers spend as much time in the field as possible in view of their other duties. The provision of field workers seems to be a prerequisite to the building up of strong diocesan departments of religious education, and I do not know of any step which would mean more to the unification and development of our work than the existence of such strong departments.

CURRICULUM PROBLEMS

The officers of the Department of Religious Education are continually wrestling with the difficult problem of providing the best Curriculum for our Church schools. Methods of education in the secular schools of the country have changed so greatly in the past generation that new forms of curriculum are becoming more and more necessary. There are a number of series of lessons available in the Episcopal Church, but none of them have proved satisfactory to the Church at large. The national office is consulted by a great many parishes and dioceses as they seek to build up that type of curriculum which will best meet their needs. The Christian Nurture Series is probably the most popular of all the Church School Series available among us, but it is not now, and never has been, the standard curriculum for Church schools. We do not expect that there will ever be any one standard curriculum for all schools. During the past two years this entire Series has been rewritten by the officers of the Department and, we believe, has been considerably improved by this process. At best this rewriting is only a stop-gap, and it is going to be necessary, within the next few years, to have written a complete new curriculum for our schools. Conferences with educational leaders have been arranged so as to bring together the best wisdom of the Church on this problem. We have no expectations that we can solve this problem to the satisfaction of everyone, but we believe that it will be possible, within the next few years, to bring out a Series of lessons which will be a marked improvement on anything which now exists.

In the meantime, as stated above, we are giving the best advice we can regarding the use of the existing curriculum. We are called on constantly to advise with authors and publishers on Series which they are writing or preparing to publish.

It is very important to recognize the very great changes which have taken place in educational methods in secular schools within the past twenty years. Newer methods are rapidly superceding the older routine textbook methods, and it is imperative that our Religious Education be brought in line with the new approaches. The emphasis which we are seeking to lay in all our work is on the importance of religious experience and activity in the educational process. For some years this Department has been stressing the importance of adequate services of worship for children and young people, and it is a source of deep gratification to realize that the vast majority of our Church schools today are learning this lesson and are giving their children more adequate opportunity to learn through actual worship of God and through actual service to their fellowmen.

LEADERSHIP EDUCATION

The Department seeks to encourage and assist in the work that is being done in almost every diocese in the training of its leaders for children and young people. The National Accredited Leaders Association is an organization of the Episcopal Church which gives advice and direction to those groups which are preparing programs for the education of leaders. It publishes a long list of possible courses which such leaders in training might possibly follow, and it gives credits when those recognized courses are satisfactorily completed. A very large number of diocesan and regional institutes and conferences work under the guidance of this organization and hundreds of credits are earned every year by students. During the past year the whole curriculum of the N. A. L. A. has been completely revised, and it now provides guidance not only in elementary courses for beginners, and in standard courses for those who have had some experience, but it also provides a Third Series for advanced students.

The officers of the national Department of Religious Education serve as instructors and advisers in a great many conferences. They devote practically the whole summer to this work and their services seem to be appreciated.

A bibliographical service is available in the Department. Books lists have been prepared on a great variety of subjects, and many applications are made for these as teachers, leaders, and clergy seek help in working out the educational programs for their people.

THE NATIONAL OFFERINGS

The Department of Religious Education administers and supervises the Church School Lenten Offering. This work calls for supplying the required number of boxes to each parish in the country. Over 650,000 boxes are sent out to more than 6,000 parishes and missions each spring.

This Department also prepares the materials which are used in the education and promotion necessary for the success of this offering. During 1937, the subject was "Work Among the Negroes"; a series of stories was provided for all schools with suggestions as to how this material might be used in developing interest in our missionary work. Numerous activities were suggested. Reports from diocesan and missionary districts show that the total amount received for the missionary work from this offering was $303,646.07.

During the year material has been prepared for the Lenten Missionary Offering during 1938, on the subject "Rural Life Around the World." It is often overlooked that this offering is one of the most important sources of missionary income. Since the Church school offerings do not come immediately to the National Council but are paid by the parishes to the diocesan treasurers and apply on the parish and diocesan quotas toward the budget the importance and size of the offering is not generally recognized.

We prepare and circulate the missionary material for the promotion of the Birthday Thank Offering. During the past triennium this offering was devoted to the erection of a Children's Ward in the hospital which is planned for Shanghai. The total offering for the triennium, reported to General Convention was $24,323.47.

For the triennium 1938-1940 the objective is to be "Work Among Chinese and Japanese Children." In the promotion of this offering we are seeking not only to secure the utmost financial return possible, but also to educate the members of our Church schools toward a possible international Christian fellowship in the Orient.

THE LITTLE HELPERS OFFERING

This Department directs the work of the Little Helpers Offering for Missions and is seeking to make this work a center for the spread of parent education.

THE CHRISTMAS BOX WORK

A very large number of parishes prepare a Christmas Box each year which goes to some mission station either in this country or in foreign lands. Almost every diocese participates in this work and each year about 50,000 individual gifts are sent to missionary stations.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

In practically every parish and mission in the country there exists a number of young people who need to be gathered together in groups for Christian training. There are a number of organizations in the Church which seek to work among these young people, giving the needed instruction and help. Many of them, such as the Girls' Friendly Society and the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, have strong national organizations. The type of organization which has spread most widely through the Church is that of The Young People's Fellowship or The Young People's Service League. These various societies have little national organization and the Department of Religious Education is called on to act as a center for the work, and a kind of foster-mother of the organization. Since there is so little national cohesion in this group it is necessary that there be very definite direction given from national headquarters. Miss Dorothy May Fischer who served as Secretary for young people's work for three years did very valuable work, not only in co-ordinating the work of Young People's Fellowships but also in bringing together all the organizations working among young people throughout the country.

The functions of the National Council in young people's work are twofold: First, the strengthening and unification of organizations existing for young people's work in the Church; and second, giving advice and guidance with regard to the content of programs of work for Young People.

Part of this work is done in Church Missions House, and part is done in the field.

I. Organizational Work

1. The carrying on of correspondence and the preparation of literature for the guidance of provincial and diocesan departments of religious education in their young people's work.

2. Co-ordination of the various organizations now working with young people.

3. Contact with various organizations outside the Episcopal Church engaged in young people's work, such as

- (a) Young people's organizations in other denominations.
- (b) The International Council of Religious Education, Young People's Section.
- (c) The Missionary Education Movement.
- (d) Various youth movements that are arising today such as the Amsterdam Conference and Christian Youth Building a New World.

II. Guidance in Educational Content

1. A heavy correspondence with local young people's societies giving guidance as to their program material. (If all diocesan departments were efficient, this work could much better be done by them. But the fact is that we cannot depend on such efficiency and therefore must give help when it is requested.)

2. The preparation of program material for young people's societies.
3. The preparation of booklists for young people and the dissemination of information about available literature.
4. Editing The Broadcast, a mimeographed publication of about twelve pages, which we issue bi-monthly, to about 800 young people's leaders.

III. Field Work

Much of the above advisory work regarding organization and content is done by correspondence, but a great deal more is done by conferences with leaders in the field.

1. Conferences and Institutes. There are many of these in the summer and many regional meetings during the rest of the year.
2. Young people's conventions and specific meetings.
3. Advice to parish clergy about their young people's work.
4. The development of a program of Leadership Training for use in provinces, dioceses, and parishes.

IV. The Young People's Fellowship

The national Department of Religious Education is called on to act as foster-mother and immediate guide to the very large number of loosely organized Young People's Fellowships and Young People's Service Leagues throughout the Church.

There exists the Young People's Commission of the National Council which is composed of eight young people, one chosen as representative from each province, and five adult advisers. This Commission meets annually or bi-annually. The Secretary for Young People of the National Council is the executive officer of this body.

This Commission has not the time or the competence to give direction to the work of the Young People's Fellowship during the year. Such direction must be given by the national Department of Religious Education. The Secretary for Young People is the one through whom this is done. The fields of work necessary for this organization are specified under Numbers I-III above.

MISSIONARY EDUCATION

The Department regrets that it cannot report satisfactory work in the broad field of Missionary Education. Since the spring of 1935 no secretary has been available to give leadership in this work and the result is that we have been able to do little more than carry on certain routine activities. Such Missionary Education as has been done in the last three years has only been made possible by the very ready co-operation of the other Departments of the National Council with the Department of Religious Education. Since this is a subject deeply involved in any plan of reorganization of the work of the Council this report will not undertake to discuss the problem.

COLLEGE WORK

The very large number of Episcopal students in the colleges and universities of the United States provide one of the most important fields for missionary work. Responsibility for the Christian training of these students is, of course, primarily on the shoulders of the Bishops and clergy in whose parishes they reside. Nevertheless this very large group has such unique needs and presents such special opportunity that the National Council recognizes its responsibility for giving direction to the workers.

The Rev. Dr. Theodore O. Wedel, who is Secretary for College Work, has formed contact with the large number of pastors who are engaged in work among students. There are more than four hundred of these clergy who are in immediate contact with student groups. These men need help and guidance in the difficult work and they also need some method of co-ordination with the work of others among students in other parishes. Dr. Wedel carries on a very large correspondence with clergy in college communities. He also is in constant demand as a speaker and preacher to college groups. He issues numerous suggestions and helps to college clergy in the form of pastoral letters, pamphlets, and book lists.

The whole field of College Work is so very great that serious problems of policy arise regarding the proper place of the National Council in this work. A report written by Dr. Wedel bringing to light important matters of policy which must soon be decided is on file.

THE DEPARTMENT AND GENERAL CONVENTION

The Department of Religious Education has always been responsible for conducting an Institute at General Convention. This year we had the co-operation of the Forward Movement in this task and a very valuable educational Institute was organized. The Institute was divided into three divisions: The first included seventeen courses of general interest in which the total registration was 723. The second division was the Clergy Training Institute in Social Service which was under the direction of the Department of Social Service of the National Council and in which the registration was 179. The third division of the Institute was quite an ambitious plan and was in the form of a Religious Education Seminar. To this Seminar only those students were admitted who were nominated by the Departments of Religious Education of the dioceses and districts, and registrations were limited, except in a few cases, to four persons from any one diocese. The total registration was 152. The Seminar gave full time, for four days, to the discussion of pressing questions in our educational work, and I believe marked a very real step forward. The report of the Seminar has been published and has evoked a very wide demand.

THE YEAR 1937

SURVEYING THE WORK OF DIVISIONS

OF THE DEPARTMENT PROGRAM

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICE

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

THE Executive Secretary continued through the year to divide his time between the offices of the Department of Christian Social Service and the National Council of the Church Mission of Help. On January 1, 1938 he will give his full time to the office of the Department of Christian Social Service.

Resolutions from several dioceses served as a stimulus in the organization of a national sub-committee on Social Security for Lay Employees of the Church, who are excluded from the benefits of the federal Social Security Act. Its findings were reported to General Convention which appointed a Joint Committee on this subject to investigate further a proposed policy of the Church Life Insurance Company. Already several dioceses have adopted this policy for their lay workers to go into effect January 1, 1938.

GENERAL CONVENTION

The activities of the Department at General Convention in Cincinnati were productive of much new interest. A consultation booth and exhibit were maintained, with many conferences given on all phases of the Department's work and much literature distributed.

A high spot of the whole Convention was the Mass Meeting of the Department which was addressed by B. Seebohm Rowntree, Chairman of the Board of the Rowntree Chocolate Company, Ltd., York, England, on the subject of Christianity and Industrial Relations. This address was printed in pamphlet form before the meeting and was available to the audience as it left the auditorium. Two thousand copies were distributed then and the week later. A reprint of 15,000 copies was made upon return to New York and the distribution since has been notable.

RURAL WORK

The rural work of the Church continued this year under this Department. The Sixteenth National Episcopal Conference on Rural Church Work was conducted in Madison, Wisconsin, in co-operation with the Department of Domestic Missions. The members of this conference attended the lectures given by the Rural Leadership School of the University of Wisconsin. Twenty-nine clergy and three women leaders from the rural districts of the Church constituted the attendance.

Lectures were also conducted at the Conference for Church Workers of the Mountain Workers Conference in Knoxville.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

Request for educational material on the operation of the Social Security Act resulted in the production of a syllabus on Social Security by the Consultant on Industrial Relations.

The high spot in the program of the Division for the year was the conducting of a two-day conference on the Church and Slum Clearance. Associated in the conference were representatives of the Federation of Churches, the Roman Catholic Church and the Jewish Community. The report and proceedings of this Conference are available at The Book Store, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York, N. Y., at a minimum price.

PROJECTS

The following projects were promoted during the year.

Social Service Sunday. The Third Sunday after the Epiphany, January 24, was observed as Social Service Sunday. Corporate Communion for social workers and special sermons on the topic marked the day throughout the Church.

Episcopal Social Work Conference. The Seventeenth Episcopal Social Work Conference, held in Indianapolis, Ind., was a strategic means of bringing to that section of the Church a realization of the Church's interest in Social Service. The nine papers presented at this conference discussed youth today, the relationship between Church and secular social work, the illegitimate family, chaplaincy in a modern prison and the Church's interest in social service. These proceedings were printed again in book form under the title: Episcopal Social Work, 1937.

Cincinnati Summer School and Graduate School of Applied Religion. Slightly better conditions this year made it possible for the National Council, through the Department, to appropriate $1,000 toward the Cincinnati Summer School for specific scholarships. The enrollment comprised 22 seminarians from 8 Church seminaries and 2 denominational. A new departure this year was the acceptance as a student of a young Japanese woman studying at Crozer Seminary, Chester, Pa.

The Summer School was affiliated this year with the Graduate School of Applied Religion which closed its first year in June with its 4 students returning to their respective fields ready to cope more adequately with the social problems of their communities because of their year's work in Cincinnati, Ohio. Its second year began in September with 5 full-time students enrolled, and 3 special students doing part-time work.

Church Social Institutions. As a result of a survey previously made of a Church home for children, the present executive secretary has been consulted in regard to the effecting of changes recommended by his predecessor, and in regard to the placing of a trained social worker as head of a Church children's institution in the mid-west. A letter signed by Bishop Lawrence, as Chairman of the Department, was mailed to the superintendents of all such institutions, and others, commending to their attention Standards of Foster Care for Children in Institutions, a new booklet issued by the Child Welfare League of America.

Churchmen in Social Work. The Department's Master List of Churchmen professionally engaged in social work now numbers 1,085 names. The cooperation of friends in the field is much appreciated and, it is hoped, will continue.

LITERATURE

Pamphlets published during the year included:

The Church's Service to Society
The Church and Rural Life
Program of the Conference on the Church and Slum Clearance
Program of the Seventeenth Episcopal Social Work Conference

FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

The appropriation of $750 to the Departments of the Church and Social Service and Race Relations of the Federal Council of Churches was continued. The executive attends the meetings of these departments.

VISITATION OF SOCIAL AGENCIES

The Department again sponsored the plan instituted last year of arranging for the boys of St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, to visit many of the Church's and city's social institutions, this year commandeering the leadership of the Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society of New York. Such a project might well be adopted by groups in other sections of the Church for its strategic educational value.

FIELD TRIPS

As much as the part-time relationship allowed, field trips were made to seven dioceses and to the meetings of departments of social service in two provinces. Special attention was given to correspondence and the exchange of mimeographed program material. On this basis new departments have been organized in several dioceses.

DEPARTMENT MEMBERS

The National Council appointed the following persons from its membership as members of this Department: Bishop Lawrence, Chairman, Mr. Mather, Mr. Fleming, and Mrs. Cain, whose counsel and advice in the Departmental program will prove of great benefit.

Executive Secretary

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE of the National Council
for the
Year Ending December 31, 1937

IN February, 1937, the National Council met to balance the budget for the year. The estimated receipts from normal sources were considerably below the amount needed to balance the budget of $2,313,115, which General Convention had called "An Emergency Schedule." There was, however, money available from unusual sources consisting of a balance of $52,216 in the Missionary Reserve Account and a total of $149,158 in legacies designated for missionary work and available to meet current appropriations. While loath to use such legacies for current expenses, the Council declared that it was preferable to do so rather than to make further cuts in what was already a minimum working budget. The budget for 1937 was, therefore, balanced by applying these legacies as an underwriting to be used only if necessary.

Because of a decrease in expenditures as compared with the estimate and a small increase in receipts, it was possible to balance the accounts for 1937 and at the same time save one designated legacy of $100,000 and $11,481 of the Missionary Reserve Account for future use.

Collections from the dioceses on their Expectations were fairly satisfactory. Out of 99 dioceses and districts 87 paid 100% or more of their "Expectation." One diocese reported an "Objective" but no "Expectation." Leaving this diocese out of the calculation payments on "Expectations" were 97.38% as compared with 101% in 1936.

During the year there was received for "Specials," that is, for work not included in the budget, the sum of $284,016.37, of which $182,000 was for St. Luke's International Medical Center, Tokyo, Building Fund.

Summary of Income and Expenditures

	1935	1936	1937
Income applicable to Budget	$2,191,504.70	$2,258,392.56	$2,130,126.35
Expenditures	2,248,551.60	2,240,462.76	2,195,457.28
Deficit	$ 57,046.90		$ 65,330.93
Surplus		$ 17,929.80
Transferred from Legacy account (designated for missionary work)	4,939.45		44,137.87
Transferred from Legacies of previous years (sale of securities)	48,500.24		21,489.19
Additional income from legacies and lapsed balances	18,717.83
Net surplus	$ 15,110.62	$ 17,929.80	$ 296.13

It is gratifying to note an increase in the budget giving of the dioceses. Because of the fact that no supplementary appeal was issued in 1937, the total giving of the Church shows a decrease as compared with 1936 of more than $150,000. Income on trust funds was slightly larger due to an improvement in the real estate situation.

There were few changes of importance in expenditures as compared with the previous year but definite progress is to be noted in the assumption by dioceses of work now supported in part by the National Council. The Dioceses of North Carolina, Oregon and West Texas are to be commended for their progress toward complete independence. Oklahoma received its last appropriation as a missionary district and this in a largely decreased amount and, with 1938, becomes a self-supporting diocese. An increase in expenditures in Spokane and a decrease in Idaho are due to a re-adjustment of territory. In Honolulu our Iolani School is making steady progress toward complete self-support. In both the domestic and foreign fields there is a reduction in the amounts expended on pension premiums for missionary workers due to the smaller number at work and the lower salaries paid. An overpayment of such premiums in 1936 appears in the report just below as a refund and is applied to the deficit. The item in the missionary budgets, "Outfits, Travel of Missionaries, Etc.," in both the domestic and foreign fields is somewhat larger due to the heavier travel incident to the meeting of General Convention. The Department of Social Service had the benefit of a full-time executive with a consequent increase in expenditure. A new item of $5,500 for training of United Thank Offering workers appears in the 1937 report. The National Commission on Evangelism received no appropriation.

A gratifying increase is noted in the receipts for the Good Friday Offering.

The Deficit

The deficit accumulated in the years 1933 and 1934, and amounting originally to $852,-739.73, had been reduced to $780,837.71 at the end of 1936.

This deficit was further reduced in 1937 to the extent of $17,766.72 as follows:

One-half of Designated Legacies received in 1937	$ 9,376.85
Refunds on account of previous years	8,093.74
Balance of income 1937	296.13
Total	$17,766.72

The deficit as of December 31, 1937, was $763,070.99.

As we have said before, while such a deficit is a real burden and must be removed as soon as possible, the credit of the Missionary Society is not impaired. Years ago friends of the Church realized that such deficits would occur and provided a fund called the "Reserve Deposit Account" for the purpose of protecting the credit of the Society at such times as its income may be less than expenses. As of December 31, 1937, the book value of this Fund was $769,454.58. At the present time the entire Fund is invested and the deficit is being carried by loans upon which interest is being paid at lower rates than that realized from the investments in the Fund.

Trust Funds

The total book value of Trust Funds held by the Committee on Trust Funds as of December 31, 1937, was $12,303,713.46, an increase of $196,597.78 during the year. These funds were invested as follows:

Railroad Bonds	20.5%
Public Utility Bonds	33.6%
United States Government Bonds	5.0%
Municipal and Industrial Bonds*7%
Preferred and Common Stocks*8%
Bonds and Mortgages secured by Real Estate†	27.3%
Real Estate acquired by foreclosure or by gifts or bequests	10.7%
Uninvested Cash	1.4%

The Consolidated Trust Funds, in which most of the above investments are included, earned an income at the rate of 4.2656% as compared with 4.2559% in 1936.

During the year there occurred a drastic decline in the prices of railroad bonds. As a result the market value of $7,452,219.17 of corporate and Government securities held by the Society on December 31, 1937, was $61,405.97 below the book value, whereas one year earlier the market value was $666,236.69 in excess of book value. To offset this decline and as a reserve against losses of any kind, there is in the "Investment Profit and Loss Account" a balance of $364,756.43. This is an increase of $22,304.46 during the past year, representing an excess of profits over losses on investments sold or matured.

No valuation has been attempted on real estate or real estate mortgages but the net cash return on these classes of investments, as shown below, is fairly satisfactory. Our Real Estate Division is in constant touch with each investment of this character.

As stated above the interest return for the year on the Consolidated Trust Funds was at the rate of 4.2656%. The return on real estate investments figured separately was as follows:

Real Estate Mortgages	4.18 %
Real Estate Owned	3.04 %
Total Real Estate and Mortgages	3.857%

Legacies

During 1937 Legacies and Gifts in the form of property were received as follows:

Cash received from Executors and sale of Securities	$144,924.90
Securities or Property of Inventory value	52,665.00
Total received in 1937	$197,589.90

Undesignated: Appropriated as follows:

For Deficit of previous years	$ 9,177.74
To Forward Movement Commission	9,177.74
	$ 18,355.48

Designated for Specific Purposes:

For specific missionary work and applied to support such work in 1937 Budget	$ 12,780.01
For Investment	7,144.56
For Special Purposes	6,644.85
Reserved for Future Action	100,000.00
	$126,569.42
Securities and property received in 1937 awaiting sale	52,665.00
	$197,589.90

* All received by gift or bequest.

† Of this total, $109,694.32 consists of mortgage certificates.

 Of this total, property of a book value of $568,108.18 was received by bequest, sold at a profit over book value and re-acquired upon foreclosure as explained in the report of 1933.

Expenditures at the Church Missions House

Expenditures at the Church Missions House were higher than in 1936 chiefly because of a partial restoration of the 20% cuts in salaries made in 1932. The first restoration of 5% for the clerical staff was effective for one-half of 1936 and a second restoration of 5% was effective for the whole of 1937. A 5% restoration in officers' salaries became effective January 1, 1937. These restorations leave the staff salaries at 90% and the officers' salaries at 85% of normal. The larger part of the increase in officers' salaries in the Department of Finance is due to the transfer of the salary of the cashier from "staff" to "officers."

General

On the following pages will be found a more detailed statement of income and expenditures. A statement of the Good Friday Offering will be found on page 227.

A statement of receipts and disbursements on pages 228-230 is a record of all money received and paid out during the fiscal year, including receipts and expenditures for "Specials" and other work outside of the Program of the National Council. The statement of income and expenditures on pages 217-223 shows all income and expenditures applicable to the budget and Advance Work Program for the years 1935-1936-1937.

Treasurer

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

To the National Council, Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America:

We have made an examination of the Treasurer's records of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America and report that, in our opinion, the annexed summarized cash statement for the year ending December 31, 1937, has been correctly prepared therefrom.

We have ascertained that all daily receipts summarized on the cash statement appended agreed by totals with relative deposits as shown by bank statements, and we inspected paid checks in support of all disbursements except those for which checks had not been returned by the banks. We have not examined confirmation of the recorded receipts other than loans from banks and the cash income received during the year from securities held by the Standing Committee on Trust Funds and reported by the Bank of New York and Trust Company, nor have we undertaken to ascertain that the provisions affecting restricted gifts or legacies have been observed.

The balances in banks at December 31, 1937, aggregating $522,081.90, as shown by the books, were confirmed by means of certificates obtained direct from the depositories. In addition, there is included in the balance on hand at December 31, 1937, as reported on the accompanying statement, miscellaneous bonds, mortgages, real estate and other securities of an aggregate cost or appraised value when received of $484,341.44 which the custodians thereof certify they held for safe-keeping at that date.

To The National Council, Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America:

We have made an examination of the balance sheet of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America as at December 31, 1937. In connection therewith, we examined or tested accounting records of the Society and other supporting evidence and obtained information and explanations from officials of the Society; we also made a general review of the accounting methods but we did not make a detailed audit of the transactions.

Following previous practice, cash in banks and on hand at December 31, 1937 includes certain receipts less certain disbursements in the period from January 1, 1938 to January 26, 1938, which are considered to be applicable to the year 1937.

The investments are carried at cost or appraised value when received. Investments, other than real estate, have been confirmed by means of certificates obtained from the custodians thereof or by inspection during the course of our examination; we did not request your counsel to confirm the title to the real estate carried on the books. We have not computed the present market value of the securities nor have we ascertained the form of registration of the securities not inspected by us.

We have not undertaken to ascertain that the provisions affecting restricted gifts or legacies have been observed.

In our opinion, based upon such examination and subject to the foregoing, the above balance sheet fairly presents, in accordance with accepted principles of accounting consistently maintained by the Society during the year under review its position at December 31, 1937.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT

A RECORD OF THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS,
THE PARTLY PRINTED PARISH PAPER,
NEWS SERVICE, MISSIONARY INFORMA-TION SERVICE, CHURCH OF THE AIR
& OTHER DEPARTMENTAL ACTIVITIES

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

THE report of the Department for 1937, is a brief record of the varied activities of the Department in the performance of its task of propaganda for and promotion of the Church's Program. Conscious of unprecedented need for promotional effort throughout the Church, the Department has endeavored to broaden the scope of its work, and to intensify its activities, utilizing continuously throughout the year, every proper and available medium through which the Church people, and the unchurched world, may be informed, interested, and brought to participation in the execution of the world-wide program of the Church.

Perhaps the most effective of the Church's mediums of propaganda is THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS, the most widely read of all Church periodicals, yet with a subscription list pitifully small, as compared with the membership of the Church.

In 1937, the major responsibility of THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS was an adequate coverage of the General Convention meeting in Cincinnati. Beginning in January, the magazine presented month by month advance news of the Convention, which absorbed more and more space as the date of the Convention came nearer, culminating in the August issue with a special pre-Convention number. The November number which appeared immediately after the close of Convention was devoted entirely to a report of that gathering, especially in its missionary significance.

This timely alertness to significant events in the life of the Church was evidenced in the pages of the magazine in several other instances during the year, and is a goal which the Editors have constantly before them. In the June number was published a picture of the great Nippon Sei Ko Kwai Jubilee Service held in Tokyo, Japan, during the last days of April. The prompt publication of this picture was made possible by the co-operation of our missionaries in Japan, and the existence of the trans-Pacific Clipper airmail. The consecrations of two Missionary Bishops, and the formal opening of the chapel of St. Luke's Hospital in Tokyo, were also recorded in picture and story immediately after their occurrence, through the same type of co-operation.

During the year the usual special numbers—Lenten Offering and United Thank Offering—were published in February and April respectively, and in addition the July number was a special Japan issue in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Nippon Sei Ko Kwai. The magazine continued its policy of several special series of articles which in 1937 included articles on the Forward Movement, the World Conferences at Oxford and Edinburgh, and on the special topics for mission study. Among the contributors were Bishop Hobson, the Rev. Oliver J. Hart, the Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, Clifford P. Morehouse, Coleman Jennings, the Rev. Karl Morgan Block, the Rev. C. Leslie Glenn, the Rev. Angus Dun, Bishop Cross, Mrs. Harper Sibley, the Rev. Gilbert P. Symons, and Francis Cho-min Wei. Contributors to the regular features, "Read a Book," and "Why Missions?" included the Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, Bishop Lawrence of Western Massachusetts, the Rev. A. C. Zabriskie, the Rev. John Gass, Ella C. Deloria, Hugh Ross, the Rev. James Thayer Addison, and Mrs. D. T. Huntington.

It should be unnecessary to include in this report the reminder that THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS is edited, published, printed, distributed and promoted by the Department, which considers this service to the Church among its most valued privileges.

In February, 42,000 extra copies of the annual Lenten Offering number were disposed of by the children of the Church, but only 6,500 extra copies of the United Thank Offering number, a comparison which is not intended to be odious, but which does possess a certain significance. The results of the United Thank Offering effort, however, were a considerable improvement over the preceding year.

Financially the record is more encouraging, the treasurer's books showing a credit balance of slightly less than $5,000 for the year in the publication account. Paper and printing prices have increased slightly, and if the proposed higher rates for engravings and postage are put into effect, they may be reflected in the credit balance for the year 1938.

With the facilities at hand for its own needs, the staff of THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS is directly responsible for the maintenance of more than seventy individual stencil lists of from 25 to 6,500 names, for the various departments, making changes of address and doing the addressing of all mail matter as required. During the year 310,000 separate pieces were addressed, including forty mailings to the parochial clergy, of which exactly half were a service rendered to the Forward Movement Commission and the co-operating agencies.

The Department publishes a second periodical, widely-distributed, but little known in many areas of the Church, the Partly Printed Parish Paper, an inconspicuous project, carried on without appropriation, entirely self-supporting, and which during 1937 reached a total circulation of 987,500 copies. This paper consists of four pages, two of which are blank, and two are filled with pictures and short missionary items. Papers are sold to parishes and missions at fifty cents a hundred, postpaid, and the two blank pages are printed or mimeographed locally with parish news, service notices, etc., thus providing a useful and attractive parish bulletin at a nominal cost. The papers are prepared for use weekly or monthly, and special issues are widely used for the Christmas and Easter seasons. Editing, promotion, distribution, bookkeeping and collection of accounts are handled in a small part of the time of one officer of the Department, with an equally small part of the time of two clerical assistants.

The Department maintains efficient news services to the religious and to the secular press, securing for the Church a representation in newspapers throughout the country which is unequalled by other religious bodies, both as to quantity of space and accuracy of reporting. In 1937, fifty-four special stories were sent to newspapers and Press Associations, and information concerning missionary speakers, meetings, conferences, etc., reached a total of more than a thousand separate news stories. Six hundred and four speakers' engagements were covered, and in many instances photographs and mats were sent, as well as biographical material.

During the General Convention, the Department maintained a Press Room which was used by more than a hundred special correspondents for newspapers, Press Associations and Church papers throughout the country. The Department's reporters in both Houses of the Convention, and in the meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary Triennial, sent to the Press Room continuous running stories of the proceedings, which were edited, put on duplicating machines and distributed to the Press at hourly, or often less-than-hourly intervals. Correspondents were assisted and advised constantly as to technical matters, nomenclature, interpretation of various acts of the Convention; photographs were supplied; and the Department's constant co-operation and supervision of news-handling of the Convention resulted in a tremendous volume of publicity printed throughout the country, indeed, throughout the world, with astonishing fairness and accuracy. A new feature of Convention coverage was the employment of a Negro clergyman to act as a special correspondent for the Negro press, and daily Convention stories were sent to a list of a hundred leading racial newspapers. Radio broadcasts of Convention news helped to keep the public informed, and the opening service and several of the most important meetings of the Convention were broadcast over extensive networks.

The regular news services to the Church Press include the popular mimeographed News Notes, which went out twice a month from September through June, with two issues combined after National Council meetings, a total of something over 50,000 words. While the chief subject was the Episcopal Church's missionary work at home and abroad, work of all the Departments of the National Council has been included, together with that of the Woman's Auxiliary, the co-operating agencies and the General Convention. Notes of the work of the Anglican Communion throughout the world are included, and other related subjects. All the annual reports of Bishops who report to the National Council are studied to secure information for wider distribution.

The Notes are intended primarily for editors, and are sent free upon request. The list includes about 1,000 clergy and 1,300 lay people—Woman's Auxiliary officers and others. At the request of the Auxiliary the Notes go to the diocesan presidents and the diocesan educational secretaries. They are sent also to the Field Department list of diocesan executive secretaries.

In addition to the Notes, longer articles have been sent to the diocesan papers, and items of current news or special articles have been sent each week to the national Church papers. This service has varied from a single-page announcement of some national conference or event, to a series of addresses, lengthy commission reports, and special feature articles. Letters and reports from China have increased the quantity sent out toward the end of the year. The quarterly meetings of the National Council and the Woman's Auxiliary National Executive Board have been reported regularly for the Church press, also the Auxiliary's Triennial Meeting.

Throughout the year much time was given to securing and sending information in response to special requests. Since there is no one office to which all such requests are referred, and in which all information is available, every office receives some requests, and many offices are consulted to secure the information. The Department has served as a volunteer clearing house for such information, which goes out constantly, and in considerable volume. The officer of the Department who cares for the Church press news service also edits the "Sanctuary" page in THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS, planning the 1937 issues as a unit, to cover at least in brief outline all the mission fields in which the National Council has work. The same officer is called upon for many special services, such as the preparation of fifty-two paragraphs of missionary information for use on a series of "Message Envelopes" for offerings, service on the Publicity Committee of the Girls' Friendly Society, and co-operation with the Church Periodical Club in its publicity program.

The Department covers for the secular and the religious press, important meetings and conferences, the quarterly meetings of the National Council, the Episcopal Social Work Conference and other gatherings, knowledge of which needs to be made known to the people of the Church. It follows the engagements of the Presiding Bishop and other officers of the National Council and of the Woman's Auxiliary, sending publicity in advance, to assure that their messages may be widely heard.

In 1937, the Episcopal Church of the Air, also in charge of the Department, managed eight broadcasts over extensive networks of the Columbia Broadcasting System, the speakers being the Presiding Bishop, Dr. Grace Lindley, Bishop Cook, the Rev. Floyd Tomkins, the Rev. Dr. G. Warfield Hobbs, Bishop Hobson, the Rev. Dr. Z. B. T. Phillips, and Dr. Francis C. M. Wei.

For the second year the Department accepted responsibility for the promotion of the Good Friday Offering, and it is happy to report a substantial increase in the amount of money actually received, and in the number of parishes and missions participating in this far-reaching missionary effort. The Department co-operated as always in promotion of the Church School Lenten Offering, the Birthday Thank Offering, and the United Thank Offering, and co-operated with the Field Department in the preparation of its promotional literature, especially in the production of the three booklets entitled "Preach the Gospel," "Heal the Sick," and "Go Ye and Teach," which were planned, written and produced by the Department.

In the preparation and distribution of Missionary Information material, the year's record is gratifying. "Today Leaflets" were produced, various pieces of informative and promotional literature were printed and distributed and a considerable increase is noted in the use of the Department's Visual Service. This division of work was taken over by the Department two years ago, and new plans were developed which resulted in wider use and greatly improved material. New Visual Units were produced on Hawaii, The Church and the Negro, Liberia and The Southern Mountaineer, and from material supplied by the American Church Institute for Negroes, a 16mm. motion picture film showing the work of Institute Schools was made and is now available for showing in parishes and missions everywhere.

Visual Service is now self-supporting and the Department has relinquished the former appropriation for this work. This marks real progress, as the moderate profit on rentals will finance the production of new Units during 1938, and this financial stability was achieved in spite of the fact that the rental prices were cut in half.

As a part of its Missionary Information Service, the Department promotes the use of its Missionary Maps, which have been produced by its cartographer, and which show all mission fields of the Church. Here, too, reductions have been made in retail prices, to encourage wider use, and during the year more than a thousand maps were made and sold at 25c. to 35c. each, prices which cover the cost, so that the service requires no appropriation.

The Loan Service of cuts and photographs continues to grow. This service is given free to diocesan and parish papers and to many individuals. During the year, 2,228 cuts and photographs were loaned, mainly for parish and diocesan publications, and for exhibits. Editorial counsel and advice as well as many photographs were supplied to Professor Muller of Cambridge for his book about Bishop Schereschewsky, and photographs were supplied to Professor Fleming for his book on native architecture. Considerable material was supplied to the Rev. George K. MacNaught of Connecticut for possible use in a biography of Dr. Teusler. Another feature of the work is the increased number of standing orders from diocesan and national papers which require a fixed number of cuts each week or month. The members of the staff in charge of the Loan Service care also for maintenance of the clergy mailing list, which in 1937 necessitated 2,454 changes of addresses. The staff of THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS and the officers of the Department are responsible for all printing and publishing for the National Council, the Departments and the Woman's Auxiliary, preparing manuscripts for the printer, securing estimates, and reading proofs. Almost four hundred of such orders were handled, varying from a postal card to a 420-page annual report.

In addition to the numerous activities which may be considered routine work of the Department, all of its officers and staff are at the command of every Department and division in the Church Missions House for consultation and advice in their promotional and informational needs, and special service is given to diocesan departments of publicity, diocesan papers, etc., while parish publicity problems are submitted constantly, and the officers are called upon to give missionary addresses, teach in Summer Schools and Conferences, and advise the co-operating agencies in their promotional efforts. Instances of the latter service are the Anniversary Leaflet distributed by the Church Periodical Club, in the preparation of which the Department co-operated, the special leaflet distributed at General Convention by the Church Army, which was supervised by an officer of the Department, and constant co-operation with the Church Mission of Help. Two officers serve on the Publications Committee at the Church Missions House, and others co-operate with the Missionary Education Movement in the production of literature and of motion picture films, the Religious Motion Picture Foundation in its production program, and the Columbia Broadcasting System in its program of religious broadcasts.

For the future the Department sees a continuance of its present activities, with increased promotional activity in all divisions. It points to the need for increase in its Visual Service, both as to the stereopticon lectures and motion picture films. There is both need and demand for greatly increased co-operation with diocesan publicity organizations, which can be met only with increased travel, organization of conferences, definite technical consultation, and continuous service.

There is increasing need for Church-wide action on behalf of the Church Press, which fulfills an indispensable service, far too little recognized by Church people generally. Both the national papers and the diocesan papers deserve much wider support than they receive, and it is because of the present difficulties of these publications that the Department closes its report with a single resolution, believing that its adoption by the National Council, and the subsequent publicity which it will receive may be helpful to these periodicals in their plans for continued service to the Church.

RESOLVED: That the National Council of the Church commends to Church people everywhere, the various periodicals of the Church—believing that wider reading of these periodicals will do much to create an informed and interested membership, which will, as a result of this knowledge, be inspired to share in the maintenance and development of the Church's Program in parish, diocese, nation and world.

REPORT OF THE FIELD DEPARTMENT

FOR much of the past year, since the resignation of the Rev. F. P. Houghton, the Department has been functioning under the leadership of Mr. William Lee Richards, who was appointed general secretary. Cut as it is in personnel and appropriations, the Department is carrying on work of considerable importance.

At the February, 1937, meeting of the National Council, it was decided to hold Pre-Convention Conferences in every diocese and district, in order that the Bishops and Deputies to General Convention might be fully informed as to conditions in the mission fields, the needs of the work and the problem of securing adequate support. The suggestions resulting from these conferences have been of material help to the National Council in formulating its report to General Convention.

The Field Department arranged and looked after the details of these conferences, and the General Secretary led or assisted in meetings with twenty-two dioceses. The results obtained were most gratifying and it is hoped a similar plan can be followed annually.

The reduction in the Department's appropriation necessitated a drastic cut in the amount of literature which could be produced for free general distribution. Sufficient funds remained, however, to permit printing and offering gratis to the field standard pledge cards for use in the Every Member Canvass. For the first time since 1932, over 1,000,000 pledge cards were issued.

Free material has also been issued for rectors of parishes and diocesan leaders, and a series of bulletins designed to help in the prosecution of the Every Member Canvass has been offered at a nominal charge. This series is known as "The Missionary Trilogy." It was prepared by the Department of Publicity and has been called many times the finest example of promotional printing in use in any communion. It sets forth our missionary work topically rather than geographically, and its wide use of pictures, combined with condensed text, make the story graphic, fast reading, yet long remembered.

Reports from the Every Member Canvass were encouraging. More and more parishes look to it as the one sure method of financing the parish program.

At General Convention the three representatives of the Field Department were extremely busy carrying on Speakers Bureau work and assisting delegates, deputies and visitors in every possible way.

Two dinner meetings were held; one in connection with the Missionary Itinerary and the other a get-together of Field Department Chairmen and diocesan promotional leaders.

At the Missionary Itinerary dinner, the speakers who were to travel were given an opportunity to meet representatives of the dioceses where speaking engagements would later be held. Last minute instructions were given to diocesan representatives and to speakers, and everything possible was done to further the success of the Missionary Itinerary.

The Itinerary consisted of teams of three people who represented foreign missions, domestic missions and the Woman's Auxiliary. For the most part the teams included a Bishop, a priest and a woman. Itineraries were completed in thirty-four dioceses. The teams visited hundreds of churches and addressed thousands of people.

The Itinerary covered the period from October 25 through December 5, and in many dioceses was an unqualified success. In other places it could have been improved and the Department looks forward to future similar activities when the experience gained can be put to good effect.

The Speakers Bureau has noticed a decided upward trend in the number of requests received for single and itinerary engagements, and everything possible is being done to meet these requests with the best speakers available. Due to the limited number of speakers on furlough, the Department is building a list of speakers to augment the missionary list, and although success has not yet been achieved in point of numbers, those speakers who have been added are doing splendid work. The statistical report of the Speakers Bureau is appended.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1937

(Being the sixty-sixth annual report of the Woman's Auxiliary, of which forty-eight have been rendered to the Board of Missions and eighteen to the National Council.)

THE year 1937 contained certain events of tremendous importance both to the Church and to the world, such as the invasion of China by Japan and the ecumenical conferences in Oxford and Edinburgh. Under any circumstances such events would have affected the Woman's Auxiliary, but their influence had special opportunity through the Triennial Meeting held in Cincinnati, October 6-20. The theme of that meeting was "Fellowship in Faith and Work." After an address by the Rev. Elmore McKee on "The Faith by Which the Church Lives," "The Fellowship of the Church" was presented by Bishop Azariah speaking for the East, Bishop Salinas y Velasco for Latin America and Dean Roberts for the United States. These addresses were followed by discussion groups in which the delegates sought to find ways of extending and deepening this Christian faith and fellowship through the work of the Auxiliary. A Committee on Findings and Plans presented a report which was adopted dealing with the general subject under six heads: Evangelism, Christian Unity and Co-operation, War and Peace, Social and Economic Life, Service and Personnel, and Church and State. Beside this report resolutions were adopted on Peace, Young People, the United Thank Offering, Partnership Principle, Tithing and Proportionate Giving, Supply Work, Women in Parish and Diocesan Conventions, Evening Meetings, and Motion Pictures.

As usual the Corporate Communion of the women of the Church was held on the second day of the Triennial Meeting. This service was marked by the beauty of its arrangements, thanks to the Committee in Southern Ohio. It was also the happy occasion of an increase in the United Thank Offering, the amount given being $861,693.07. Thanks again to the Southern Ohio branch under the presidency of Miss Elizabeth Matthews, arrangements for the Triennial Meeting were quite ideal; while the meeting itself owed a great debt to the presiding officer, Mrs. Edwin Allen Stebbins of the Rochester Diocese.

Delegates to the ecumenical conferences at Oxford and Edinburgh included three of the members of the Triennial Meeting, Mrs. Stebbins, Mrs. Henry Hill Pierce of New York, and Mrs. Harper Sibley of Rochester. The first two reported to the Triennial Meeting and Mrs. Sibley was one of the speakers on Oxford at a Joint Session of the General Convention. She also made the address at the United Thank Offering Meeting on October 7.

Beside the reports and resolutions mentioned the Triennial Meeting requested the Executive Board to appoint the following committees: 1. On the study of marriage and divorce for conference with the Committee of the General Convention on this subject; 2. To consult with the Secretaries of the Oxford and Edinburgh Conferences on the preparation of material for carrying out in local churches and communities next steps toward understanding and unity; 3. To work with a committee from the Girls' Friendly Society in the preparation of a united program for the use of women and girls of the Church.

Eight members-at-large were elected on the Executive Board and the present Executive Secretary was re-elected. The Board, consisting of the following: Mrs. Paul H. Barbour, Mrs. Charles P. Deems, Mrs. Robert G. Happ, Mrs. Norman B. Livermore, Mrs. Beverly Ober, Mrs. Henry J. MacMillan, Mrs. Clinton S. Quin, Mrs. Kenneth C. M. Sills, Miss Mary L. Pardee, Mrs. Franklin S. Chambers, Mrs. John Edwin Hill, Mrs. Fred W. Thomas, Mrs. J. V. Blake, Mrs. John E. Flockhart, Mrs. H. E. Woodward, Mrs. Charles Carver, Jr., Miss Helen C. C. Brent, Mrs. James Keeley, Mrs. Kendall Emerson, and the Executive Secretary, organized in Cincinnati and elected as officers for the following year: Miss Mary Louise Pardee, Chairman; Mrs. Fred W. Thomas, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Robert G. Happ, Secretary.

At the December meeting of the Executive Board the following secretaries were renominated: Miss Edna B. Beardsley, Miss Margaret I. Marston, Dr. Adelaide T. Case, Mrs. T. K. Wade, and Miss Ellen I. Flanders. During the year Miss Eleanor Deuel and Miss Avis Harvey were appointed field secretaries. After a short but helpful service the latter resigned to study. Mrs. D. D. Taber, Miss Esther V. Brown, and Miss Deuel have served most successfully through the year.

Of such a year, as the last, it is hardly possible to say that work went on as usual, for preparations for and follow-up of the Triennial, and a keen realization of the suffering and need of the world must have made even routine service different; in any case it is a fact that diocesan reports for the year make good reading. Even where conditions were especially difficult, as in flood areas and in the dust bowl of this country, and in war-torn China, work has gone on, carried through so courageously that it was evidence of God's presence with His servants. There has been very real interest in co-operation through the World Day of Prayer, the Quiet Day for Prayer and the Good Friday Offering. Beside taking care of regular appeals a number of branches have given money to aid women missionaries forced to leave their homes in China without their possessions, $2,300 being sent to China for this purpose. As in former years, the Supply Department has co-operated with the Department of Religious Education in caring for the assigning of Christmas gifts for missions, sent by the children of the Church schools. Over 50,000 were given for the year 1937, covering almost every field in which the Church is at work.

The following are some of the points reported by different branches: Increased co-operation in diocese and parish, between organizations, and between groups of women. Growing interest among younger women. Western New York saw to it that four of its five delegates to the Triennial Meeting were "first timers." Good educational work with special emphasis, naturally, upon the missionary subjects for the year—The Moslem World and Rural America. Development in social work which is proving itself another means of co-operation since there is opportunity for community service. An interesting undertaking is that in Yakima in the Missionary District of Spokane where the Junior Woman's Auxiliary "have organized a Community House for Negroes, and have undertaken the study of the sanitary and living conditions of the transient population of Yakima." In the Diocese of Chicago all but two of the 111 parishes and missions share in the Woman's Auxiliary program. In Sacramento all parishes and missions are taking part in it. The United Thank Offering from Southwestern Virginia, given in Cincinnati, was the largest they had ever presented, showing an increase over the last one of 47.8%. The offering of the Arkansas colored branch was doubled in the last of the three years of the triennium. The Auxiliary of Dallas assisted in building a parish house for college students at Denton, and Olympia assumed responsibility for half the expense of a trained worker for colleges. Honolulu appointed a young Chinese girl as liaison officer between the Woman's Auxiliary and young people, and in the same diocese a group of young women interested their "husbands in a study of the issues of the Oxford Conference, some of whom prepared to help in Lent in inter-church and interdenominational study groups on these vital questions." Massachusetts published a book on social service resources in the diocese. They also report the helpfulness of visual education through the use of exhibits. From sales of mission-made articles Minnesota sent back to mission stations $1,150 and found great educational value in this way of helping missions. New Jersey established a Speakers Bureau including in its lists "any clergy or laity who had been in missionary fields willing to address meetings." Pennsylvania and North Carolina report Retreats and Quiet Hours, and Western New York distributed Forward Movement literature to hospitals, institutions, and doctors' and dentists' offices. Arizona sponsored a Girl Scout group and undertook the management and support of a Church school. Oklahoma reports growth in religious education, especially among young parents so "that they have become active in Church schools, fostering teacher training, improving physical conditions, and deepening their own spiritual life." The value of visits to parishes was reported, the President of Eastern Oregon going to every guild in the district, making 24 talks to an estimated attendance of 480 people, and finding everywhere "an eager desire for information on things of the Church."

These reports and others show an eagerness to go forward, well expressed by the president of the Southwestern Virginia branch, when she says that from her point of view the work "offers endless opportunities and is full of encouragement." The spirit in which such efforts are made is summed up in the report of one of the small Japanese branches in Honolulu in the words "With God's help we go forward together."

ACT OF INCORPORATION

Act of Incorporation of 1846, as amended by L. 1867, Ch. 374, passed April 12, 1867, and as amended by L. 1880, Ch. 226, passed May 8, 1880.

CHAP. 331

*An Act to incorporate The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America.
Passed May 13, 1846, by a two-thirds vote.*

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

§ 1. All such persons as now are or may hereafter become members of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, originally instituted in the year eighteen hundred and twenty and fully organized by the General Convention of the said Church in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-five, shall be and are hereby constituted a body corporate for the purpose of conducting general missionary operations in all lands by the name aforesaid. Nothing herein shall affect the power of the said convention to make such rules and regulations or so to alter or amend the constitution of the said society, as the said convention shall deem necessary or proper to promote the purpose for which the said society is incorporated as aforesaid. (As amended by L. 1880, Ch. 226.)

§ 2. For the object designated in the first section of the Act generally, or for any purpose connected with such object, the said corporation shall have power, from time to time, to purchase, take by gift, grant, devise, or bequest and hold real and personal estate, and to sell, lease and otherwise dispose of the same, provided the aggregate clear annual income of such real estate at any one time held, shall not exceed the sum of thirty thousand dollars. The corporation hereby created is declared subject to the provisions of chapter three hundred and sixty of the laws of one thousand eight hundred and sixty, entitled "An act relating to wills." (As amended by L. 1867, Ch. 374.)

§ 3. The said society shall, in its usual annual printed report, state the amount of its real and personal estate, and the income arising therefrom: a copy of which report shall be deposited in the State Library.

§ 4. This incorporation shall possess the general powers, and be subject to the provisions contained in title third of chapter eighteen of the first part of the Revised Statutes so far as the same are applicable and have not been repealed.

§ 5. This Act shall take effect immediately, and the Legislature may at any time alter, modify or repeal the same.

CANON 17.

CANON 17
Of the Presiding Bishop

CANON 59
Of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society

CANON 60
Of The Presiding Bishop and National Council

As Adopted by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, Assembled in Atlantic City, N. J., October, 1934.

CANON 17
Of the Presiding Bishop

§ I. Before a Presiding Bishop is elected a Joint Nominating Committee consisting of eight Bishops (one from each Province) together with four clerical and four lay members of the House of Deputies (one member from each Province) shall present to the House of Bishops the names of three members thereof for its consideration in the choice of a Presiding Bishop.

Nominating Committee.

§ II. The Presiding Bishop, when elected according to the provisions of Article I, Section 3, of the Constitution, shall hold office for a term of six years, dating from the first day of January succeeding the General Convention at which he was elected. Except that when a Presiding Bishop has been elected by the House of Bishops to fill a vacancy, as provided for in the second paragraph of Article I, Section III, of the Constitution, the Presiding Bishop elected by the next General Convention shall take office immediately.

Term of Office.

CANON 59.

Duties. § III. The Presiding Bishop shall preside over meetings of the House of Bishops, and shall take order for the consecration of Bishops, when duly elected. He shall also perform all other duties prescribed for him by other Canons of the General Convention.

Stipend. § IV. The stipend of the Presiding Bishop and his necessary expenses shall be fixed by General Convention and shall be provided for in the budget to be submitted by the Treasurer, as provided in the Canon entitled, "Of the General Convention."

CANON 59

Of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society

The Constitution of the said Society, which was incorporated by an act of the Legislature of the State of New York, as from time to time amended, is hereby amended and established so as to read as follows:

Constitution of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America as established in 1820, and since amended at various times.

Name. ARTICLE I. This organization shall be called The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, and shall be considered as comprehending all persons who are members of the Church.

Board of Directors. ARTICLE II. The National Council, as constituted by Canon, shall be its Board of Directors, and shall adopt By-laws for its government not inconsistent with the Constitution and Canons.

Officers. ARTICLE III. The officers of the Society shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, a Treasurer and such Assistant Secretaries and Assistant Treasurers as may be appointed in accordance with the Canons or By-laws. The Presiding Bishop of the Church shall be ex officio the chairman of the Board of Directors of the Society and when present shall preside at the meetings of the Board. The President of the National Council shall be the President of the Society. The Vice-President shall be the person who is the Vice-President of the National Council and he shall have such powers and shall perform such duties as may be assigned to him by the By-laws. The Treasurer of the Society shall be elected by the General Convention, and shall hold office for three years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. In the event of a vacancy in the office of Treasurer through death, resignation or disability, the Directors of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society shall appoint a Treasurer to fill such vacancy until the General Convention shall elect a Treasurer. The Secretary shall be the person who is the Secretary of the National Council. The other officers of the Society shall be such as are provided for by the By-laws thereof. The tenure of office, compensation, powers and duties of the officers of the Society shall be such as are prescribed by the Canons and by the By-laws of the Society not inconsistent therewith.

Chairman.

President.

Vice-President.

Treasurer.

Secretary.

ARTICLE IV. This Constitution of the Society may be altered or amended at any time by the General Convention of the Church.

Amendment.

CANON 60

Of the National Council

§ I. [i.] The National Council as hereinafter constituted, shall have charge of the unification, development and prosecution of the Missionary, Educational, and Social Work of the Church.

CANON 60.

Chairman.

[ii.] The Presiding Bishop shall be ex officio the Chairman of the Council, and when present shall preside at the meetings of the Council. The officers of the National Council shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, a Treasurer and such Assistant Secretaries and Assistant Treasurers as the Council, pursuant to this Canon, from time to time may prescribe.

National Council.
How constituted.

§ II. [i.] The National Council herein referred to as the Council, shall be composed of sixteen members elected by the General Convention, of whom four shall be Bishops, four shall be Presbyters, and eight shall be Laymen, two Bishops, two Presbyters, and four Laymen to be elected at each triennial meeting of the General Convention; of members elected by the Provincial Synods, each Synod having the right to elect one member at its last regular meeting prior to the triennial meeting of the General Convention; and of four members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council to be nominated by it and elected at each triennial meeting of General Convention. The Chairman, the President, the Vice-President and the Treasurer of the Council shall be ex officio members thereof.

office.

[ii.] The term of office of the members of the Council elected by the General Convention (other than ex officio members) shall be six years; the term of office of the members of the Council elected by the Provincial Synods shall be three years; and the term of office of the members of the Council nominated by the Woman's Auxiliary shall be three years. The term of office of all members elected as above provided shall commence on the first day of January succeeding their election. Members shall remain in office until their successors are elected and qualified.

CANON 60.

Should any vacancy occur in the Council through the death or resignation of a member elected by the General Convention, or through the change in status of any such member by consecration or ordination the Council shall fill such vacancy by the election of a suitable person to serve until his successor is elected by General Convention. The General Convention shall elect a suitable person to serve the portion of any term which will remain unexpired.

Vacancies.
How filled.

Should any vacancy occur in the Council through the failure of any Provincial Synod to elect a member, or through the death, resignation or removal from the Province, of any such member, the President and Executive Council of the Province shall appoint a suitable person, canonically resident in such Province, to serve until the Provincial Synod shall by election, fill the vacancy.

Should any vacancy occur in the Council through the death or resignation of a member elected from the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council, the Executive Board of the Woman's Auxiliary shall elect a suitable person to fill the portion of the term which will remain unexpired.

[iii.] The Council shall exercise the powers conferred upon it by Canon, and such further powers as may be designated by the General Convention, and between sessions of the General Convention may initiate and develop such new work as it may deem necessary. It may, subject to the provision of this Canon enact By-laws for its own government and the government of its several departments.

Powers of Council.

In its capacity as the Board of Directors of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, the Council shall have the power to direct the disposition of the moneys and other property of said Society in accordance with the provisions of this Canon and the orders and budgets adopted or approved by the General Convention.

§ III. [i.] The President of the Council shall be elected by the House of Deputies subject to confirmation by the House of Bishops, and shall hold office for three years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. He shall be the executive and administrative head of the Council. In the event of a vacancy in the office of President of the Council the Council is empowered to fill such vacancy until the next General Convention.

Vice-President.

[ii.] The President shall appoint, subject to confirmation by the Council, a male communicant of the Church, either clerical or lay, to be the Vice-President of the Council, who shall be an ex officio member thereof. The Vice-President shall be the Vice-Chairman and a member of such of the Departments, organized under the provisions of Section V hereof, as may be assigned by the President and Council to his charge, and shall perform such other duties as may from time to time be assigned by the President.

Secretary.

[iii.] The Council shall elect a Secretary and prescribe his duties.

Treasurer.

[iv.] The Treasurer of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society shall, ex officio, be the Treasurer of the Council. He shall hold office for three years and until his successor is elected.

§ IV. [i.] The Council shall appoint such Assistant Treasurers as may be necessary, to hold office during their pleasure, and until their successors are appointed.

CANON 60.

[ii.] The Treasurer and each Assistant Treasurer shall furnish bonds for the faithful performance of their respective duties, in such form and amount as the Council shall prescribe.

[iii.] The accounts of the office of the Treasurer shall be audited annually by a certified public accountant and approved by the Council.

§ V. [i.] The Council shall organize the following executive Departments and shall define their duties:

Executive Departments.

- First: A Department of Domestic Missions.
- Second: A Department of Foreign Missions.
- Third: A Department of Religious Education.
- Fourth: A Department of Christian Social Service.
- Fifth: A Department of Finance.
- Sixth: A Department of Publicity.
- Seventh: A Field Department.

The Council shall have power to combine existing Departments and to organize and define the duties of such other Departments as the work may demand.

[ii.] Each Department may appoint, subject to confirmation by the Council, additional members, as provided by the By-laws, who shall have seats and votes in the Department, but shall have no seat or vote in the Council. Women shall be eligible to appointment as such additional members.

[iii.] The President shall be, ex officio, a member and the chairman of each Department, and may appoint, subject to confirmation by the Council, an Executive Secretary for each Department, and such other secretaries as may be necessary, who shall perform such duties as the Department, subject to the approval of the President, shall assign to them. Such secretaries shall hold office during the pleasure of the President.

Executive
and other Secretaries.

CANON 60.

Department Reports.

[iv.] Each Department shall, annually and at such other times as the President or the Council may require, make full reports of its activities to the President and to the Council.

[v.] The Council shall also organize an Advisory Commission on Ecclesiastical Relations, with such officers attached thereto as the Presiding Bishop and the National Council may from time to time determine.

Meetings.

§ VI. [i.] The Council shall meet at such place, and at such stated times, at least four times each year, as it shall appoint and at such other times as it may be convened. The Council shall be convened at the request of the Chairman of the Council, or by the President, or on the written request of any nine members thereof.

Quorum.

Salaries.

§ VII. [i.] The salaries of the President and all other officers of the Council and of all agents and employees of the Council, shall be fixed by the Council and paid by the Treasurer.

[ii.] The salary of each Bishop of a Missionary District shall be paid by the Treasurer. Such salary shall date from the Bishop's consecration or from the date of his translation, if he be already consecrated, and shall not be diminished without his consent while such Bishop remains in charge of a District.

Program, Budgets and Apportionment.

§ VIII. [i.] The Council shall submit to the General Convention at each regular session thereof a program for the triennium, including a detailed budget of that part of the program for which it proposes to make appropriation for the ensuing year, and estimated budgets for the two succeeding years. In connection with the preparation of such budget the National Council shall, at least fifteen months before the session of the General Convention transmit to the President of each Province a statement of its existing appropriations for the Dioceses and Missionary Districts within such Province, showing the items for which such appropriations are expended, for the purpose of obtaining the advice of the Province as to changes therein. The Synod, or Council, of each Province shall thereupon, in such manner as the Synod shall determine, consider such budget and report its findings to the National Council for its information. The National Council shall also submit to the General Convention with the budget a plan for the apportionment to the respective Dioceses and Missionary Districts of the sum needed to execute the program.

[ii.] There shall be joint sessions of the two Houses for the presentation of such program; and thereafter consideration shall be given and appropriate action taken thereon by the General Convention. The Council shall have the power to expend all sums of money covered by the budget and estimated budgets approved by the Convention, subject to such restrictions as may be imposed by General Convention. It shall also have power to undertake such other work provided for in the program approved by General Convention, or other work under the jurisdiction of the Council, the need for which may have arisen after the action of the General Convention, as in the judgment of the Council its income will warrant.

for the presentation of program.

[iii.] Upon the adoption by the General Convention of a program and plan of apportionment for the ensuing triennium, the Council shall formally advise each Diocese and Domestic Missionary District with

Notice of allotted quotas to be given.

CANON 60.

respect to its proportionate part of the estimated expenditure involved in the execution of the program in accordance with the plan of apportionment adopted by the General Convention. Such quotas shall be determined by the Council upon an equitable basis.

Diocese to allot
Parishes.

[iv.] Each Diocese and District shall thereupon notify each Parish and Mission thereof of the amount of the quota allotted to such Diocese or District, and the amount of such quota to be raised by each Parish or Mission. If the Diocese so determines, the quota allotted by the Diocese or District to each Parish or Mission shall be the combined quota for General and Diocesan work. Each Diocese and District and the Parishes and Missions thereof shall then take necessary steps to raise their respective quotas.

Report Form.

[v.] The National Council shall approve a standard form for use in Dioceses and Missionary Districts, for the purpose of showing the distribution of their receipts for all purposes as between administrative expense, diocesan missionary work, missionary work of the general Church, and other purposes. Each Diocese and Missionary District shall annually report to the National Council the distribution of its receipts on the standard form, and this report shall be the basis for determination of the status of its partnership with the general Church in the promotion of its missionary work.

Bishops
Council.

§ IX. [i.] Every Missionary Bishop, or in case of a vacancy, the Bishop in charge of the District, receiving aid from the Council, shall report at the close of each fiscal year to the Council, giving account of his work, of money received from all sources and disbursed for all purposes, and of the state of the Church in his District at the date of such report, all in such form as the Council may prescribe.

CANON 60.

[ii.] Every Bishop of a Diocese receiving aid from the Council shall report at the close of each fiscal year to the Council giving account of the work in his Diocese supported in whole or in part by the Council.

§ X. The Council, as soon as practicable after the close of each fiscal year, shall make and publish a full report of its work to the Church. Such report shall contain an itemized statement of all receipts and disbursements and a statement of all trust funds and other property of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, and of all other trust funds and property in its possession or under its control. The Council shall make a like report including a detailed schedule of the salaries paid to all officers, agents and principal employees, to each General Convention.

Reports of the Council.

§ XI. No person shall, under any power or authority delegated by this Canon, be appointed a Missionary, who is not, at the time, a Minister or a member of this Church, or of some Church in communion with this Church, in regular standing; Provided, however, that, at the request of the Bishop of a Diocese or Missionary District, other persons not so qualified may be employed in exceptional cases.

Eligibility as Missionaries.

§ XII. All Canons or parts of Canons inconsistent with the provisions of this Canon are hereby repealed.

OFFICERS

ARTICLE I. § 1. (a) The Presiding Bishop, as ex officio Chairman of the National Council, shall preside at all meetings thereof.

(b) The President of the National Council shall, in the absence of the Presiding Bishop, preside at meetings thereof, and he shall exercise the powers and perform the duties prescribed for him by Canon and by these By-laws, together with all such duties as are incident to the office of Chief Executive. He shall preside at all meetings of the Departments of the Council.

The President of the Council.

§ 2. (a) The Vice-President shall preside at meetings of the National Council in the absence of the Presiding Bishop and of the President of the Council; he shall be Vice-Chairman and a member of such of the Departments as may from time to time be assigned by the President and Council to his charge; in the absence of the President he shall pre-shall be one complete record. He shall carefully preserve the minutes and records of the Council and of each of the Departments and deliver them to his successor, and perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the President or by the Council. The seal of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society shall be in his custody as Secretary of said Society and in all cases in which its use is directed by resolution of its Board of Directors or by the provisions of these By-laws, it shall be affixed and attested by him, or in case of his necessary absence or other disability, by an Assistant Secretary.

§ 4. One or more Assistant Secretaries may be appointed by the Secretary with the approval of the President.

Assistant Secretaries.

§ 5. Each Executive Secretary shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by the President or by the Vice-President when in charge of his Department.

The Executive Secretaries.

§ 6. The Treasurer shall be the custodian of all the funds, except trust funds, of the Council and of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, and except as to trust funds, of all securities or other property under the control of the Council or said Society. He shall keep full and accurate records and accounts of all receipts, disbursements, credits, assets, liabilities and general financial transactions, and shall deposit all moneys and other valuable effects under the control of the Council coming into his hands, in such depositories as may be designated by the Council. His books and accounts shall be open at all times during business hours to the inspection of the President or any member of the Council.

The Treasurer.

The Treasurer shall disburse the funds under the control of the Council or said Society in such manner as may be ordered by the specific or general instructions of the Council, taking proper vouchers for all such disbursements. He shall also have the custody of the charter and all deeds, leases, bonds and contracts of the Society.

The Treasurer shall render to the Council and to the Department of Finance, as called for, all such statements and accounts as may be required of him; shall prepare an annual report showing all receipts and disbursements, and showing all property in the possession or under the control of the Council; and shall make such other reports and perform such other duties incidental to his position as may be required of him by the Council or the President or the Department of Finance, or the Vice-President when in charge of that Department.

Assistant Treasurers.

§ 7. Each Assistant Treasurer shall have such powers and perform such duties as may be assigned to him by the Treasurer.

Signatures.

§ 8. All instruments of writing, save those hereinafter enumerated, requiring execution in the name of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, shall be signed either by the President, or the Vice-President, or by the Treasurer, or Assistant Treasurer, and in addition, when necessary, by the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary, who shall affix and attest the corporate seal—unless otherwise ordered by resolution of the Board of Directors of the said Society.

All checks, drafts, orders for payment of money, or bills of exchange, of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America shall be signed by the Treasurer, or an Assistant Treasurer or the Cashier.

Receipts for gifts, contributions, bequests and legacies to the Society, agreements and obligations in the nature of refunding or indemnity contracts, may be signed by the Treasurer or an Assistant Treasurer.

§ 9. The corporate seal of the Society shall be circular in form and shall contain the words as impressed hereon.

COMMITTEE ON TRUST FUNDS

ARTICLE II. § 1. There is hereby constituted a Committee on Trust Funds which shall consist of the President and the Treasurer of the Council, and three lay members of the Church, who shall be elected at its annual meeting to hold office for one year, and until their successors are elected. The Committee shall organize by electing a Chairman, Secretary and such other officers as may be necessary.

Elections.

§2. Trust Funds are those moneys, properties or investments which, under the direction of the donor or testator, or by action of the Council, are directed to be held and invested for a period of time or permanently. The Committee on Trust Funds shall receive and hold all trust funds of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America and shall have supervision, subject to the direction of the Council, of the investment and reinvestment of the trust funds now held or which shall hereafter be received and shall provide that the income from the said funds is paid to the Treasurer at regular intervals to be by him disbursed in strict conformity with the declared purposes of the several trusts.

Trust Funds and Custody thereof.

§ 3. In the absence of special instructions on the part of the donor or testator such funds shall be invested as promptly as may be as follows:

Investment of Trust Funds.

(1) In such securities as are or may be authorized by the State of New York for the investment of the funds of savings banks and/or other trust funds, or

BY-LAWS

(2) In the mortgage lien bonds of a corporation incorporated under the laws of any state in the United States and deriving not less than 80% of its gross income from the business of supplying electric energy, or gas, or both, for light, heat, power and/or other purposes, subject to the following conditions and restrictions:

(a) Such corporation shall, at the time of such investment, be incorporated under the laws of a state having a properly constituted public service commission or a properly constituted commission, board or department having authority similar to that of a public service commission.

(b) The outstanding capital stock of such corporation or the stated capital stock of such corporation in case of a corporation having non-par value shares, shall be equal in par value to at least one-half of the total mortgage debt, issued, assumed or guaranteed by such corporation, or otherwise secured by mortgage lien on any part or all of its property, including any new issue of bonds, then being offered.

(c) At no time within the five fiscal years next preceding the date of any such investment shall such a corporation have failed to have paid, regularly and punctually, the matured principal and interest on all its direct, assumed or guaranteed funded indebtedness.

(d) For the period of three fiscal years next preceding such investment, the gross income of such corporation shall have been not less than \$1,000,000 per annum and the net earnings of such corporation shall have been at least $1\frac{3}{4}$ times the amount of interest and rentals, including in the computation of interest for the last one of such fiscal years or for the twelve months immediately preceding the time of issuance of bonds, one year's interest on any new issue authorized for sale by the corporation.

(e) The mortgage securing such bonds shall either be a closed mortgage insofar as the sale of additional bonds is concerned, or shall provide that additional bonds may be issued only for refunding at not more than 100% of the bonds retired or for new property to the extent of not more than 80% of the value of any such property acquired or to be acquired through the sale of such bonds and shall also provide that no additional bonds under the mortgage shall be issued unless the earnings of the company for the fiscal year, or twelve months' period preceding the date of the issue of such additional bonds shall have been not less than $1\frac{3}{4}$ times the interest on all prior mortgage bonds and on the bonds secured by such mortgage including the bonds to be issued or unless the earnings for such period shall be not less than 12% of the par value of all outstanding bonds and bonds to be then issued.

(f) In determining the qualification of an underlying bond under this subdivision, in a case where the property covered by the underlying mortgage has not been owned or operated by the mortgagor corporation for the period mentioned as a basis for qualification, then the record of the underlying corporation may be considered to make up the required period, and if the record of the underlying corporation during its portion of the period, and the record of the successor corporation during the balance of the period respectively, meet the requirements of this subdivision, then such underlying bond shall be considered as eligible.

(g) The term fiscal year, as used in this subdivision, means the regular annual accounting period of the corporation. The term "fiscal year next preceding" shall mean the fiscal year ending not more than fifteen months prior to the date of such investment. The term net earnings, as used in this subdivision, means the amount determined by subtracting the operating expenses including the maintenance charges and taxes from the gross earnings and adding net income derived from sources other than operation. The terms, interest and rentals, as used in this subdivision, include also guaranteed interest and guaranteed dividends on all leased or controlled properties, the earnings of which are included in the gross earnings of the corporation. The term mortgage bond, as used in this subdivision, shall include bonds secured by a direct lien upon physical property or by deposit with the trustee of bonds having such direct lien and shall exclude bonds secured in part by deposit as collateral of the stock of other corporations unless the provisions as to gross and net earnings contained in this subdivision are complied with, regardless of the income from such deposited stock, or

BY-LAWS

(3) In the mortgage bonds of a corporation, incorporated under the laws of any state in the United States, engaged in the business of supplying service by telephone, subject to the conditions incorporated in Section 2 of this Article, with the further provision that for the five fiscal years preceding such investment the gross revenues of such telephone corporation shall have exceeded $3,000,000 per annum, or

(4) In the obligations of a railroad corporation organized under the laws of the United States of America or any state thereof, issued for the purpose of acquiring locomotives, cars or other similar railroad equipment, subject to the following conditions and restrictions:

(a) They must be the whole or part of an issue maturing serially, either annually or semi-annually, the last of which shall mature not later than 15 years from the date of issue.

(b) They must be secured by or be evidence of a first lien upon or interest in or reservation of title to the equipment in respect of which they have been issued or sold, or by an assignment of, or prior interest in, the rent or purchase notes given for the hiring or purchase of such equipment.

(c) The railroad corporation in whose interest they are issued must have had for three successive fiscal years preceding such investment, gross earnings of not less than $5,000,000 per annum and "gross income" as defined by the Interstate Commerce Commission for a similar period equal to one and one-half times its "deductions from gross income," as defined by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(d) The total amount of principal of such issue of equipment obligations shall not exceed 80% of the cost or purchase price of the equipment in respect of which they were issued.

(5) Nothing in this Article shall be construed so as to require the sale of securities or property given to the Society by will or otherwise.

(6) For the protection of any investment at any time held by the Committee on Trust Funds, the Committee is empowered to use principal funds in its hands for the payment of assessments which may be levied as a part of any plan of reorganization of any corporation, the payment of arrears of taxes, assessments, or water rates on properties upon which it holds a mortgage or an interest in a mortgage, and to authorize foreclosure when foreclosure proceedings are necessary in the judgment of the Committee to protect its investments, and to pay the expenses thereof, and to make repairs and improvements on property in its possession and to provide for the protection of such property against fire and other risks, and to charge such payments to the accounts or funds invested in the mortgages or securities for the protection of which such payments are made.

BY-LAWS

Committee on Trust Funds.

§ 4. All securities and money in the hands of this Committee awaiting use or investment shall be deposited with or placed in the charge and custody of such trust company or companies as the Council may designate, as hereinafter provided. Such trust company, or companies, under the advice and direction of this Committee, shall collect and pay over to the Treasurer the income of the securities, invest and re-invest the capital thereof, care for and properly protect the property committed to its charge, keep proper accounts for the Committee, and hold all such property at all times subject to the order of the Committee. All orders for the sale or release of any of the securities in the possession of the trust company shall be signed by two members of this Committee. Money in the care of such trust company, or companies, awaiting investment, shall be withdrawn only by orders signed by two members of this Committee.

This Committee shall keep an accurate account of each trust fund separately and shall make a full report in writing in regard to these funds to the stated meetings of the Council.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON TRUST FUNDS

THE Annual Report of the Standing Committee on Trust Funds submitted herewith presents a chronological tabulation of Trust Funds held for The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America.

The report attempts to show for each item the source, the memorial, if any, the purpose and any special instructions. The titles and designations are thoroughly cross indexed and the numbers refer, not to pages as in the past, but to Trust Fund numbers.

It is believed that this new form and additional information will be of real value and interest, and may even be a source of inspiration.

The Committee on Trust Funds reports that in accordance with the resolution adopted by the National Council on December 9, 1925, the trust funds in the custody of the Committee, the income of which is available for support for the work of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, have been consolidated for investment purposes into one fund. The cash and securities held for these funds were taken over at their book value as of January 1, 1926. The profits on the securities sold or collected during the year have been invested for the protection of the principal of these funds. The net average rate of interest received during the year upon all of these investments was 4.2656% and each of these funds has been credited with its proportionate share of this income and the amount paid over to the Treasurer of the Society.

The Reserve Deposits of the Society are entered separately and the report shows the investments held for such Deposits.

The report also shows the other funds in the custody of the Committee, the investments held for each one of them at the close of the year and the amount of income paid to the Treasurer for each of these funds.
